(a) A and B trade in partnership, A residing in England, and B in India. A draws a bill of exchange in the name of the firm. B has no notice of the bill, nor is he at all interested in the transaction. The firm is liable on the bill, provided the holder did not know of the circumstances under which the bill was drawn.

(b) A, being one of a firm of solicitors and attorneys, draws a bill of exchange in the name of the firm without authority. The other partners are not liable on the bill.

(c) A and B carry on business in partnership as bankers. A sum of money is received by A on behalf of the firm. A does not inform B of such receipt, and afterwards A appropriates the money to his own use. The partnership is liable to make good the money.

(d) A and B are partners. A, with the intention of cheating B, goes to a shop and purchases articles on behalf of the firm, such as might be used in the ordinary course of the partnership business, and converts them to his own separate use, there being no collusion between him and the seller. The firm is liable for the price of the goods.

THE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT (II OF 1912).

PREFATORY NOTE.—The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to the Bill:—

1. "Legislation is called for not only in order to lay down the fundamental conditions which must be observed but also with a view to giving co-operative societies a corporate existence without resort to the elaborate provisions of the Companies Act, but it is thought that legislation should be confined within the narrowest possible limits. The Bill has, therefore, been drawn so as to deal only with those points which the Government consider to be essential, and its provisions have been expressed in simple and general terms, a wide rule-making power being reserved to Local Governments, so that what is felt to be of the nature of an experiment may be tried in each province or part of a province on such lines as seem to afford most promise of success.

2. The adequacy of the existing Act was examined at a Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies in 1909, and it was held that the Act still remained in many ways unduly restricted, and that it also required certain alterations in detail which had been suggested by experts since 1909. The Conference of Registrars drew up proposals for the amendment of the Act, and after consulting Local Government on this proposals the Government of India have prepared the Bill now published. The chief changes contemplated by the Government of India are four in number:—

(i) The Act of 1904 applies to Societies for the purpose of co-operative credit only and not to Co-operative Societies of other kinds, such as those established for production or distribution. It has in practice been found that the establishment of Credit Societies has led to the founding of other classes of Co-operative Societies also, and it is advisable that the privileges extended by the Act to Co-operative Credit Societies should be extended to those other Societies. It is proposed therefore that the Act as now revised should be made applicable to all classes of Co-operative Societies—(Vide clause 1 (1) and clause 4 of the Bill.)

(ii) In the Act of 1904 Societies were classified according as they were "Urban" or "Rural" and the principle was laid down that as a general rule rural societies should be with unlimited liability. This basis for distinction was adopted, mainly because it represented a classification which has already been recommended and put in force in the initiation of Co-operative Credit Societies in certain parts of India, but even at the time it was criticised as unsuitable by experts, and it has in practice been found artificial and inconvenient. The real distinction is between Societies with limited and those with unlimited liability, and it is proposed in the new Bill to maintain this distinction only while retaining the principle that agricultural Credit Societies must as a general rule be with unlimited liability. (See cl. 4 of the Bill.)

¹ Sec. 17.—Repealed in places to which the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) extends or is extended by Act IV of 1882, S. 2.

(iii) The Act of 1904 did not contemplate that Societies with unlimited liability should distribute profits. It is still felt that such Societies do not represent the best form of Co-operation for agricultural communities, but this form of Society has, in practice, been for some time in existence in several provinces, and Societies of this character, though not of the orthodox type, are recognized to be capable of useful work. Although therefore it is not intended to give them undue encouragement, it is proposed to legalise their existence and to permit an unlimited Society, with the sanction of the Local Government, to distribute profits (see clause 28 of the Bill).

(iv) A cardinal principle which is observed in the organization of Co-operative Societies in Europe is the grouping of such Societies into Unions and then financing by means of Central Banks. This stage of Co-operation had not been fully realised or provided for in the Act of 1904, but such grouping of Societies has already been found feasible in most provinces, and it is now considered desirable to legalise the formation of Co-operative Credit Societies of which the members shall be other Co-operative Credit Societies. (Vide clauses 5 (1), 6 and 10 (3) of the Bill.)

(3) In addition to carrying out the main alterations above described the present Bill contains several other changes in detail and it has been found advisable to recast the Bill in order to improve the drafting and to incorporate the changes now contemplated. The chief alterations, other than those above referred to, are the following :—

Clause 3.—It is proposed to make provision for investing in persons, other than Registrars, the power of a Registrar.

Clause 5.—It is proposed to maintain the existing restrictions as to residence or class as obligatory before registration in the case of Credit Societies and to render the existence of ten members obligatory before registration in the case of all kinds of Co-operative Societies other than those, all the members of which are themselves registered Societies. It is proposed further to give the Registrar the power of decision as to the residence qualification and to place persons of the same occupation on the same footing as persons of the same tribe or class.

Clause 8.—The provision giving conclusive authority to the Registrar's certificate of registration is new.

Clause 14.—It is proposed by this clause to give the Registrar power to conduct an audit by deputy. The previous provision that no charge should be made for audit has been omitted.

Clause 16.—It is proposed to extend from one year to 18 months the term of lien on agricultural products and to permit a lien on articles manufactured from raw materials supplied by or with the help of a registered Society.

Clauses 22 and 23 are based on provisions in the English Industrial and Provident Societies Act. Clause 22 makes the register of members prima facie evidence of the date of commencement and cessation of membership and clause 23 provides for proof of entries in the books of a registered Society.

Clause 26—This clause allows registered Societies to invest good securities, and validates investments made prior to the amendment of the law now suggested.

Clause 27.—It is now proposed to make it clear that a registered Society is not precluded from receiving deposits from non-members.

Clause 29.—The provision allowing contributions to charities is new.

Clause 30.—The existing provisions have been altered so as to allow a Registrar to conduct an enquiry by deputy.

Clause 31.—The provision allowing a creditor to require an inspection is new. It is based on a similar provision in the Companies Act.

Clause 35.—The provision allowing the Registrar to cancel registration when the number of members becomes less than ten is new.

Clause 37.—Sub-clauses 2 (m) and (l) and 3 are new. The two former allow the Local Government to prescribe returns and the procedure on liquidation, and the latter permits of the delegation of the powers of the Local Government.

Clauses 39 and 40.—The existing section 29 has been recast with a view to making clear the distinction in the power of exemption of the Local Government before and after registration.

Sec. 50.—² Repealed by Act XVII of 1914 Sch. II.

England was long a legal question of the first magnitude, and the reasons for recognising it, and the extent of the right itself are not quite clear from controversy even now. The short paragraph in Blackstone may still be read with interest. He thinks that "this species of property, being grounded on labour and invention, is more properly reducible to the head of occupancy than any other, since the right of occupancy itself is supposed, by Mr. Locke and many others to be founded on the personal labour of the occupant." But he speaks doubtfully of its existence,—merely mentioning the opposing views, "that on the one hand it hath been thought no other man can have a right to exhibit the author's work without his consent, and that it is urged on the other hand that the right is of too subtle and unsubstantial a nature to become the subject of property in common law, and only capable of being guarded by positive statutes and special provisions of the magistrate." He notices that the Roman Law adjudged, that, if one man wrote anything on the paper or parchment of another the writing should belong to the owner of the blank materials, but as to any other property in the works, the law is silent, and he adds that, "neither with us in England hath there been (till very lately) any final determination upon the rights of authors at common law."

The nature of the right itself, and the reasons why it should be recognized in law, have from the beginning been the subject of bitter dispute. By some it has been described as a monopoly, by others as a kind of property. Each of these words covers certain assumptions from which the most opposite conclusions have been drawn. As a monopoly it is urged that the copyright should be looked upon as a doubtful exception to the general regulating trade, and should at all events be strictly limited in point of duration. As property, on the other hand, it is claimed that it should be perpetual. There would appear to be no harm in describing copyright either as a property or monopoly, if care be taken that the words are not used to cover suppressed arguments as to its proper extent and duration. Historically, and in legal definition, there would appear to be no doubt that copyright, as regulated by statute, is a monopoly.

EARLY LAW OF COPYRIGHT IN ENGLAND.—The first Copyright Act in England is 8 Anne c. 19. The preamble states that "printers, booksellers, and other persons were frequently in the habit of printing, reprinting, and publishing books and other writings without the consent of the authors or proprietors of such books and writings, to their very great detriment, and too often to the ruin of them and their families." "For preventing, therefore, such practices for the future, and for the encouragement of learned men to compose and write useful books, it is enacted that the author of any book or books already printed who hath not transferred to any other the copy or copies of such book or books in order to print or reprint the same, shall have the sole right and liberty of printing such book or books for the term of one and twenty years, and that the author of any book or books already composed, and not printed and published, or that shall hereafter be composed, and his assignee or assignees, shall have the sole liberty of printing or reprinting such book or books for the term of fourteen years, to commence from the day of first publishing the same, and no longer." The penalty for offences against the Act was declared to be the forfeiture of the illicit copies to the true proprietor, and the fine of one penny per sheet, half to the Crown, and half to any person suing for the same. "After the expiration of the said term of fourteen years the sole right of printing or disposing of copies shall return to the authors thereof, if they are then living, or their representatives, for another term of fourteen years." To secure the benefit of the Act registration at Stationers' Hall was necessary. In section 4 is contained the provision that if any person thought the price of a book too high and unreasonable he might complain to Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Bishop of London, the Chiefs of the three Courts at Westminster, and the Vice Chancellors of the two Universities in England, and to the Lord President, Lord Justice General, Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the Rector of the College of Edinburgh in Scotland, who may fix a reasonable price. Nine copies of each book was to be provided to the royal library, the libraries of the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, the four Scotch Universities, Sion College and the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh. The Copyright of the Universities was not to be prejudiced by the Act. (Ency. Brit., 9th Ed., Vol. VI, pp. 356-357.)

The following statement of Objects and Reasons is appended to the Copyright Bill :—

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS TO THIS ACT.—The question of the amendment of the Indian Copyright Act (XX of 1847) has been considered on several occasions since 1864 on the ground that the Act was incomplete and did not provide, among other matters, for the protection of copyright in photographs, translations, newspapers, telegrams, etc. Legislation, however, has been postponed in view of possibility of an amendment of the English Acts on the subject of copyright.

In 1908 a conference and convention, to which Great Britain was a party, was held in Berlin with the object of bringing the domestic laws of all countries concerned into harmony with one another so as to obtain international uniformity of treatment and the ratification of that Convention involved certain changes in the English law. Its provisions were examined by a strong departmental committee appointed by the Board of Trade which came to the unanimous conclusion that the Berlin Convention should be accepted by Great Britain with as few reservations as possible.

An Imperial Copyright Conference was subsequently convened in 1910 containing representations of the self-governing dominions and of the India Office, Colonial Office, etc. It endorsed the recommendation of the Board of Trade Committee and recommended that an Act dealing with the essentials of Imperial Copyright Law should be passed by the Imperial Parliament and that this Act should be expressed to extend to all British possessions subject to the rights of self governing dominions and possessions to modify or add to its provisions by legislation in certain cases affecting only procedure and remedies.

A Draft Bill was approved by the Conference and eventually passed into law as the Copyright Act, 1911 (1 and 2 Geo. V, c. 46), which came into operation in the United Kingdom on 1st July, 1912.

The important changes in the Act are—

- (i) The abolition of the formality of the registration of copyright.
- (ii) The extension of the term of copyright from 42 years to one of life and 50 years subject to certain conditions.
- (iii) The extension of the scope of copyright.
- (iv) The substitution of one Act for several on the subject of copyright.

The Government of India considered that the early introduction of the Act into India was desirable both for Imperial and international as well as domestic reasons and consulted Local Governments in regard to the modifications and additions referred to in section 27 of the Act, that might be necessary to suit the special conditions. On account of non-proclamation in India of the Act of 1911, and having regard to the serious hardship and loss which might thereby be inflicted on the English authors, the Act was brought into force in India by proclamation in the Gazette of India on 31st October, 1912, under section 37 (2) (d) of the Act, the question of modification or additions being postponed for subsequent consideration on receipt of the views of Local Governments. These are in substantial agreement with those of the Government of India who propose by virtue of the powers conferred by section 27 of the Act of 1911 to pass the Draft Bill which embodies the modifications in and the addition to the Act which are considered desirable, together with certain formal and necessary alterations due to difference between English and Indian administration and procedure.

It will be observed that the changes proposed are as few as possible in view of the desirability of securing that uniformity throughout the Empire which was advocated by the Imperial Copyright Conference of 1910.

Clause 3.—This contains purely formal modifications necessary for the application of the Act of 1911 to British India.

Clause 4.—Under sections 1-3 of the Act of 1911 the term for which copyright subsists in translations is the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death.

The special linguistic conditions of India render desirable a substantial relaxation of the above provision. The languages spoken in India are so numerous and differ so widely that the conditions which prevail cannot be compared with those in most European countries and vernacular translations from English and from one vernacular to another are not only common but serve the useful purpose for disseminating knowledge. It is proposed, therefore, that translations of works first published in British India should be permitted after the expiry of five years from the date of first publication, provided that two years' notice of the intention to publish a translation has been given to the author.

This proposal is considered to be a sufficient safeguard of and a reasonable compromise between rights of the author and those of the public.

Clause 5.—The provisions of section 19 of the Act of 1911 are new, and in view of the peculiar conditions of Indian music, objections have been urged against the application of this section in toto to Indian works. It is pointed out that it is impossible in most cases to identify the original composer or author and that the majority of the Indian melodies have not been written in staff notation except through the medium of the phonograph and are subject to infinite variety of notation and tune. If, under these circumstances, section 19 is adopted with its retro-active principle there may be fictitious claims of ownership in musical works and much confusion and undesirable litigation. To make it clear that in order to fall within the definition of "musical work" music must have been graphically represented it is proposed to adopt mutatis mutandis the definition of the term "musical work" contained in the English Musical Copyright Act, 1902, viz., "musical work" means any combination of melody and harmony or either of them printed, or reduced to writing.

Clause 6.—Section 18 (a) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, prohibits importation in the case of books alone, the copyright whereof subsists in India. In view of the extension of the Act of 1911, to works other than books and the difference in procedure it is proposed to repeal this section and enact the appropriate provisions as the necessary modifications referred to in section 14 (7) of the Act of 1911.

Clauses 7-12.—The provisions of section 11 of the Act of 1911 have been in the main adopted. Imprisonment, however, will in all cases be simple, and offences will be triable by a Magistrate of the first class only. It is proposed to convert the amount of English fines on the basis of £1 = Rs. 10 in accordance with the usual practice and to insert a clause exempting the case of infringement by the construction of a building from the operation of summary remedies, thus giving effect to the similar exemption provided by section 9 of the English Act.

Clause 13.—On account of the technicalities of the subject of copyright, and of the greater finality that such a tribunal will afford, it has been considered advisable to give jurisdiction to High Courts only in all suits or civil proceedings regarding infringement of copyright.

Clause 14.—This clause which is self-explanatory has been added in view of a recent decision in Evans v. Morris reported in the Law Journal of 29th March, 1913.

The following is the Select Committee's Report.—We have amended clause 3 of the Bill in two respects. In the first place, we have deleted sub-clause (2) which provided that the reference to the Judicial Committee in section 4 of the Copyright Act should be read in relation to works first published in British India as reference to the Governor-General in Council, as we consider that it is desirable that the power under this section should be exercised by one authority throughout the Empire. Secondly, we have amplified sub-clause (4) so as to provide that all references to arbitration in sub-section (1) of section 24 of the Act shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law in force in British India.

We have modified clause 4 of the Bill in various particulars. We think that the period of copyright as regards translations, which is prescribed by the Bill for works first published in British India, is too short and we have therefore altered it from five to ten years and have deleted the provisions which required the issue of notice upon an author before the production of a translation by any other person. We have, however, provided that, if within this period of ten years the author himself publishes a translation of the work in any particular language, the limitation upon copyright prescribed by this clause shall not apply to translation into that particular language. This amendment is in accordance with the provisions of the Berlin Convention. We have added a sub-clause to secure the rights of legal representatives of deceased authors.

We have substituted the word "penalties" for the words "summary remedies" in the title of Chapter III in view of the fact that the expression "summary trial" is used in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, to denote a particular procedure in the trial of cases, which might not be applicable to cases under this chapter.

We have provided for an appeal against orders of a Magistrate regarding the disposal of copies and plates which infringe copyright and have authorised the appellate Court to stay execution of such orders pending consideration of the appeal.

In view of the fact that suits relating to infringement of copyright are sometimes of a petty nature, we have given the High Court and the District Judge concurrent jurisdiction in civil suits and proceedings under the Act. It has been pointed out to us that the provisions of clause 13 of the Bill as introduced might cause unnecessary inconvenience and expenses in many cases.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN COPYRIGHT ACT, 1914.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan, the District of Angul and the Sonthal Parganas.

CHAPTER II.

CONSTRUCTION AND MODIFICATION OF THE COPYRIGHT ACT.

3. In the application to British India of the Copyright Act (a copy of which Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, is set out in the First Schedule), the following modifications shall be made, namely :—

Application of Copyright Act to British India with adaptations.
(1) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 3 shall, in the case of works first published in British India, be exercised by the Governor-General in Council ;

(2) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 19 shall, as regards records, perforated rolls and other contrivances, the original plate of which was made in British India, be exercised by the Governor-General in Council ; and the confirmation of Parliament shall not be necessary to the exercise of any of these powers ;

(3) the references in section 19, sub-section (4), and in section 24, sub-section (1), to arbitration shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law for the time being in force in that part of British India in which the dispute occurs ;

(4) as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 22 to the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, and the reference in the said section to section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to section 77 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911 ;

(5) as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 24, sub-section (1), proviso (a), to the London Gazette and two London newspapers shall be construed as a reference to the Gazette of India and two newspapers published in British India ; and the reference in proviso (b) of the same sub-section of the same section to the 26th day of July, 1910, shall, as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, be construed as a reference to the 30th day of October, 1912.

4. (1) In the case of works first published in British India, copyright shall be subject to this limitation that the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation of the work shall subsist only for a period of ten years from the date of the first publication of the work :—

Modification of copyright as regards translation of works first published in British India.
Provided that if within the said period the author or any person to whom he has granted permission so to do, publishes a translation of any such work in any language, copyright in such work as regards the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation in that language shall not be subject to the limitation prescribed in this sub-section.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) the expression "author" includes the legal representative of a deceased author.

5. In the application of Copyright Act to musical works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, or to musical works first published in British India, the term "musical work" shall, save as otherwise expressly provided by the Copyright Act, mean "any combination of melody and harmony, or either of them, which has been reduced to writing."

Musical works made by resident of, or first published in, British India.
6. (1) Copies made out of British India of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in British India would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Chief Customs officer, as defined in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into British India, shall not be so imported, and shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be prohibited imports within the meaning of section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

(2) Before detaining any such copies, or taking any further proceedings with a view to the confiscation thereof, such Chief Customs officer, or any other officer appointed by [the Chief Customs authority]¹ in this behalf, may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, security, conditions or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy himself, in accordance with these regulations, that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and confiscation of copies the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and confiscation; and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) Such regulations may apply to copies of all works the importation of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant re-imbursing the Secretary of State for India in Council all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention; and may provide that notices given under the Copyright Act to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise of the United Kingdom, and communicated by that authority to any authority in British India, shall be deemed to have been given by the owner to the said Chief Customs officer.

(6) This section shall have effect as the necessary modification of section 14 of the Copyright Act.

CHAPTER III.

PENALTIES.

Offences in respect of infringing copies.

7. If any person knowingly—

(a) makes for sale or hire any infringing copy of a work in which copyright subsists; or

(b) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire, any infringing copy of any such work; or

(c) distributes infringing copies of any such work, either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or

(d) by way of trade exhibits in public any infringing copy of any such work; or

Sec. 6 (2).—¹ The words "the Chief Customs authority" were substituted for the words "the Local Government" by Act IV of 1924, Sch.

Sec. 7.—The mere failure of an author to make the payment prescribed by S. 5 of Act XX of 1847 does not deprive him of his copyright in his book. On the other hand, the proviso to S. 14 of the Act definitely states the contrary. It is only the right to sue under that Act that is prohibited if the registration fee has not been paid. 53 M. L. J. 529. The procedure about payment of fees prescribed by Act XX of 1847 has no place in the present Act III of 1914, and therefore a complaint under S. 7 of the new Act cannot be thrown out on the ground that the complainant has not paid the Rs. 2 which he would have to pay had Act XX of 1847 still remained in force. (Ibid.) An acquittal will be set aside in revision in a case where the Court below has proceeded on a wrong view of the law, and where the matter is of great importance to the complainant in his position as author of a book, which, if the acquittal stands, will be pirated by the accused who will secure for himself the gains that ought legitimately to go to the complainant. (1927) M. W. N. 772 = 26 L. W. 489 = 39 M. L. T. 328 = 105 I. C. 669 = 28 Cr. L. J. 957 — A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 981 = 53 M. L. J. 529.

Sec. 7 (a).—Under the old Act "copyright" did not include the exclusive right of translation but the author of a book who made a translation of it was entitled to a copyright in it as if it were an original work. 13 A. An Act to amend and consolidate the law relating to copyright.

[16th December, 1911.]

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

IMPERIAL COPYRIGHT.

Rights.

1. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout the parts of His Majesty's dominion to which this Act extends for the term hereinafter mentioned in every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if—

(a) in the case of a published work, the work was first published within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid; and

(b) in the case of an unpublished work, the author was at the date of the making of the work a British subject or resident within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid;

but in no other works, except so far as the protection conferred by this Act is extended by Orders in Council thereunder relating to self-governing dominions to which this Act does not extend and to foreign countries.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, "copyright" means the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatsoever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof; and shall include the sole right—

(a) to produce, reproduce, perform, or publish any translation of the work;

(b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work;

(c) in the case of a novel or other non-dramatic work, or of an artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise;

(d) in the case of a literary, dramatic, or musical work, to make any record, perforated roll, cinematograph film, or other contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed or delivered;

and to authorise any such acts as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, publication, in relation to any work, means the issue of copies of the work to the public, and does not include the performance in public of a dramatic or musical work, the delivery in public of a lecture, the exhibition in public of an artistic work, or the construction of an architectural work of art, but, for the purposes of this provision, the issue of photographs and engravings of works of sculpture and architectural works of art shall not be deemed to be publication of such works.

2. (1) Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed by any person who,

Infringement of copyright.

without the consent of the owner of the copyright, does anything the sole right to do which is by this Act conferred on the owner of the copyright: Provided that the following acts shall not constitute an infringement of copyright:—

Sec. 2.—COPYRIGHT IN COMPILATION.—Though a book is a compilation from other works and is not original the fact that its contents have been arranged on a new plan will give the compiler a copyright in the book. 43 A. 412=61 I. C. 394=19 A. L. J. 180.

FINE ARTS.—(COPYRIGHT IN—ENGLISH AND INDIAN LAW.—The Fine Arts Copyright Act (25 and 26 Vic. c. 68) does not extend to any part of the British Dominions outside the United Kingdom [(1903) A.C. 496, F.] In England before the Statute of Anne (8 Anne c. 19) there was no copyright at common law for an author or a publisher in his productions. 22 Bom. L.R. 808=57 I.C. 592=44 B. 720. (4 H.L.C. 815; 19 B. 557 F.).

TEST OF INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT—DAMAGES DIRECTORY. 67 I.C. 983.

UNPUBLISHED WORK—COPYRIGHT IN.—Where purchased the right to publish and sell 90 songs composed by D and shortly afterwards D sold 40 of these to M, who published the same and sold them, held, that P was entitled to sue M for an injunction restraining him from publishing and selling the 40 songs in violation of the right exclusively acquired by him. 12 L.W. 151=39 M.L.J. 341=59 I.C. 229=(1920) M.W.N. 426.

LAW REPORTS—EXTRACTS BY REPORTER.—A plaintiff's copyright is infringed when the defendant reproduced not only the judgments but also part of the plaintiff's reports not forming parts of judgments and facts collected by the plaintiff from the records of cases. The reporter has no copyright in the reports of judgment, but he has protection of the law in selecting and reporting cases which he obtains by expenditure of time, labour and money. 26 I.C. 30=18 C.W.N. 1078.

ABRIDGEMENT—MERELY SELECTING PASSAGES AND KNITTING THEM TOGETHER DOES NOT CONSTITUTE INFRINGEMENT—RAW MATERIAL OR THE ORIGINAL WORKS ARE OPEN FOR CONSULTATION FOR ALL—USE OF ANOTHER'S LABOUR AND SKILL ONLY IS PROHIBITED—48 Bom. 308=26 Bom. L. R. 298; 28 C. W. N. 613=51 I. A. 109=1924 P. C. 75=46 M. L. J. 637. On appeal from 23 Bom. L. R. 1299. The word "original" does not mean that the work must be the expression of original or inventive thought. Copyright Acts are not concerned with the origin of ideas, but with the expression of thought; and in the case of "literary" work with the expression of thought in print or writing. (Ibid.) The originality which is required relates to the expression, which must be in an original or novel form, but the work must not be copied from another work, that is, it should not originate from another. (Ibid.)

PRESUMPTION—BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where the defendants in an action for damages for infringement of copyright in respect of a work do not put into issue the existence of the copyright in the work, there is an irrebuttable presumption that the alleged work was a work in which copyright existed and that the plaintiff was the owner of the copyright. In this class of cases, the Court

(i) Any fair dealing with any work for the purposes of private study, research, criticism, review, or newspaper summary ;

(ii) Where the author of an artistic work is not the owner of the copyright therein, the use by the author of any mould, cast, sketch, plan, model or study made by him for the purpose of the work, provided that he does not thereby repeat or imitate the main design of that work ;

(iii) The making or publishing of paintings, drawings, engravings, or photographs of a work of sculpture or artistic craftsmanship, if permanently situate in a public place or building, or the making or publishing of paintings, drawings, engravings or photographs (which are not in the nature of architectural drawings or plans) of any architectural work of art ;

(iv) The publication in a collection, mainly composed of non-copyright matter bona fide intended for the use of schools, and so described in the title and in any advertisements issued by the publisher, of short passages from published literary works not themselves published for the use of schools in which copyright subsists : Provided that not more than two of such passages from works by the same author are published by the same publisher within five years, and that the source from which such passages are taken is acknowledged ;

(v) The publication in a newspaper of a report of a lecture delivered in public, unless the report is prohibited by conspicuous written or printed notice affixed before and maintained during the lecture at or about the main entrance of the building in which the lecture is given, and, except whilst the building is being used for public worship, in a position near the lecturer ; but nothing in this paragraph shall affect the provisions in paragraph (i) as to newspaper summaries ;

(vi) The reading or recitation in public by one person of any reasonable extract from any published work.

(2) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who—

(a) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire ; or

(b) distributes either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright ; or

(c) by way of trade exhibits in public ; or

(d) imports for sale or hire into any part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, any work which to his knowledge infringes copyright or would infringe copyright if it had been made within the part of His Majesty's dominions in or into which the sale or hiring, exposure, offering for sale or hire, distribution, exhibition, or importation took place.

(3) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who for his private profit permits a theatre or other place of entertainment to be used the performance in public of the work without the consent of the owner of the copyright, unless he was not aware, and had no reasonable ground for suspecting, that the performance would be an infringement of copyright.

3. The term for which copyright shall subsist shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death :

Term of copyright.

Provided that at any time after the expiration of twenty-five years, or in the case of a work in which copyright subsists at the passing of this Act thirty years, from the death of the author of a published work, copyright in the work shall not be deemed to be infringed by the reproduction of the work for sale if the person reproducing the work proves that he has given the prescribed notice in writing of his intention to produce the work and that he has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for should be reluctant to sit as experts and to decide the question of infringement of copyright without the aid of expert evidence. The proper course, in such cases, is to get the opinion of experts who might be appointed Commissioners to investigate and report on the matters in issue. The opinion and findings of experts are not conclusive on the Court, but may be reviewed on exceptions. 39 C.L.J. 134-81 I.C. 754=1924 Cal. 595.

the benefit of, the owner of the copyright royalties in respect of all copies of the work sold by him calculated at the rate of ten per cent. on the price at which he publishes the work ; and, for the purposes of this proviso, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given, and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, including (if they think fit) regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

4. If, at any time after the death of the author of a literary, dramatic, or musical work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that the owner of the copyright in the work has refused to republish or to allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and that by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public, the owner of the copyright may be ordered to grant a licence to reproduce the work or perform the work in public, as the case may be, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Judicial Committee may think fit.

5. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the author of a work shall be the first owner of the copyright therein ;

Ownership of copyright, etc.

Provided that—

(a) where, in the case of an engraving, photograph, or portrait, the plate or other original was ordered by some other person and was made for valuable consideration in pursuance of that order, then, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, the person by whom such plate or other original was ordered shall be the first owner of the copyright ;

(b) where the author was in the employment of some other person under a contract of service or apprenticeship and the work was made in the course of his employment by that person, the person by whom the author was employed shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be the first owner of the copyright, but where the work is an article or other contribution to a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical, there shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be deemed to be reserved to the author a right to restrain the publication of the work, otherwise than as part of a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical.

(2) The owner of the copyright in any work may assign the right, either wholly or partially, and either generally or subject to limitations to the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion or other part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, and either for the whole term of the copyright or for any part thereof, and may grant any interest in the right by licence, but no such assignment or grant shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made, or by his duly authorized agent :

Provided that, where the author of a work is the first owner of the copyright therein, no assignment of the copyright, and no grant of any interest therein, made by him (otherwise than by will) after the passing of this act, shall be operative to vest in the assignee or grantee any rights with respect to the copyright in the work beyond the expiration of twenty-five years from the death of the author, and the reversionary interest in the copyright expectant on the termination of that period shall, on the death of the author, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, devolve on his legal personal representatives as part of his estate, and any agreement entered into by him as to the disposition of such reversionary interest shall be null and void, but nothing in this proviso shall be construed as applying to the assignment of the copyright in a collective work or a licence to publish a work or part of a work as part of a collective work.

(3) Where, under any partial assignment of copyright, the assignee becomes entitled to any right comprised in copyright, the assignee, as respects the right so assigned, and the assignor as respects the rights not assigned, shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as the owner of the copyright, and the provisions of this Act shall have effect accordingly.

Civil Remedies.

6. (1) Where copyright in any work has been infringed, the owner of the copy-ment of copyright. right shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction or interdict, damages, accounts, and otherwise, as are or may be conferred by the law for the infringement of a right.

(2) The costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the absolute discretion of the Court.

(3) In any action for infringement of copyright in any work, the work shall be presumed to be a work in which copyright subsists and the plaintiff shall be presumed to be the owner of the copyright, unless the defendant puts in issue the existence of the copyright, or, as the case may be, the title of the plaintiff, and where any such question is in issue then—

(a) if a name purporting to be that of the author of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the author of the work ;

(b) if no name is so printed or indicated, or if the name so printed or indicated is not the author's true name or the name by which he is commonly known, and a name purporting to be that of the publisher or proprietor of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the owner of the copyright in the work for the purposes of proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright therein.

7. All infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, or of any sub-damages, etc in any work and the defendant in his defence alleges that he was not aware of the existence of the copyright in the work, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any remedy other than an injunction or interdict in respect of the infringement if the defendant proves that at the date of the infringement he was not aware and had not reasonable ground for suspecting that copyright subsisted in the work.

 some other work has been commenced, the owner of the copyright shall not be entitled to obtain an injunction or interdict to restrain the construction of such building or structure or to order its demolition.

(2) Such of the other provisions of this Act as provide that an infringing copy of a work shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright, or as impose summary penalties, shall not apply in any case to which this section applies.

Limitation of actions. 10. An action in respect of infringement of copy-years next after the infringement.

Importation of copies.

14. (1) Copies made out of the United Kingdom of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in the United Kingdom would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into the United Kingdom, shall not be so imported, and shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be included in the table of prohibitions and restrictions contained in section forty-two of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, and that section shall apply accordingly.

(2) Before detaining any such copies or taking any further proceedings with a view to the forfeiture thereof under the law relating to the Customs, the commissioners of Customs and Excise may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, conditions, or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy themselves in accordance with those regulations that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Commissioners of Customs and Excise may make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and forfeiture of copies, the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and forfeiture, and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notice, and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) The regulations may apply to copies of all works, the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the Commissioners of Customs and Excise all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention; and may provide for notices under any enactment repealed by this Act being treated as notices given under this section.

(6) The foregoing provisions of this section shall have effect as if they were part of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876; Provided that, notwithstanding anything in that Act, the Isle of Man shall not be treated as part of the United Kingdom for purposes of this section.

(7) This section shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the importation into a British possession to which this Act extends of copies of works made out of that possession.

(2) He shall also, if written demand is made before the expiration of twelve months after publication, deliver within one month after receipt of that written demand or, if the demand was made before publication, within one month after publication, to some depot in London named in the demand a copy of the book for, or in accordance with the directions of, the authority having the control of each of the following libraries, namely: the Bodleian Library, Oxford, the University Library, Cambridge, the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh, and the Library of Trinity College, Dublin; and, subject to the provisions of this section, the National Library of Wales. In the case of an encyclopædia, newspaper, review, magazine or work published in a series of numbers or parts, the written demand may include all numbers or parts of the work which may be subsequently published.

(3) The copy delivered to the trustees of the British Museum shall be a copy of the whole book with all maps and illustrations belonging thereto, finished and coloured in the same manner as the best copies of the book are published, and shall be bound, sewed, or stitched together, and on the best paper on which the book is printed.

(4) The copy delivered for the other authorities mentioned in this section shall be on the paper on which the largest number of copies of the book is printed for sale, and shall be in the like condition as the books prepared for sale.

(5) The books of which copies are to be delivered to the National Library of Wales shall not include books of such classes as may be specified in regulations to be made by the Board of Trade.

(6) If a publisher fails to comply with this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds and the value of the book, and the fine shall be paid to the trustees or authority to whom the book ought to have been delivered.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the expression "book" includes every part or division of book, pamphlet, sheet of letter-press, sheet of music, map, plan, chart or table separately published, but shall not include any second or subsequent edition of a book unless such edition contains additions or alterations either in the letter-press or in the maps, prints, or other engravings belonging thereto.

Special Provisions as to certain Works.

16. (1) In the case of a work of joint authorship, copyright shall subsist during the life of the author who first dies and for a term of fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last, whichever period is the longer, and references in this Act to the period after the expiration of any specified number of years from the death of the author shall be construed as references to the period after the expiration of the like number of years from the death of the author who dies first or after the death of the author who dies last, whichever period may be the shorter, and in the provisions of this Act with respect to the grant of compulsory licences a reference to the date of the death of the author who dies last shall be substituted for the reference to the date of the death of the author.

Works of joint authors.

(2) Where, in the case of a work of joint authorship some one or more of the joint authors do not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright laid down by this Act, the work shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if the other author or authors had been the sole author or authors thereof :

Provided that the term of the copyright shall be the same as it would have been if all the authors had satisfied such conditions as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, "a work of joint authorship" means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors.

(4) Where a married woman and her husband are joint authors of a work the interest of such married woman therein shall be her separate property.

17. (1) In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of a work of joint authorship, at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which has not been published, nor, in the case of a dramatic or musical work, been performed in public, nor, in the case of a lecture, been delivered in public, before that date, copyright shall subsist till publication, or performance or delivery in public, whichever may first happen, and for a term of fifty years thereafter, and the proviso to section three of this Act shall, in the case of such a work, apply as if the author had died at the date of such publication or performance or delivery in public as aforesaid.

Posthumous works.

(2) The ownership of an author's manuscript after his death, where such ownership has been acquired under a testamentary disposition made by the author and the manuscript is of a work which has not been published nor performed in public nor delivered in public, shall be prima facie proof of the copyright being with the owner of the manuscript.

18. Without prejudice to any rights or privileges of the Crown, where any work has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, been prepared or published by or under the direction or control of His Majesty or any Government department, the copyright in the work shall, subject to any agreement with the author, belong to His Majesty, and in such case shall continue for a period of fifty years from the date of the first publication of the work.

Provisions as to Government publications.

19. (1) Copyright shall subsist in records, perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical works, but the term of copyright shall be fifty years from the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was the owner of such original plate at the time when such plate was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

(2) It shall not be deemed to be an infringement of copyright in any musical work for any person to make within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed, if such person proves—

(a) that such contrivances have previously been made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work; and

(b) that he has given the prescribed notice of his intention to make the contrivances, and has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of all such contrivances sold by him, calculated at the rate hereinafter mentioned:

Provided that—

(i) nothing in this provision shall authorise any alterations in, or omissions from, the work reproduced, unless contrivances reproducing the work subject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright, or unless such alterations or omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the contrivances in question; and

(ii) for the purposes of this provision, a musical work shall be deemed to include any words so closely associated therewith as to form part of the same work, but shall not be deemed to include a contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced.

(3) The rate at which such royalties as aforesaid are to be calculated shall—

(a) in the case of contrivances sold within two years after the commencement of this Act by the person making the same, be two and one-half per cent; and on the ordinary retail selling price of the contrivance calculated in the prescribed manner, so however that the royalty payable in respect of a contrivance shall in no case be less than a half-penny for each separate musical work in which copyright subsists reproduced thereon, and, where the royalty calculated as aforesaid includes a fraction of a farthing, such fraction shall be reckoned as a farthing:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of this Act, it appears to the Board of Trade that such rate as aforesaid is no longer equitable, the Board of Trade may, after holding a public inquiry, make an order either decreasing or increasing that rate to such extent as under the circumstances may seem just, but any order so made shall be provisional only and shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by Parliament; but, where an order revising the rate has been so made and confirmed, no further revision shall be made before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the last revision.

(4) If any such contrivance is made reproducing two or more different works in which copyright subsists and the owners of the copyright therein are different persons, the sums payable by way of royalties under this section shall be apportioned amongst the several owners of the copyright in such proportions as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(5) When any such contrivances by means of which a musical work may be mechanically performed have been made, then, for the purposes of this section, the owner of the copyright in the work shall, in relation to any person who makes the prescribed inquiries, be deemed to have given his consent to the making of such contrivances if he fails to reply to such inquiries within the prescribed time.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing anything which under this section is to be prescribed, and prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, and any such regulations may, if the Board think fit, include regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

(7) In the case of musical works published before the commencement of this Act, the foregoing provisions shall have effect, subject to the following modifications and additions :

(a) The conditions as to the previous making by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work, and the restrictions as to alterations in or omissions from the work shall not apply :

(b) The rate of two and one-half per cent. shall be substituted for the rate of five per cent. as the rate at which royalties are to be calculated, but no royalties shall be payable in respect of contrivances sold before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen, if contrivances reproducing the same work had been lawfully made, or placed on sale, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and ten :

(c) Notwithstanding any assignment made before the passing of this Act of the copyright in a musical work, any rights conferred by this Act in respect of the making, or authorising the making, of contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed shall belong to the author or his legal personal representatives and not to the assignees, and the royalties aforesaid shall be payable to, and for the benefit of, the author of the work or his legal personal representatives :

(d) The saving contained in this Act of the rights and interests arising from, or in connexion with, action taken before the commencement of this Act shall not be construed as authorising any person who has made contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed to sell any such contrivances, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, except on the terms and subject to the conditions laid down in this section :

(e) Where the work is a work on which copyright is conferred by an Order in Council relating to a foreign country, the copyright so conferred shall not, except to such extent as may be provided by the Order, include any rights with respect to the making of records, perforated rolls, or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in this Act where a record, perforated roll, or other contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced has been made before the commencement of this Act, copyright shall, as from the commencement of this Act, subsist therein in like manner and for the like term as if this Act had been in force at the date of the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived :

Provided that—

(i) the person who, at the commencement of this Act, is the owner of such original plate shall be the first owner of such copyright ; and

(ii) nothing in this provision shall be construed as conferring copyright in any such contrivance if the making thereof would have infringed copyright in some other such contrivance, if this provision had been in force at the time of the making of the first-mentioned contrivance.

Provision as to political speeches.

20. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, it shall not be an infringement of copyright in an address of a political nature delivered at a public meeting to publish a report thereof in a newspaper.

21. The term for which copyright shall subsist in photographs shall be fifty years from the making of the original negative from which the photograph was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was owner of such negative at the time when such negative was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

22. (1) This Act shall not apply to designs capable of being registered under the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, except designs which, though capable of being so registered, are not used or intended to be used as models or patterns to be multiplied by any industrial process.

(2) General rules under section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, may be made for determining the conditions under which a design shall be deemed to be used for such purposes as aforesaid.

23. If it appears to His Majesty that a foreign country does not give, or has not undertaken to give, adequate protection to the works of British authors, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to direct that such of the provisions of this Act as confer copyright on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, shall not apply to works published after the date specified in the Order, the authors whereof are subjects or citizens of such foreign country, and are not resident in His Majesty's dominions, and thereupon those provisions shall not apply to such works.

24. (1) Where any person is immediately before the commencement of this Act entitled to any such right in any work as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act, or to any interest in such a right, he shall, as from that date, be entitled to the substituted right set forth in the second column of that schedule, or to the same interest in such a substituted right, and to no other right or interest, and such substituted right shall subsist for the term for which it would have subsisted if this Act had been in force at the date when the work was made and the work had been one entitled to copyright thereunder

(a) if the author of any work in which any such right as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act subsists at the commencement of this Act has, before that date, assigned the right or granted any interest therein for the whole term of the right, then at the date when, but for the passing of this Act, the right would have expired the substituted right conferred by this section shall, in the absence of express agreement, pass to the author of the work, and any interest therein created before the commencement of this Act and then subsisting shall determine; but the person who immediately before the date at which the right would so have expired was the owner of the right or interest shall be entitled at his option either—

(i) on giving such notice as hereinafter mentioned, to an assignment of the right or the grant of a similar interest therein for the remainder of the term of the right for such consideration as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration; or

Sec. 24.—An entry in the Copyright Register Book under section 3 of the previous Copyright Act is prima facie evidence of the proprietorship of the person mentioned therein, but the absence of that provision from the new Copyright Act does not make it any the less evidence when the new Act grants to the owners of existing copyrights, rights at least as valuable as the rights given under the repealed Act. Section 14 of the Indian Evidence Act can, therefore, be invoked to make such evidence admissible. A High Court can in such cases interfere under section 15 of the Charter Act. 30 I. C. 721 = 16 Cr. L. J. 673; (21 I. C. 681; 25 M. L. J. 510; 14 Cr. L. J. 633; 38 M. 512 Fol.).

(ii) without any such assignment or grant, to continue to reproduce or perform the work in like manner as theretofore subject to the payment, if demanded by the author within three years after the date at which the right would have so expired, of such royalties to the author as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration, or, where the work is incorporated in a collective work and the owner of the right or interest is the proprietor of that collective work, without any such payment ;

The notice above referred to must be given not more than one year nor less than six months before the date at which the right would have so expired, and must be sent by registered post to the author, or, if he cannot with reasonable diligence be found advertised in the London Gazette and in two London newspapers ;

(b) where any person has, before the twenty-sixth day of July, nineteen hundred and ten, taken any action whereby he has incurred any expenditure or liability in connexion with the reproduction or performance of any work in a manner which at the time was lawful, or for the purpose of or with a view to the reproduction or performance of a work at a time when such reproduction or performance would, but for the passing of this Act, have been lawful, nothing in this section shall diminish or prejudice any rights or interest arising from or in connexion with such action which are subsisting and valuable at the said date unless the person who by virtue of this section becomes entitled to restrain such reproduction or performance agrees to pay such compensation as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "author" includes the legal personal representatives of a deceased author.

(3) Subject to the provisions of section 19, sub-sections (7) and (8) and of section 33 of this Act, copyright shall not subsist in any work made before the commencement of this Act, otherwise than under, and in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Application to British Possessions.

25. (1) This Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, shall extend throughout His Majesty's dominions : Provided that it shall not extend to a self-governing dominion, unless declared by the Legislature of that dominion to be in force therein either without any modifications or additions, or with such modifications and additions relating exclusively to procedure and remedies, or necessary to adapt this Act to the circumstances of the dominion, as may be enacted by such Legislature.

(2) If the Secretary of State certifies by notice published in the London Gazette that any self-governing dominion has passed legislation under which works, the authors whereof were at the date of the making of the works British subjects resident elsewhere than in the dominion or (not being British subjects) were resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, enjoy within the dominion rights substantially identical with those conferred by this Act, then, whilst such legislation continues in force, the dominion shall, for the purposes of the rights conferred by this Act, be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends ; and it shall be lawful for, the Secretary of State to give such a certificate as aforesaid, notwithstanding that the remedies for enforcing the rights, or the restrictions on the importation of copies of works, manufactured in a foreign country, under the law of the dominion, differ from those under this Act.

26. (1) The Legislature of any self-governing dominion may, at any time, repeal all or any of the enactments relating to copyright passed by Parliament (including this Act) so far as they are operative within that dominion : Provided that no such repeal shall prejudicially affect any legal rights existing at the time of the repeal, and that, on this Act or any part thereof being so repealed by the Legislature of a self-governing dominion, that dominion shall cease to be a dominion to which this Act extends.

(2) In any self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend the enactments repealed by this Act shall, so far as they are operative in that dominion, continue in force until repealed by the Legislature of that dominion.

(3) Where his Majesty in Council is satisfied that the law of a self governing dominion to which this Act does not extend provides adequate protection within the dominion for the works (whether published or unpublished) of authors who at the time of the making of the work were British subjects resident elsewhere than in that dominion, His Majesty in Council may, for the purpose of giving reciprocal protection, direct that this Act, except such parts (if any) thereof as may be specified in the Order, and subject to any conditions contained therein, shall, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, apply to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident within the first-mentioned dominion, and to works first published in that dominion; but, save as provided by such an Order, works the authors whereof were resident in a dominion to which this Act does not extend shall not, whether they are British subjects or not, be entitled to any protection under this Act except such protection as is by this Act conferred on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends:

Provided that no such Order shall confer any rights within a self-governing dominion, but the Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends, may, by Order, confer within that dominion the like rights as His Majesty in Council is, under the foregoing provisions of this sub-section, authorized to confer within other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression "a dominion to which this Act extends" includes a dominion which is for the purposes of this Act to be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends.

27. The Legislature of any British possession to which this Act extends may modify or add to any of the provisions of this Act in its application to the possession, but, except so far as such modifications and additions relate to procedure and remedies, they shall apply only to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident in the possession, and to works first published in the possession.

28. His Majesty may, by Order in Council, extend this Act to any territories under his protection and to Cyprus, and, on the making of any such Order, this Act shall, subject to the provisions of the Order, have effect as if the territories to which it applies or Cyprus were part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

PART II.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

29. (1) His Majesty may, by Order in Council direct that this Act (except such parts, if any, thereof as may be specified in the Order) shall apply—

(a) to works first published in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if they were first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends;

(b) to literary, dramatic, musical, and artistic works, or any class thereof, the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the works, subjects or citizens of a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if the authors were British subjects;

(c) in respect of residence in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if such residence were residence in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends; and thereupon, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act and of the Order this Act shall apply accordingly;

Provided that—

(i) before making an Order in Council under this section in respect of any foreign country (other than a country with which His Majesty has entered into a convention relating to copyright), His Majesty shall be satisfied that that foreign country has made, or has undertaken to make, such provisions, if any, as it appears to His Majesty expedient to require for the protection of works entitled to copyright under the provisions of Part I of this Act ;

(ii) the Order in Council may provide that the term of copyright within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid shall not exceed that conferred by the law of the country to which the Order relates ;

(iii) the provisions of this Act as to the delivery of copies of books shall not apply to works first published in such country, except so far as is provided by the Order ;

(iv) the Order in Council may provide that the enjoyment of the rights conferred by this Act shall be subject to the accomplishment of such conditions and formalities (if any) as may be prescribed by the Order ;

(v) in applying the provisions of this Act as to ownership of Copyright, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary having regard to the law of the foreign country ;

(vi) in applying the provisions of this Act as to existing works, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary, and may provide that nothing in those provisions as so applied shall be construed as reviving any right of preventing the production or importation of any translation in any case where the right has ceased by virtue of section five of the International Copyright Act, 1886.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may extend to all the several countries named or described therein.

30. (1) An Order in Council under this Part of this Act shall apply to all His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends except self-governing dominions and any other possession specified in the Order with respect to which it appears to His Majesty expedient that the Order should not apply.

(2) The Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, as respects that dominion, make the like Orders as under this Part of this Act His Majesty in Council is authorized to make with respect to His Majesty's dominions other than self-governing dominions, and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall, with the necessary modifications, apply accordingly.

(3) Where it appears to His Majesty expedient to except from the provisions of any Order any part of his dominions, not being a self-governing dominion, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by the same or any other Order in Council to declare that such Order and this Part of this Act shall not, and the same shall not, apply to such part, except so far as is necessary for preventing any prejudice to any rights acquired previously to the date of such Order.

PART III.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

31. No person shall be entitled to copyright or any similar right in any literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work, whether published or unpublished, otherwise than under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or of any other statutory enactment for the time being in force, but nothing in this section shall be construed as abrogating any right or jurisdiction to restrain a breach of trust or confidence.

32. (1) His Majesty in Council may make Orders for altering, revoking, or varying any Order in Council made under this Act, or under any enactments repealed by this Act, but any Order made under this section shall not affect prejudicially any rights or interests acquired or accrued at the date when the Order comes into operation, and shall provide for the protection of such rights and interests.

(2) Every Order in Council made under this Act shall be published in the London Gazette and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after it is made, and shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

33 Nothing in this Act shall deprive any of the universities and colleges mentioned in the Copyright Act, 1775, of any copyright they already possess under that Act, but the remedies and penalties for infringement of any such copyright shall be under this Act and not under that Act.

34. There shall continue to be charged on, and paid out of, the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom such annual compensation as was immediately before the commencement of this Act payable in pursuance of any Act as compensation to a library for the loss of the right to receive gratuitous copies of books :

Provided that this compensation shall not be paid to a library in any year unless the Treasury are satisfied that the compensation for the previous year has been applied in the purchase of books for the use of and to be preserved in the library.

35. (1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— PREFATORY NOTE :—The practice in our country in respect of the levy of fees, is similar to the practice prevailing in England and other European countries.

The origin of court-fees in British India may be described in the following words of the first report of the Commissioners appointed to consider the reform of the judicial Establishment, etc., of India, 1856. The report says:

"No institution fee has ever been paid in the Supreme Court; nor under the original system of Lord Cornwallis was there any such fee in the Courts of the Company. The state defrayed the expense of all the judicial establishments. An institution fee, in the case of civil suits, was first established by Bengal Regulation XXXVIII of 1795, not as a source of revenue, but as appears from the preamble to the Regulation, for the purpose of preventing vexatious litigation. By Bengal Regulation VI of 1797, the institution fees were converted into stamp duties; the preamble there assigns the same object; but adds also that of increasing the public revenue. The last purpose is the only one mentioned in Bengal Regulation I of 1814 which further regulates these payments.

The old regulations and Acts as to Court-fees in the three Presidencies are no longer of any practical application. The Madras and Bombay Regulations proceeded to a great extent on the lines of the Bengal Regulations.

With regard to criminal cases it was found that there were no means of checking litigious complaints, in trifling matters before the magistrate, and therefore a fee of eight annas was first directed to be paid on all complaints of a petty nature before the magistrate by Bengal Regulation X of 1797. Subsequently a duty of one rupee was levied on complaints as to offences of a heinous nature. This continued to be the state of the law till 1829, when it was amended by the imposing of a fee of eight annas on complaints of offences of a bailable nature. When this provision was sought to be introduced in Bombay and Madras by the Bill of 1860 there was opposition and consequently fees on complaints were altogether abolished, but were introduced again by the Act of 1867.

The Stamp Act, XXXVI of 1860, was the first general Act of the Governor-General in Council relating to judicial and non-judicial stamps in British India and repeated the previous Regulations in force in the three Presidencies. This Act was in turn repealed by Act X of 1862. It was represented to the Government of India that the scale of 1862 was too low and capriciously arranged. Mr. Roberts was proposing from time to time that a scheme should be introduced the object of which were that there should be a uniform rate of duty of 12 per cent. and that duty shall be charged up to certain sum and beyond that sum a small duty should be levied and that the money so obtained should be employed in the improvement of the Courts. The last of these recommendations reached the Government of India in 1866. Lord Lawrence had formed the opinion that the greatest evils in the administration of justice arose from the under-payments of the lower moffusil judges and the officers of their courts. The plans which he had been considering for remedying the evil came to maturity in 1866. The first reason which led to the Stamp Bill of 1867 was a proposition on the part of Mr. Strachey that a certain sum of money should be expended in enhancing the salaries of ministerial officers and of the judicial officers of certain courts. That proposition involved an extra expenditure of several lakhs of rupees, and the finances of the country then were ill able to bear the additional burden. To meet that expenditure and generally that incurred on account of the Courts, a Commission was appointed for considering the stamp laws, and before them was laid the proposals of Mr. Roberts in respect of the amendment of the scale of fees leviable under schedule B to Act X of 1862. The Commission was appointed with the object, namely, if possible to derive out of the stamp duties levied in judicial proceedings sufficient revenue not only to meet the increased expenditure to be incurred for the Courts, but also to make the Courts, to a more considerable extent than they did, pay for themselves.

The scheme which the Stamp Commission submitted was accepted in its entirety by the Executive Council and the scale of 1867 was the result of this Commission.

Act XXVI of 1867 proved repressive of litigation, but a considerable increase of revenue was obtained through its operation. Moreover, the Act of 1867 was intended only to be a tentative measure. To give some measure of relief, Act VII of 1870 was passed. The provisions relating to Court-fees were scattered over a number of enactments and the present Act consolidated these provisions relating to Court-fees.

The law relating to Court-fees and that relating to stamps proper were contained in one and the same regulation or Act till Act XXVI of 1867 was passed when they were dealt with each separately. In order that for the future there might be no confusion between stamp revenue proper (non-judicial) and the revenue derived "from judicial stamp" the proceeds of Act VII of 1870 were designated the Court-fees and the Act is entitled accordingly.

As regards the general policy of levying a tax on the administration of justice, it may be noted the Bentham was of opinion that justice ought not to be taxed. Mr. Hobhouse, when he asked for leave to introduce the Bill of 1867 remarked, that he was aware that there was an opinion among certain writers in England that justice should not be taxed, but as far as he knew that theory did not meet with entire approbation in England.

Mr. Maine observed thus on the objection to judicial taxation—

'This astounding fact (i.e., 75 per cent. of demonstrable false accusations which was the practical result of the relaxation of the stamp law) might well make them cautious as to minor and therefore less hazardous generalities on the subject of judicial taxes in India. But it still remained to refute the more sweeping generalisation that judicial taxes in all countries were mischievous and improper. It may be observed that the opinion against judicial taxation was extremely modern. For centuries and centuries there had seemed to be nothing more simple or natural than that the parties to a dispute should remunerate the authority by whom their differences were arranged. No doubt in modern Europe the mistake had been made of allowing judicial fees to go into the pocket of the judge himself and not into the exchequer of the State that paid him. This had led in France before the Revolution by a perfectly logical association to the sale of judicial offices, and in England though it had always been illegal to traffic in such offices, the same result had practically been obtained by the creation of sinecures which were conferred on the relations of the judge. Against such scandals and abuses Jeremy Bentham, now not far short of a hundred years ago, protested with all the vehemence of which he was capable, and it may be stated that the opinion against the judicial taxation was entirely produced by Jeremy Bentham and was not older. It was true that Jeremy Bentham's opinions, in this respect, had not been practically carried out even in England, and that still large amounts were levied in the forms of judicial taxes in aid of the payments which the State made to its judicial officers. But the truth was that Bentham's name was so great in England that even those views of his which had never been acted upon obtained currency and importance in the shape of common places. If it should be enquired into as to what were the reasons of Bentham for denouncing judicial taxation as mischievous the following points may be noticed: Bentham's idea was that all litigation or all but very little, was entirely the fault of Government and therefore he naturally objected that the Government which cause litigation should profit by it. Bentham believed that litigation was owing to the complexity of the law, and this litigation might be almost entirely removed by legislation adapted to true principles. He thought that litigation and therefore the expense of litigation might be reduced to a minimum, if it were not for the blindness, the stupidity or the cupidity of legislatures in not simplifying the laws. Mr. Maine would quote the panacea expressly prescribed by Bentham for all but complete suppression of fees and costs, an all comprehensive code of substantive law having for its end in view the greatest happiness of the greatest number each part of it presented to the minds of all persons on whom conformity to its enactments, the attainment of its end depends, and an all-comprehensive code of adjective law, otherwise called a code of procedure having for its end the giving, to the utmost possible amount, execution and effect to the enactments of the substantive Code. This passage was quoted from the principles of judicial procedure as a statement of Bentham's expedient for preventing judicial taxation and accordingly he argued with perfect logic that it is the State and not the litigant that ought to pay them.

Now without entering into the question of the truth of these views, had they any application whatever to India? The simple fact was that the people of India objected to having their laws and institutions simplified, and resented such interference as a breach of the conditions on which the country was governed. The truth appeared to be that the people of the country were not only wedded by custom and religious feeling to a complex system of law, but prided themselves on their usages in proportion to the complexity of those usages. If this were so, the foundation of Bentham's doctrine collapsed and the doctrine itself had no application to India. The legislature was estopped by the conditions of our tenure of the country, from so simplifying the law as to render judicial taxation mischievous. He (Mr. Maine) did not mean to imply that indefinite judicial taxation was legitimate to this country. All the argued was that it was governed by the same principles as the levying of any other tax, and not by any special consideration of the mischievousness of judicial taxation.

Mr. Maine again remarked in the Council that the question whether justice might be taxed for the general purposes of the State did not arise in India, and that the last thing which could be attributed to the Commission or to the Government was policy of taxing litigants as a separate class for the benefit of the general finance.

The above observations of Mr. Maine were made in vindication of the policy of the Government in levying taxes for the administration of justice. The Court-Fees Act (VII of 1870) were passed into law; and it prescribes certain fees to be paid by suitors before the Court can take action in their suit or on their application. (b) in the Presidency of Bombay outside Sindh and the limits of the town of Bombay—a Revenue Commissioner ;

(c) in Sindh—the Commissioner ;

(d) in the Punjab⁵ and Burma, including Upper Burma—the Financial Commissioner ; and

(e) elsewhere—the Local Government or such officer as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette,⁶ appoint in this behalf.

W. N. 815 at p. 821. Provisions of other statutes which are in pari materia may be referred to, but when the Acts are different in their scope and character, they cannot be read together. 22 M. 494=9 M. L. J. 37 ; 4 B 515. Thus Limitation Act cannot be consulted. 23 A. 749 ; 22 M. 494 ; 9 M. 134.

OPERATION OF THE ACT.—Notification increasing Court-fees issued and published on a certain date in the official Gazette even if it was received at 5 p. m. after office hours, would apply to plaints filed on the same date earlier in the day. 45 M. L. J. 557=16 Mad. 685 (F. B.). Plaint returned for presentation to proper court—New Court-Fees Act coming into force before actual presentation—Court-fee is payable under the new Act. 30 C. W. N. 90=91 I. C. 862=A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 355.

DETERMINATION OF COURT-FEES UNDER THE ACT.—In order to determine the amount of Court-fee payable in a suit, the Court has to look at and see in each particular case what the nature of the relief claimed is, and for that purpose it must look at the allegations contained in the plaint. 21 C. W. N. 375=35 I. C. 797. See also 40 C. L. J. 150=79 I. C. 982. In other words, the cause of action as stated in the plaint must be seen. 20 C. 762. The substance and not the mere language of the plaint must be looked to. 28 I. C. 79=38 M. 922, following 30 M. 18=1 M. L. T. 412 and 40 C. 15=21 I. C. 404. It is the duty of Court to see that proper value is put on the relief claimed. Where it is too small on the face of the plaint, the Court can question the same. 21 I. C. 404=40 C. 615. Basis of taxation under the Act is the actual value of the property and not its probable value under more efficient management. 62 I. C. 513=6 P. L. J. 411. Interest pendente lite ; There is no provision of law authorising assessment of additional court-fee by reason of accrual of interest pendente lite where the plaintiff appeals. A. I. Where in a mortgage suit the plaintiff's claim was allowed in part by the trial court and in appeal the High Court decreed the claim in full and it appeared that the sum so allowed was larger than that claimed in the plaint. Held, that there was no provision in the Court Fees Act under which the plaintiff-appellant may be called upon to pay additional court-fee upon the amount found due. 105 I. C. 395 (1)=1 P. L. T. 331. A Court has jurisdiction to order the issue of a certificate to enable the plaintiff to apply to the Revenue authorities to obtain a refund of the excess Court-fee paid under a bona fide mistake. The plaintiff's estimate of the value of the land, if contrary to the section of the Court Fees Act, cannot be allowed to operate to the prejudice of the defendant at any stage of the suit. The defendant can object to the valuation whenever it is in his interest to do so. 49 A. 398=100 I. C. 35=25 A. L. J. 258=A. I. R. 1927 A. 308.

⁴ Secs. 3 and 4. SCOPE OF THE SECTIONS.—Section 4 has no application to the ordinary original civil and criminal jurisdiction, or admiralty and matrimonial jurisdictions, etc. But section 3 enacts that the procedure laid down in Chapter V, Ss. 25 to 28 for collection and the mode of levying the fees shall apply to the original jurisdiction as well as the appellate jurisdiction from the High Court, Original Side. Section 4 is not applicable to Letters Patent appeal from the judgment of a single Judge of the High Court and no Court-fee is leviable thereon except Rs. 2 prescribed for an application to the High Court. 44 A. 13=19 A. L. J. 677. See also 65 I. C. 675; 3 Lah. 420=1923 Lah. 275; 1 Pat. 384=3 P. L. T. 194; nor to appeals under Agency Rules referred by Government to High Court for disposal. 22 M. 162. Suit transferred to High Court under Cl. 13 of the Letters Patent (Mad.) from Presidency Small Cause Court—Deficiency must be paid according to Court Fees Act. 22 L. W. 15=91 I. C. 751=A. I. R. 1925 Mad. 1216.

MEMORANDUM OF APPEAL.—Under section 4 "documents" includes memorandum of appeal. 12 All. 129 (F.B.). Appeal should not be entertained without payment of proper Court-fee. 30 I. C. 379 (Pat.); 3 P. L. J. 74=42 I. C. 675; 25 M. 24 (memorandum of cross-objections). The appeal is liable to be rejected if the deficiency is not made up within the period of limitation. 1924 Lah. 401. See also 46 I. C. 509=3 P. L. J. 484. See also S. 28 infra.

⁵ Sec. 4.—⁴ The words "judgments (other than . . . Court) of one" were substituted for the words "judgment of two" by Act XIX of 1922.

⁶ Sec. 5. SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—See the observations of Collins, C. J., in 21 M. 269 (270). Conditions necessary for the operation of opinion, one of general importance, in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the Chief Justice of such High Court, or of such Judge of the High Court as the Chief Justice shall appoint either generally or specially in this behalf.

When any such difference arises in any of the said Courts of Small Causes, the question shall be referred to the Clerk of the Court, whose decision thereon shall be final, except when the question is, in his opinion, one of general importance, in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the first Judge of such Court.

The Chief Justice shall declare who shall be taxing-officer within the meaning of first paragraph of this section.

CHAPTER III.

FEES IN OTHER COURTS AND IN PUBLIC OFFICES.

6. Except in the Courts hereinbefore mentioned, no document of any of the kinds

Fees on documents filed, specified as chargeable in the first or second schedule to this Act annexed shall be filed, exhibited or recorded in any public offices. Court of Justice, or shall be received or furnished by any the section, see 12 All. 129 (F. B.); 4 P. L. J. 700; 3 P. L. J. 92=43 I. C. 521. The jurisdiction of a Taxing Officer does not arise like the jurisdiction of an arbitrator upon a difference of opinion between a Court clerk and a suitor and upon formal reference to decide the dispute. The intention of S. 5 is merely to ensure that the question should be raised before the Taxing Officer, that he should bring his mind to bear on the question and decide it. 52 C. 871=29 C. W. N. 879=1925 Cal. 1201. See also 20 M. 398. The power of the Taxing Officer under S. 5 is not confined merely to memoranda of appeal filed in the High Court, but extends to deficiencies in stamp on a plaint or memorandum of appeal in the Courts below when the fact of detriment to the revenue is brought to his notice. 22 A. L. J. 1038=84 I. C. 822=1925 All. 184. Under S. 5 it is competent to the Chief Justice to refer a dispute re: Court-fee between a suitor or his attorney and the Officer of the Court, to the decision of a particular Judge of the High Court. 45 M. 849=43 M. L. J. 436=1922 Mad. 421. The decision of such Judge is final. 29 Bom. L. R. 1511=A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 643=52 B. 61=106 I. C. 66 (2). It is not proper for a Judge to whom a Court-fee matter is referred to refer the matter to a Bench. 3 Pat. 146=4 P. L. T. 638=75 I. C. 871. Nor has the division bench jurisdiction to decide the reference. 33 A. 20=7 A. L. J. 842. (30 M. 96, Foll.) A Division Bench of the High Court has no jurisdiction to re-open the valuation of the appeal after it is admitted. 4 Pat. L. J. 700=52 I. C. 508.

FINALITY OF THE DECISION OF THE TAXING OFFICER.—A decision of the Taxing Officer is final and is not open to appeal, review or revision. 4 P. L. J. 700=52 I. C. 508; 3 P. L. J. 92=43 I. C. 521; 12 All. 129; 26 L. W. 378=105 I. C. 119=A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 940=53 M. L. J. 457. The decision is final both as to the category under which the suit falls and the amount of fee payable by the suitor. 12 All. 129; 23 A. W. N. 214; 32 A. 19=6 A. L. J. 972=4 I. C. 123; 15 A. 117. The decision is final though wrongly given. The Bench hearing appeal will not interfere with it. 2 P. 919=5 P. L. T. 315. See also 2 P. 198=4 P. L. T. 71; 4 Pat. 336=87 I. C. 137=1925 P. 392 (F. B.); 1925 P. H. C. C. 339; 52 C. 871=29 C. W. N. 879=1925 Cal. 1201. The remedy of the party aggrieved by such a decision is to move the Board of Revenue to grant a refund. 1925 P. H. C. C. 359. See also 39 P. R. 1907. The effect of a wrong decision, however, by the Taxing Officer cannot be to prejudice the rights of the parties. 15 A. 117=13 A. W. N. (1893) 45.

OBJECTIONS AS TO INSUFFICIENCY OF COURT-FEE.—When once the Taxing Officer has decided the amount of Court-fee no objection can be taken by the respondent at the time of hearing. 20 M. 398; 20 A. 11 at p. 17. Where, however, no reference under S. 5 has been made at all the Court hearing the appeal must decide such question. 47 A. 756=23 A. L. J. 725. See also 20 M. 328; 37 C. 914; 21 M. 269.

TAXING OFFICER.—The Taxing Officer of the High Court is the Registrar on the Appellate Side. 37 C. 914=8 I. C. 1145. In Madras, the Registrar was the ex-officio Taxing Officer—Fort St. George Gazette, 29th Sep. 1915, Pt. II, p. 1769. But under a recent Notification the master has been appointed as the Taxing Officer. The Deputy Registrar is not the Taxing Officer and his order is not final under the section. The question decided by him can be raised at the hearing of the appeal. 37 C. 914=8 I. C. 1145.

POWERS OF THE TAXING OFFICER.—To determine the amount of Court-fee payable, the Taxing Officer has power to investigate for himself the proper valuation of the appeal. He can take evidence for that purpose and should not exercise his powers in a summary manner. 4 Pat. 336=6 P. L. T. 262.

REFUND OF EXCESS COURT-FEE PAID.—The High Court has no power to issue a certificate authorizing the Collector to refund the excess stamp duty paid by a suitor by reason of over-valuation of his suit. 11 B. L. R. 370=20 W. R. 106; 102 I. C. 193=A. I. R. 1927 Sind 192. So also with regard to the excess fee paid according to a wrong decision of the Taxing Officer. 39 P. R. 1907. See also 1925 P. H. C. C. 359; 92 I. C. 626 (1)=A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 147. But see 3 Pat. L. J. 452=46 I. C. 27; 40 Cal. 365=20 I. C. 428. Government however may order such refund, notwithstanding the absence of any special provision in the law authorizing them to do so, 39 P. R. 1917. Where excess Court-fee is paid in the suit, credit for the excess paid in the Original Court may be allowed in appeal to the plaintiff-appellant by the appellate Court. A. W. N. (1886) 228.

Sec. 6. DOCUMENTS.—A memorandum of appeal is a document within the meaning of this public officer, unless in respect of such document there be paid a fee of an amount not less than that indicated by either of the said schedules as the proper fee for such document.

7. The amount of fee payable under this Act in the suits¹ next hereinafter mentioned shall be computed as follows :—

- (i) In suits for money (including suits for damages or compensation, or arrears of maintenance of annuities, or of other sums payable periodically)—according to the amount claimed :

section, as also a plaint, and an application for review. 12 A. 57=A. W. N. (1889) 197. Documents not required to be stamped, see Ss. 33 and 19 infra. Application not required to be in writing do not fall within the section. 2 N. W. P. 418. Thus an application by an auction-purchaser for a certificate of sale need bear no stamp. 13 B. 670. So also an application for issue of succession certificate. 17 W. R. 489. Also an application for refund of stamp duty. 9 W. R. 357. No additional Court-fees are payable on a plaint returned for presentation to the proper Court. 8 B. 313. See also 1 B. 538 ; 7 C. 157 ; 2 A. 357. When a suit properly instituted before the Settlement Officer without a Court fee under S. 8 of Reg. III of 1872 was under S. 5 of the Regulation transferred to the Civil Court, no institution Court-fee had to be paid in the Civil Court also. 12 C. W. N. 917. Under the section, a certificate under Act XL of 1853 cannot come into existence until the person, who has the permission of the Court to obtain it, deposits the requisite amount of stamp duty. 12 C. 542.

"FILED."—Meaning of, see 20 All. 11 (17).

"FURNISHED."—See 17 W. R. 489.

Sec. 7.—¹ For the amount of fee payable in certain suits and proceedings under the Agra Tenancy Act (U. P. Act II of 1901), see S. 170 of that Act, U. P. Code.

SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—S. 7 states the various processes by which the values in different suits are to be ascertained and the schedule then applies the proper Court-fee to these values. 6 N. L. R. 164=8 I. C. 1125. Once the value of a relief is ascertained for the purposes of a plaint, the first schedule rates the relief at the same value for the purposes of appeal. The value of the same relief remains unchanged all through the succeeding stages though the appeal is made against its grant or its refusal by the lower Court. (Ibid.) See also 49 I. C. 962 (Pat.); 30 M. L. J. 402=39 M. 725. The provisions of S. 7 are applicable equally to appeals as to original suits. But the Court-fee payable in appeal need not be the same as in the suit, as the nature of the litigation may be changed in appeal. See 25 O. C. 30=1922 Oudh 82. See also cases cited under Sch. I, Art. 1 on the point. The value of the suit thus artificially ascertained is quite distinct from valuation for jurisdiction although it may be the same in many cases. 5 C. 489=4 C. L. R. 491 ; 4 B. 515 ; 15 C. 104 ; 12 B. L. R. 115 (Note)=18 W. R. 109. See Suits Valuation Act. Trees standing on specific items of land claimed need not be separately valued. They are included in the valuation of the items themselves. 105 I. C. 881=A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 1002. Nor where they were on porambokes and the only rights claimed in them being accessory to ownership of other plots in the village. (Ibid.)

The application of any particular clause of S. 7 must depend on the substance of the claim and not on the mere words used in the plaint. 22 L. W. 515=1925 Mad. 248=91 I. C. 709=50 M. L. J. 406. Court-fee is payable on the footing of the plaint and not on what is afterwards decided by the Court. 79 I. C. 913=5 Pat. L. T. 655.

Clause (i). SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—This clause has no application to suits or appeals in which no amount is claimed. 30 M. 96=16 M. L. J. 458. Suits for recovery of money by the sale of mortgaged property fall under this clause and not under cl. (ix). 30 All. 103. Where in a suit for redemption of a Kanom, the plaintiff seeks to deduct from the Kanom amount certain damages to which he claimed to be entitled, he is not bound to pay any Court-fee on the amount of damages till after it is ascertained and a set-off is allowed. A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 764=50 M. L. J. 493 (reviewing the decision in 50 M. L. J. 213). The stamp on a plaint on an instalment bond should be calculated not on the amount of the whole bond but on the amount claimed in the suit. 4 W. R. 12.

WHAT ARE MONEY SUITS.—A suit for the balance due on a commission agency account is a money suit under S. 7 (1). 64 I. C. 626=15 S. L. R. 82. See also 18 Bom. 696. So also suit for arrears of maintenance in which no declaration as to future maintenance is asked for. 87 I. C. 911=1925 Nag. 435. A suit for an order that the defendant should specifically perform a contract of guarantee or for compensation for breach of the contract falls under cl. (1). Bom. P. J. (1890) p. 204. A suit for specific moveable property of different kinds or their value as compensation, must be stamped under S. 7 (1) on the total value of the claim. 3 A. 131.

SUITS FOR MESNE PROFITS.—A suit for mesne profits falls under this clause and not under cl. 6 of Art. 17 of Sch. II. Court-fee should be paid on the amount claimed antecedent to the suit. 13 C. W. N. 815=1 I. C. 670. See also 1 P. L. W. 781=40 I. C. 579. No Court-fee need be paid on the amount claimed subsequent to the suit. 21 M. 371 ; 15 B. 416 ; 20 M. L. J. 98. As to recovery of fee after ascertainment of such profits, see S. 11. Where the mesne profits are left to be ascertained in execution, an appeal from a decree awarding mesne profits must be valued at the same valuation as the suit. 49 I. C. 962 ; 1 I. C. 670=13 C. W. N. 815. In an appeal from a decree directing ejectment and awarding mesne profits, Court-fee must be calculated on the value of land and the mesne profits. 16 M. 310. See also 23 M. 84 ; 49 I. C. 962.

(ii) In suits for maintenance and annuities or other sums payable periodically—for maintenance and annuities ;

according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and such value shall be deemed to be ten times the amount claimed to be payable for one year :

for moveable property having a market value ;

(iii) In suits for moveable property other than money, where the subject-matter has a market-value—according to such value at the date of presenting the plaint ;

(iv) In suits—

CLAIM FOR INTEREST.—Claim for interest from institution of suit until payment stands on the same footing as claim for future mesne profits and no additional Court-fee need be paid thereon. 17 B. 41. An appeal against dismissal of a bond need not be valued, including the amount of interest accrued subsequent to the date of the suit. 10 M. L. J. 144 ; on this point, see also 18 B. 696 ; 11 A. L. J. 20=35 A. 94. But where the mortgagee appealed on the ground that interest ought to have been allowed till the date of realisation Court-fee is payable under Art. 17 (vi) of Schedule II. 27 A. 559.

APPEAL IN MONEY SUITS.—Where the valuation of the original suit is over Rs. 5,000, but the appellant is interested only to the extent of Rs. 200, he can value his appeal at Rs. 200. 13 A. L. J. 283=37 A. 208. An appeal against one defendant only to establish his liability on a hypothecation bond must bear court-fee calculated on the amount of the debt sought to be recovered. 13 M. 508 ; 24 B. L. R. 313. See also 86 P. R. 1912=222 P. L. R. 1912.

APPEALS IN MORTGAGE SUITS COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—An ad valorem fee is payable in appeals against decrees under O. 34, R. 6 of the C. P. C. 30 I. C. 497=18 O. C. 121 ; see also 6 N. L. R. 164. In a suit for sale on the basis of a mortgage, a decree was passed declaring the separate liabilities of the different properties. One of the defendants whose property has been held liable for a specific sum of money appealed, held, Court-fee must be calculated on the sum for which the appellant's property had been held liable. 35 A. 92=11 A. L. J. 33.

Clause (ii).—Suits for declaration of right to periodical payment fall under the clause 42 A. 353=18 A. L. J. 328=55 I. C. 809. If in addition to such declaration, arrears are claimed, Court-fee must be paid also on such claim under cl. (1). (Ibid.) See also 24 Bom. 386. Where a suit is to secure a certain sum as arrears of annuity and also to call upon the defendants to furnish security for the payment of a certain sum per mensem the second part of the prayer is chargeable under S. 7 (ii). A. W. N. (1886) 228. A suit to obtain a reduction in the amount of maintenance decreed to a Hindu widow on a change of circumstances does not come under the clause and may be presented on a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 10. 24 B. 386=2 Bom. L. R. 191. See also 1 A. 594. A suit by A against B and C for a declaration of title to certain property and injunction restraining C from paying, and B from receiving an allowance of Rs. 2,400 a year out of the income thereof falls under S. 7, cl. (4) (c) and (d) and not under S. 7, cl. (2). 17 B. 56.

OTHER SUMS PAYABLE PERIODICALLY.—Re: Court-fee payable for suits for arrears of maintenance, see 1 Luck. C. 648. See also Madras

Amending Act V of 1922. In construing S. 7, cl. (ii) the expression "The sums payable periodically" must be limited by the specific words that precede it. Court-fee on a suit for assessment of rent and recovery of a specific sum of money as damages for use and occupation should be computed under cl. (iv) (c) of S. 7. 51 I. C. 15=4 Pat. L. J. 561.

Clause (iii).—A suit for the recovery of moveable property pledged falls under this clause. See D. C. R. (Central Provinces), Part V, p. 3. Bonds have a certain market-value. A suit for bonds must be valued according to the amount secured by them and not on the value of the stamp paper. 10 P. R. 1871. See also 4 C. 322=3 C. L. R. 375.

Clause (iv).—PLAINTIFF'S RIGHT TO PUT HIS OWN VALUATION IN SUITS COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—"The nature of the suits comprised in the six articles of the clause, which in some instances renders it impossible, and in others either impossible or generally extremely difficult to lay down even approximately fair ad valorem scale as a means of fixing the Court-fee in such suits would appear fully to account for the legislature leaving it to the plaintiff to name the valuation".—Per Westropp, C. J., in 2 B. 219. There is a conflict of rulings as to whether the Court has power to question or interfere with the plaintiff's valuation or whether the Court is bound to accept the valuation of the plaintiff, however arbitrary it may be. The Calcutta High Court is of the view that it was never intended that the plaintiff should assign an arbitrary value and that if he puts an arbitrarily low value, it is open to the Court to determine the true value. 40 C. 245=16 C. L. J. 194=17 C. W. N. 591 ; 11 C. W. N. 705=6 C. L. J. 427. See also 31 C. 301 ; 14 C. L. J. 47=15 C. W. N. 823 ; 40 C. L. J. 150=79 I. C. 982=1924 Cal. 969 ; 27 C. W. N. 627=86 I. C. 853=1925 Cal. 814. The Patna High Court and the Allahabad High Courts are of the same view. 2 P. 198=4 P. L. T. 71 ; 56 I. C. 316=4 P. L. J. 703 ; 41 I. C. 95=2 P. L. W. 173 ; 5 P. L. J. 394 ; 36 A. 500=12 A. L. J. 844=24 I. C. 679. But the Bombay and Madras High Courts hold that the plaintiff has the right to put his own valuation on the claim and that the court cannot revise such valuation. 44 B. 331=22 Bom. L. R. 289 ; 33 B. 307=11 Bom. L. R. 30. See also 2 B. 219 cited infra and 17 B. 56 ; 23 M. 490=10 M. L. J. 240 ; 38 M. 922=28 M. I. J. 118=28 I. C. 79 ; see also 27 M. 480 ; 30 M. 18 ; 24 M. L. J. 233 (F. B.). The Privy Council ruling in 23 C. W. N. 753=43 B. 376 would seem to support this view. There it was held that where a plaintiff sues for a declaratory decree and asks for consequential relief, then for purposes of court-fee and for purposes of jurisdiction, it is the value that the plaintiff for moveable property of no market-value ;

(a) for moveable property where the subject-matter has no market-value, as, for instance, in the case of documents relating to title, to enforce a right to share in joint family property ;

(b) to enforce the right to share in any property on the ground that it is joint family property, puts upon the plaintiff that determines both. In Punjab also the court does not interfere with plaintiff's valuation of the suit. 1922 Lah. 236 ; 111 P. R. 1913 = 22 I. C. 503 ; 9 Lah L. J. 579 = 29 Punj. L. R. 27. So also in Burma. See 3 Bur. L. J. 128 = 1924 Rang. 378 (2). For decisions of Nagpur Judicial Commissioner's Court, see 1924 Nag. 295 ; 1924 Nag. 316. See also 79 I. C. 582.

APPEAL.—In the light of the reference to the memorandum of appeal in the last paragraph of the clause, the appellant can set his own value where the subject-matter of the appeal is not co-extensive with the original claim. 23 M. 490. But a party cannot differently value the relief sought by him at different stages of the same litigation. 24 M. 331. See also 82 I. C. 614 = 5 Lah. 481 = 1925 Lah. 1.

Clause (iv) (a).—A suit to recover title-deeds, although it may involve a question of title, is not a suit to obtain possession of land. 4 C. 322 = 3 C. L. R. 375. See also 26 C. 204 = 2 C. W. N. 718 ; 10 P. R. 1871. As to whether a suit for recovery of mortgage deed falls under this clause, see 39 P. R. 1875. Suit by minor to set aside guardian's transaction—Prayer for possession unnecessary—S. 7, cl. (4) (a) does not apply. (1928) M. W. N. 389 = A. I. R. 1928 Mad. 816. Where a decree affecting in moveable property is sought to be set aside the subject-matter of that decree is the value of the immovable property in the suit. In such a case the statutory value should be adopted. 39 M. L. T. 193 = 105 I. C. 171 = 26 L. W. 159 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 825 = 53 M. L. J. 267.

Clause (iv) (b).—SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—The term 'any property is wide enough to include moveable property.' A suit for partition of moveable property would therefore fall under this sub-clause and not under cl. (iii) of this section. There is a conflict of rulings as to whether a suit for bare partition, as where the plaintiff is in joint possession and claims separate possession and enjoyment, is to be stamped under this sub-clause or under Art. 17 of Sch. II. According to the following decisions such a suit is impossible to be valued and the sub-clause has no application to the case. 10 C. 97 = 13 C. L. R. 249 ; 8 C. 757 = 11 C. L. R. 95 ; 12 C. W. N. 37 = 6 C. L. J. 651 (it is enough if plaintiff's possession of some part of the joint property is admitted or established) ; 20 C. 762 ; 27 I. C. 465 (Cal.) ; 34 A. 184 = 8 A. L. J. 1329 = 13 I. C. 185 ; 43 M. 396 = 38 M. L. J. 92 ; 21 M. L. J. 21 = 8 I. C. 512 (F. B.) ; 5 P. L. J. 540 = 58 I. C. 236 ; 15 C. P. L. R. 120 ; 61 P. L. R. 1916 = 34 I. C. 587. The principle extends also to a case where the co-owner is to be presumed to be in constructive possession on the ground that possession of one member of the family is possession on behalf of all the members. 79 I. C. 713 = 5 P. L. T. 655 ; 40 C. 762. The valuation depends upon whether the relief sought is merely a change in the mode of enjoyment of the property or the enforcement of a disputed right. 20 N. L. R. 43 = 81 I. C. 766

= 1924 Nag. 86. See also 23 N. L. R. 73 = 101 I. C. 770 = A. I. R. 1927 Nag. 248. The Bombay High Court however, is of the view that a suit for partition and separate possession of the plaintiff's share of joint family property requires ad valorem fee on the value of the share. 18 B. 209. The Madras High Court was also of the same view in earlier cases. (24 M. L. J. 233 = 18 I. C. 363 ; 4 M. L. J. 110) but subsequently changed its view in 43 M. 396 cited supra. But in a very recent case (21 L. W. 207 = 1925 Mad. 468) that court has held that the sub-clause applies to a suit for partition, where the coparcener is admitted to be in joint possession and is not ousted from participation in the family properties. The value of the shares should be determined according to the plaintiff's valuation of the share which he seeks to recover. 21 B. 315 ; 24 M. L. J. 233 = 18 I. C. 363 (F. B.).

There is again difference of opinion as to whether this sub-clause or clause (v) would apply to a case where plaintiff seeking partition is neither in actual or constructive possession but the property is in the possession of the defendant. In such cases the Calcutta High Court has held that the suit must be a suit for possession and partition. 12 C. W. N. 37 = 6 C. L. J. 651 ; 21 I. C. 465 (Cal.). See also 21 C. L. J. 253 = 27 I. C. 465 = 20 C. W. N. 51 ; 9 C. L. J. 128 = 3 I. C. 304. Where the plaintiffs prayed in a suit for a partition and in the alternative for delivery of possession of his share, the court-fee has to be paid as in a partition suit. 6 Pat. 506 = 8 Pat. L. T. 34 = A. I. R. 1927 Pat. 145. A mere denial however on the part of the defendant of the plaintiff's title and possession does not convert the suit into one of declaration of title and recovery of possession. 12 C. W. N. 37 = 6 C. L. J. 651. The Bombay High Court also has held that a suit for separate possession by partition falls under S. 7 (v). 33 B. 658 = 11 Bom. J. R. 1074 = 4 I. C. 243. As to the view held by the Madras High Court, see 20 Mad. 389 ; 14 Mad. 183. According to Patna High Court, where defendants are in possession of any part of the property to be partitioned and have denied the plaintiff's title thereto, the suit is not merely for partition and ad valorem court-fee must be paid on the share claimed in that part. 56 I. C. 570 = 1 P. L. T. 529. See also 6 P. L. J. 662 = 3 P. L. T. 293 ; 5 P. L. J. 540 = 1 P. L. T. 595. In Punjab the sub-clause is applicable to a suit to enforce a right to share in any joint family property. 2 Lah. 114 = 61 I. C. 628. A suit to establish separate possession of admitted share in the joint family property on the allegation that his right to separate possession was denied falls under this sub-clause. 104 P. R. 1895. The Judicial Commissioner's Court at Nagpur held that where there is a clear denial of the plaintiff's right to share the suit is one to enforce the right to share in the property falling under S. 7, cl. (iv) (b). 20 N. L. R. 43 = 1924 Nag. 86. See also 9 Bur. L. T.

for a declaratory decree and consequential relief;

(c) to obtain a declaratory decree or order,

97=35 I. C. 731. See also the judgment of Westropp, C. J., in 2 Bom. 219.

Clause (iv) (c).—CONSEQUENTIAL RELIEF.—Consequential relief means a substantial remedy in accordance with the title of which declaration is prayed for. 24 I. C. 316=1 L. W. 398. See also 24 C. W. N. 33 (P. C.). One declaration may be consequential relief to another. 44 C. 352=21 C. W. N. 834. The question whether there is really a prayer for consequential relief must depend upon the substance of the claim and not the words which the plaintiff chooses to use. 20 M.L.J. 791=5 I. C. 927; 30 M. 18; 38 M. 922 (F. B.). See also 35 I. C. 797=21 C. W. N. 375; 3 Pat. 915=80 I. C. 544. See also 1925 Mad. 713=48 M. L. J. 688. When the first relief in the suit relates to a declaration as to the general title of the plaintiff to all the properties she inherited and the second to set aside a particular deed of transfer in respect of a particular property inherited by her, held, the reliefs are separate and necessary and ad valorem court-fee must be paid 5 Pat. 476=A.I.R. 1926 Pat. 453. The prayer for the appointment of a receiver in a suit by a Hindu reversioner for a declaration that an alienation by the widow is not binding on the reversion cannot be regarded as a 'consequential relief' since both the reliefs are unconnected and independent of each other. The proper court-fee payable is for declaration under Sch. II, Art. 17-A (Mad. Am. Act) and for Receiver under Sch. I, Art. 117 B (Mad. Am. Act) 23 L. W. 581=96 I. C. 129=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 678=51 M.L.J. 67; but see 38 M. 922; 19 I. C. 859=93 P. R. 1913.

CLAUSE INAPPLICABLE TO SUITS FOR BARE DECLARATION.—SCH. II, ART. 17.—Under Sch. II Art. 17 a fixed fee of Rs. 10 has to be paid on a plaint for a declaratory decree where no consequential relief is prayed for. 43 B. 507=46 I. A. 24=36 M. L. J. 437=21 Bom. L. R. 489. See also 69 I. C. 577; 23 A. L. J. 344=47 All. 501=1925 All. 632. A suit for a declaration that a certain alienation made by the plaintiff's father should not be binding upon their reversionary interest comes under Art. 17 of Sch. II 5 Lah. 137=1924 Lah. 530=83 I. C. 332. So also a suit for a declaration that the plaintiff is the real owner of a decree obtained by defendants against a third party and praying for transfer of the decree to the plaintiff. 47 P. R. 1911=9 I. C. 673. Also a suit for a bare declaration that a certain decree is ineffectual and not binding on the plaintiff. 30 C. 788. Also suit for a declaration that plaintiffs were occupancy tenants and not tenure holders and that the survey entry describing them as tenants was wrong and not binding on them falls under Art. 17 (iii) 50 I. C. 298=4 P. L. J. 302. Also a suit for declaration that certain property belonged to plaintiff and was not liable to be sold under a mortgage decree for sale, to which plaintiff was not a party. 1 O. W. N. 582.

WHAT DETERMINES THE VALUE IN A SUIT UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Where the plaintiff prays for a declaration and consequential relief, the value of the consequential relief determines the court fee. 3 P. 640=80 I. C. 563; see also 4 P.L.J. 297=46 I. C. 24=5 P. L. J. 394. A suit was filed for a declaration, but pending the suit an injunction was obtained. The suit being dismissed, an appeal was preferred, the injunction subsisting at the time of the appeal. Held, for purposes of court-fees, the appeal fell within S. 7 (iv) (c) and ad valorem was payable on the consequential relief. 5 Pat. 211=94 I. C. 22=A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 249. Where however an appeal is preferred only against the declaration, it may be valued under Sch. II, Art. 17. 3 P. 640=2 P. L. R. 193=80 I. C. 563=1924 P. 582. A suit for a declaration that a certain decree is not binding on the plaintiffs or the properties in their hands and for possession of a portion of those properties which had been sold in execution of the decree is a suit for declaration and consequential relief and court-fee is to be paid only on the relief for possession. 38 M. 1184=25 I. C. 683=1 L. W. 824. In a suit for a declaration and consequential relief, the plaintiff is bound to pay ad valorem fees in proportion to the loss from which he seeks to be relieved. 56 I. C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703.

SUITS WHICH FALL UNDER THE SUB-CLAUSE.—Suits for declaration and injunction, 17 B. 56; 18 B. 100; 17 S.L.R. 15=80 I.C. 969; 36 A. 500=24 I. C. 679=12 A. L. J. 844; 1922 Nag. 264. If there are other consequential reliefs prayed for along with an injunction, they should be valued according to law and the proper court-fee would depend upon the total value. 43 I. C. 995=(1918) M. W. N. 40. A suit for a declaration that plaintiff is the sole shebait, and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with his possession of the endowed properties, falls within S. 7 (iv) (c). 40 C. 245=16 C. L. J. 194=17 C. W. N. 591; see also 1922 Lah. 236. Also a suit for a declaration of plaintiff's right to a jungle and for an injunction restraining defendants from cutting trees. 32 C. 734=9 C. W. N. 690. Also a suit for declaration that a tax is illegal and for injunction to restrain collection 105 I.C. 80. Also a suit for declaration that a will is a forgery and that plaintiff is the legal heir and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering his property. 9 Lah. L. J. 579=29 Punj. L. R. 27. In such a suit, the plaintiff is entitled to fix any arbitrary value and the court need not see if the value fixed by him is proportionate to the value of the property. (Ibid.) See the cases cited infra on this point. In a suit for declaration of title to immoveable property and injunction, valuation under the proviso to cl. (c) (Madras Act), shall not be less than half the value of the property calculated according to cl. (v); such portion of the property only, as is the subject matter of dispute need be valued. 21 L. W. 699=89 I. C. 930=1925 Mad. 1143.

PRAYER FOR CONFIRMATION OF POSSESSION.—A prayer for confirmation of possession includes a prayer for recovery of possession if the court thinks the plaintiff is out of possession. 2 P. 198=4 P. L. T. 71. Where a Magistrate passes an order under S. 146, Cr.P.C., and interferes with possession relief regarding possession should also be prayed for. 103 I. C. 351=1927 Nag. 316. A suit for declaration that a revenue sale is invalid and for confirmation or restoration of possession falls under the clause. 46 I.C. 385=3 P.L. J. 448.

Also a suit for declaration of title as adopted son, a challenge having been directly thrown on the title, and for possession. 1922 Pat. 6 (C.W.N.) = 1923 P. 100; 56 I. C. 422 = 5 P.L.J. 339. Also a suit by reversioner, after the death of the widow for a declaration and possession against an alienee of the widow. 2 P. L. T. 607 = 61 I. C. 565 = 6 P. L. J. 10. Also a suit to set aside an illegal sale held for arrears of revenue and a declaration of right and for possession. 6 C. W. N. 157.

The following suits have been held to come within the sub-clause :—A suit for a declaration that a sale held in execution of a decree against some members of a Hindu family was null and void. 1 P. 197 = 1922 P. 404. A suit for assessment of rent and recovery of a specific sum of money as damages for use and occupation. 4 Pat. L. J. 561 = 51 I. C. 16. A suit under S. 104-H of the B. T. Act for a declaration that the plaintiff is a riyat and not a tenure-holder, and for settlement of fair rent. 18 I. C. 188 = 17 C. L. J. 426; see also 11 C. L. J. 156 = 5 I. C. 141. A suit for a declaration that plaintiff is entitled to a certain annuity and to recover the same as an heir. 27 Bom. L. R. 247 = 87 I. C. 801 = 1925 Bom. 282 (1). A suit for a declaration that certain alienation made by a Hindu widow does not affect plaintiff's reversionary rights, for appointment of a receiver and for restoration of property to the status quo ante. 19 I. C. 859 = 93 P. R. 1913; see also 36 I. C. 831 (Mad.); 38 M. 922; 62 I. C. 36 (Pat.); but see 23 L.W. 581 = 96 I. C. 129 = A. I. R. 1926 Mad 678 = 51 M. L. J. 67 cited infra. A suit for declaration of right to administration of the estate and appointment of an interim Receiver. 27 C. W. N. 457 = 1923 Cal. 326. A suit by an insolvent to declare a sale-deed by Official Receiver not binding upon him and for appointment of another Receiver. 32 M.L.J. 447 = 40 I. C. 620. A suit for a declaration that defendant is the wife of the plaintiff and for the restitution of conjugal rights. 28 C. 567. A suit to set aside a lease and to have the buildings erected by the lessee demolished. 4 A. 320 (F.B.). A suit to set aside a trust deed and for recovery of trust money. 10 C. 380.

SUITS NOT COMING UNDER THE SUB-CLAUSE.—A suit for declaration and consequential relief prima facie comes within S. 7, cl. (iv) (c) but if at the same time it comes within any of the other classes of suits specified in the section, it must be so treated. 38 M. 922 = 28 M. L.J. 118.

CASES UNDER CL. (V) & CL. (IV) (C)—A suit to set aside an execution sale of certain properties on the ground that the decree having been previously adjusted could not be executed and that the sale was therefore null and void, is one substantially for possession and comes under Cl. (v) and not under S. 7 (iv) (c). 49 C. 880 = 27 C. W. N. 566 = 38 C.L.J. 74 = 1922 C. 506; see also 94 I. C. 179 = 13 O.L.J. 124 = A.I.R. 1926 Oudh 380. Where the prayer was that upon the determination of the plaintiff's proprietary interest in a house, the defendants who were merely tenants at will may be ordered to vacate the house, held, the suit was one for ejectment falling under S. 7, cl. 5. 5 Pat. 631. As to a suit for the removal of the manager of the religious institution on the ground that it is a private one and that the plaintiff alone has the power to appoint and dismiss the manager. 17 I. C. 270 = 216 P.L.R. 1912. On the point, see also 12 M. 223; 15 M. 501.

SUITS FOR CANCELLATION OF A DECREE OR DOCUMENT.—(Now separately provided for, so far as Madras is concerned, by clause (v-a) inserted by Madras Act V of 1922). (1) Decrees :—A suit to declare a decree or document to which plaintiff was a party is not binding on him falls within this clause. 38 M. 922 = 28 M. L. J. 118; see also 43 I.C. 962 = 3 P. L. J. 92. But the Bombay High Court has held that a suit in which the only prayer was to have the decree set aside as null and void is a suit for declaration without consequential relief falling under Art. 17 of Schedule II. 20 B. 736. A suit to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud would fall under this sub-clause. 7 Lah. L. J. 15 = 86 I. C. 680 = 1925 Lah. 346; 16 N. L. R. 84 = 36 I. C. 360. See also 8 Lah. 531 = 9 Lah. L. J. 400 = 102 I. C. 46 = 1927 Lah. 499. A suit for a declaration that a decree was fraudulent and incapable of execution and that the family property should be released from execution falls under S. 7 (iv) (c) and is not a suit for possession under Cl. (v). 40 C. 615 = 21 I. C. 404; see also 51 I. C. 536 = 24 M.L.T. 254; 56 I. C. 550. A suit for declaration that the decree obtained by the defendant is fraudulent and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiffs' possession of the property in suit falls under Cl. (iv) (c). 40 C. L. J. 150 = 79 I. C. 982 = 1924 Cal. 969. Suit, by a minor on attaining majority to set aside a mortgage decree against him as void, falls within Cl. (iv) (c). 65 I. C. 980 = 24 O. C. 361. A person not a party to the decree, may sue to have it declared void without asking for any consequential relief and the suit is not governed by Cl. (iv) (c). 5 Lah. L. J. 537 = 1923 Lah. 373.

(2) Documents :—A suit for declaration of the invalidity of a mortgage deed, for cancellation and for an injunction restraining the defendant from enforcing its terms, would fall within the sub-clause (iv) (c). 13 I. C. 861 = 7 N.L.R. 190. So also a suit to declare a gift deed executed by the plaintiff's husband in favour of the defendant was void, as he was a lunatic, and praying that possession be delivered to plaintiff as manager on behalf of her lunatic husband comes under Cl. (iv) (c). 22 A.L.J. 945 = 47 A. 78. Also a suit for declaration by a member of a joint Hindu family that a mortgage deed executed by a deceased coparcener is not binding on him and also for possession of the property. 26 A. L. J. 316 = A. I. R. 1928 All. 248. Even where the suit is framed as one for possession, the suit would fall under the sub-clause (iv) (c) if the defendant holds the property under a document executed by the plaintiff and it is necessary first to obtain cancellation. 38 M. 321; 24 M.L.J. 592. And the court-fee must be calculated on the actual value of the property. 3 Pat. L. J. 92 = 43 I. C. 962. A suit for cancellation of a registered instrument under S. 39 of the Sp. Rel. Act, is a suit for declaration and consequential relief. 45 I. C. 238 = 3 P.L.J. 194. See also 23 M.

490 ; 29 B. 207=6 Bom. L. R. 1125 ; 35 P. R. 1914=25 I.C. 435. So also suit for cancellation of a will falls under the clause. 36 I.C. 95=87 P.R. 1916. A suit for a declaration that a deed is inoperative is in substance one for its cancellation. 20 M. L. J. 791=5 I.C. 927. Persons who are not parties to a document need not sue for its cancellation. Thus a suit for a declaration that mortgage deed is not binding on the plaintiff who was not a party to the same, falls under Sch. II, Art. 17-A and not S. 7 (4) (c). 87 I.C. 660 (2)=1925 Mad. 713=48 M.L.J. 688; see also 5 A. 331 ; (1924) M.W.N. 210=78 I.C. 118 (2)=1924 Mad. 611 (2). Where however cancellation is specifically asked though unnecessarily, the suit would fall under this sub-clause. 44 A. 629=20 A. L. J. 587=1922 All. 358.

VALUATION IN SUCH SUITS.—The insertion of clause (v-a) by Madras Act V of 1922 provides that the valuation in such suits should not be arbitrary at the pleasure of the plaintiff, but must be according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit where it has got a money-value. This was so even according to the Original Act according to the decisions of the Calcutta High Court. See 40 C. L. J. 150=79 I. C. 982=1924 Cal. 969. See also 1 Bom. 18 ; 3 Pat. L. J. 92=43 I.C. 962. Where the plaintiff is interested only in a portion of the property in respect of which the decree was passed, the suit must be valued only according to the extent of the plaintiff's claim. 42 C 370=36 I. C. 111=19 C. W. N. 895 ; see also 4 P. L. J. 191=44 I. C. 891=1918 Pat. 223 (C. W. N.).

Clause (iv) (d).—See 45 B. 567=59 I. C. 777 ; 46 I. C. 884=63 P. R. 1902. In a suit for injunction, relief cannot be valued differently for court-fees and jurisdiction. 22 Bom. L.R. 1450 ; 99 I. C. 868 ; 92 I. C. 730=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 591. (See Suits Valuation Act, S. 8). Plaintiff can put his own valuation and where the Lower Court finds that the valuation is reasonable, the High Court will not interfere with it. 94 I. C. 103 (2)=1926 P. H. C. C. 102=A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 334. As to declaratory suits where the plaintiffs asked for injunction, see 21 I. C. 771=19 C. L. J. 15 ; 11 Bom. 100 ; 31 C. W. N. 1045=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 775 ; 48 All. 412=94 I. C. 951=24 A. L. J. 478=A. I. R. 1926 All. 423 ; see also the cases noted under cl. (iv) (c). A suit for rent and for declaration of title with injunction falls under S. 7 (1) and (iv) (d) as the injunction is a distinct and independent relief. 17 I. C. 44=6 S. L. R. 114 ; 19 A. 607; see also 4 A. 329 on the sub-clause.

Clause (iv) (e).—This sub clause would apply to suits in respect of rights of way, right to light and air and other rights of easements over immovable property.

Clause (iv) (f).—The value of a suit for accounts is the approximate value stated in the plaint, which determines the court-fees as well as the forum. 6 C.L.J. 225. See also 100 I.C. 632=8 P. L. J. 145. The plaintiff is entitled to value the relief at any figure he chooses and the stamp will have to be made up subsequently if relief of greater value is granted to him. 8 Lah. L.J. 78=94 I.C. 650=A.I.R. 1926 Lah 242 (1). The court trying such suit does not lose its jurisdiction because the amount found due exceeds the jurisdiction of the Court. 9 N.L.R. 112=20 I.C. 928 ; 25 M. 543 ; 40 M. 1=32 M. L.J. 221 ; 16 A. 286 ; 33 A. 97. The Calcutta High Court has however held that the Court can only award a sum up to the limits of its pecuniary jurisdiction. 13 C. W. N. 493. S. 11 provides the means of recovery of excess Court-fee due on the excess decreed. 46 I.C. 165=22 C.W.N. 669 ; 45 C. 634.

SCOPE OF THE SUB CLAUSE (IV) (F).—The sub-clause would cover all suits which involve accounting between parties. Thus a claim for accounts in a partnership suit would fall under the sub-clause. 46 I.C. 165=22 C.W.N. 669 ; 15 Bom. L.R. 1123=22 I.C. 71 ; 7 B. 125 ; 13 C.L.R. 160. So also a suit for administration and accounts. 39 B. 545=29 I.C. 940=17 Bom. L. R. 574 ; 45 C. 634=22 C. W. N. 115 ; see also 100 P. R. 1914=26 I. C. 342 ; 55 I. C. 258=12 Bur. L. A claim for mesne profits is not a claim, the value of which cannot be ascertained, and ad valorem Court-fee is to be paid thereon and plaintiff cannot recover anything in excess of the valuation put by him. 1 P. L. W. 781=40 I. C. 579=3 P. L. J. 67.

APPEAL IN CASES FALLING UNDER THE SUB-CLAUSE (IV) (F).—Where a person appeals from a preliminary decree in a suit for account, he is allowed the option of placing his own valuation upon the memorandum of appeal and he is not bound by the valuation put upon the claim in the plaint. 44 A. 542=20 A. L. J. 416=1922 All. 228 ; 47 A. 756=23 A. L. J. 725=L. R. 6 A. 362=89 I. C. 122=1925 All. 887 ; 3 P. 146=4 P. L. T. 638=1924 P. 161 ; 91 I. C. 32=26 Punj. L. R. 825=A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 189. But see contra (1921) M. W. N. 558=70 I. C. 392 ; 39 M. 725=33 I. C. 602=30 M. L. J. 402 ; 23 M. 490 ; 20 I. C. 928=9 N. I. R. 112 ; 79 I. C. 923 (Sind) ; 7 P. R. 1915=28 I. C. 262 ; see also 1924 P. 211. It was held in a recent case in Sind that in an appeal from a preliminary decree passed in a suit for accounts the valuation once fixed by the plaintiff must be adhered to in appeal unless the subject-matter of the appeal is not identical with that of the suit, in which case, it is open to the appellant to value the subject-matter of the appeal differently and to pay the court-fee thereon. 21 S. L. R. 377=98 I. C. 909=A. I. R. 1927 Sind 100. On an appeal against the preliminary decree for winding up a partnership, a Court-fee of Rs. 10 is sufficient, other questions relating to allowing or disallowing certain items being incidental. 1 Lah. 6=19 P. L. R. 1920=57 I. C. 185=6 P. W. R. 1920. Where a plaintiff definitely fixes a certain sum as the amount of his claim, this must be considered as the value of the original suit as well as the appeal. where the subject-matter is land, and

(a) where the land forms an entire estate, or a definite share of an estate, paying-annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such an estate and is recorded in the Collector's register as separately assessed with such revenue, and such revenue is permanently settled—ten times the revenue so payable :

(b) where the land forms an entire estate, or a definite share of an estate, paying annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such estate and is recorded as aforesaid ; and such revenue is settled, but not permanently—five times the revenue so payable :

(c) where the land pays no such revenue, or has been partially exempted from such payment, or is charged with any fixed payment in lieu of such revenue, when he fixes a certain sum as the amount of his claim only approximately, the amount found due by the Court determines the forum of appeal. 34 C. 954=11 C.W.N. 1133=6 C.L.J. 255 ; 31 C. 365 ; 9 Lah. 23. But see 40 M. 8=32 M.L.J. 221.

Sec. 7 (iv) (f).—¹The words " and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, section thirty-one, shall apply as if for the word 'claim' the words 'relief sought' were substituted" were repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act (XII of 1891).

Clause (v). APPLICABILITY.—A suit for declaration of title as adopted son and for possession is a suit that comes within Cl. (4) (c) and not within cl. (5). 1922 Pat. 6 (C.W.N.)=1923 P. 100 ; 5 P.L.J. 339=56 I.C. 422. See also 38 M 1184=1 L.W. 824=25 I.C. 683. A suit by Hindu reversioners to recover possession of property gifted by Hindu widow after her death falls under Cl. (v) though the prayer was for declaration and consequential relief. 3 P L. A suit by a tenant against the landlord and other tenants is governed by S. 7 (v) not cl.(xi) 25 I.C. 507=19 C. L. J. 418. See also 17 M. L. J. 478=31 M. 14. Suit for possession against a tenant holding over in defiance of a notice to quit, is one against a trespasser and is governed by this clause and not by cl. (xi) (cc). 1923 Nag. 310=8 N. L. J. 63. A suit for possession and also for an order to compel defendant to execute and register a sale deed, the plaintiff alleging that the land had been sold to him and that the defendant had received part of the consideration is a suit for possession only within the clause and not also for specific performance. 60 I. C. 512 ; 14 C. L. J. 159. An appeal by alienee defendant against a decree setting aside a sale of joint family property on condition that plaintiff paid a certain sum of money, should be stamped under

S. 7 (v). 47 M. L. J. 919=48 M. 652=1925 Mad. 323. An appeal claiming that the appellant must be appointed trustee of the durgas in suit in the place of plaintiffs appointed by the Court falls under S. 7, Cl. (5) and not under Art. 17-B, Sch. II. 88 I. C. 209=1925 Mad. 804=48 M. L. J. 571.

Clause (v) (a).—A share in an under-proprietary tenure in a village is a definite share within sub-clause (a). 24 O. C. 29=58 I. C. 132. See also 2 C. 192. Government of India Notification No. 358, dated 10th Sept. 1921, " Fractional share " in the notification covers also a case where the plaintiff claims a definite share. 105 I. C. 881=A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 1002.

Clause (v) (b).—' Definite share ' of an estate means an undivided tangible fraction of an estate. 10 M. L. T. 206=33 I. C. 683. As to the meaning, see also 3 A. L. T. 511 ; 16 A. 286. Individual filed plots forming part of a holding but not separately assessed not a definite share. 2 Bur. L. J. 39=75 I. C. 217. On the point, see also 46 M. L. J. 345=77 I. C. 781. Suits for possession of inam lands wrongly classed as ryotwari may be valued as such under Cl. (b). 41 I. C. 167 (Mad.).

Clause (v) (c).—' Such revenue ' means an annual revenue payable to Government on an entire estate or defined share thereof, fixed permanently or not. Lands subject to fluctuating assessment are within this sub-clause and not within S. 7 (v) (d) 40 P. R. 1919=50 I. C. 142. " The year next before the date of presenting the plaint "—meaning, see 3 A. L. J. 244=28 A. 411. If the subject-matter of the suit is land paying no revenue and has produced no profits during the year next preceding the suit, the valuation should be made with reference to similar land in the neighbourhood, irrespective of the fact that the land is ' Religious land '. 60 I. C. 5=(1920) 3 U. B. R. 236. A defendant is not estopped from valuing the appeal correctly simply because he did not object to the valuation of the plaintiff in the suit. The plaintiff paid court-fee and nett profits have arisen from the land during the year next before the date of presenting the plaint—

fifteen times such nett profits :

but where no such nett profits have arisen therefrom—the amount at which the court shall estimate the land with reference to the value of similar land in the neighbourhood :

(d) where the land forms part of an estate paying revenue to Government, but is not a definite share of such estate and is not separately assessed as above-mentioned—the market-value of the land :

Provided that, in the territories subject to the Governor of Bombay in Council the value of the land shall be deemed to be—

(1) where the land is held on settlement for a period not exceeding thirty years and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to five times the survey-assessment :

(2) where the land is held on a permanent settlement, or on a settlement for any period exceeding thirty years, and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to ten times the survey-assessment ; and

(3) Where the whole or any part of the annual survey-assessment is remitted—a sum computed under paragraph (1) or paragraph (2) of this proviso, as the case may be, in addition to ten times the assessment, or the portion of assessment, so remitted :

Explanation.—The word “ estate ”, as used in this paragraph, means any land subject to the payment of revenue, for which the proprietor or farmer or raiyat shall have executed a separate engagement to Government, or which, in the absence of such engagement, shall have been separately assessed with revenue :

For houses and gardens ; (e) Where the subject-matter is a house or garden—according to the market-value of the house or garden :

to enforce a right of pre-emption ; (vi) In suits to enforce a right of pre-emption—according to the value (computed in accordance with paragraph v of this section) of the land, house or garden in respect of which the right is claimed :

for interest of assignee of land revenue ; (vii) In suits for the interest of an assignee of land revenue—fifteen times his nett profits as such for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint :

in the market-value. The suit was decreed. The defendant in appeal paid Court-fee on fifteen times the net profits. Defendant's valuation was incorrect. 49 A. 398 = 100 I. C. 35 = 25 A. L. J. 58 = A. I. R. 1927 All. 308.

Sub Cl. (v) (d).—A suit for possession of a plot of land but not of a definite fractional share, sold out of a holding is governed by S. 7 (d) and the Court-fee should be calculated on the market-value of the land where it is impossible to find out the actual revenue on the said plot. 33 A. 630 = 8 A. L. J. 798 ; see also 1 R. 92 = 2 Bur. L. J. 39 = 1923 Rang. 246 ; 6 P. R. 883 ; 16 A. 403. So also a suit for a portion of a survey number not separately assessed. 34 M. J. 558 = 47 I. C. 543 = 8 L. W. 88 ; and a suit for a land forming an indefinite share of an estate. 41 C. 812 = 18 C. W. N. 659.

Sub-Cl. (v). (e).—As to the meaning of the word ‘ garden ’ see 40 M. 824 = 5 L. W. 270 = 39 I. C. 254 = 21 M. L. T. 251 = 2 Lah. L. J. 362 ; 68 I. C. 345 ; 30 I. C. 845 = 18 M. L. T. 243. A suit for possession of garden land, though assessed on land revenue is governed by S. (v) (e). 71 P. R. 1914 = 25 I. C. 545. In a suit for land, trees standing thereon need not be separately valued. 40 M. 824 = 39 I. C. 254. There is no market-value for a temple and a suit for recovery of possession of temple falls under Sch. II, Art. 17 (b) and not under S. 7, V (e). 46 M. 782 = 45 M. L. J. 274 (F.B.). Easement over land or building suit to establish right of—Court-fee. 25 L. W. 158 = 38 M. L. T. (H.C.) 18 = 100 I. C. 263 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 348 = 52 M. L. J. 121.

Cl VI.—The Court-fees in a pre-emption suit in respect of a sale of land paying revenue should be calculated according to S. 7 (v). 15 P. R. 1919 = 49 I. C. 358 ; see also 32 A. 19 = 6 A. L. J. 905 ; 3 A. L. J. 244 = 28 A. 411. The market-value of the property in a suit for pre-emption is to be determined with reference to its value at the date of the sale and not with reference to its value at the date of the institution of the suit 1924 Lah. 380.

APPEAL IN CASES COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Where appeal is by the vendees objecting that plaintiff is not entitled to the land, the Court fee to be fixed will be in accordance with S. 7 (VI). 76 P. R. 1913 = 19 I. C. 961 ; see also 6 A. 488. But where the objection is only to the amount to be paid by the pre-emptor, it should be calculated ad valorem on the difference between the amount awarded and that claimed or admitted. 32 A. 19. See also 40 A. 353=44 I. C. 666=16 A. L. J. 174.

(viii) In suits to set aside an attachment of land or of an interest in land or revenue—according to the amount for which the land or to set aside an attachment; interest was attached :

Provided that, where such amount exceeds the value of the land or interest, the amount of fee shall be computed as if the suit were for the possession of such land or interest.

(ix) In suits against a mortgagee for the recovery to redeem ; of the property mortgaged.

CL. VIII.—A suit to set aside a sale on the ground that the attachment was not binding is virtually a suit to set aside the attachment within the clause. 14 M. L. J. 144. As to suit by unsuccessful claimant of property attached, see 35 C. 202 (P. C.)=12 C. W. N. 169; see also 80 P. R. 1886. A suit by decree-holder for restoration of attachment falls under this clause. U. B. R. 1897 1901, Vol. II, p. 355.

CL. IX.—The court-fee payable in a suit to redeem K'anom is in accordance with the provisions of this clause. 23 L. W. 758=95 I. C. 26 (1)=A. I. R. 1926 Mad 667.

SUITS FOR REDEMPTION, FORECLOSURE, ETC.—In such suits Court-fee is payable only upon the principal amount secured by the mortgage. 57 I. C. 673. The plaintiff is not bound to pay Court-fee upon the surplus amount claimed as mesne profits. L. R. 3 A. 628=45 A. 154=1923 All. 261; see also 1924 Nag. 346; 31 A. 44. Nor on interest due on the mortgage 13 A. 94; 14 M. 480. Suit for sale on mortgage is not governed by the clause. 7 B. L. R. 194. Also a suit for possession brought after a decree for foreclosure has been obtained. 1 C. L. R. 473. The proper valuation of a suit for redemption is the amount of the mortgage admitted by the plaintiff to be binding on him and not that of the mortgages set up by the defendant. 37 M. 420=15 I. C. 587. In a suit for redemption by a co-mortgagor of his share of the mortgaged property, the Court fee is to be calculated on the amount of the mortgage debt charged on his share of the property. 45 I. C. 300=5 O. L. J. 43; see also 6 B. 324. A suit merely to redeem mortgage without praying for additional relief falls under S. 7, cl. ix. But if there is also a prayer for payment of money found due on accounts being taken, additional Court-fees should be paid on the amount so claimed. 17 I. C. 442=12 M. L. T. 493; see also 13 O. C. 32=C. 442=12 M. L. T. 493; see also 13 O. C. 32=5 I. C. 444. But see contra 29 A. 471; 38 M. 25. Where the plaintiff merely asks that accounts be taken and arrears of rent deducted from the mortgage amount, the Court fee should be calculated according to the principal sum only. 19 M. 16.

APPEALS IN SUITS FOR REDEMPTION AND FORECLOSURE.—There is a conflict of rulings on the question whether the clause is applicable to appeals and whether the fee in such appeals should be also calculated on the principal amount under the Clause or on the amount in dispute under Art. I, Sch. 1. According to Allahabad High Court, the Court-fee should be calculated on the value of the subject, matter of the appeal. 35 A. 94=11 A. L. J. 20=18 I. C. 365; 30 A. 547=5 A. L. J. 531; 36 A. 40=11 A. L. J. 1016=21 I. C. 723 (F. B.); 31 A. 295=6 A. L. J. 115; 47 All. 926=L. R. 6 A. 457=23 A. L. J. 853=88 I. C. 888=1925 All. 734 (13 All. 94 not now good law). So also according to the Punjab High Court. 122 P. W. R. 1912=14 I. C. 78=54 P. R. 1912; 1 Lah. 234=3 Lah. L. J. 370. See also 2 O. L. J. 257=30 I. C. 322. (54 I. C. 733=22 O. C. 289 contra). The Madras High Court also was of the same view in 29 M. 367=16 M. L. J. 287, but in a later case (20 M. L. J. 121=6 M. L. T. 245=3 I. C. 459) it was held that, where there is a denial of the right to redeem; the fee should be computed according to the principal amount secured by the mortgage. This view is to be found also in earlier cases (14 M. 480 and 16 M. 326). In Bombay it was held that court-fee should be calculated on the principal debt as in original suits. 10 B. 44. See also under Art. I, Sch. 1. In an appeal, where the question raised is the right to redeem or foreclosure for an adjudged sum court-fee is payable on the principal mortgage money. 54 I. C. 733=22 O. C. 289; 67 I. C. 130=3 Lah. L. J. 156; see also 20 I. C. 257=9 N. L. R. 80; 6 N. L. R. 164=8 I. C. 1125. But in an appeal by the mortgagor against a decree for redemption, seeking reduction of the decretal amount, ad valorem Court fee must be paid on the amount sought to be reduced; and not on the principal amount of the mortgage. 1 Lah. 234=57 I. C. 215; 1923 Lah. 309; 58 P. R. 1915=30 I. C. 104; 55 I. C. 177=156 P. W. R. 1910 (second appeal against enhancement of the amount by the appellate Court); see also 30 I. C. 322=2 O. L. J. 257; 5 N. L. R. 130=3 I. C. 920. So also where the respondents in an appeal by the mortgagee, file cross objections to the same effect 134 P. W. R. 1911=11 I. C. 198=213 P. L. R. 1911. So also where enhancement of, amount is sought, fee is to be paid on the amount sought to be recovered. 54 I. C. 733=22 O. C. 289; See also 25 O. C. 30=1922 Oudh 82; 11 N. L. R. 83=29 I. C. 609. Where the plaintiffs in a redemption suit file appeals both from the preliminary decree and final decree, claiming a reduction of amount fixed as payable by them, the appeal against the final decree is only of a formal nature and it is enough if a Court-fee of Rs. 2 is paid thereon, if ad valorem Court fees are paid in the other appeal. 4 Lah. 406=6 L. L. J. 72=1923 Lah. 632. See also 39 All. 452=41 I. C. 346=15 A. L. J. 464. Members of a joint Mitakshara family have no specified shares in the family property and where some of them appeal against a decree in a suit to enforce a mortgage of the family property, court-fees must be paid on the amount decreed and not on the appellants' share of that amount. 55 I. C. 233 (Pat.).

(x) In suits for specific performance—

- (a) of a contract of sale—according to the amount the consideration ;
- (b) contract of mortgage—according to the amount agreed to be secured ;

between landlord and tenant.

(xi) In the following suits between landlord and tenant :—

- (a) for the delivery by a tenant of the counterpart of a lease.
- (b) to enhance the rent of a tenant having a right of occupancy,
- (c) for the delivery by a landlord of a lease,
- [(cc) for the recovery of immovable property from a tenant, including a tenant holding over after the determination of a tenancy,]
- (d) to contest a notice of ejectment.
- (e) to recover the occupancy of ¹ [immovable property] from which a tenant has been illegally ejected by the landlord, and

Cl. X (a).—S. 7. X (a) applies to a suit for specific performance of a contract to sell, in which the plaintiff seeks to force the vendor to execute and register a sale deed and also to hand over possession of the property. 38 A. 292 = 14 A.L.J. 434 (All.); 45 M.L.J. 431 = 47 M. 150. But in Punjab such suit has been held to fall under S. 7 (v) and not under S. 7 (X) (a). 128 P. W. R. 1918 = 46 I. C. 534 ; 107 P. W. R. 1916 = 34 I. C. 192. So also in Calcutta. 14 C. L. J. 159 = 11 I. C. 228. For court-fee for such suits in Bombay see Bom. P. J. 1890, p. 204. Court-fees are payable on both the reliefs according to 60 I. C. 654 (Oudh). The clause covers also exchange. 1923 Lah. 456.

Cl. X (c).—A suit for specific performance of a contract of lease should first be valued for court-fees under S. 7 X (c) and the same is the value for purposes of jurisdiction. 34 C. L. J. 94 = 66 I. C. 268 = 25 C. W. N. 768. As to suits falling under the clause see 17 C. W. N. 160 = 15 I. C. 46 ; 25 C. W. N. 768 = 34 C. L. J. 94. A suit for possession by lessee is not a suit for specific performance but one falling under cl. V. 16 C. L. J. 375 = 16 I. C. 963 ; 5 A. L. J. 886.

Cl. XI (cc).—This clause was inserted by the Court-fees (Amendment) Act (VI of 1905), S. 2. (1). This Section is not confined to cases where the defendant is clearly estopped from denying the plaintiff's title. 25 L. W. 76 = 99 I. C. 981 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 331 = 52 M. I. J. 100.

Suits between landlord and tenant have to be valued for court-fees upon the rent for the previous year and the same is the value for jurisdiction. 25 I. C. 975 = 12 A. L. J. 933. A suit to recover possession of land from a tenant is valued according to a year's rental next before date of presenting the plaint under S. 7, XI (cc) and not under S. 7, cl. V (d). 39 M. 873 = 29 M. L. J. 572 ; 27 P. R. 1910 = 5 I. C. 910 ; 2 P. 260 = 4 P.L.T. 666 ; L.R. 5 All. 709 ; 83 I. C. 1 = 1925 All. 142. See also 38 M. 795 = 24 I. C. 374 = 26 M.L.J. 573. See also 99 I. C. 438 (2) = 23 N. L. R. 5 = A.I.R. 1927 Nag. 156 ; 93 I. C. 291. This is so even where plaintiff is in possession of part of a house and wants to recover another part from his alleged tenant. 104 I. C. 412 = A. I. R. 1927 Sind 248. So also a suit by a landlord against his tenants and others holding over after the period of their tenancy, for recovery of possession. 55 I. C. 178 = 24 C. W. N. 151. But where the tenant holds over in spite of notice to quit, he is a trespasser and a suit for possession against him falls under S. 7 (V) 1923 Nag. 310 = 8 N.L.J. 63 ; 20 N.L.R. 124 ; 84 I. C. 202 = 1925 Nag. 131. Where a relief against a trespasser is claimed along with a relief against a tenant, the former portion does not fall under the clause 91 I. C. 488 = A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 504. In suits under the clause, the court will not go into the question of title. 1 L. W. 641 = 27 I. C. 162 = 27 M. L. J. 475 ; 5 Pat. 208 = 94 I. C. 19 = A.I.R. 1926 P. 251 ; but see 91 I. C. 488 = A.I.R. 1926 Cal. 504.

Cl. XI (e).—¹A suit for possession by a tenant against his landlord falls within S. 7, cl. (xi) (e) 16 C. L. J. 375. The clause should not be limited to suits where the landlord and tenant alone are parties. It applies to cases where to avoid delay, etc. other persons also are impleaded. 87 I. C. 1002 = 1925 Sind 275. But see 32 C. 268 where the clauses have been held not to apply to such cases. A suit for possession by a tenant against the landlord and persons claiming only melwaram rights is not governed by this clause but by Cl. 5. 31 M. 11 = 17 M. L. J. 478 = 3 M. L. T. 3. In a suit falling under this clause the Court will not try a question of title. If the suit is one for possession of land after a determination of the tenant's title to it, the case falls within S. 7 (V). 5 Pat. 208 = 94 I. C. 19 = A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 251. The value for purposes of jurisdiction also is the same, 39 M. 873 = 29 M. L. J. 572 = 31 I. C. 104.

(f) for abatement of rent—

according to the amount of the rent of the ¹ [immovable property] to which the suit refers, payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint.

8. The amount of fee payable under this Act on a memorandum of appeal against an order relating to compensation under any Act for the time being in force for the ² acquisition of land for public purposes shall be computed according to the difference between the amount awarded and the amount claimed by the appellant.

9. If the Court sees reason to think that the annual nett profits or the market-value of any such land, house or garden as is mentioned in section 7, paragraphs 5 and 6, have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court may, for the purpose of computing the fee payable in any suit therein mentioned, issue a commission to any proper person directing him to make such local or other investigation as may be necessary, and to report thereon to the Court.

10. (i) If in the result of any such investigation the Court finds that the nett profits or market-value have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court, if the estimation has been excessive, may in its discretion refund the excess paid as such fee : but if the estimation has been insufficient, the Court shall require the plaintiff to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the said market-value or nett profits been rightly estimated.

(ii) In such case the suit shall be stayed until the additional fee is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

Sec. 9.—The Court is not bound to appoint a commissioner to hold an investigation. 29 A. 749=4 A.L.J. 636. The decision of the Court as to the market value of immoveable property passed after objection made, if final, even though no enquiry was made under a commission. 14 W.R. 451. The Commission may issue at any stage of the suit. 2 M. 308=4 Ind. Jur. 285.

Sec. 10. SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—See 12 A. 129; The specific provisions of S. 28 are not cut down by the section. (Ibid.) If the Court finds that sufficient Court-fee has not been paid it is bound to stay the suit and to fix a time within which the additional fee can be paid, without any regard to the fact, whether that be a time within or beyond, the period of limitation. 4 A. L. J. 636=29 A. 749. If the fee is paid within the time so fixed, the plaint is as valid as if it had been properly stamped in the first instance. (Ibid.) A plaintiff who fails to pay additional court fee within the time allowed by the court is liable to have his suit dismissed under S. 10 and not to have his plaint rejected under O. 7, R. 11, C. P. C. 26 I. C. 746=16 Bom. L. R. 763; 24 A. 749. But only a Court having jurisdiction to try the suit can so dismiss it. 51 Bom. 236=29 Bom. L. R. 280=101 I. C. 343=A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 257. The dismissal, however, as the same effect as rejection. 12 A. 129. It could not operate as res judicata. 8 A. 282. A suit can be dismissed under the section at any stage of the case. 2 M. 308; see also 56 I. C. 316=4 P. L. J. 703. The plaintiff can abandon a portion of the claim and retain that part for which he had already paid court-fee. 27 A. 151; But see contra. 16 Bom. L. R. 763=26 I. C. 746. Where a Court returns a plaint for presentation to a proper Court the latter Court to which the plaint is presented should give credit to the fee already paid. 51 Bom. 236=29 Bom. L. R. 280=101 I. C. 343=A.I.R. 1927 Bom. 257.

Sec. 10.—³ Cl. (iii) was repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

The clause was as follows:—"S. 180 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be construed as if the words 'the market value of any property or' were inserted after the word 'ascertaining' and as if the words 'or annual nett profits' were inserted after the word 'damages.'"

11. In suits for mesne profits or for immoveable property and mesne profits, or for an account, if the profits or amount decreed are or is in excess of the profits claimed or the amount at which the plaintiff valued the relief sought, the decree shall not be executed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits or amount so decreed shall have been paid to the proper officer.

Procedure in suits for mesne profits or account when amount decreed exceeds amount claimed.

Where the amount of mesne profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree, if the profits so ascertained exceed the profits claimed, the further execution of the decree shall be stayed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

Sec. 11. SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—See 12 A. 129. S. 11 refers only to suits for mesne profits for immoveable property or for accounts, and does not apply to mortgage suits where on account of the interest pendente lite a decree for a much larger amount than was claimed is passed. 3 P. L. T. 146 = 1922 P. 59. The penalty mentioned in the final provisions of S. 11 does not apply to the cases coming under the 1st paragraph. 11 I. C. 73 (Cal.). The court has no power to fix any time for payment, in such cases; only the decree cannot be executed until the additional fee is paid. 59 I. C. 385 (Mad.). See also 30 M. 82. If the appellate court grants a decree for an amount larger than that claimed in the court below, court-fee must be paid on the difference and unless this is done the decree cannot be executed. 3 P. L. T. 813 = 1923 P. 28. The words 'decree' in S. 11, para. 2 as applied to a suit for partition and mesne profits means the final and not the interim decree. 59 I. C. 385 (Mad.). Where the value of the relief is ascertained after trial, the court-fee on the difference between the plaintiff valuation and the amount decreed should be paid, under the 2nd paragraph. 24 I. C. 643 = 1 O. L. J. 281. A court has discretionary power under S. 11 to enlarge the time originally fixed for the payment of the court-fees in such cases, even when application to enlarge the time is made after the expiry of the time originally granted. 10 I. C. 268 = 13 C. L. J. 432.

MESNE PROFITS.—A decree for mesne profits does not become operative till after the amount has been ascertained and the Court-fee under S. 11 paid. 27 I. C. 300 (Cal.). The court-fee payable is an ad valorem fee. 55 I. C. 24 = 1 P. L. T. 235. On this point see also 50 Mad. 488 = 52 M. L. J. 128. The plaintiff can obtain execution of a portion of the decree granting reliefs other than mesne profits without paying court-fee on such mesne profits. 12 B. 98; see also 24 C. 174. The term 'suit' is to be construed as confined to that part of the suit which relates to mesne profits. 12 B. 98. So in case of default, the claim in respect of mesne profits alone is to be dismissed. 24 C. 173 = 1 C. W. N. 243. After such dismissal application for execution of the decree for mesne profits cannot be entertained. (Ibid.) Approximate amount to be stated for mesne profits accrued due before suit. 24 I. C. 232. (Cal.)

FUTURE MESNE PROFITS.—As to Court-fee payable on future mesne profits under the section, there is a conflict of ruling between the Allahabad and other High Courts. See 20 M. L. J. 98 = 5 I. C. 880. See also 15 B. 416; 17 B. 41; 6 O. C. 351; 13 C. W. N. 815; 24 I. C. 232; 21 M. 371 (appeal); 2 A. 642. On the point, see also 3 C. L. J. 94; 16 C. L. J. 564; 15 I. C. 572. A direction in a decree for payment of extra fee in respect of such mesne profits does not form part of the decree. The execution of the decree is not conditional upon the payment of the extra fee. 30 M. 32 = 16 M. L. J. 543; see also 33 C. 1232. The law on the subject has been made clear so far as Madras is concerned. See para. 3 of S. 11 substituted by Madras Act V of 1922. Court-fee is payable on future mesne profits but it can only be enacted after the amount has been ascertained by enquiry and the Court has jurisdiction to dismiss such an application for non-payment of Court-fee in advance. 5 Pat. 361 = (1926) P. H. C. C. 49 = 93 I. C. 939 = A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 218 (F. B.). Fees are payable on the difference between the amount paid on the mesne profits claimed in the plaint and the amount ascertained to be due subsequent to the filing of the suit. 10 L. B. R. 276 = 62 I. C. 175 = 13 Bnr. L. T. 165.

ACCOUNT SUITS.—The plaintiff has a right to value his claim on estimate and the Court has power to decree larger amount. 24 O. C. 209 = 64 I. C. 101. See also 25 M. 543; 12 M. L. J. 35; 9 B. 22; 8 Lah. L. J. 78 = 27 Punj. L. R. 187 = 94 I. C. 650 = A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 242 (1).

POWER OF COURT TO PASS DECREES FOR SUMS BEYOND PECUNIARY JURISDICTION.—In suits for accounts and mesne profits, even if the sum found due exceeds the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court it is competent to the Court to give a decree for such amount. 40 M. 1 = 32 M. L. J. 221 = 39 I. C. 439 (F. B.) But see the decisions of the Calcutta High Court to the contrary. 21 C. W. N. 310; 43 C. 650 = 15 C. W. N. 506 = 13 C. L. J. 132; See also 49 P. R. 1906 = 94 P. L. Sec. 12. CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION.—The provisions of section are to be strictly construed. The additional fees should be levied in exact conformity with the words of the statute. 39 C. L. J. 217=82 I. C. 292=1924 Cal. 953.

SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—A decision on the questions of Court-fee in the Court of First Instance is final between the parties under S. 12 (1) but can be re-opened by an Appellate Court under S. 12 (2) in the interest of revenue. 25 I. C. 506 (Mad.); see also 43 B. 507 (P. C.); 40 I. C. 904=106 P. W. R. 1917; 90 I. C. 321 (2)=1925 P. 488. If an objection is taken that a plaint is insufficiently stamped, all that the Court has to do, is to see whether the Court-fee is sufficient assuming the allegations in the plaint to be true. The Court does not decide on evidence, that those allegations are true. 30 I. C. 73 (Oudh). See also 16 I. C. 773=6 S. L. R. 72.

FINALITY OF DECISIONS UNDER SUB-S. (1).—An appeal would lie from the decision of a Court in respect of the class in which a suit ranks but no appeal would lie from a decision in respect of the valuation of the suit in that class. 28 A. 411; 23 B. 486; see also 27 B. 140; 17 B. 56; 15 B. 82; 16 I. C. 963=16 C. L. J. 375; 6 C. 249; 23 C. 723; 28 C. 334; 51 C. 216=28 C. W. N. 683=81 I. C. 763=1924 Cal. 731; 14 M. 169; (1925) M. W. N. 276=87 I. C. 660 (2)=1925 Mad. 713=48 M. L. J. 688; (1925) P. C. 711; 16 I. C. 773=6 S. L. R. 72; 105 I. C. 610; 106 I. C. 817. Where an order rejecting a plaint necessarily involves a decision of the category or class under which a suit falls, even though it incidentally decides a question of valuation, the order is appealable. 49 I. C. 442=4 P. L. J. 57. If the dispute involves not questions of principles as to the nature of the suit and the retrospective operation of statutes an appeal against an order for payment of Court-fee is maintainable. 51 C. 216=28 C. W. N. 683=81 I. C. 763=1924 Cal. 731. The section does not also apply where the question relates to the competency of the Court of first instance to entertain the suit. 17 C. W. N. 503=16 I. C. 575=16 C. L. J. 371; 3 P. 930=(1924) P. H. C. C. 254=80 I. C. 667 (2)=1924 P. 673. Thus an order returning a plaint for representation on the basis of the valuation made by the Court, is appealable. 10 L. W. 178=26 M. L. T. 153=52 I. C. 1001=(1919) M. W. N. 599. See also 47 I. C. 7=151 P. W. R. 1918. The decision to be final must be a decision made between the parties on the record after plaint is filed. 20 All. 11 (F.B.).

Sub-Sec. (2). SCOPE OF.—An Appellate Court cannot under S. 12 (2) order payment of additional Court-fee stamps, unless the first Court has decided the question of valuation. 36 I. C. 957=

10 Bur. L. T. 242. But see contra 31 C. W. N. 1045=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 775. But where the Court proceeds to the trial of the suit, it must be assumed that the Court has tacitly decided that the fees paid is correct. 109 P. R. 1912=15 I. C. 463. The act of the chief ministerial officer entrusted with the duty of receiving plaints and seeing that proper Court-fee is paid thereon, in accepting the plaint amounts to such decision. (1925) M. W. N. 826=91 I. C. 729=1926 Mad. 96=49 M. L. J. 608. The question of deficit Court-fees should be dealt with by the Appellate Court as soon as it is discovered, though it may be postponed at the Court's discretion in exceptional cases. 62 I. C. 43=6 P. L. J. 293=1921 Pat. 161 (C. W. N.). If the question arises on appeal, the appeal should first be admitted so as to remove doubts, as to jurisdiction, and this point should be decided before other issues and the appeal should be stayed till the deficit is paid. 62 I. C. 43=6 P. L. J. 293=1921 Pat. 161 (C. W. N.); see also 58 I. C. 271=5 P. L. J. 508. Until the appeal is admitted, it is not competent to the appellate Court to pass an order dismissing the suit for non-payment of Court-fee. 1 M. L. J. 528. Where a party prefers an appeal on a smaller court fee the proper course for the Registrar is to register the appeal and then place the appeal before the court for orders under this rule as regards the deficient court-fee 31 C. W. N. 1045=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 775. It is duty of the High Court to see that proper Court-fees are paid to the High Courts as well as in the Courts below. 43 I. C. 489=3 P. L. J. 101. See also 235 P. L. R. 1913=19 I. C. 856. If the appellant has failed to pay sufficient Court-fees in the Court below his appeal will not be heard till the deficiency has been made good. Where it was the respondent who was in default, no decree shall be executed in his favour till the deficiency has been made good. 3 P. L. J. 443=44 I. C. 53; see also 58 I. C. 271=5 P. L. J. 508. If a plaintiff respondent fails to make good a deficiency in the Court-fee paid on the plaint, it is competent to the Appellate Court to call upon him to pay the deficit; and in the event of his failure, dismiss the suit. 56 I. C. 316=4 P. L. J. 703; 60 I. C. 654=23 O. C. 388; the procedure prescribed in S. 10 (2) being applicable. 20 A. 362. Where there was deficiency in the Court-fee paid on cross objections in the lower Appellate Court, the High Court can insist on the payment of the same, even though the second appeal does not relate to the subject-matter of such memorandum of cross-objections. 1 P. 471=3 P. L. T. 327=1922 P. 284. Once an appeal has been dismissed, the High Court ceases to have seisin of the appeal or case and is powerless to call upon the Respondent to pay any deficiency. 4 P. L. J. 472=51 I. C. 756=1919 Pat. 276 (F. B.); see also 58 I. C. 271=5 P. L. J. 508; 1925 Lah. 131 (1); 7 A. 528; 18 detriment of the revenue, it shall require the party by whom such fee has been paid to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided, and the provisions of S. 10, paragraph ii, shall apply.

13. If an appeal or plaint, which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure, is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in S. 35¹ of the same Code for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal :

Fee paid on memorandum of appeal.

Provided that if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand shall not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

14. Where an application² for a review of judgment is presented on or after the ninetieth day from the date of the decree, the Court, unless the delay was caused by the applicant's laches, may, in its discretion, grant him a certificate authorizing Refund of fee on application for review of judgment.

M. 415. The Act does not apply to decided cases but applies only to pending cases. 32 I. C. 534 = 9 Bur. L. T. 43; 1925 Lah. 131. Thus the court has no jurisdiction to order the deficit court-fee to be paid by the plaintiff after dismissal of his suit and on his default, to order the attachment of his properties. 46 C. 520 = 52 I. C. 435.

WHETHER APPELLANT CAN ABANDON A PORTION OF CLAIM.—The appellant who has not properly stamped the appeal and is unable to do so may leave a part of the claim retaining only that much as is covered by the stamp. 10 I. C. 207 = 11 P. R. 1912; 29 Punj. L. R. 64; A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 477. There is nothing to prevent an appellant from attacking only a portion of the decree by paying Court-fee only there on, though the reason for the attack might cover the whole decree. 38 M. 18 = 16 I. C. 877. A defendant appealing on the ground that the suit ought to have been dismissed in toto as time barred must appeal on the whole case and pay stamp duty on the whole claim. 44 I. C. 890 = 14 P. W. R. 1918. Whether an Appellate Court has power to allow a valuation of claim in the Court below to be reduced in order to relieve a party from liability to pay the proper Court-fee. See 43 I. C. 489 = 3 P. L. J. 101.

Sec. 13.—This reference should now be read as applying to the corresponding provision of Act V of 1908, O. XII, R. 23.

APPLICABILITY OF THE SECTION.—The section applies where a decree in favour of the respondents is set aside and the case is sent back for a second decision. Where the decision in favour of the respondents is set aside qua a portion only of the subject-matter of the suit, the proviso applies. 39 I. C. 28 = 14 A. L. J. 671. But where the decree is set aside against some respondents only and the case remanded, the successful appellant cannot get a refund of Court-fee. Ibid. If an appeal is remanded, the Court is bound to grant a certificate under S. 13. Refusal to grant such certificate is a material irregularity within S. 115, C. P. C. 42 B. 363 = 45 I. C. 552. Where the High Court reverses the decision of the first Court on a preliminary point, an order under S. 13 for refund of fee should be made. 15 I. C. 610 = 15 C. L. J. 658. Where an appellate Court remands a case for re-trial in a case not coming within O. 41, R. 23; C. P. C., no order for refund of Court-fee can be passed. 42 I. C. 304; See also 36 I. C. 241 = 12 N. L. R. 126; 3 P. L. J. 116 = 43 I. C. 855. Also 100 I. C. 49 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 196. See also (1927) C. W. N. 761. A Certificate under this rule should be granted when the suit is dismissed because a document relied upon is inadmissible. 102 I. C. 298 (1) = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 592. S. 13 does not apply to the case of an appeal against a preliminary decree. 3 P. L. J. 116 = 43 I. C. 855. Court-fees paid on appeal from final decree filed during pendency of appeal from preliminary decree should be refunded. 83 I. C. 829 = 1925 Oudh 39. As to the scope of the proviso, see 6 W. R. 65.

REFUND IN GENERAL.—Where a counsel stamps the memorandum of a time barred appeal and is heard on the point of limitation and the appeal is dismissed, he cannot set up the plea of the failure of the Court Clerk to inform him of the practice about stamping in appeal memoranda as a ground of claiming refund of the Court-fee paid. 22 I. Sec. 17. SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF SECTION.—The object of the section is to prevent loss of revenue to the state 6 I. C. 715. This section applies to cumulative reliefs for several distinct causes of action and has no application to distinct reliefs arising out of the same cause of action, 2 B. 219; 21 A. 200; see also (1924) P.H.C.C. 175=78 I. S. 17 applies to alternative reliefs claimed with reference to more causes of action than one. The section is not necessarily confined to cases where cumulative reliefs are claimed. 47 I. SUITS FALLING WITHIN THE SECTION.—

Suits on different hundies affording distinct causes of action (9 A. 252); Suit on several promissory notes executed in plff.'s favour by deft. (5 L.B.R. 94=4 I. C. 289); suit against the principal debtor and several persons who have guaranteed the amount by separate pro-notes or mortgages (8 Bur. L. T. 217=30 I. C. 705). A suit to enforce two different mortgages executed by the same person in respect of the same properties (2 P. 874=4 P. L. T. 546=(1923) Pat. 293 (C. W. N.)=1924 P. 77; 57 I. C. 685=1 Pat. L. T. 444.) Suit to enforce specific performance of an agreement to sell land with an alternative claim for pre-emption (29 A. 155=4 A.L.J. 127; 96 P. R. 1895); claims for rent in suits for redemption (16 M. 415); suit by landlord against several sets of tenants for declaration that their several lands were held under the Batai system (4 Pat. L. J. 293=51 I. C. 767); suit for declaration arising from distinct causes of action, (1923 A. 306; 18 M. 459—declarations in re-

(i) Power-of-attorney to institute or defend a suit when executed by an officer, warrant-officer, non-commissioned officer or private of Her Majesty's army not in civil employment.

(ii) [Rep. by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).]

(v) Plaints in suits tried by Village Munsifs³ in the Presidency of Fort St. George.

(vi) Plaints and processes in suits before District Panchayats in the same Presidency.

pect of various alienations); and claim for costs on appeal independently of the result of the main contest between the parties (3 P. L. J. 443 = 4 P. L. W. 223 = 44 I. C. 50), have been held to come within the section. Where the plaintiff in whose favour the first deft. had surrendered the suit lands for consideration, finding the land to belong to another person files a suit against both, asking for possession against the latter or for refund from the former of the consideration paid the suit embraces two distinct reliefs. 78 I.C. 703 = 1924 Nag. 169. Where the plaintiffs who are not in possession of any portion of the properties sought to be partitioned, pray for joint possession and partition they are bound to pay court-fee on two subject-matters within S. 17. The plaintiffs must pay the fixed fee for partition in addition to ad valorem fee as in a suit for possession. 3 P. 618 = 81 I. C. 1052 = 1924 P. 558. A declaratory suit in respect of properties, partly in the Collector's possession and partly in the plff.'s possession, each valued separately, is for two distinct subjects and the aggregate value of both the properties constitutes the value of the suit. 36 B. 628 = 14 Bom. SUITS NOT COMING WITHIN THE SECTION.—Suit for pre-emption of shares in two villages conveyed by a single sale deed does not comprise two distinct subjects as there was only one cause of section. 27 A. 186 = A.W.N. (1904) 210. So also a suit to recover rent or mesne profits for a number of years. 7 A. 761; a suit to recover land and trees thereon. 40 M. 824 = 39 I. C. 254. A suit for possession and for mesne profits is not a suit embracing two distinct subjects. 16 A. 401 = A.W.N. (1894) 124. See also 8 C. 593 (F.B.); 19 C. 615; 11 M. 151. For decisions to the contrary, see 28 M.L. J. 127 (F.B.) 12 B. 96; 2 A. 676; 4 P. L. J. 195 = 50 I. C. 470. (Each case depends on its own peculiar circumstances.) Claim for possession and damages for use and occupation after the tenancy terminates are not distinct subjects within S. 17 as they arise out of the tenancy having come to an end. A claim for rent however, is a distinct subject as it arises out of the contract of tenancy and can be enforced by a separate suit. 10 Bur. L.T. 60 = 36 I. C. 883 = 8 L.B.R. 529.

In a suit for specific performance and possession, court-fee need be paid only for one prayer. 47 M. 150 = 45 M.L.J. 431. But see 60 I.C. 654 = 23 O.C. 388. See also the cases noted under S. 7 cl. X. In a suit for a balance on a Khata, (accounts) which would ordinarily contain a number of items, each item does not constitute a distinct subject. The subject-matter of the suit is the balance due on the account and Court-fee is payable on the aggregate amount. 64 I. C. 486 (2) = 23 Bom. L. R. 995.

and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased, verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required, the said Authority may—

(a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters if such stamp has not been already cancelled ;

(b) substitute another stamp for denoting the court-fee which should have been paid thereon ; and

(c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion.

19-B. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act.

Such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But when, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

(4) If the petitioner does not amend the valuation to the satisfaction of the Collector, the Collector may move the Court before which the application for probate or letters of administration was made, to hold an inquiry into the true value of the property :

Provided that no such motion shall be made after the expiration of six months from the date of the exhibition of the inventory required by section 277 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or, as the case may be, by section 98 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881.

(6) For the purposes of any such inquiry, the Court or person authorized by the Court to hold the inquiry may examine the petitioner for probate or letters of administration on oath (whether in person or by commission), and may take such further evidence as may be produced to prove the true value of the property. The person authorized as aforesaid to hold the inquiry shall return to the Court the evidence taken by him and report the result of the inquiry, and such report and the evidence so taken shall be evidence in the proceeding, and the Court may record a finding in accordance with the report, unless it is satisfied that it is erroneous.

(7) The finding of the Court recorded under sub-section (5) shall be final, but shall not bar the entertainment and disposal by the Chief Controlling Revenue authority of any application under section 19-E.

(8) The Local Government may make rules for the guidance of Collectors in the exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (3).

119-I. PROCESS-FEES.

Rules as to cost of processes

20. The High Court shall, as soon as may be, make rules as to the following matters :—

(i) The fees chargeable for serving and executing processes issued by such Court in its appellate jurisdiction, and by the other Civil and Revenue Courts established within the local limits of such jurisdiction ;

(ii) the fees chargeable for serving and executing processes issued by the Criminal Courts established within such limits in the case of offences other than offences for which police officers may arrest without a warrant ; and

(iii) the remuneration of the peons and all other persons employed by leave of a Court in the service or execution of processes.

The High Court may from time to time alter and add to the rules so made.

All such rules, alterations and additions shall, after being confirmed by the every District Judge and every Magistrate of a District shall fix, and may from time to time alter, the number of peons necessary to be employed for the service and execution of processes issued out of his Court and each of the Courts subordinate thereto,

CHAPTER V.

OF THE MODE OF LEVYING FEES.

25. All fees referred to in section 3 or chargeable under this Act shall be collected by stamps.

26. The stamps used to denote any fees chargeable under this Act shall be impressed or adhesive, or partly impressed and partly adhesive, as the [Local Government]⁴ may, by notification in the [Local Official Gazette]⁴ from time to time direct.⁵

27. The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules for regulating—

- ⁵(a) the supply of stamps to be used under this Act ;
- (b) the number of stamps to be used for denoting any fee chargeable under this Act ;
- (c) the renewal of damaged or spoiled stamps ; and
- (d) the keeping accounts of all stamps used under this Act ;

Provided that, in the case of stamps used under section 3 in a High Court, such rules shall be made with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of such Court.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

28. No document which ought to bear a stamp under this Act shall be of any validity, unless and until it is properly stamped.

the High Court only" are not invalidated for use in subordinate Courts. 8 Pat. L. T. 33 = 97 I. C. 822 = A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 408.

Sec. 28. SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—The specific provisions of the section are not cut down either by Ss. 9 to 11 of this Act or by O. VII, R. 11 (Old Sec. 54) of C. P. Code, 12 A. 129 (F. B.). The mistake or inadvertence referred to in this section is that of the Court and its officers and not of the party. (1901) A. W. N. 21 ; 12 A. 129 ; 20 M. 319. On this point see also 4 A. L. J. 636 = 29 A. 749. Where an appeal is not properly stamped, whole appeal will not be dismissed but amount covered by court-fee will be decreed. 96 I. C. 135 = A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 558. Even Revenue officer has the powers under S. 28 to direct the payment of Court-fees in revision. 30 I. C. 862 (2) = 22 C. L. J. 57. But this power must be exercised before making the final decision in the case. 7 A. 528 = 5 A. W. N. 140. (But see the judgment of Mahmood, J. contra in the same case). Where a plaint is returned by one Court for presentation to another Court the latter Court should give credit to the stamp on the plaint. 35 M. 567 = 21 M. L. J. 533 = 10 I. C. 2 ; 1. 29 Bom. L. R. 280 ; see also 8 B. 313 ; 8 B. 380. Where a plaint with insufficient court-fee stamp is presented, opportunity must be given to the party to pay the proper stamp, 106 I. C. 817.

But, if any such document is through mistake or inadvertence received, filed or used in any Court or office without being properly stamped, the presiding Judge or the head of the office, as the case may be, or, in the case of a High Court, any Judge of such Court, may, if he thinks fit, order that such document be stamped as he may direct; and, on such document being stamped accordingly, the same and every proceeding relative thereto shall be as valid as if it had been properly stamped in the first instance.

29. Where any such document is amended in order merely to correct a mistake and to make it conform to the original intention of the parties, it shall not be necessary to impose a fresh stamp.

Amended document.

30. No document requiring a stamp under this Act shall be filed or acted upon in any proceeding in any Court or office until the stamp has been cancelled.

Cancellation of stamp.

Such officer as the Court or the head of the office may from time to time appoint shall, on receiving any such document, forthwith effect such cancellation by punching out the figure-head so as to leave the amount designated on the stamp untouched, and the part removed by punching shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed.

CHAPTER VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

31. (i) Whenever an application or petition containing a complaint or charge of an offence, other than an offence for which police-officers may arrest without warrant, is presented to a Criminal Court, the Court, if it convict the accused person, shall, in addition to the penalty imposed upon him, order him to repay to the complainant the fee paid on such application or petition.

Repayment of fees paid on applications to Criminal Courts.

LIMITATION.—Doubts as to whether payment of deficit Court-fee after limitation time would save limitation, have been set at rest by the enactment of S. 149 of C. P. Code. Under that section it is in the discretion of the Court to exercise the powers. The Court will not exercise the discretion unless it is satisfied that some ground exists. 1 Lah. 234. Where a deficiency in Court-fee is made good within the time allowed by the Court but beyond the period of limitation prescribed for the suit, the suit is not barred by time. 23 I. C. 408. Plaint and memorandum of appeal insufficiently stamped—Second appeal to High Court properly stamped—High Court has power, on levying the additional stamp duty on the plaint and memorandum of appeal, to hear the second appeal as there was an existing suit at the time the period of limitation expired and the provisions of S. 28 were applicable. 24 M. 331; 25 M. 380 = 11 M. (iii) When the complainant has paid fees for serving processes in either of the cases mentioned in the first and second paragraphs of this section, the Court, if it convict the accused person, shall, in addition to the penalty imposed upon him, order him to repay such fees to the complainant.

(iv) All fees ordered to be repaid under this section may be recovered as if they were fines imposed by the Court.

SCHEDULE I. AD VALOREM FEES.

Number.		Proper Fee.
1. ¹ Plaintiff [written statement pleading a set-off or counter-claim] ² or memorandum of appeal (not otherwise provided for in this Act) or of cross-objection presented to any Civil or Revenue Court except those mentioned in section 3.	When the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed five rupees.	Six annas.
	When such amount or value exceeds five rupees, for every five rupees, or part thereof, in excess of five rupees, up to one hundred rupees.	Do.

Art. I.—¹ To ascertain the proper fee leviable on the institution of a suit, see the table annexed to this schedule

² These words were inserted by S. 155 and the 4th Schedule of the Code of Civil Procedure Act V of 1908.

SCOPE OF SCHEDULE I.—Schedule is supplementary and not alternative to S. 7. 6 N.L.R. 164 = 8 I. C. 1125. The proviso to Art. I is of general application and is not confined to plaints and memoranda of appeals under Art. I only. 3 A. 108, 112; 29 C. 140. Multifarious suits under S. 17 are also subject to it. 3 A. 108.

Art. I. APPLICABILITY.—Art. I applies only to those cases which are not otherwise specially provided for under the Act. 61 P. R. 1910 = 47 I. C. 992. There is no particular section in the Court-fees Act for assessment of fair rent and so ad valorem fee has to be paid. 6 A. 17 = 100 I. C. 913 = 8 Pat. L. T. 366 = A. I. R. 1927 Pat. 123. An application for restitution under S. 144, C. P. C., may be stamped as a mere application. Ad valorem fee is not necessary. 21 C. W. N. 544. But an appeal against an order passed under S. 144, C. P. C., is an appeal against a decree and an ad valorem stamp duty is payable thereon. 82 I. C. 321 = 22 A. L. J. 881. (But see also under Sch. II, Art. 1). So also on an appeal against an order under O. 21, R. 50 (2). 10 Bur. L. T. 42 = 35 I. C. 429; also on an appeal against an order under O. 21, R. 99. 10 B. 238; 8 C. 720. See also 29 M. 172; 4 M. 221. An appeal from an order under S. 144, C. P. C., does not, according to the practice of Lahore High Court, require ad valorem fee but a court-fee stamp of Rs. 4 is sufficient. 103 I. C. 657 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 635. Regarding court-fees in appeals in land acquisition cases, see A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 45 = 97 I. C. 140.

COURT-FEES ON SET-OFF—Where the defendant claims right of set-off, he has to pay ad valorem court-fee on the same, 45 A. 218 = 20 A. L. J. 1005 = 1923 A. 118. See also 8 A. 396; 13 B. 672; 15 M. 29. In a suit for accounts and to recover moneys of a dissolved partnership, the defendants' claim for a decree on accounts is not a counter-claim. No court fee need be paid thereon until the amount has been ascertained. 27 I. C. 316 = 8 S. L. R. 122; 27 I. C. 320 = 8 S. L. R. 124. Pending a suit, the disputes were referred to arbitration out of court and it was found that money was payable to defendant. The court could direct the defendant to plead the award as an adjustment and claim the amount awarded, paying court fee thereon. 18 S. L. R. 111 = 88 I. C. 61 (2) = 1925 Sind 266.

CROSS-OBJECTIONS.—A memorandum of cross-objections must bear court fees ad valorem on the value of the subject-matter in dispute. 46 C. 160 = 45 I. C. 939 = 27 C. L. J. 443; 15 A. L. J. 886. Petition stating reasons on which the respondents supported the decree, does not amount to cross-objection for which ad valorem fee is payable. 44 A. 577 = 1922 All. 280. Nor mere criticism of judgment. 1 P. 258 = 1922 P. 483 (2); 25 O. C. 275 = 1923 Oudh 44 (1). In the case of cross-objections relating to possession of land, ad valorem fee is payable on its value and not on the basis calculated under S. 7 (v). L. R. 5 A. 712 = 22 A. L. J. 911. This is so even if the party could have raised the question in an appeal stamped under Art. 17 of Sch. II as the latter Article does not refer to cross-objection. 3 P. L. J. 197 = 45 I. C. 568 = 4 P. I. W. 368. See also 40 A. 93. On a cross-objection as to the finding of the Lower Court on a portion of sale consideration being not for legal necessity, court-fees should be paid on the amount held to be not for legal necessity. 45 A. 537 = 1924 All. 175 = 83 I. C. 780. See also 40 A. 93 = 43 I. C. 179 = 15 A. L. J. 886. A respondent who files a memorandum of objections cannot claim to have court-fees reduced simply because the appellant has paid more than what he should have paid. 46 C. 160 = 45 I. C. 939 = 27 C. L. J. 443. A memo. of cross-objections filed in the High Court on the question of costs only does not fall under Art. 1, Sch. I, but may be treated as a petition under Art. 1 (d) of Sch. II and a court-fee of Rs. 2 is leviable thereon. 64 I. C. 606 = 25 C. W. N. 934. But see contra 2 Rang. 637 = 1925 Rang. 145; 8 I. L. J. 434 = 98 I. C. 272 = A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 645.

THE AMOUNT OR VALUE OF THE SUBJECT-MATTER IN DISPUTE.—S. 7 prescribes the value that shall remain unchanged in all stages of a case. Once the value of the relief is ascertained for the purposes of the plaint, the 1st schedule rates the relief at the same value for the purposes of the appeal. 6 N.L.R. 164 = 8 I. C. 1125. See also 25 P. R. 1916 = 32 I. C. 121 = 16 P. W. R. 1916.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—The value of an appeal is not in all cases the value of the suit as originally filed but the value of the relief granted

SUITS FOR DECLARATION WHERE NO CONSEQUENTIAL RELIEF IS PRAYED.—Where a plaintiff or a memorandum of appeal asks only for a pure declaration, the Court in calculating court-fees cannot go into the question whether he should also have asked for consequential relief. The effect of failing to ask consequential relief is for the final decision of the Court. A fixed fee under Article is sufficient. 27 C. W. N. 972 = 1924 Cal. 183. Even where relief is prayed for it may be a mere surplussage in which case, the suit may be stamped as a mere declaratory suit under this Art. 3 P. 795 = 80 I. C. 655 = 1925 P. 44. A suit to declare that a previous declaratory decree is not binding on the plaintiff on ground of fraud, is governed by Article because no consequential relief is needed or sought for. 35 I. C. 797 = 12 C. W. N. 375. A suit by a reversioner for mere declaration that conveyance by a Hindu widow is void in respect of anything beyond her life interest comes under this Article. 75 P. A suit for bare declaration that a decree is ineffectual and not binding on the plaintiff comes under the Article. 30 C. 788 ; 20 B. 736 ; also a suit by a member of a joint Hindu family for declaration that an alienation made by a managing member is not binding on him. 7 M. 134 ; 78 I. L. R. 1911. Also a suit for a declaration that plaintiffs were occupancy tenants and not tenure-holders and that the survey entry describing them as tenure-holders was wrong 4 P. L. J. 302 = 50 I. C. 298. Also a suit for declaration that certain property belongs to the plaintiff and is not liable to be sold in execution of a mortgage decree to which he is not a party. 85 I. C. 349 = 1925 Oidh 500. A suit to set aside a compromise decree for maintenance falls under the Article (Art. 17 A of the Madras Act.) 27 L. W. 286 = A. I. R. 1928 Mad. 416. A suit under S. 106, B. T. Act which is transferred to the Civil Court is a suit for declaratory decree within this article. 48 I. C. 552 = 28 A. L. J. 301. See also 18 I. C. 275 = 17 C. L. J. 416. In a suit for recovery of possession with mesne profits and the alternative for assessment of fair rent, the prayer for assessment is not in the nature of a declaratory relief. 6 P. 17 = 100 I. C. 913 = 8 Pat. L. T. 366 = A. I. R. 1927 Pat. 123. The plaintiff sued for possession as the transferee of one G. The first Court gave him a decree on condition that his possession should continue only during the lifetime of his transferor. An appeal by the plaintiff against the condition is for a mere declaration and need bear a court-fee of Rs. 10 only. 33 A. 795 = 11 I. C. 977 = 8 A. L. J. 821. The Bombay practice of valuing suits for declaration at Rs. 130 and paying a court fee of Rs. 10 thereon is misleading and unwarranted by law. A fixed fee of Rs. 10 is to be paid thereon. 43 B. 507 = 46 I. A. 24 = 36 M. L. J. 437 = 50 I. C. 280 (P. C.) No ad valorem fee need be paid, when a suit is brought for a declaration that money is jointly due, plaintiff not objecting to its being received by the defendants. 1923 Lah. 359. A declaratory suit that a registered release deed be considered cancelled, must be valued for court-fees at the amount at which the relief is valued. 35 P. R. 1914 = 25 I. C. 435. So also a suit for the reversal of a patni sale is not solely for a declaration that the sale is a nullity. 51 C. 216 = 28 C. W. N. 683 = 1924 Cal. 731. So also an ayo claim = 5 Bur. L. court-fee of Rs. 10 only is required under Article, 57 P. R. 1913=17 I. C. 764. On this clause see also 7 C. L. J. 36=12 C. W. N. 169=35 C. 202=35 I. A. 22 (P.C.).

Cl. (v).—Where a suit for declaration that plaintiff is the adopted son of the last male owner and therefore entitled to property in his possession was dismissed, the court-fee payable on the appeal is an ad valorem fee on the value of the property in possession of the appellant as the adopted son of the last owner. 43 I. C. 64=15 N. L. R. 24. The plaintiff may value the relief claimed in his suit to set aside an adoption and that valuation determines the court which is to decide the suit. 37 C. 860=14 C. W. N. 929=6 I. C. 630; See also 15 A. 378. In a suit for declaration, that an adoption never took place, court-fee is payable on the value of the property, title to which is affected. 58 I. C. 965 (1). A suit for mere declaration that an adoption is valid does not admit of being satisfactorily valued and falls under Art. 17, cl. (vi). 24 I. C. 286=17 O. C. 90. A suit for declaration that certain adoption deed executed by a widow shall be of no effect on the plaintiff's reversionary rights is not a suit to annul an adoption. 6 I. A. L. J. 585=84 I. C. 486=1925 Lah. 229.

Cl. (vi).—See Art. 17-B of the Madras Act.—To bring a case within the scope of this clause, it must be established that it is not possible even to state approximately a money value for the subject-matter in dispute. 1 I. C. 670=13 C. W. N. 815. Thus a suit for restitution of conjugal rights would fall under the clause. 34 C. 352=11 C. W. N. 458=5 C. L. J. 400; 8 C. W. N. 705=31 C. 849; 28 A. 545, 9 I. C. 186=8 A. L. A prayer for temporary mandatory injunction to compel debt, to deposit in court an amount due by him to the trust, in a Scheme suit under S. 92, Civil Procedure Code, does not alter the character of the suit and the fee fixed in Sch. II, Art. 17 (ii) is sufficient. 47 M. L. J. 656=1924 Mad. 882=85 I. C. 801. See also 48 M. L. J. 514=1925 Mad. 722. As to a prayer for the appointment of a receiver see A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 678=51 M. L. J. 67 cited under S. 7, Cl. iv (e). A suit under Registration Act, S. 77 to compel Registration falls under the Article, 21 P. R. 1895; 3 C. 515. An appeal against an order refusing grant of Letters of Administration is governed by Art. 17 (vi) as the subject matter in dispute cannot be estimated at a money value. 22 I. C. 98=35 All. 448. The memo. of appeal against a redemption decree absolute on the ground that the money was deposited at a later date than that allowed, and that it should not have been so received falls within the clause. 10 I. C. 736=7 N. L. R. 41. Also an appeal against an order rejecting an appeal memo. for non-payment of Court-fees 98 I. C. 663 (2)=A. I. R. 1927 Nag. 100. As kyaung cannot be transferred by sale, mortgage or gift, it has no market value and the plaint in a suit by Hypongyi to recover possession of kyaung should bear a fixed stamp. 57 I. C. 953=13 Bur. L. T. 40. An appeal preferred against the decree in an interpleader suit, which declares the title of one of the claimants and directs the delivery of the property to him upon payment of costs to the plaintiff should be stamped under the Art. 2 Pat. L. T. 280=61 I. C. 820. An objection on appeal as to the manner in which a decree in a suit for dissolution of partnership is to be enforced is covered by this Art. 7 Lah. L. J. 364=90 I. C. 629=1925 Lah. 496.

CASES NOT COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Where in a suit for the enforcement of a mortgage or charge against certain property, the trial court held the charge to be enforceable only against a portion of the property, an appeal to have the charge declared against the whole property must bear ad valorem fee on the value of the property in dispute. 65 I. C. 114=24 O. C. 295. When a plaintiff who obtained a decree for the full amount sued for against one of the debts, appealed with a view to make the other debts, also liable, held, he was bound to pay ad valorem court fee on the amount for which the other debts, were sought to be made liable and not a fixed fee under this Art. 24 Bom. L. R. 313=46 B. 840; See also 86 P. R. 1912=16 I. C. 777.

SUITS FOR PARTITION.—A suit for partition, pure and simple, where the plaintiff is in joint possession of his share and there is no dispute as to his title or share falls within the clause. But the value of the entire subject-matter is the value for jurisdiction. 2 Pat. 432=4 P. L. T. 257; 49 I. C. 115 (Pat.); 13 C. L. R. 253; 8 C. 757; 34 A. 184=13 I. C. 185=8 A. L. The Article applies even if the plaintiff asks for declaration of titles a cloud having been cast upon the same. 29 C. W. N. 76. A suit by a Mohamedan co-sharer in joint possession, for partition and separate possession of her share, falls under Art. 17. (vi). (1923) M. W. N. 564 (2)=1924 Mad. 207. It is enough

CASE LAW.—In Bengal Crown has conferred no market franchise or right of holding markets. Therefore, a proprietor cannot acquire such a right by prescription, as the right is treated as an incident to the ownership of land ; and he has no remedy at law if any competitor holds a market in his proximity. 24 C. Act or of the Registration Act which provides for the cases of documents exempt from registration when executed by or on behalf of Government. 36 All. 176 = 22 I.C. 933 = 12 A.L.J. 219. A provision in a lease granted by Government of land situate in Malabar that the lessee will not erect buildings on the ground, is not consistent with S. 19 of the Malabar Com. for Ten. Impr. Act and is saved by S. 3 of the Crown Grants Act. 43 Mad. 65 = 53 I. C. 345 = 37 M.L.J. 332. The expression "grant" in S. 2 denotes not only the transfer of prerogative rights possessed by the Crown but also transfers of land of every description. 43 Mad. 65 = 53 I.C. 345 = 37 M.L.J. 332. Where a Crown grant consists of a lease of land in the Malabar District containing a reservation of the right to terminate the tenancy on six months' notice and the lessee expressly covenanted to surrender, held, that under S. 3, the lease must take effect according to its tenor and the Government is entitled to a decree for ejectment without paying for improvements. 14 L. THE CUTCHI MEMONS ACT (XLVI OF 1920).

PREFATORY NOTE.—The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the Bill :—

The Cutchi Memons claim that they are the descendants of the Muhammadans who settled in Cutch after migrating from the coast of Oman. Except for the historical fact that they were originally Hindus and were converted to Muhammadanism about four or five hundred years ago, they are at the present day good and strict Moslems. It has been held by the courts on more than one occasion since the judgment of Sir Erskine Perry in the year 1847, in what is commonly known as the Khojas and Memons case, that in some particulars they are still governed by the Hindu customs instead of Muhammadan Law, the Cutchi Memons have always felt aggrieved and considered the principle so established was incorrect both in law and in practice. Realising this grievance of the Cutchi Memons a Bill was brought in by Mr. Justice Amir Ali about the end of 1885. That Bill intended to make it permissive to the members of the Cutchi Memons community to declare themselves subject to Muhammadan Law. The Bill provided for such a declaration to be made in a prescribed form. By reason of certain difference of opinion as to its provisions the Bill was not proceeded with.

In the year 1896 another Bill was submitted to the Imperial Legislative Council. That Bill was drafted on practically the same lines as the Bill of 1885. The Government of India would appear to have been still of opinion that it would not be right to accept such a measure unless it were shown to be in accordance with the wishes of the entire community. The Bill was referred to a Select Committee. The Committee made its report on the Bill and the matter was allowed to rest there and as no motion with respect to the Bill was made for 2 years and the Bill was removed from the list of business on the 24th March, 1900 by an order of the President under rule 43 of the Rules for the Conduct for Legislative Business. From the manner in which the Cutchi Memons have been agitating the question in their community it would appear they are unanimous that they should be governed in all particulars by Muhammadan Law of the Hanafi School. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons, Fort St. George Gazette, Pt. III, 9th March, 1920, pp 35—36.)

[17th September, 1920.

An Act to enable Cutchi Memons to be governed in matters of succession and inheritance by Muhammadan Law.

WHEREAS it is expedient to enable those Cutchi Memons who so desire to be governed in matters of succession and inheritance by Muhammadan law; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE CUTCHI MEMONS ACT, 1920.

Power to make a declaration.

2. (1) [Any person who satisfies the prescribed authority—

(a) that he is a Cutchi Memon and is the person whom he represents himself to be ;

(b) that he is competent to contract within the meaning of section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 ; and may by declaration in the prescribed form and filed before prescribed authority declare that he desires to obtain the benefit of this Act, and thereafter the declarant and all his minor children and their descendants shall in matters of succession and inheritance be governed by the Muhammadan law.

(c) that he is resident in British India ;]¹

[(2) Where the prescribed authority refuses to accept a declaration under subsection (1), the person desiring to make the same may appeal to such officer as the Local Government may, by general or special order, appoint in this behalf, and such officer may, if he is satisfied that the appellant is entitled to make the declaration, order the prescribed authority to accept the same]².

Rule-making power of Local Government.

3. [(1) The Local Government may make rules to carry into effect the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

Sec. 2 (1).—¹ The words " Any person... British India " were substituted for the words " Any Cutchi Memon who—

(a) has attained the age of majority, and

(b) is resident in British India," by Act XXXIV of 1923, S. 2.

²Sec. 2 (2) was added newly by Act XXXIV of 1923, S. 2.

(a) for prescribing the authority before whom and the form in which declarations under this Act shall be made ,

(b) for prescribing the fees to be paid for the filing of declarations and for the attendance at private residences of any person in the discharge of his duties under this Act , and for prescribing the times at which such fees shall be payable and the manner in which they shall be levied ¹

(3) Rules made under the provisions of this section shall be published in the local official Gazette and thereupon have effect as if enacted in this Act.

THE DELHI LAWS ACT (VII OF 1915).

[Amended Act XVIII of 1919].

PREFATORY NOTE.—The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the Bill :—

"Owing to the issue of the proclamation cited in the preamble, adding certain territory, previously included in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, to the Province of Delhi, it has become necessary to take steps to declare the law in force in the territory so added.

Save in respect of a few enactments which are referred to below, the law in force in the Province of Delhi is declared to be in force in the territory now added to that province.

The enactments in force in the province of Delhi which are declared not to be in force in this territory are set forth in Schedule II.

In place of them the enactments specified in Schedule III, which are already in force in this area, are continued in force there. It is clearly undesirable to make any change in these laws, which mainly relate to land, if such a course can be avoided".—(Fort St. George Gazette, Part III, 1st March, 1915).

THE DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS ACT (V OF 1917).

PREFATORY NOTE—The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the Bill :—

" In present conditions documents are required to be placed in the custody of Government officers under a large number of enactments. In many of these Acts no provision exists for the destruction of such of them as have become valueless. For example, there is no provision for the destruction of documents lodged with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies under the Registration of Societies Act (XXI of 1860), the Provident Insurance Societies Act (V of 1912) the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act (VI of 1912), and the Indian Companies Act (VII of 1913); nor could such papers be dealt with under the Destruction of Records Act (III of 1879), as it stands. It is accordingly proposed to repeal and re-enact the Act of 1879 so as to make it conform to modern requirements. The principal feature of the draft Bill is that it empowers certain authorities to frame rules for the disposal by destruction or otherwise of documents which they may consider not of sufficient public value to justify preservation, and provides for the delegation to subordinate officers of the rule-making powers vested in the Local Government. The rule making powers already vested in the High Courts and the Chief Controlling Revenue authorities by Act III of 1879 will not be affected by this Bill. To avoid overlapping, it is proposed to repeal the provisions of the enactments mentioned in this Schedule.—(Fort St. George Gazette, Part III, 20th February, 1917, p. 2.)

THE DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869).

PREFATORY NOTE.—This Act is framed on the corresponding English Statute Law.

This Act extends to India the principal provisions of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (20 and 21 Vic., C. 85) as amended by the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1859 (22 & 23 Vict. C. 61), and the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1860 (23 and 24 Vic. C. 144) and the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1866 (29 and 30, Vic. C. 12). It also embodies many rulings of Sir Cresswell and Lord Penzance. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons.) Mr. Maine in moving that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in India be taken into consideration, said :—"This measure is obviously one of great social importance; It is substantially a consolidation measure. It puts together the English Statute Law on the subject in a more orderly form and in clearer language, and it incorporates the recent decisions of the Divorce Court. But, in the main, its principles are those of the statute regulating the jurisdiction of the English Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes." 26th March, 1879—Fort St. George Gazette (Supplement), March 1869, p. 44.

The object of the Act was to give effect to the policy embodied in the High Courts Act passed in 1861 (24 and 25 Vic. C. 104), and the Letters Patent issued by Her Majesty for constituting the High Courts. The object of the High Courts Act, seemed to have been, not so much to create new branches of jurisdiction, as to constitute and redistribute the power which already existed. The 9th clause gave power to Her Majesty to confer on the High Court such matrimonial jurisdiction as she thought fit; but Her Majesty did not attempt to confer on the High Court such a jurisdiction as was exercised by the Divorce Court in England. The Secretary of State, therefore requested the Governor-General to introduce a measure, conferring a jurisdiction on the High Courts here similar to that exercised by the Divorce Court sitting in London. Hence the Act (See the remarks of Mr. Maine in moving for leave to introduce the Bill.)

"Thus, it would be seen that the object of the Divorce Act was to place the Matrimonial Law administered by the High Courts, in the exercise of their original jurisdiction, on the same footing as the Matrimonial Law administered by the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in England."

The 9th section of the Act of Parliament for establishment of High Courts of Judicature in India (24 and 25 Vic. C. 104) provided that the High Courts shall exercise such matrimonial jurisdiction as Her Majesty by Letters Patent shall grant and direct. Under the authority thus conferred by Parliament, the 35th section of the Letters Patent constituting the High Courts of Judicature provided as follows :—

'And we do further ordain that the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall have jurisdiction in matters Matrimonial between our subjects professing the Christian religion, and that such jurisdiction shall extend to the local limits within which the Supreme Court now has ecclesiastical jurisdiction : provided always that nothing herein contained shall be held to interfere with the exercise of any jurisdiction in matters Matrimonial by any Court not established by Royal Charter within the said Presidency law fully possessed thereof."

In the Despatch of the Secretary of State transmitting the Letters Patent, 33rd and 34th paragraphs are to the following effect :—

" Her Majesty's Government are desirous of placing the Christian subjects of the Crown within the Presidency in the same position under the High Court, as to matters Matrimonial, in general, as they now are under the Supreme Court, and this they believe to be effected by clause 35 of the Charter. But they consider it expedient that the High Court should possess, in addition, the power of decreeing divorce which the Supreme Court does not possess, in other words, that the High Court should have the same jurisdiction as the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in England, established in virtue of the Act Sess. 20 and 21 Vic. C. 85 and in regard to which further provisions were made by Sess. 22 and 23, Vic. C. 61 and 23 and 24 Vic. C. 144. The Act of Parliament for establishing the High Courts, however, does not purport to give to the Crown the power of importing into the Charter all the provisions of the Divorce Court Act, and some of them the Crown clearly could not so import, such, for instance, as those which prescribe the period of re-marriage, and those which exempt from punishment clergymen refusing to remarry adulterers. All these are in truth, matters for Indian Legislation, and I request that you immediately take the subject into your consideration and introduce into your Council a bill for conferring upon the High Court, the jurisdiction and powers of the Divorce Court in England, one of the provisions of which should be to give an appeal to the Privy Council in those cases in which the Divorce Court Act gives an appeal to the House of Lords.

" The object of the provision at the end of clause 35 is to obviate any doubt that may possibly arise as to whether, by vesting the High Court with the powers of the High Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in England, it was intended to take away from the Court within the Division of the Presidency not established by Royal Charter, any jurisdiction which they might have in matters Matrimonial, as for instance in a suit for alimony between Armenians or Native Christians. With any such jurisdiction it is not intended to interfere."

In addition to the Act of Parliament mentioned by the Secretary of State as regulating the jurisdiction of the English Divorce Court, the statute 25 and 26 Vic. C. 81 had been passed in the year (1862). The object of this statute was to render perpetual 23 and 24 Vic. C. 144, the duration of which had been originally limited to two years.

The draft of a bill had been prepared to give effect to the Secretary of State's instructions, but some variations from the English Statutes in respect of procedure had to be adopted.

With a view to uniformity in practice in the several branches of jurisdiction the Bill provided that the procedure of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be followed, instead of the Rules of Her Majesty's Court for Divorce and Matrimonial causes in England; and it also omitted the provision in 20 and 21, Vic. C. 85 respecting the occasional trial of questions of fact by juries.

There were also some other variations of a minor and verbal character.

The Bill was then introduced into the Council, and after several amendments, was passed into Act IV of 1869. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons to the Indian Divorce Act, 1869.

(1) "High Court" means,— in any Regulation province—the Court there established under the Act of the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth of Victoria, chapter one hundred and four;¹

in the territories for the time being subject to the Government of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab—[the High Court of Judicature at Lahore];²

in Burma—[the High Court of Judicature at Rangoon];³

[in Oudh—the Chief Court of Oudh];⁴

[in Sind—the Chief Court of Sind];⁵

and in any other non-Regulation province and in any place in the dominions of the Princes and States of India in alliance with her Majesty—the High Court or Chief Court to whose original criminal jurisdiction the petitioner is for the time being subject, or would be subject if he or she were a European British subject of her Majesty:

In the case of any petition under this Act, "High Court"⁶ is that one of the aforesaid Courts within the local limits of whose ordinary appellate jurisdiction, or of whose jurisdiction under this Act, the husband and wife reside or last resided together;

"District Judge."

(2)⁷ "District Judge" means,— married Hindus does not dissolve the marriage. (Ibid.)

Sec. 3.—¹The Indian High Courts Act, 1861, Coll. Stat. Vol. I.

² The words "the High Court—Lahore" were substituted for the words "Chief Court of the Punjab" by Act XVIII of 1910.

³ The words "the High—Rangoon" were substituted for the words "the Chief Court of Lower Burma" by Act XI of 1923, Sch. I.

⁴ The words "in Oudh the Chief Court of Oudh" were inserted by Act XXXII of 1925, Sch. I.

⁵ Inserted by Act XXXIV of 1926

⁶ In the N. W. Frontier Province, the Chief Court of the Punjab is the High Court as regards proceedings under this Act, see the N. W. F. P. Law and Justice Regulation, 1901 (Regulation VII of 1901), S. 6 (1) (c), P. and N. W. Code

Under the powers conferred by S. 6 of the Scheduled Districts Act (XIV of 1874), the powers of a "District Judge" were conferred on the Deputy Commissioner, Khasi and Jaintia Hills, the Garo Hill District and the Naga Hills, see p. 12 of the Assam Manual of Local Rules and Orders, Ed. 1893, and Assam Gazette, 1897, Pt. II, p. 591, and 1898, Pt. I, p. 741, respectively.

Sec. 3, Cl. (1). JURISDICTION—RESIDENCE. —As to jurisdiction of Chief Court (now High Court), Punjab, see 10 I. C. 487 = 47 P. R. 1911. As to residence conferring jurisdiction, see 36 Cal. 964 = 4 I. C. 419. See also 53 Cal. 282. To constitute residence it is not essential that the persons should have a house of their own. It is sufficient to find the place where both parties lived together. 29 Bom. L. R. 308 = 100 I. C. 388 = A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 230. Per Marten, C. J. —The word 'reside' in S. 3 does not mean sexual intercourse; the word 'together' in that section does not govern the word 'reside' but only the words 'last resided'. (Ibid.)

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where a husband and wife had no permanent residence but they last lived together in a Hotel in Bombay for the greater portion of the month, the husband then being on leave from Active Service in Mesopotamia, it was held the Bombay Court has jurisdiction. 45 Bom. 547 = 22 Bom. L. R. 1077. Though both parties to a petition for divorce are residing separately from each other, the Court has jurisdiction if they lived within the jurisdiction of the Court at the time of the presentation of the petition. 44 Bom. 924 = 59 I. C. 931 = 22 Bom. L. R. 361. But not otherwise. See 76 P. R. 1916 = 122 P. W. R. 1916 = 36 I. C. 367 = 139 P. I. R. 1916. The word 'together' in S. 3 (1) must be read with "last resided" only. 171 P. L. R. 1911 = 47 P. R.

II.—JURISDICTION.

4. The jurisdiction now exercised by the High Courts in respect of divorce a mensa et toro, and in all other causes, suits and matters matrimonial, shall be exercised by such Courts and by the District Courts subject to the provisions in this Act contained, and not otherwise : except so far as relates to the granting of marriage-licenses, which may be granted as if this Act had not been passed.

Matrimonial jurisdiction of High Courts to be exercised subject to Act Exception.

5. Any decree or order of the late Supreme Court of Judicature at Calcutta, Madras or Bombay sitting on the ecclesiastical side, or of any of the said High Courts sitting in the exercise of their matrimonial jurisdiction, respectively, in any cause or matter matrimonial, may be enforced and dealt with by the said High Courts, respectively, as hereinafter mentioned, in like manner as if such decree or order had been originally made under this Act by the Court so enforcing or dealing with the same.

Enforcement of decrees or orders made heretofore by Supreme or High Court.

6. All suits and proceedings in causes and matters matrimonial, which when this Act comes into operation are pending in any High Court, shall be dealt with and decided by such Court, so far as may be, as if they had been originally instituted therein under this Act.

Pending suits.

7. Subject to the provisions contained in this Act, the High Courts and District Courts shall, in all suits and proceedings hereunder, act and give relief on principles and rules which, in the opinion of the said Courts, are as nearly as may be conformable to Court to act on principles of English Divorce Court.

Sec. 4.—[See also under S. 7.] The jurisdiction of the Patna High Court in matters matrimonial is only such jurisdiction as is comprised within the provisions of the Divorce Act. (1923) Pat. 127=1 P. L. R. 129=A. I. R. 1923 P. 301. A suit for a mere declaration that the plaintiff's marriage with her deceased husband's brother is valid and legal is not sustainable on the matrimonial side of the Patna High Court. J. 236=94 I. C. 952=A. I. R. 1926 Oudh. 319. S. 4 does not preclude the Court from considering whether a marriage was duly solemnized and from declaring a marriage null and void on grounds other than those contained in S. 18. 47 I. C. 544=11 Bur. L. T. 69.

Sec. 7.—[See also notes under Ss. 4, 17, 18 and 19].

SCOPE OF SECTION.—S. 7 is a residuary section intended to provide for any matters which by inadvertence or otherwise are not expressly dealt with in the Act. It is not unusual in statutory drafting to insert provisions of this nature ex maiore cautela more especially where an attempt is being made to codify in this country an unfamiliar branch of English Law. 47 Bom. 843=25 Bom. L. R. 945. The expression 'rules and principles' points rather to the rules and principles on which the Courts deal with matrimonial cases in requiring a certain degree of evidence and other cognate matters. (Ibid.) The words "rules and principles" in S. 7 have reference to rules that are quasi substantive rather than mere adjective law. 7 Bur. L. T. 129=23 I. C. 242=7 L. B. R. 347.

APPLICABILITY.—S. 7 applies not only to the grant of relief but also to questions of procedure. 55 I. C. 269=12 Bur. L. T. 199. See also 52 Cal. 566=1925 Cal. 874; 53 Cal. 282.

ENGLISH LAW.—There is the possibility of reading into S. 7 an intention on the part of Legislature to adopt whatever test the Court of Divorce in England might from time to time lay down upon the matter of divorce but that is a forced and unnatural construction. 47 Bom. 843=25 Bom. L. R. 945=1923 Bom. 321. See also 48 Cal. 636 under S. 57; 42 M. L. J. 562=1922 Mad. 350 (F. B.); 38 Bom. 125=20 I. C. 492; 32 C. W. N. 179.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE—EVIDENCE.—In all divorce cases the petitioner must come into the witness-box, must be sworn, and he must prove his case because among other things, the judge has to satisfy himself whether there is any collusion between the parties and as to the complete truth and honesty of the petition. Where this procedure had not been followed, the High Court would set aside the decree nisi. 20 A. L. J. 853=44 A. 728=1923 All. 43 (F. B.). As to the principles and rules on which the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in England for the time being acts and gives relief :

[Provided that nothing in this section shall deprive the said courts of jurisdiction in a case where the parties to a marriage professed the Christian religion at the time of the occurrence of the facts on which the claim to relief is founded.]¹

8. The High Court may, whenever it thinks fit, remove and try and determine as a Court of original jurisdiction any suit or proceeding instituted under this Act in the Court of any District Judge within the limits of its jurisdiction under this Act.

Extraordinary jurisdiction of High Court.

The High Court may also withdraw any such suit or proceeding, and transfer it for trial or disposal to the Court of any other such District Judge.

Power to transfer suits.

9. When any question of law or usage having the force of law arises at any point in the proceedings previous to the hearing of any suit under this Act by a District Court or at any subsequent stage of such suit, or in the execution of the decree therein or order thereon,

Reference to High Court.

the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties, draw up a statement of the case and refer it, with the Court's own opinion thereon, to the decision of the High Court.

If the question has arisen previous to or in the hearing, the District Court may either stay such proceedings, or proceed in the case pending such reference and pass a decree contingent upon the opinion of the High Court upon it.

If a decree or order has been made, its execution shall be stayed until the receipt of the order of the High Court upon such reference.

III.—DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE.

10. Any husband may present a petition to the District Court or to the High Court, praying that his marriage may be dissolved on the ground that his wife has, since the solemnization thereof, been guilty of adultery.

Admissions as to cruelty and adultery are not conclusive proofs. 38 Cal. 907=13 I. C. 491. COSTS.—Even although a wife's defence fails or her counter-charges break down or she has been proved guilty of adultery the husband has to pay her costs. 1922 All. 243.

Proviso was added to this section by Act X of 1912.

Sec. 10. JURISDICTION.—Under S. 16, Bombay Civil Courts Act, the District Judge cannot transfer to the Assistant Judge a suit under the Divorce Act and the Assistant Judge cannot try the suit. 39 Bom. 136=26 I. C. 599=16 Bom. L. R. 754. Scope of the Indian and Colonial Divorce Act pointed out. (Ibid.) As to jurisdiction of Oudh Chief Court, see A. I. R. 1926 Oudh 319.

CHANGE OF RELIGION.—Under this section change of religion by the husband and his subsequent re-marriage entitles his first wife to dissolution of the marriage. 14 I. C. 192.

ADULTERY.—In a suit for dissolution of marriage the Court may presume adultery if it is satisfied that guilty attachment subsisted between the parties and that they had opportunities to have guilty intercourse. 62 I. C. 782. The direct fact of adultery need not be proved. In a divorce case, the correspondence between the respondent and the co-respondent is very important evidence. 62 I. C. 782. Admission in a letter from the husband of adultery is not a sufficient proof of adultery. 31 I. C. 264=8 L. B. R. 106 (F. B.). See also 49 Bom. 368=27 Bom. L. R. 251=1925 Bom. 231 (Wife's admission of adultery caution to be exercised).

CRUELTY.—Repeated acts of cruelty by a husband taken together, entitles the wife to a decree for divorce, though each act by itself may not be sufficient ground, and no formal complaint or threat of divorce proceedings was made as regards each of them. 36 I. C. 982=10 Bur. L. T.

Any wife may present a petition to the District Court or to the High Court, praying that her marriage may be dissolved on the ground that, since the solemnization thereof, her husband has exchanged his profession of Christianity for the profession of some other religion, and gone through a form of marriage with another woman ; or has been guilty of incestuous adultery, or of bigamy with adultery, or of marriage with another woman with adultery, or of rape, sodomy or bestiality, or of adultery coupled with such cruelty as without adultery would have entitled her to a divorce a mensa et toro, or of adultery coupled with desertion, without reasonable excuse, for two years or upwards.

Every such petition shall state, as distinctly as the nature of the case permits, the facts on which the claim to have such marriage dissolved is founded.

Contents of petition.

11. Upon any such petition presented by a husband, the petitioner shall make the alleged adulterer a co-respondent to the said petition, Adulterer to be co-respondent.

unless he is excused from so doing on one of the following grounds, to be allowed by the Court :—

- (1) that the respondent is leading the life of a prostitute, and that the petitioner knows of no person with whom the adultery has been committed ;
- (2) that the name of the alleged adulterer is unknown to the petitioner although he has made due efforts to discover it ;
- (3) that the alleged adulterer is dead.

228. Cruelty is conduct of such a character as to have caused danger to life, limb, or health (bodily or mental) or as to give rise to a reasonable apprehension of such danger. In order to establish a case of cruelty against her husband, a wife must prove more than isolated acts of violence. No doubt the degree of violence varies in accordance with the status of the parties. 1 Luck. C. 685. The cruelty must be dangerous to life, limb or health, bodily or mentally or a reasonable apprehension of it. 36 I. C. 381=10 Bur. L. T. 182. Isolated assaults that arise on the spur of the moment on some real or fancied provocation do not constitute cruelty. 1 Luck. C. 685. A single severe assault resulting from a dispute as to jewellery would not amount to such cruelty, but adultery of the husband, affords ground for judicial separation (Ibid.) Threat of physical force to a pregnant wife amounts to legal cruelty. 47 All. 50=83 I. C. 167=L. R. 6 All. 16=1925 All. 237; 53 Cal. 436. Subsequent cruelty may operate to revive condoned adultery. See 39 Cal. 395=15 I. C. 886; 47 All. 50=83 I. C. 167=(1925) All. 237; 53 Cal. 436. As to the amount of cruelty to be proved, see 4 Bur. L. T. 168=11 I. C. 784=10 Bur. L. T. 182 supra.

DESERTION.—Desertion implies an abandonment against the wish of the person charging it. 5 Bur. L. T. 85=15 I. C. 353. There is no abandonment against the wish of the wife where she herself left owing to intemperate habits of her husband. 31 I. C. 264=8 L. B. R. 106 (F. B.). A wife who seeks to prove desertion must give evidence of conduct on the part of the husband showing unmistakably that such desertion was against her wish actively expressed. The husband must be proved to have wilfully absented himself from her in spite of her wish. Subsequent conduct cannot transform what was a voluntary separation into desertion by the husband. (Ibid.) No decree can be passed on a petition for divorce made before the two years' period of desertion is over, as it is premature and without a cause of action. 6 Bur. L. T. 177=21 I. C. 230=7 L. B. R. 37.

ADULTERY AND CRUELTY.—A wife who has obtained a judicial separation on the ground of her husband's adultery is entitled to a dissolution of the marriage on proof that her husband has been guilty of adultery after the separation and that he has been guilty of cruelty to her after separation. 45 I. C. 914=11 Bur. L. T. 227. See also A. I. R. 1927 Oudh 34.

ADULTERY AND DESERTION.—For a decree for divorce, adultery of the husband together with desertion without reasonable cause for two years or upwards or with such cruelty as without adultery would entitle the wife to a divorce, must be proved. 8 L. B. R. 385=36 I. C. 381=10 Bur. L. T. 182. As to condonation of adultery, see 1 Luck. C. 685.

Sec. 11.—Court should not lightly excuse a party from making any enquiry which he can reasonably be expected to make as to the adulterer. See 49 Bom. 368=27 Bom. L. R. 251=1925 Bom. 231. The Indian Courts do not have the same discretion to dispense with the name of a co-respondent as the English Courts have. The three grounds stated in S. 11 of the Act are the only ones on which leave can be so granted to proceed with the petition for dissolution of marriage. The fact that the petitioner had well-grounded suspicions against two men is no sufficient reason. 11 N. L. J. 4=107 I. C. 667=A. I. R. 1928 Nag. 117.

12. Upon any such petition for the dissolution of a marriage, the Court shall satisfy itself, so far as it reasonably can, not only as to the facts alleged, but also whether or not the petitioner has been in any manner accessory to, or conniving at, the going through of the said form of marriage, or the adultery, or has condoned the same, and shall also inquire into any counter-charge which may be made against the petitioner.

13. In case the Court, on the evidence in relation to any such petition, is satisfied that the petitioner's case has not been proved, or is not satisfied that the alleged adultery has been committed, or finds that the petitioner has, during the marriage, been accessory to, or conniving at, the going through of the said form of marriage, or the adultery of the other party to the marriage, or has condoned the adultery complained of,

or that the petition is presented or prosecuted in collusion with either of the respondents, then and in any of the said cases the Court shall dismiss the petition.

When a petition is dismissed by a District Court under this section, the petitioner may, nevertheless, present a similar petition to the High Court.

14. In case the Court is satisfied on the evidence that the case of the petitioner has been proved,

Power to Court to pronounce decree for dissolving marriage.

SECS. 12 TO 14. CONNIVANCE.—A mere refusal by the husband without reasonable cause, of the matrimonial bed, does not constitute desertion or such wilful neglect or misconduct as conduces to the wife's adultery, and is not a sufficient ground for dissolution of marriage. 44 Cal. 1091 = 41 I. C. 447 = 21 C. W. N. 717. A decree for dissolution of marriage cannot be legally granted merely on the ground that the respondent does not oppose the petition. The Court must satisfy itself that there was good reason for the delay in suing, and that connivance or condonation is absent. 25 P. R. 1919 = 51 I. C. 235 = 71 P. L. R. 1919 (F. B.). Husband's conduct partly the cause of wife's adultery, can be considered against husband. 54 Cal. 80. See also 30 C. W. N. 820 = 44 C. I. J. 25 = A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 1014.

COLLUSION.—A collusion under S. 13 exists where the initiation of the proceedings for dissolution is procured or its conduct provided for by agreement between the spouses or their agents. 44 Cal. 1091 = 41 I. C. 447 = 21 C. W. N. 717. If a Court is satisfied that there is no collusion between the parties, it may act on an uncorroborated confession of adultery by a party to the proceedings. 49 I. C. 305 = 11 Bur. L. T. 197 (38 Cal. 907, Foll.). See also 9 Lah. 116.

CONDONATION.—Resumption or continuance of co-habitation with complete knowledge of the wife's adultery amounts to condonation. 57 I. C. 216 = 31 C. L. J. 435. Condonation is a question of fact and not of law. See 41 Bom. 36 = 36 I. C. 800 = 18 Bom. L. R. 818. Condonation is forgiveness of a conjugal offence with full knowledge of all the circumstances and is purely a question of fact. It is a blotting out of the offence imputed so as to restore the offending party to the position which he or she occupied before the commission of the offence. 44 Cal. 1091 = 41 I. C. 447 = 21 C. W. N. 717. Mere forgiveness is not condonation; condonation means completely restoring the offending party and must be followed by co-habitation. (Ibid.) 57 I. C. 216 = 31 C. L. J. 435. Condonation of past matrimonial offences is however impliedly conditioned upon the future good behaviour of the offending spouse, and it follows that if after condonation the offences are repeated, the right to make the condoned offences a ground for divorce revives. 57 I. C. 216 = 31 C. L. J. 435. If an adultery is condoned but subsequently the wife commits an offence less than adultery with another person, it does not revive the offence of adultery which has already been condoned; but if the subsequent offence committed is adultery itself, the forgiveness is cancelled and the old cause of complaint is revived even if the offence be ejusdem generis with the original offence. 1 Luck C. 685 = 51 Bom. 1026 = 29 Bom. L. R. 1336 = 105 I. C. 871 = A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 594.

DELAY.—Unreasonable delay in instituting proceedings will generally be excused if it is really due to poverty. 57 I. C. 216 = 31 C. L. J. 435. But delay may also be a ground for dismissal of petition for dissolution. 107 I. C. 273. Disinclination from religious motives cannot be regarded as sufficient excuse for not taking action for obtaining the remedy which the law provides for an injured wife and for delaying the presenting of a petition. 31 I. C. 264 = 8 L. B. R. 106 (F. B.).

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—High Court should not make a decree nisi absolute without a motion made to that effect. 31 All. 511 = 3 I. C. 969 = 6 A. I. J. 793 = 6 M. L. T. 96 following 10 All. 559. A decree for divorce may be obtained even if the petitioner be guilty of adultery under peculiar circumstances, discretionary with the Court. But the Court is bound by the rules binding the English courts under the English Divorce Act. 70 P. R. 1911 = 12 I. C. 960 = 239 P. W. R. 1911. and does not find that the petitioner has been in any manner accessory to, or conniving at, the going through of the said form of marriage, or the adultery of the other party to the marriage, or has condoned the adultery complained of,

or that the petition is presented or prosecuted in collusion with either of the respondents, the Court shall pronounce a decree declaring such marriage to be dissolved in the manner and subject to all the provisions and limitations in sections 16 and 17 made and declared :

Provided that the Court shall not be bound to pronounce such decree if it finds that the petitioner has, during the marriage, been guilty of adultery, or if the petitioner has, in the opinion of the Court, been guilty of unreasonable delay in presenting or prosecuting such petition, or of cruelty towards the other party to the marriage, or of having deserted or wilfully separated himself or herself from the other party before the adultery complained of, and without reasonable excuse, or of such wilful neglect or misconduct of or towards the other party as has conduced to the adultery.

No adultery shall be deemed to have been condoned within the meaning of this Act unless where conjugal cohabitation has been resumed or continued.

During that period any person shall be at liberty, in such manner as the High Court by general or special order from time to time directs, to show cause why the said decree should not be made absolute by reason of the same having been obtained by collusion or by reason of material facts not being brought before the Court.

Whenever a decree nisi has been made, and the petitioner fails, within a reasonable time, to move to have such decree made absolute, the High Court may dismiss the suit.

17. Every decree for a dissolution of marriage made by a District Judge shall be subject to confirmation by the High Court.

Cases for confirmation of a decree for dissolution of marriage shall be heard (where the number of the Judges of the High Court is three or upwards) by a Court composed of three such Judges, and in case of difference the opinion of the majority shall prevail, or (where the number of the Judges of the High Court is two) by a Court composed of such two Judges, and in case of difference the opinion of the senior Judge shall prevail.

The High Court, if it think further enquiry or additional evidence to be necessary, may direct such enquiry to be made or such evidence to be taken.

The result of such enquiry and the additional evidence shall be certified to the High Court by the District Judge, and the High Court shall thereupon make an order confirming the decree for dissolution of marriage, or such other order as to the Court seems fit :

Provided that no decree shall be confirmed under this section till after the expiration of such time, not less than six months from the pronouncing thereof, as the High Court by general or special order from time to time directs.

Sec. 17. GENERAL.—The obvious intention of the legislature as expressed in S. 17 is that the High Court upon a reference for confirmation, should review the entire evidence and come to its own conclusion whether facts sufficient to justify a decree for dissolution of the marriage are or are not established by that evidence. IV.—NULLITY OF MARRIAGE.

18. Any husband or wife may present a petition to the District Court or to the High Court, praying that his or her marriage may be declared null and void.

19. Such decree may be made on any of the following grounds :—

- (1) that the respondent was impotent at the time of the marriage and at the time of the institution of the suit ;
- (2) that the parties are within the prohibited degrees of consanguinity (whether natural or legal) or affinity ;
- (3) that either party was a lunatic or idiot at the time of the marriage ;
- (4) that the former husband or wife of either party was living at the time of the marriage, and the marriage with such former husband or wife was then in force.

Nothing in this section shall affect the jurisdiction of the High Court to make decrees of nullity of marriage on the ground that the consent of either party was obtained by force or fraud.

20. Every decree of nullity of marriage made by a District Judge shall be subject to confirmation by the High Court, and the provisions of section 17, clauses 1, 2, 3 and 4 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to such decrees.

21. Where a marriage is annulled on the ground that a former husband or wife was living, and it is adjudged that the subsequent marriage was contracted in good faith and with the full belief of the parties that the former husband or wife was dead, or when a marriage is annulled on the ground of insanity, children begotten before the decree is made shall be specified in the decree and shall be entitled to succeed, in the

V.—JUDICIAL SEPARATION.

- 22. No decree shall hereafter be made for a divorce a mensa et toro, but the husband or wife may obtain a decree of judicial separation, on the ground of adultery, or cruelty, or desertion without reasonable excuse for two years or upwards, and such decree shall have the effect of a divorce a mensa et toro under the existing law, and such other legal effect as hereinafter mentioned.

- 23. Application for judicial separation on any one of the grounds aforesaid may be made by either husband or wife by petition to the District Court or the High Court; and the Court, on being satisfied of the truth of the statements made in such petition, and that there is no legal ground why the application should not be granted, may decree judicial separation accordingly.

Application for separation made by petition.

- 24. In every case of a judicial separation under this Act, the wife shall, from the date of the sentence, and whilst the separation continues, be considered as unmarried with respect to property of every description which she may acquire, or which may come to or devolve upon her.

Separated wife deemed spinster with respect to after-acquired property.

Such property may be disposed of by her in all respects as an unmarried woman, and on her decease the same shall, in case she dies intestate, go as the same would have gone if her husband had been then dead:

Provided that, if any such wife again cohabits with her husband, all such property as she may be entitled to when such cohabitation takes place shall be held to her separate use, subject, however, to any agreement in writing made between herself and her husband whilst separate.

- 25. In every case of a judicial separation under this Act, the wife shall whilst so separated, be considered as an unmarried woman for the purposes of contract, and wrongs and injuries, and suing and being sued in any civil proceeding; and her husband shall not be liable in respect of any contract, act or costs entered into, done, omitted or incurred by her during the separation:

Separated wife deemed spinster for purposes of contract and suing.

Provided that where, upon any such judicial separation, alimony has been decreed or ordered to be paid to the wife, and the same is not duly paid by the husband, he shall be liable for necessaries supplied for her use:

Provided also that nothing shall prevent the wife from joining, at any time during such separation, in the exercise of any joint power given to herself and her husband.

REVERSAL OF DECREE OF SEPARATION.

- 26. Any husband or wife, upon the application of whose wife or husband, as the case may be, a decree of judicial separation has been pronounced, may, at any time thereafter, present a petition to the Court by which the decree was pronounced, praying for a reversal of such decree, on the ground that it was obtained in his or her absence, and that there was reasonable excuse for the alleged desertion, where desertion was the ground of such decree.

Decree of separation obtained during absence of husband or wife may be reversed.

Sec. 22.—Desertion under the Divorce Act implies an abandonment against the wish of the person charging it, but it is not a universal rule that the abandonment must be against expressed wish of that person. 8 Bar. L. T. 32=8 L. R. R. 256=27 I. C. 604=9 Bur. L. T. 207.

Sec. 23.—Adultery on the part of the applicant is sufficient legal ground for rejecting an application for judicial separation, though otherwise it is a fit case. 33 All. 500=9 I. C. 796=8 A. L. J. 318.

Sec. 24.—On this section, see 4 Cal. 140 and 1 Cal. 412.

The Court may, on being satisfied of the truth of the allegations of such petition, reverse the decree accordingly ; but such reversal shall not prejudice or affect the rights or remedies which any other person would have had, in case it had not been decreed, in respect of any debts, contracts or acts of the wife incurred, entered into or done between the times of the sentence of separation and of the reversal thereof.

VI.—PROTECTION-ORDERS.

27. Any wife to whom section 4 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, does not apply, may, when deserted by her husband, present a petition to the District Court or the High Court, at any time after such desertion, for an order to protect any property which she may have acquired or may acquire, and any property of which she may have become possessed or may become possessed after such desertion, against her husband or his creditors, or any person claiming under him.

28. The Court, if satisfied of the fact of such desertion, and that the same was without reasonable excuse, and that the wife is maintaining herself by her own industry or property, may make and give to the wife an order protecting her earnings and other property from her husband and all creditors and persons claiming under him. Every such order shall state the time at which the desertion commenced, and shall, as regards all persons dealing with the wife in reliance thereon, be conclusive as to such time.

29. The husband or any creditor of, or person claiming under him, may apply to Court by which such order was made for the discharge or variation thereof, and the Court, if the desertion has ceased, or if for any other reason it think fit so to do, may discharge or vary the order accordingly.

30. If the husband, or any creditor of, or person claiming under, the husband seizes or continues to hold any property of the wife after notice of any such order, he shall be liable, at the suit of the wife (which she is hereby empowered to bring), to return or deliver to her the specific property, and also to pay her a sum equal to double its value.

31. So long as any such order of protection remains in force, the wife shall be and be deemed to have been, during such desertion of her, in the like position in all respects with regard to property and contracts and suing and being sued, as she would be under this Act if she obtained a decree of judicial separation.

VII.—RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS.

32. When either the husband or the wife has, without reasonable excuse, withdrawn from the society of the other, either wife or husband may apply, by petition to the District Court or the High Court, for restitution of conjugal rights, and the Court, on being satisfied of the truth of the statements made in such petition, and that there is no legal ground why the application should not be granted, may decree restitution of conjugal rights accordingly.

33. Nothing shall be pleaded in answer to a petition for restitution of conjugal rights which would not be ground for a suit for judicial separation or for a decree of nullity of marriage.

Sec. 31.—Delay to be culpable delay must be somewhat in the nature of connivance or acquiescence. 8 Bur. L. T. 32=8 L. B. R. 256=27 I. C. 604=9 Bur. L. T. 207. See also 107 I. C. 273. "Delay" must be the sort of delay that would show the petitioner to have been insensible to the loss of the husband or wife as the case may be. 8 Bur. L. T. 32=8 L. B. R. 256=27 I. C. 604=9 Bur. L. T. 207.

Sec. 33.—See 38 Bom. 125=20 I. C. 492=15 Bom. L. R. 593.

VIII.—DAMAGES AND COSTS.

34. Any husband may, either in a petition for dissolution of marriage or for judicial separation, or in a petition to the District Court or the High Court limited to such object only, claim damages from any person on the ground of his having committed adultery with the wife of such petitioner.

Such petition shall be served on the alleged adulterer and the wife unless the Court dispenses with such service, or directs some other service to be substituted.

The damages to be recovered on any such petition shall be ascertained by the said Court, although the respondents or either of them may not appear.

After the decision has been given, the Court may direct in what manner such damages shall be paid or applied.

35. Whenever in any petition presented by a husband, the alleged adulterer has been made a co-respondent, and the adultery has been established, the Court may order the co-respondent to pay the whole or any part of the cost of the proceedings :

Provided that the co-respondent shall not be ordered to pay the petitioner's costs—

(1) if the respondent was, at the time of the adultery, living apart from her husband and leading the life of a prostitute, or

(2) if the co-respondent had not, at the time of the adultery, reason to believe the respondent to be a married woman.

Whenever any application is made under section 17, the Court, if it thinks that the applicant had no grounds or no sufficient grounds for intervening, may order him to pay the whole or any part of the costs occasioned by the application.

IX.—ALIMONY.

36. In any suit under this Act, whether it be instituted by a husband or a wife, and whether or not she has obtained an order of protection, the wife may present a petition for alimony pending the suit.

Such petition shall be served on the husband; and the Court, on being satisfied of the truth of the statements therein contained, may make such order on the husband for payment to the wife of alimony pending the suit as it may deem just :

Provided that alimony pending the suit shall in no case exceed one-fifth of the husband's average nett income for the three years next preceding the date of the order, and shall continue, in case of a decree for dissolution of marriage or of nullity of marriage, until the decree is made absolute or is confirmed, as the case may be.

Sec. 34.—The principle in awarding damages against a co-respondent in divorce proceedings is to ascertain what loss the husband has suffered ; the object is not to punish. The means of the co-respondent are not a relevant factor. 52 Cal. 379 = 29 C. W. N. 350 = 86 I. C. 1018 = 1925 Cal. 585 (F. B.) ; A. I. R. 1927 Oudh 34. Per Marten, C. J.—"In every divorce case one principal element is that the marriage should be proved strictly and in general a certificate of marriage should be produced....Indian Courts have no jurisdiction to dissolve the marriage of persons who are not domiciled in India or persons who are not Christians....In such cases it is desirable that independent corroborative evidence should be obtained to show that the respondent was living in adultery with the co-respondent. 51 Bom. 1026 = 29 Bom. L. R. 1336 = 105 I. C. 871 = A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 594.

Sec. 36.—A Court has discretion to give alimony pendente lite if it thinks reasonable and just, especially where the wife avers that she had been forced to prostitution by her husband. 49 I. C. 203 = 12 S.L.R. 89. On this Section, see also 36 Cal. 1018 = 4 I. C. 699. Where a petition for the dissolution of marriage on the ground of adultery is made and is filed by the husband and the wife enters an appearance and denies the allegations against her, she has an absolute right to require her husband to furnish her with funds sufficient to enable her to make a full and satisfactory defence and to obtain such assistance from counsel, as is reasonable under the circumstances. 1922 All. 504. A husband, may, in a proper case on the wife's application, be ordered by the appellate Court to provide for the costs of the wife's appeal against a decree nisi for divorce, but such a procedure should be adopted only after careful scrutiny and should be refused when facts do not justify it. 44 Cal. 35 = 24 C. L. J. 226 = 37 I. C. 216 = 21 C. W. N. 711.

Power to order permanent alimony.

37. The High Court may, if it think fit, on any decree absolute declaring a marriage to be dissolved, or on any decree of judicial separation obtained by the wife, and the District Judge may, if he thinks fit, on the confirmation of any decree of his, declaring a marriage to be dissolved, or on any decree of judicial separation obtained by the wife, order that the husband shall, to the satisfaction of the Court, secure to the wife such gross sum of money, or such annual sum of money for any term not exceeding her own life, as having regard to her fortune (if any), to the ability of the husband, and to the conduct of the parties, it thinks reasonable, and for that purpose may cause a proper instrument to be executed by all necessary parties.

Power to order monthly or weekly payments. In every such case the Court may make an order on the husband for payment to the wife of such monthly or weekly sums for her maintenance and support as the Court may think reasonable :

Provided that if the husband afterwards from any cause becomes unable to make such payments, it shall be lawful for the Court to discharge or modify the order, or temporarily to suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, and again to revive the same order wholly or in part, as to the Court seems fit.

38. In all cases in which the Court makes any decree or order for alimony it may direct the same to be paid either to the wife herself, or to any trustee on her behalf to be approved by the Court, and may impose any terms or restrictions which to the Court seem expedient, and may from time to time appoint a new trustee, if it appears to the Court expedient so to do.

X.—SETTLEMENTS.

39. Whenever the Court pronounces a decree of dissolution of marriage or judicial separation for adultery of the wife, if it is made to appear to the Court that the wife is entitled to any property, the Court may, if it think fit, order such settlement as it thinks reasonable to be made of such property or any part thereof, for the benefit of the husband, or of the children of the marriage or of both.

Any instrument executed pursuant to any order of the Court at the time of or after the pronouncing of a decree of dissolution of marriage or judicial separation shall be deemed valid notwithstanding the existence of the disability of coverture at the time of the execution thereof.

Sec. 37.—It is the District Court whose order for dissolution of marriage was confirmed by the High Court, that has got jurisdiction in a petition for alimony. 40 Bom. 100=31 I. C. 331=17 Bom. L. A decree nisi for divorce for adultery having been obtained against a wife, it is left to the discretion of the Court to grant alimony to her under the particular circumstances of the case. 38 All. 688=37 I. (Ibid.) If a husband's suit for dissolution of marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery is dismissed on the ground that the adultery alleged was not proved, the Court cannot as part of the decree in the suit grant permanent alimony to the wife. 46 M. 133=17 L. The Court may direct that the whole or any part of the damages recovered under section 34 shall be settled for the benefit of the children of the marriage, or as a provision for the maintenance of the wife.

Settlement of damages.

Inquiry into existence of ante-nuptial or post-nuptial settlements.

40. The High Court, after a decree absolute for dissolution of marriage, or a decree of nullity of marriage, and the District Court, after its decree for dissolution of marriage or of nullity of marriage has been confirmed, may inquire into the existence of ante-nuptial or post-nuptial settlements made on the parties whose marriage is the subject of the decree, and may make such orders, with reference to the application of the whole or a portion of the property settled, whether for the benefit of the husband or the wife, or of the children (if any) of the marriage, or of both children and parents, as to the Court seems fit :

and the District Court, after a decree for dissolution of marriage or of nullity of marriage has been confirmed, may, upon application by petition for the purpose, make from time to time all such orders and provision, with respect to the custody, maintenance and education of the minor children, the marriage of whose parents was the subject of the decree, or for placing such children under the protection of the said Court, as might have been made by such decree absolute or decree (as the case may be), or by such interim orders as aforesaid.

THE DOWER ACT (XXIX OF 1839.)

PREFATORY NOTE :—Dower is one of the rights which the wife under the English law, has in her husband's property. Under the English law, at the present day, a life interest in a portion of the real estate of which the husband dies possessed and intestate and provided he had not excluded the wife therefrom is all that remains of the ancient Dower, a right which the common law gave to the widow for the sustenance of herself and her children (Co. Litt. 31 a).

"Where a woman taketh a husband seised of such an estate in tenements, etc., so as by possibility it may happen that the wife may have issue by her husband, and that the same issue may by possibility inherit the same tenements of such an estate as the husband hath, as heir to the husband, of such tenements she shall have her dower, and otherwise not" (Litt. S. 53). Three conditions were therefore necessary to entitle the wife to dower—(i) marriage; (ii) sole seisin of an estate of inheritance; (iii) death of the husband (Co. Litt. 31 a). It was not necessary that there should be issue in fact of the marriage (Litt. S. 36) but it was necessary that there should be a possibility of issue who could inherit; and therefore if lands were limited to a man and his heirs by a certain marriage in tail, and his wife died, and he married again, his second wife would have no dower out of those lands (Litt. S. 53.) Assuming these three conditions fulfilled, the widow was entitled to an estate for life in one-third of the lands of which her husband was solely seised for an estate of inheritance in possession at any time during the coverture. The husband must have been "Seised," therefore the widow was not dowable out of his equitable estates (Co. Litt. 29 a), including a mere equity of redemption. (Dawson v. Bank of Whitehaven, 1877, 6 Ch. D 218).

All women married after the 1st January 1834 come under the provisions of the Dower Act, 3 & 4 Will. IV c. 105. Under this Act a widow is dowable out of lands in which her husband's interest was equitable, or partly legal and partly equitable (S. 2), provided it was an estate of inheritance in possession, or equal to an estate of inheritance in possession (In re Mitchell, (1892) 2 Ch. 87), other than a joint-tenancy. If the husband's interest is a right of entry, that is sufficient (S. 3), provided the claim to dower is enforced before the right of entry is barred. But she is not dowable out of any lands of which her husband actually disposed in his lifetime or by will (S. 4). A widow is not entitled to dower out of any land of her husband where, in the deed by which such land is conveyed, or by any deed executed, by him, it shall be declared that his widow shall not be entitled to dower out of such land (S. 6). Nor is she entitled to dower out of any land of which her husband dies wholly or partially intestate, when by his will he declares his intention that she shall not be entitled to a dower out of such land or out of any of his land (S. 7). Her right is subject to any conditions, restrictions, or directions declared by her husband's will (S. 8). Where a husband devises land out of which his widow would have been dowerable if the same were not so devised, or any estate or interest therein, to or for the benefit of his widow, she is not dowerable out of any of his land unless a contrary intention appears in his will (S. 9). A devise of real estate to trustees on trust to sell and to pay an annuity out of the proceeds is a devise of an interest in land (Lacy v. Hill, 1875 L. R. 19 Eq. 346; In re Thomas, (1886) 34 Ch. D. 166). But no gift or bequest out of personal estate, or out of land not liable to dower, will defeat her right to dower unless a contrary intention is expressed in the husband's will (S. 10). The Court may enforce an agreement by the husband not to bar his wife's right to dower (S. 11). Formerly, if a legacy were given in satisfaction of dower, it was entitled to priority over simple legacies, for it was considered the price of the dower. By S. 12 nothing in the Act is to interfere with any rule of equity by which legacies, bequeathed in satisfaction of dower are entitled to priority over other legacies. But this rule only applies where, if she had not accepted the gift in satisfaction the widow would have been entitled to dower (In re Greenwood, (1892) 2 Ch. 295). By S. 5 dower is made subject to all partial estates and interests, and all charges which the husband may have created, and also to all debts, incumbrances, and contracts to which the land may be liable. The proportionate part of the widow's charge for £500 to be borne by the real estate of an intestate under the Intestates' Estates Act, 1890, has priority over her right to dower (In re Charriere, (1896) 1 Ch. 912). PREFATORY NOTE.—Easements, in some form or other was known to all the ancient nations, who had developed some form of legal rules, and legal institutions.

Thus "Easements were familiar to Hindus and Mussalmans, and their law books are full of rules in regard to what are termed by Muhammadan lawyers as 'neighbour's rights.'" (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882, See also 13 B. L. R. O. C. 18.)

It had sometimes been said that easements in an agricultural country like India are not matters of sufficient importance or deserve the attention of the legislature; that, to frame an Act in regard to them, is to encumber the Indian Statute book unnecessarily. Such views are not countenanced by the Native community. In cities and towns, easements are regarded as rights of great pecuniary value and litigation often arises in regard to them. In the rural parts of the country the right to take fish or water from lakes and tanks often becomes the subject of litigation, and the final decision materially affects the value of the property in regard to which the easements are claimed. Nor are disputes in regard to easements confined to the most advanced parts in India. Probably they are more frequent in those parts of India which have come under British dominion comparatively lately. (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 10th February, 1882. See also 3 B. L. R. O. C. 18.)

"The origin of servitudes," says an eminent French writer, "is as ancient as that of property, of which they are a modification. By their natural disposition the inferior lands were placed in a species of dependence on those more elevated, and the first possessors of the soil recognized the indispensable necessity of such subjections. When the extension of cultivation brought men nearer together, and the want of a common defence formed the first society, public utility and safety led to the conviction, that it was necessary to restrict in certain cases rights legitimate in themselves, but the absolute exercise of which by individuals could not take place without rendering some properties almost valueless. In a short time, similar rights were stipulated for by private persons as matter of utility, or even pleasure. Thus, from the disposition of nature, the wants of society and the agreements of individuals, have originated praedial servitudes." (Pardessus, Traite des Servitudes, Sec. 1, cited in Gale on Easements, 8th Ed., 1908, p. 27.)

"Probably the origin of praedial servitudes is to be found in the gradual introduction of the stricter notions of exclusive ownership. Without some modifications of these notions, neighbours could not have lived comfortably together. Hence in praedial servitudes, it is always assumed that the two praedia are not far apart. Hence also it was a rule that the right of a landowner over the land of his neighbour must not only be advantageous to him, but advantageous to him qua landowner, or as it is sometimes put, advantageous to his land. So again it followed that, if the land owner who had the right sold the land for the benefit of which the right existed, he could not himself retain the right. It passed with the land to each successive owner of the land. Exactly in the same way, if the land over which the right was exercised were sold, the land remained burdened with servitude, following out the idea that the servitude was attached to both lands, to one as a benefit, and to the other as a burden. The land or house to which the servitude was attached has a benefit was called locus superior; that to which it was attached as a burden was called the locus inferior. (Markby's Elements of Law, 5th Ed., 1896, pp. 207 & 208.)

It has been said that "The right of easement is a right as old as the day when the human race, first emerging from barbarism, adopted the custom of living together in towns, or living as each other's neighbours, or respecting each other's rights. The right of easement is the necessary consequence of the right of ownership of immovable property; and, as soon as mankind arrived at the determination that individuals were to be allowed exclusive ownership of property, the very next step was concurrence in the equitable principle, that the good of the public lay in enjoying one's property so as not to disturb the enjoyment by the neighbour of his own property. And this salutary principle appears to be the original foundation on which easements are based." (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882.)

The Indian Easements Act was intended to systematically formulate those rules of law which previously governed the decision of disputes relating to easements. Those rules were such as our Courts were, even before the passing of this Act in the habit of administering.

The object of this Act was to state, clearly and compactly, the rules relating to Easements, that is to say, the rights which a man sometimes has over one piece of immovable property by reason of his ownership of another. As to these rights then existing statutory law was silent, except so far as regards the acquisition of easements by long and continued possession, the limitation of suits for disturbing them, and the granting of injunctions to prevent such disturbance; and three of the then most experienced Judges in India—Sir Michael Westropp, Mr. Justice Jackson and Mr. Justice Innes expressed their opinion that it was desirable to codify the law on the subject, which was then (to quote the Chief Justice of Bombay) 'for the most part to be found only in treatises and reports practically inaccessible to a large proportion of the legal profession in the Mufassal and to the Subordinate Judges.' There was much litigation in the case of urban easements, and a Judge of the Punjab Chief Court asserted that was largely due to the fact that neither the people themselves, nor the majority of the Courts understood the principles upon which such disputes had to be determined. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons; See also Whitely Stokes' Anglo-Indian Codes, Vol. I, p. 879.)

The Act was mainly based on the law of England, which, being just, equitable and almost free from local peculiarities, has, in many cases, been held to regulate the subject in this country; but a few deviations had been made from that law, and rules as to some matters which had not till then come under the cognizance of the English and Indian Courts had been adapted from the writings of well-known jurists. (See Whitely Stokes' Anglo-Indian Codes, Vol. I, p. 879.)

Whenever any disputes regarding easements arose previous to the passing of the Act, the Courts had to decide these disputes on principles derived from reported English cases. Of course, there were customary rights in this country which were not usual in England, but that was not the difficulty. The difficulty was to know what gave a man a right to an easement so as to enable him to enforce it against a neighbour, and how he might acquire that right, and how he could enforce it. All these points were decided by the High Courts according to the English law, and therefore it was held that, in any attempt at codifying the existing law, the reproduction of the rules of English law was found to be inevitable. (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882.)

In the early days of the British administration of this country, there was a wholesale and indiscriminate borrowing from the English law—the most copious system of express rules known to the world. "The Judge reads English Law-books; the young native lawyers read them; for law is the study into which the educated youth of the country are throwing themselves, and for which they may even be said to display something like genius. You may ask, what authority have these borrowed rules in India? Technically, they have none whatever. Yet, though they are taken (and not always correctly taken) from a law of entirely of foreign origin, they are adopted as if they naturally commended themselves to the reason of mankind; and all that can be said of the process, is that it is another example of the influence often felt in European legal history which express written law invariably exercises on unwritten customary law when they are found side by side." (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882; Maine's Ancient Law.)

On this subject the following remarks of Justice Field may also be noted:—"Doubts had been expressed as to whether a measure like this Bill is at present demanded by the requirements of this country. I have on many previous occasions expressed my own opinion that legislation in India ought not to anticipate future requirements, the nature and measure of which must in the present be uncertain, and that the real test of the advisability or utility of any proposed legislative measure is whether it is demanded by the actual present requirement of the country. If there is a considerable amount of actual present litigation to which any proposed measure will be immediately applicable, and for dealing with which it will supply a ready and useful body of rules, it appears to me that this is a strong fact to show that such legislation is demanded by the requirement of 'the progress of the country. Applying this test to the Easements Bill, I think that it is a measure which may well be passed into law. As the result of my own personal experience, I have had before me within the last six months cases which directly involved the following easements:—“(1) Right of way for foot passengers. (2) Right of way for boats. (3) Right of way for carts. (4) An easement of necessity. (5) Destination du père de famille. (6) Flumen, or the right of discharging water in a continuous stream upon adjoining premises. (7) Right of allowing water to drop from the eaves of the dominant tenement upon the servient tenement (stillicidium). (8) Jus-projiciendi, or right to project a roof over the boundary line of a neighbour's land. Turning to the published reports of twenty years (previous to the passing of this Act) we find cases connected with easements in every presidency, and in every Court, from the Munsiff's Court in India up to Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. For the assistance of any who may desire to test the value of this argument, I give a few instances which may be verified by referring to the reports. The reference will be found most interesting.” Mr. Field referred to the reports of over seventy Indian Cases relating to easements, which might be tabulated as follows:—Right of way, 34 cases. Right of water, 8 cases. Right to stop or obstruct the natural flow of water, 7 cases. Fall of water from roof of house, 2 cases. Light and air, 9 cases. Profits a prendre, 2 cases. Other cases connected with easements, 11 cases. In this connection it must also be remembered that the number of reported cases on a given subject was only a small fraction of the number of unreported cases on that subject. (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882.)

“This Act is a measure of which the country had long stood in need.”

This Act, it was believed, would do material service in the Central Provinces in enabling the raiyats to maintain themselves in the enjoyment of those grazing and forest rights, which the Government had endeavoured to preserve to them, but of which a few of the more grasping land-owners were seeking to deprive them. (See Abstract Proceedings of the Council of the Governor-General of India, dated 16th February, 1882.)

CHAPTER I.

OF EASEMENTS GENERALLY.

4. An easement is a right which the owner or occupier of certain land possesses, as such, for the beneficial enjoyment of that land, to do and continue to do something, or to prevent and continue to prevent something being done, in or upon, or in respect of, certain other land not his own.

The land for the beneficial enjoyment of which the right exists is called the dominant heritage, and the owner or occupier thereof the dominant owner; the land on which the liability is imposed is called the servient heritage, and the owner or occupier thereof the servient owner.

Explanation.—In the first and second clauses of this section, the expression “land” includes also things permanently attached to the earth: the expression “beneficial enjoyment” includes also possible convenience, remote advantage and even a mere amenity; and the expression “to do something” includes removal and appropriation by the dominant owner for the beneficial enjoyment of the dominant heritage, of any part of the soil of the servient heritage or anything growing or subsisting thereon.

(b) A, as the owner of a certain house, has the right to go on his neighbour B's land and to take water for the purposes of his household out of a spring therein. This is an easement.

(c) A, as the owner of a certain house, has the right to conduct water from B's stream to supply the fountains in the garden attached to the house. This is an easement.

(d) A, as the owner of a certain house and farm, has the right to graze a certain number of his own cattle on B's field, or to take, for the purposes of being used in the house, by himself, his family, guests, lodgers and servants, water or fish out of C's tank, or timber out of D's wood, or to use, for the purpose of manuring his land, the leaves which have fallen from the trees on E's land. These are easements.

(e) A dedicates to the public the rights to occupy the surface of certain land for the purpose of passing and re-passing. This right is not an easement.

A discontinuous easement is one that needs the act of man for its enjoyment.

An apparent easement is one the existence of which is shown by some permanent sign which upon careful inspection by a competent person, would be visible to him.

A non-apparent easement is one that has no such sign.

(a) A right annexed to B's house to receive light by the windows without obstruction by his neighbour A. This is a continuous easement.

(b) A right of way annexed to A's house over B's land. This is a discontinuous easement.

(c) Rights annexed to A's land to lead water thither across B's land by an aqueduct and to draw off water thence by a drain. The drain would be discovered upon careful inspection by a person conversant with such matters. These are apparent easements.

(d) A right annexed to A's house to prevent B from building on his own land. This is a non-apparent easement.

Easement for limited time or on condition.

only at a certain place, or at certain times, or between certain hours, or for a particular purpose, or on condition that it shall commence or become void or voidable on the happening of a specified event or the performance or non-performance of a specified act.

Easement restrictive of certain rights.

7. Easements are restrictions of one or other of the following rights (namely).

eaves overhanging another's land is an easement and is not occupation of property. 37 Bom. 491 = 15 Bom. L. R. 551. Right of way for the use of the sweeper, who is also a Municipal servant can be acquired as an easement. 28 Bom. L. R. 601 = 95 I. C. 170 = A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 282.

WHAT ARE NOT EASEMENTS.—Right to bury in another's land does not fall within the general definition of "easement." It cannot be deemed a right. 66 I. C. 640 = 34 C. L. J. 319. Private right of way if not appurtenant to a dominant tenement, like public rights of way, are not easements. They are rights in gross and can be enforced as such. 59 I. C. 319. A right of passage over a public road is not an easement. 48 All. 560 = 95 I. C. 1030 = 24 A. L. J. 682 = A. I. R. 1926 All. 538. A right to go on to a neighbour's land to gather the fruits there from a portion of a tree alleged to belong to the plaintiff is not an easement. Such a right cannot be acquired by prescription. 43 M. L. J. 152 = 16 L. W. 98 = 1922 Mad 338; (1895) A. C. 1 (Foll.) A general right of easement to use a roof as a place of setting or drying clothes or for other purposes can be acquired under the Act. User may be either by the dominant owner or by his tenants beyond the statutory period. User without permission is user as of right. 45 I. C. 585 = 21 O. C. 78. A person has no right to cut off the overhanging branches and the penetrating roots of a tree belonging to his neighbour when the tree is growing partly on his land and partly on his neighbour's land for many years past. 22 Bom. L. R. 790 = 44 B. 795.

NO RECIPROCAL EASEMENTS.—It is not possible to acquire a reciprocal easement for the benefit of the servient tenement by the exercise of an easement by the dominant owner. 22 I. C. 514 = 19 C. L. J. 45.

PROFIT "A PRENDRE".—The right to hunt in a jungle and to appropriate the game is a right known in English law as a right to profit a prendre in gross. 2 P. L. J. 323 = 39 I. C. 868.

PERMISSIVE USER.—No question of easement could arise where the user of the defendant's land was permissive. 21 A. L. J. 436 = L. R. 4 A. 274 = 1924 All. 50.

Sec. 7.—GENERAL—NATURAL RIGHTS AND EASEMENTS.—The right incident to the ownership of land, in the nature of easement but not a right of easement as such is called a natural right and is distinct from the right of easement. Where one is claimed, the other does not arise. 57 I. C. 504. As to water course, the water of which is largely increased in volume by percolation, See 64 I. C. 158 = 3 Lah. I. J. 555. The ownership of free natural elements, such as air and water and of all wild animals living therein is obtained by occupancy or appropriation. 3 P. L. T. 53 = 64 I. C. 346. An occupier of abutting lands cannot be restrained in the exercise of his natural rights simply because he becomes a lessee of other lands not abutting. 24 I. C. 685 = (1914) M. W. N. 481. Where the water of a stream has been used for irrigating only abutting lands, the owner of abutting lands cannot be restrained from using more than a reasonable quantity by another to whom no material diminution in supply is caused. (Ibid.) The actual and not a mere threatened use of the water flowing through a natural stream to irrigate lands other than those abutting on the stream gives a right to sue (Ibid.)

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—No one has power, for the safety of his own property, to direct or interfere with a natural stream running a natural outlet, and if he does so, he will be liable in damages to any one who is injured by his Act.

(a) The exclusive right of every owner of immoveable property (subject to any law for the time being in force) to enjoy and dispose of the same and all products thereof and accessions thereto.

Exclusive right to enjoy.

(b) The right of every owner of immoveable property (subject to any law for the time being in force) to enjoy without disturbance by another the natural advantages arising from its situation.

Rights to advantages arising from situation.

19 A. L. J. 736=63 I. C. 980=43 A. 688. Where the rain water falling on plff.'s land which is on a higher level, flows across deft.'s land which is on a lower level, the plff.'s right is a natural right not acquired by prescription, and it cannot be interfered with by the deft. 24 I. C. 91=12 A. L. J. 685. (1 Mad. 335; 29 Mad. 539 Ref.). There is no easement of prospect or of privacy. 36 C. L. J. 406=1923 Cal. 256 (But see also cases under S. 18 infra.) Every one may build upon or otherwise utilise his own land regardless of the fact that his doing so involves an interference with the light which would otherwise reach the land and building of another person. (Ibid.) If windows are opened, the neighbour may, by building on his own land obstruct the light which would otherwise reach them. (Ibid.) Same principle has been applied to partition of joint properties. 36 C. L. J. 406=1923 Cal. 256. On a severance of tenements by a partition of joint property, and in the absence of a contrary intention, expressed or necessarily implied all such easements as are apparent, continuous and necessary for enjoying any of the undivided shares when the partition was effected pass to the coparceners to whom such shares are respectively allotted in severalty. Ibid. Every person has a right to do anything on his own land with regard to the diversion, storage or the uses of water in any way he chooses provided that he does not allow or cause that water to go upon his neighbour's land so as to affect it in some other way than the way in which it had been affected before. 41 I. C. 47. The fact that the water discharged from a dominant tenement flows over the servient tenement without a definite channel, cannot prevent the acquisition of an easement. 40 Cal. 458=17 C. W. N. 306 (F. B.) (8 C. W. N. 214, Overruled). Even the rights of the riparian owners may be acquired by easement, 1923 Lah. 594. A person has no right to obstruct the water of a stream except to the extent to which he has had prescriptive use. 41 I. C. 47.

MEANING OF WORDS.—"Owner does not necessarily mean absolute owner. 42 Mad. 567=37 M. L. J. 28=50 I. C. 291. It includes limited owner such as lessees or persons having derivative interest in the property. Ibid. An occupier of zamindari lands is an "owner" within the meaning of illustration(j) to the section. 21 I. C. 685=(1914) M. W. N. 481. The term, "natural right" to drain covers only the right to allow rain water falling on land of a naturally higher level to drain off by surface flow along whatever lines the water could find its way on the neighbouring land. The right to drain off water brought according to the custom and usages of the country along irrigation channels upon the land may also be said to be a natural right. 23 M. L. T. 210=44 I. C. 500 (1918) M. W. N. 167. Each upper owner in a system of connected tanks in different villages supplied with water by or through a permanent or artificial channel, is entitled in the flood season, to fill his tank, which is of sufficient storage capacity for the Ayakut and the must, subject to this, allow the water to flow freely on the lower tank till the last of them is supplied. (1917) M. W. N. 571=41 I. C. 24=6 L. W. 572. Whatever may be the means adopted to let out the surplus, the owner of the tank, in such cases, cannot increase the storage capacity of his tank beyond the capacity at the beginning which, in many cases can only be proved by the customary flow of water. (Ibid.) An easement right to keep a latrine on another man's land is unknown to law and cannot be acquired by prescription. 29 I. C. 865=19 C. W. N. 864.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS.—The lower proprietor owes a natural servitude without claim to compensation to the higher, in respect of water naturally flowing upon it; but the higher land owner cannot exceed his natural right by sending water not going there naturally. Short of this the upper owner may interfere with the flow of water. 36 Mad. 149=21 I. C. 62=25 M. L. J. 276. A riparian proprietor is entitled to use the water of the stream for irrigation of his lands without causing injury to the riparian proprietors. 18 I. C. 284=37 Mad. 369 (note). Riparian right is a natural right and is not lost by non-user until some other person acquires a right of easement substantially diminish the water available to the owner; the riparian right cannot be affected or lost. 104 I. C. 781. It is right incidental to the ownership of the land upon which the air or the water lies, just as much as is the right to make the silt deposited by rivers or the lava thrown up by a volcano or the rain or snow falling from the sky. 3 P. L. T. 53=64 I. C. 316. Erecting a dam across the bed of the river is a common method of using the water of a stream by a riparian proprietor. (Ibid.) A riparian proprietor should not take more water than he was taking before, but can use the water to raise wet crop in lands in which it was customary to raise only dry crops. 18 I. C. 294=37 Mad. 369 (N.) An easement exists for the benefit of the dominant tenement alone and the servient owner cannot insist on its continuance by the dominant owner or claim damages for abandonment. 65 I. C. 84. If however water running through an artificial channel on a neighbour's land has all along been flowing to the plaintiff's land it is open to the plaintiff to insist on its continuance on the footing of a lost grant or old arrangement. 66 I. C. 84.

Sec. 7 (b).—The owner of higher land is entitled to discharge surface water over adjacent lower land. 41 I. C. 863=22 C. W. N. 666. Where owing to the silting up of a stream into which the water thus discharged ultimately flowed, the level of the bed of the stream became higher Illustrations of the rights above referred to.

(a) The exclusive right of every owner of land in a town to build on such land, subject to any municipal law for the time being in force.

(b) The right of every owner of land that the air passing thereto shall not be unreasonably polluted by other persons.

(c) The right of every owner of a house that his physical comfort shall not be interfered with materially and unreasonably by noise or vibration caused by any other person.

(d) The right of every owner of land to so much light and air as pass vertically thereto.

(e) The right of every owner of land that such land, in its natural condition, shall have the support naturally rendered by the subjacent soil of another person.

Explanation.—Land is in its natural condition when it is not excavated and not subjected to artificial pressure; and the "subjacent and the adjacent soil" mentioned in this illustration means such soil only as in its natural condition would support the dominant heritage in its natural condition.

(f) The right of every owner of land that, within his own limits, the water which naturally passes or percolates by, over or through his land shall not, before so passing or percolating, be unreasonably polluted by other persons.

(g) The right of every owner of land to collect and dispose within his own limits of all water under the land which does not pass in a defined channel and all water on its surface which does not pass in a defined channel.

(h) The right of every owner of land that the water of every natural stream which passes by, through or over his land in a defined natural channel shall be allowed by other persons to flow within such owner's limits without interruption and without material alteration in quantity, direction, force or temperature; the right of every owner of land abutting on a natural lake or pond into or out of which a natural stream flows, that the water of such lake or pond shall be allowed by other persons to remain within such owner's limits without material alteration in quantity or temperature.

(i) The right of every owner of upper land that water naturally rising in, or falling on, such land, and not passing in defined channels, shall be allowed by the owner of adjacent lower land, to run naturally thereto.

than the adjacent lower land to the inconvenience thereof. Held, that dominant owners were still entitled to exercise their rights. Ibid.

Sec. 7 (h).—A plaintiff cannot claim damages for injury caused to the crops on his land by the shade caused by trees standing on his neighbour's land. 19 N. L. R. 191 = 1924 Nag. 69. It cannot be said that every owner of a field has the right to have the sun's rays fall on it from every possible direction (Ibid.). There cannot be such a right, for if it were allowed, the use and enjoyment of the adjoining fields by their owners would be very largely restricted. (Ibid.)

Illus. (c).—Where plaintiff's land is on a level higher than the defendant's adjoining land it is not open to the defendant to build a bund so as to obstruct the flow of the water naturally flowing thereto. The defendants must allow the water to pass on through their land and then dispose of it in the way they think best. The question is not one of easement but of a right ancillary to property. 27 I. C. 268 = 19 C. W. N. 54. Every one is entitled, in the absence of controlling rights of easement or servitude, regarding his premises to protect his premises against the flow of water from adjacent lands or houses. 248 P. L. R. 1912 = 16 I. C. 797. (29 M. 539 Rel.).

Illus. (g).—Indian Courts should be liberal in recognising irrigation rights as natural rights of as strong a character as any other, provided the lower riparian owners are not injured and the quality and the wide participation of the benefits of the natural stream are not interfered with. 34 M. L. J. 223 = 43 I. C. 113. In India a riparian owner must be confined to the land which is on the bank of the stream or which extends from that bank to a reasonable depth in land. (Ibid.) A depth of more than half a furlong would usually be unreasonable. (Ibid.)

The right of a riparian owner is not restricted to lifting up of water from a natural stream and carrying it at once to the land but extends to the temporary storage of water in wells before carrying it on to the irrigated lands. (Ibid.) Every land owner has a natural right to collect and retain upon his own land the surface water not flowing in a defined channel and put it to such use as he may desire. 4 Pat. L. T. 81 = 2 P. 110. He may also allow it to flow away in the usual course of nature upon the lower lands of his neighbour and cannot be bound to prevent it from so doing. (Ibid.) He cannot do this, however, by an artificial discharge upon his neighbour's land unless he has acquired an easement which his neighbour is bound to submit to. (Ibid.) If he should acquire such an easement the owner of the servient tenement acquires no reciprocal rights as against the owner of the dominant tenement with regard to the surface water, that is water not passing through a defined channel (Ibid.) But see also 66 I. C. 84.

Illus. (h), (i) and (j).—No riparian owner is entitled to obstruct a public river. 21 Cr. L. J. 55 = 54 I. C. 407. Riparian owner has a right to the usufruct of the river or stream which passed through his land. This is not an absolute or exclusive right to the flow of the water but to the reasonable enjoyment of the same. 10 I. C. 181. The right of a riparian owner to use the water of a stream either for irrigation or manufacture is an extraordinary use of water and is subject to the condition that the use of the water by other proprietors should not be affected. 51 I. C. 949. It is not rightful to a higher riparian owner to use the water for irrigation in such a way as to interfere with an easement acquired by prescription by a lower riparian owner. 44 I. C. 19. Where through his own

(j) The right of every owner of land abutting on a natural stream, lake or pond to use and consume its water for drinking, household purposes and watering his cattle and sheep; and the right of every such owner to use and consume the water for irrigating such land, and for the purposes of any manufactory situate thereon, provided that he does not thereby cause material injury to other like owners.

Explanation—A natural stream is a stream, whether permanent or intermittent, tidal or tideless, on the surface of land or underground, which flows by the operation of nature only and in a natural and known course.

CHAPTER II.

THE IMPOSITION, ACQUISITION AND TRANSFER OF EASEMENTS.

8. An easement may be imposed by any one in the circumstances, and to the extent, in and to which he may transfer his interest in the heritage on which the liability is to be imposed.

Who may impose easements.

Illustrations.

(a) A is tenant of B's land under a lease for an unexpired term of twenty years, and has power to transfer his interest under the lease. A may impose an easement on the land to continue during the time that the lease exists or for any shorter period.

fault flood water accumulates on a man's land, his neighbour is entitled to put up bunds to protect his land. The former cannot claim a right of natural drainage and restrain the latter from putting up the bund. 1 Rang. 427=1924 Rang. 86. Natural right of drainage extent of right. 107 I. C. 203. Where a stream, having a continuous flow at the beginning subsequently diverts itself, it is a natural stream and the owners of the land below cannot put a dam across it to the damage and injury of upper owners. 28 M. L. J. 98=2 L. W. 45=26 I. C. 800. Where there is a competition between the rights of the owner of land on a higher level to allow water to pass in its natural flow without obstruction and the rights of the owner of the lower land to use it as he pleases the latter's right must give way to the former. In such a case the owner of the lower land cannot erect a bund to obstruct the flow of water. 52 I. C. 128. An owner of land through which a river or other natural channel flows is not bound to clean it though he is bound within certain limits as between himself and other riparian owners not to do anything which will obstruct the flow of water or materially interfere with their rights. 33 All. 619=8 A. L. J. 640.

Illus. (j).—A riparian proprietor, can only take for the purpose of irrigation so much water as is necessary without materially diminishing what is allowed to descend 52 I. C. 276=20 Cr. L. J. 612. The quantity of water that can be abstracted and used without infringing that essential condition must in all cases be a question of circumstances, depending mainly upon the size of the stream and the proportion which the water bears to entire value. (Ibid.) Riparian proprietors can permanently divert water for agricultural purposes and irrigation. The question is whether the use was reasonable having regard to the custom of the adjoining country. 43 I. C. 235=3 Pat. L. J. 51. Where a riparian owner has made a diversion for the irrigation of his own tenement, the surplus water which would otherwise be vested may be taken in a channel by another riparian owner to irrigate his land. (Ibid.) The policy of law should be to encourage and protect all beneficial use of the water. (Ibid.) As to limitation for suit see Ibid.

Sec. 8.—An easement right can be conferred by the owner of the servient tenement for cash consideration and whether it takes the shape of a sum paid in cash once for all or paid from time to time cannot make any difference in the legal nature of the right conferred on the owner of the dominant tenement. 27 I. C. 920=2 L. W. 27. Uninterrupted enjoyment to raise a presumption of right, must have been acquiesced in, by the owner of the servient tenement wherefrom continued user the Court is asked to presume a grant of a right of way. 54 I. C. 936. Knowledge of such user on the part of the servient owner is an essential condition to the acquisition of an easement. (Ibid.) (10 Cal. 214, Ref). The presumption of lost grant is allowed only when the enjoyment of easement cannot be otherwise accounted for. 50 I. C. 933; 1024 Cal. 363. A right of way can be created by a verbal agreement. 9 Bur. L. T. 222=34 I. C. 95. Whether a grant of an easement arises by implication on a conveyance of land depends on the intent of the parties, which must clearly appear; in order to determine the intent the Court will take into consideration the circumstances attending the transaction, the particular situation of the parties and the state of the thing granted. This principle holds only where there is no express contract relating to the matter. 36 C. L. J. 406=1923 Cal. 256. Where a zemindar has been using the water of a channel for irrigating his lands from the time of the permanent settlement, the Court may presume from the long possession and enjoyment a right to use the water free of charge. Though an actual grant of an easement is not discovered or proved, it will be presumed. 45 I. A. 302=37 M. L. J. 724=54 I. C. 154=24 C. W. N. 446 (P. C.). The public as such, cannot acquire the ownership of immoveable property or an easement on such property by prescription. But the user by the public may be evidence of a dedication. 44 M. L. J. 638=47 Mad. 116=1923 Mad. 624. A dedication to be valid must be to the public at large and not to any section of it. (Ibid.) As to construction of deeds granting easements, see 19 Bom. 799; 60 P. R. 1888. The mere finding that a parnala is old is no finding in law that easement has been established with respect thereto. 66 I. C. 922=3 Lah. L. J. 58.

PARTIES.—In a suit relating to easements, all servient owners are necessary parties. 14 C. W. N. 15.

(b) A is tenant for his life of certain land with remainder to B absolutely. A cannot, unless with B's consent, impose an easement thereon which will continue after the determination of his life interest.

(c) A, B and C are co-owners of certain land. A cannot, without the consent of B and C, impose an easement on the land or on any part thereof.

(d) A and B are lessees of the same lessor, A of a field X for a term of five years, and B of a field Y for a term of ten years. A's interest under his lease is transferable; B's is not. A may impose on X, in favour of B, a right of way terminable with A's lease.

9. Subject to the provisions of section 8, a servient owner may impose on the servient heritage any easement that does not lessen the utility of the existing easement. But he cannot, without the consent of the dominant owner, impose an easement on the servient heritage which would lessen such utility.

Servient owners.

Illustrations.

(a) A has, in respect of his mill a right to the uninterrupted flow thereto, from sunrise to noon, of the water of B's stream. B may grant to C the right to divert the water of the stream from noon to sunset: Provided that A's supply is not thereby diminished.

(b) A has, in respect of his house, a right of way over B's land. B may grant to C, as the owner of a neighbouring farm, the right to feed his cattle on the grass growing on the way: provided that A's right of way is not thereby obstructed.

10. Subject to the provisions of section 8, a lessor may impose, on the property leased, any easement that does not derogate from the rights of the lessee as such, and a mortgagor may impose, on the property mortgaged, any easement that does not render the security insufficient. But a lessor or mortgagor cannot, without the consent of the lessee or mortgagee, impose any other easement on such property, unless it be to take effect on the termination of the lease or the redemption of the mortgage.

Lessor and mortgagor.

Explanation.—A security is insufficient within the meaning of this section unless the value of the mortgaged property exceeds by one-third, or, if consisting of buildings, exceeds by one-half, the amount for the time being due on the mortgage.

11. No lessee or other person having a derivative interest may impose on the property held by him as such an easement to take effect after the expiration of his own interest, or in derogation of the right of the lessor or the superior proprietor.

Lessee.

12. An easement may be acquired by the owner of the immoveable property for the beneficial enjoyment of which the right is created, or on his behalf, by any person in possession of the same.

Who may acquire easements.

One of two or more co-owners of immoveable property may, as such, with or without the consent of the other or others, acquire an easement for the beneficial enjoyment of such property.

No lessee of immoveable property can acquire, for the beneficial enjoyment of other immoveable property of his own, an easement in or over the property comprised in his lease.

Sec. 9.—Application of section to customary rights. See 6 All. 497.

Sec. 11.—Although a tenant cannot acquire a prescriptive right of easement in land belonging to his lessor, he may claim a right of easement based on immemorial user. 36 C. L. J. 161 = 50 C. 356 = 1923 C. 8. Where the enjoyment of a right to take water from the landlord's tank was continued uninterrupted for a long series of years such enjoyment should be attributed to a legal origin and the Court should presume a grant or an agreement. (Ibid.) A tenant can establish his right to irrigate his field from his landlord's tank by proof of open and continuous user from time immemorial. (Ibid.) (29 C. 363; 38 M. L. J. 28; 6 C. 394; 4 C. 633; 30 C. 281, Ref.) If the user of the easement had actually commenced before the property over which it was claimed passed into the possession of the lessee, the mere fact of the intervention of such tenancy should not be sufficient to defeat the right acquired by the lapse of time unless, indeed it is further shown that the landlord, up to the time he granted the lease was in ignorance that any such right was claimed. 36 C. L. J. 161 = 50 C. 356.

Sec. 12—Tenants in the dominant tenement enjoying an easement as of right, acquire it for the landlord. 31 I. C. 549 = 19 C. W. N. 1211. He cannot acquire it as against the landlord. 29 C. 363 = 9 C. W. N. 856; 14 All. 185 (F. B.) See also 1 C. W. N. 151. A tenant can acquire by prescription the right to irrigate his field from the landlord's tank by open and continuous user. 18 I. C. 597; (4 C. 633; 30 C. 781, Rel.). A tenant of land having even a permanent tenancy cannot acquire an easement by prescription in other lands of his lessor. 38 M. L. J. 28 = 54 I. C. 948;

Easements of necessity and quasi-easements.

13. Where one person transfers or bequeaths immoveable property to another,—

(a) if an easement in other immoveable property of the transferor or testator is necessary for enjoying the subject of the transfer or bequest, the transferee or legatee shall be entitled to such easement ; or,

(b) if such an easement is apparent and continuous and necessary for enjoying the said subject as it was enjoyed when the transfer or bequest took effect, the transferee or legatee shall, unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, be entitled to such easement ;

(c) if an easement in the subject of the transfer or bequest is necessary for enjoying other immoveable property of the transferor or testator, the transferor or the legal representative of the testator shall be entitled to such easement ; or,

(d) if such an easement is apparent and continuous and necessary for enjoying the said property as it was enjoyed when the transfer or bequest took effect, the transferor, or the legal representative of the testator, shall, unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, be entitled to such easement.

Sec. 13. WHAT ARE EASEMENTS OF NECESSITY.—Easement of necessity means an easement absolutely necessary for the use of the dominant tenement and not merely one necessary for the more convenient enjoyment 38 All. 467=9 I. C. 628 ; 17 A. L. J. 672=50 I. C. 646 ; 48 I. C. 670 ; 50 I. C. 756 ; See also (1925) M. W. N. 282=90 I. C. 900=1925 Mad. 680. An easement of necessity is one which the law creates according to the doctrine of implied grant in a particular case. 60 I. C. 504. It is one without which the dominant tenement cannot be used at all. (Ibid.) (1923) Oudh 250. (15 A. 270 ; 33 A. 467 ; 19 B. 79 ; 28 M. 495, referred to). It is a question of fact from the circumstances of each case as to whether an easement of a claim is an easement of necessity or not. There can be an easement of necessity to take water from other's land. 103 I. C. 862=A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 963 ; 17 I. C. 966=16 C. L. J. 417. A right of way of necessity ceases if the dominant owner can approach the place through his own land. 60 I. C. 504. An easement of necessity cannot arise in any other way than by severance of tenements. 46 I. C. 327=4 L. B. R. 246 ; see also 14 Bom. 452 ; 26 Cal. 510=3 C. W. N. 409=24 M. L. J. 552. There is ordinarily no reservation by implication of easement in favour of the grantor except in the case of an easement of necessity. 17 I. C. 966=16 C. L. J. 417. As a right of easement of necessity arising out of a severance by partition arises from a presumed grant, no grant can be presumed where the rights of parties have been definitely settled in a partition suit. 59 I. C. 89. As to Quasi-easements see 27 Punj. L. R. 375=96 I. C. 913=A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 473.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where the owner of one of two tenements originally held by a common owner, claims a right of way over the other tenement, it was held, that having regard to the enjoyment of the right of way for twenty years, there was a grant of the right to the plaintiff at the time of the severance of the tenements. 49 I. C. 798=29 C. L. J. 51. There is a presumption of easement of necessity both in respect of the portion granted as well as the portion retained by the grantor. 65 I. C. 22=34 C. L. J. 518 ; 31 I. C. 541=19 C. W. N. 1217. The mere fact that it is absolutely necessary for a person to use a way does not constitute an easement of necessity. 26 I. C. 485. Plaintiff and defendant owned a common courtyard. Before partition of the courtyard, plaintiff had the right to pass his water through the drainage which existed in the yard. The onus lay on the defendant to show that the right which plaintiff possessed prior to the partition had been extinguished by some agreement or rule of law. 53 I. C. 584=101 P. R. 1919. The mere fact that plaintiff had acquired another tenement through which he could pass his water did not deprive the easement in question of the character of an easement of necessity. Ibid.

An easement which ceases to be beneficial to the dominant owner might become extinguished. 50 I. C. 756. (33 All. 461 Ref.) Where two houses situated on opposite sides of a land were connected by a bridge which had been destroyed and which plaintiff wanted to rebuild but the defendant objected and the Municipality also refused permission, the re-building of the bridge could not be allowed as the houses had passed to different persons. 9 P. L. R. 1911=9 I. C. 402. A person cannot claim a right of way on the ground of convenience if he has other means of access available. An easement of necessity is an easement without which the property sold could not be used at all, and not one merely necessary for the more convenient enjoyment of the property. 1923 Oudh 250.

Sec. 13, Cl. (a).—A house owner in order to repair his wall on his neighbour's side of the premises can go to the other side of the wall on the land of his neighbour. 16 I. C. 893. See also 28 Bom. L. R. 403=94 I. C. 673=A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 328. But the easement does not extend to going over the neighbour's roof for that purpose. 16 I. C. 893. A person is also entitled to enter his neighbour's house or land to protect his eaves which project over the neighbour's house. 16 I. C. 893. (15 M. 286, Ref.)

Sec. 13, Cl. (b).—The existence of vents through which adjoining lands were being irrigated is evidence of an apparent, continuous and necessary easement which passes to the transferee under S. 13 (b). 45 M. L. J. 724=1924 M. 108. An act done for the proper enjoyment of an easement such as closing the vents after irrigation or in the course of the enjoyment of an easement which is continuous would not render the easement a non-continuous easement. (Ibid.)

Sec. 13, Cl. (d).—See 29 I. C. 695.

Where a partition is made of the joint property of several persons—

(e) if an easement over the share of one of them is necessary for enjoying the share of another of them, the latter shall be entitled to such easement, or,

(f) if such an easement is apparent and continuous and necessary for enjoying the share of the latter as it was enjoyed when the partition took effect, he shall, unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, be entitled to such easement.

14. The easements mentioned in this section, clauses (a), (c) and (e) are called easements of necessity.

Where immoveable property passes by operation of law, the persons from and to whom it so passes are, for the purpose of this section, to be deemed, respectively, the transferor and transferee.

Illustrations.

(a) A sells B a field then used for agricultural purposes only. It is inaccessible except by passing over A's adjoining land or by trespassing on the land of a stranger. B is entitled to a right of way, for agricultural purposes only, over A's adjoining land to the field sold.

(b) A, the owner of two fields, sells one to B and retains the other. The field retained was at the date of the sale used for agricultural purposes only and is inaccessible except by passing over the field sold to B. A is entitled to a right of way, for agricultural purposes only, over B's field to the field retained.

(c) A sells B a house with windows overlooking A's land, which A retains. The light which passes over A's land to the windows is necessary for enjoying the house as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect. B is entitled to the light, and A cannot afterwards obstruct it by building on his land.

(d) A sells B a house with windows overlooking A's land. The light passing over A's land to the windows is necessary for enjoying the house as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect. Afterwards A sells the land to C. Here C cannot obstruct the light by building on the land, for he takes it subject to the burdens to which it was subject in A's hands.

(e) A is the owner of a house and adjoining land. The house has windows overlooking the land. A simultaneously sells the house to B and the land to C. The light passing over the land is necessary for enjoying the house as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect. Here A impliedly grants B a right to the light, and C takes the land subject to the restriction that he may not build so as to obstruct such light.

(f) A is the owner of a house and adjoining land. The house has windows overlooking the land. A retaining the house sells the land to B, without expressly reserving any easement. The light passing over the land is necessary for enjoying the house as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect. A is entitled to the light, and B cannot build on the land so as to obstruct such light.

(g) A, the owner of a house, sells B a factory built on adjoining land. B is entitled, as against A, to pollute the air, when necessary, with smoke and vapours from the factory.

(h) A, the owner of two adjoining houses, Y and Z sells Y to B and retains Z. B is entitled to the benefit of all the gutters and drains common to the two houses and necessary for enjoying Y as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect and A is entitled to the benefit of all the gutters and drains common to the two houses and necessary for enjoying Z as it was enjoyed when the sale took effect.

(i) A, the owner of two adjoining buildings, sells one to B retaining the other. B is entitled to a right to lateral support from A's buildings and A is entitled to a right to lateral support from B's building.

(j) A, the owner of two adjoining buildings, sells one to B and the other to C. C is entitled to lateral support from B's building, and B is entitled to lateral support from C's building.

(k) A grants lands to B for the purpose of building a house thereon. B is entitled to such amount of lateral and subjacent support from A's land as is necessary for the safety of the house.

(l) Under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, a Railway company compulsorily acquires a portion of B's land for the purpose of making a siding. The Company is entitled to such amount of lateral support from B's adjoining land as is essential for the safety of the siding.

Clas. (e) and (f).—Clauses (e) and (f) must not be confused. Under cl. (e) plaintiff has to prove that the easement claimed was necessary for the enjoyment of the property allotted to him by partition. Under cl. (f) he has to prove that the easement was apparent, continuous, and necessary for enjoying his share as it was enjoyed when the partition took effect and that no different intention was expressed or necessarily implied in the partition. 25 O. (m) Owing to the partition of joint property, A becomes the owner of an upper room in a building, and B becomes the owner of the portion of the building immediately beneath it. A is entitled to such amount of vertical support from B's portion as is essential for the safety of the upper room.

(n) A lets a house and grounds to B for a particular business, B has no access to them other than by crossing A's land. B is entitled to a right of way over that land suitable to the business to be carried on by B in the house and grounds.

Sec. 14.—¹The words "a right" were substituted for the word "right" by Amending Act (XII of 1891).

Sec. 15. NATURE OF PRESCRIPTIVE RIGHTS.—The law relating to the acquisition of easements under this Act appears to be the same as under the English Prescription Act. 35 I. C. 749 = 4 L. W. 128. Section not exhaustive and does not preclude other titles or modes of acquisition. (1926) M. W. N. 404 = 96 I. C. 317 = A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 788. The Easement Act does not exclude or interfere with other titles or modes of acquiring easements. 43 I. C. 962 = 14 N. L. R. 35. Easements are not capable, in an exact sense of being possessed. The enjoyment which may in time ripen into an easement is not possession and gives no possessory right before the expiry of twenty years, 29 I. C. 255 = 38 Mad. 280. When user is proved, the presumption is that it is of right. [69 I. C. 11 ; 15 L. W. 266 = (1922) M. W. N. 143 Fol.] 86 I. C. 595 (2) = 1925 Lah. 344. An easement is a restriction in favour of one owner or occupier of immovable property of the rights of ownership of the immovable property of another owner. The restriction cannot be built up or asserted without consciousness of the rights which are restricted. 23 N. I. R. 117 = 104 I. C. 431 = A. I. R. 1927 Nag. 334.

The user over a land purported to be exercised as owner cannot be made the basis of an easement. 104 I. C. 503. A customary right differs from a prescriptive right in the sense that no fixed period for its enjoyment is necessary. 20 I. C. 467. (20 M. 389 and 2 B. L. R. 454 and 459, rel.) A prescriptive right or easement is a right existing in a particular individual while a customary right belongs to no particular individuals but attaches to a locality and is capable of being enjoyed by all who, for the time being, own land in the locality. (Ibid.) (18 M. 320, rel.) A prescriptive right to light and air cannot be acquired as an easement for limited period, i. g., when the servient heritage is in the occupancy of a tenant. 42 Mad. 567 = 37 M. L. J. 28 = 50 I. C. 291. The word "imposition" of an easement does not necessarily mean imposition by some act, such as grant, but includes imposition by omission to prevent acquisition by prescription. (Ibid.) Government land in the management of Municipal Board—Proof of user for 60 years essential—Land leased out to tenant whether makes any difference. 4 O. W. N. 1035.

WHAT RIGHTS CAN BE ACQUIRED.—A prescriptive right is acquired, if plaintiff's privies are cleaned by scavengers passing over the land of the defendant for twenty years to the knowledge of and without obstruction by defendant. 50 I. C. 34. All that a defendant whose eaves project over plaintiff's land can acquire after 20 years is an easement imposing the burden on the servient tenement of having that projection over it. 46 Bom. 827 = 24 Bom. L. R. 305. Removal of support of a wall before accrual of right of easement by prescription to neighbour is not actionable: See A. I. R. 1928 Nag. 91. Private rights of fishing in public water may be acquired either by a grant from the Crown or by the prescription from which a grant may be presumed. 39 Cal. 53 = 11 I. C. 180 = 15 C. W. N. 972. Whether exclusive rights can be acquired in a tank or navigable river by proof of mere enjoyment. See Ibid. Right to ferry though not an easement is in the nature of an easement and may be acquired by user. 9 I. C. 846. (16 C. 608 foll.) A prescriptive right to dam up a stream is acquired by the continued exercise of the right for twenty-five or thirty years. 15 M. L. T. 247 = 26 M. L. J. 385 = 24 I. C. 547. In the case of Shrotriem grant the right of Government over the minerals is not lost by limitation. 23 I. C. 144 = 15 M. L. T. 277. Mere non-user for not less than two years before suit independent of any adverse act on the part of the owner of the servient heritage does not amount to cessation or abandonment of the right of easement within the meaning of Sec. 15. Expl. II clearly relates not to the period after which the easement has ceased to be enjoyed but to any interval of non-user within the 20 years of enjoyment. 98 I. C. 886 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 238.

WHAT RIGHT CANNOT BE ACQUIRED.—The right to drive cattle to the grazing ground through the jungle of another village is not a right which can be acquired as an easement though enjoyed for any length of time. 43 All. 345 = 60 I. C. 990 = 19 A. L. J. 126. As to right of way for agricultural purposes see 50 Bom. 635 = 28 Bom. L. R. 1158 = A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 537. Right to stored manure by non-agriculturist, see 5 O. W. N. 296.

SECT. 15 AND 17.—Where the plaintiff had been enjoying the water by means of channels where support from one person's land, or things affixed thereto, has been peaceably received by another person's land subjected to artificial pressure, or by through which water passed to a tank, for a certain number of years no prescriptive right was acquired to receive the water through the channels unobstructed so as to entitle the plaintiff to seek the removal of these obstructions caused by the defendants. 23 Bom. L. R. 1004=46 Bom. 115. A prescriptive right of easement to discharge surplus water on the deft.'s land through a channel across the public road cannot be acquired. 19 C. L. J. 42=21 I. C. 857=18 C. W. N. 378. No easement or prescriptive right can be acquired by a ryotwari landholder in water in a Government channel irrigating the lands. 45 I. C. 80=34 M. L. J. 425. There can be no possessory rights in connection with incorporeal rights. (Ibid.) Under S. 15 a right of fishing cannot be acquired by prescription, but from uninterrupted user such a grant may be presumed. 43 I. C. 962=14 N. L. R. 35. Right of way, acquisition of. See 24 Bom. L. R. 298=1922 Bom. 79; 1924 Cal. 359; 9 I. C. 965=13 C. L. J. 316; 45 Mad. 633=1922 Ma 1.5=42 M. L. J. 417; 39 M. L. J. 74=60 I. C. 171.

WHO CAN ACQUIRE.—A claim of higher right of ownership does not prevent another person from acquiring a right of easement, if he can show that he converts certain rights of enjoyment over the land in question for the benefit of another land of his own. 62 I. C. 633. A right once established by immemorial user, is not extinguished by non-user or interruption for more than two years. 62 I. C. 633. A right of way cannot be acquired by a tenant over the lands of the landlord within his tenancy except by grant. 34 I. C. 450=20 C. W. N. 1158 (31 I. C. 549, ref to). The mere grant of leave and license of a right of way by the landlord to his tenant, will not invest the latter with a right of way enforceable in suit.

(Ibid.) A prescriptive right cannot be acquired by one tenant against another tenant of the same landlord. 31 I. C. 549=19 C. W. N. 1211. Whether one permanent tenure-holder can acquire an easement against another permanent tenure-holder under the same landlord. (Ibid.) A tenant in a zamindari cannot acquire the right to irrigate his land held by him as a tenant, with water from the tank belonging to the Zamindar. 56 I. C. 598=11 L. W. 600. The joint user of the water from a tank for the joint cultivation of a plot does not affect the nature of the right of easement which is a right over the servient heritage acquired by virtue of the joint ownership of the plot. The right prescribed for, is not a right to irrigate jointly but a right as part owners of a dominant heritage. 20 M. L. T. 544=35 I. C. 749=4 L. W. 128. (8 C. W. N. 359, dist). The essential requisite of prescription is that it should be acquired against specific individuals; prescription against one person cannot be tacked on to that acquired against others. 24 I. C. 519=28 M. L. J. 669. (24 M. 219; dist. 10 I. C. 110; 14 A. 156; 23 A. 448, foll.). A caste is a corporation with civil rights and can acquire by user, title to a right of way, even if the user be only of a few members of the caste provided it is exercised on behalf of and for the caste. 24 I. C. 467=28 M. L. J. 110. See also 24 I. C. 519=28 M. L. J. 669 (Suit by Stanom-holder).

EASEMENTS, HOW ACQUIRED.—A person to acquire the right of fishery, by prescription must show that he had an uninterrupted enjoyment of it openly, publicly and peaceably for over the statutory period; but where such an enjoyment was in exercise of a common right which he shared with others, he should show that his user was in assertion of a higher right than the general right, in himself, and for his exclusive benefit. 39 Cal. 53=11 I. C. 180. The right to establish and maintain a ferry over the property of another is a right of easement for which twenty years' user is necessary. 5 P. L. J. 500=1 P. L. T. 395. To establish a right under this section, twenty years of uninterrupted user must be shown. 25 I. C. 405=12 A. L. J. 693. As to presumption from long user, see 91 I. C. 987=A. I. R. 1926 Oudh 237. As to the effect of unreasonable user see 92 I. C. 465=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 625. The period of user must be twenty years or more ending within two years before the institution of the suit wherein the claims to which such period relates is contested. 24 I. C. 126=12 A. L. J. 415. No minimum limit of time can be laid down to justify an inference of immemorial user. The question whether such an user is established depends on the circumstances of each case. 45 Bom. 1027=62 I. C. 65. Peaceable enjoyment means one without interruption or opposition by the servient owner sufficient to defeat the enjoyment. 49 I. C. 963=21 Bom. L. R. 709. The obstruction must find expression in something done on the servient tenement itself. 45 B. 1027=23 Bom. L. R. 422. Mere protest does not amount to such obstruction. (Ibid.) The mere fact that the land is waste does not necessarily show that no right can be acquired over such land. If that were so, the right of user over almost every pathway in the mofussil would be lost, inasmuch as almost every pathway lies over waste land. 65 I. C. 509. (18 C. W. N. 735, ref.). In determining the question whether an user of way over waste land was as of right or not, the Court would have to consider the character of the land, the relation between the parties and the circumstances under which the user took place. 65 I. C. 509. (8 C. W. N. 359, Ref.). If an easement has been enjoyed for the statutory period peaceably and openly as of right without interruption the right becomes absolute. 26 I. C. 781. A long and uninterrupted user for a long series of years leads to the inference that the user had been as of right and that the right had a lawful origin. 20 M. L. T. 544=35 I. C. 749=4 L. W. 128. A prescriptive right can be acquired only if the enjoyment of the easement ended "before the beginning of the two years next" before the suit was instituted. 33 I. C. 503 See also 29 M. L. J. 685; 1923 Oudh 29. Enjoyment may be peaceable notwithstanding oral disputes regarding it. 29 M. L. J. 685=31 I. C. 528. The adverb 'peaceably' indicates the manner in which the dominant owner must conduct himself in his use of the servient tenement, i.e., the person claiming a right of easement must not have deprived the servient owner of that right by use of force or secretly. (Ibid.) A statutory prescriptive title to an easement is impossible to be acquired under S. 15 unless and until the claim thereto has been things affixed thereto, as an easement, without interruption, and for twenty years, and where a right of way or any other easement has been peaceably and openly enjoyed by any person claiming title thereto, as an easement, and as of right, without interruption, and for twenty years, the right to such access and use of light or air, support or other easement shall be absolute.

Each of the said periods of twenty years shall be taken to be a period ending within two years next before the institution of the suit wherein the claim to which such period relates is contested.

Explanation I.—Nothing is an enjoyment within the meaning of this section when it has been had in pursuance of an agreement with the owner or occupier of the contested in a regular suit. 29 M. L. J. 685. [10 A. L. J. 227; 6 C. 894 (P. C.) Foll]. See also 1923 Oudh 29; 17 I. C. 22=10 A. L. J. 227. Enjoyment for less than the prescriptive period if entitles the persons enjoying, to an injunction against trespasser. 30 I. C. 989=18 M. L. T. 515. The words 'as an easement' do not mean that the enjoyment should be in the assertion of claim of an easement. Illus. (b) shows that the words were used in order to show that unity of title or possession makes the possession unless to create a right of easement. 38 Mad. 1=17 I. C. 112. Assertion of full ownership, which however negated by the evidence may suffice to establish an easement, provided that the user was for the beneficial enjoyment of another land. (Ibid). See also 49 Mad. 820=96 I. C. 968=(1926) M. W. N. 923=23 L. W. 609=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 728 (F. B.). Mere acquiescence does not create an easement. 16 I. C. 893. When two houses originally owned by one and the same person have backyards opening into a lane which separates them, in the absence of evidence as to when the gates were opened the presumption is that they were so opened before severance, and that the enjoyment of a right of way for over twenty years peaceably and as of right ending within two years before suit created a prescriptive right. 9 M. L. T. 274=9 I. C. 764.

S. 15, Expl. (1).—Where in the absence of a license or agreement the defendants were found to have been using a way over plaintiff's land openly peaceably and as of right for over the statutory period, held the defendants had acquired an easement in respect of that right. 9 I. C. 640=9 M. L. T. 350. Continuous and peaceable user of easement of light and air for more than twenty years may give rise to a presumption that it existed with the consent of the owner of the servient heritance. 6 N. L. J. 59=1923 Nag. 192. As easement of light and air need not be proved to have been enjoyed as of right, it is enough, if there is enjoyment. 61 I. C. 569. An open user of road or path, without interruption, for a long time, not under permission or sufferance, is prima facie evidence of enjoyment as of right. (Ibid). Under S. 15 (5) plaintiff has to show a period of 20 years continuing up to some point within two years before the institution of the suit. 1923 Oudh 29. The fifth paragraph of S. 15 of the Easements Act seems to render it impossible to acquire statutory prescriptive title of an easement, unless and until the claim thereto has been contested in a suit. 1923 Oudh 29. The right to the lateral support to a wall from a neighbour's land, is acquired only by prescription. 68 I. C. 831=14 L. W. 728. A right of way over one part may be acquired by grant, and over another, by prescription. 57 I. C. 852.

MODE OF ENJOYMENT.—No presumption of a lost grant can be made in the case of the right of fishery where the use of the fishery was in harmony with the right of the public to fish by stakes which is acknowledged method of public fishing on the West Coast of India. 23 Bom. L. R. 939. Possession of the dar (space between two fishing stakes) for over sixty years does not perfect into an easement by way of prescriptive right. 23 Bom. L. R. 939. As to presumption of lost grant, See also (1926) M. W. N. 404=96 I. C. 317=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 788. A plaintiff is entitled to have his right of way declared if he establishes the terminus to and from which the way runs. And the right would be enjoyed in the way the servient owners point out as the tract. If no tract is pointed out, the plaintiff can enjoy the nearest route. 46 I. C. 374=22 C. W. N. 922. No use of property which would be legal if due to a proper motive, would become illegal, if prompted by an improper or even a malicious motive. 42 Cal. 164=20 C. L. J. 97=18 C. W. N. 1296. The extent of a right acquired by prescription is measured by the extent of the use and enjoyment thereof during the prescriptive period. (Ibid). It is not necessary to prove annual or continuous user, but only substantial enjoyment whenever the occasion required. The mere fact that the openings made were different in different years does not make the user indefinite when the channels through which the water was taken were the same. 15 C. W. N. 259=13 C. L. J. 670. The fact that the servient owner paid a certain sum for the repair of the embankment for his own benefit does not make the user permissive. 15 C. W. N. 259=13 C. L. J. 670.

EASEMENT AGAINST GOVERNMENT.—A plaintiff claiming a right of easement against Government must prove sixty years' peaceful and uninterrupted user and the rule of law that the burden of proof is shifted on to Government if the plaintiff proves possession for a sufficient number of years is not applicable if the plaintiff fails to prove the completion of even the prescriptive period necessary against a private individual. 26 I. C. 723=39 Mad. 304. (19 M. 165; 33 M. 1=33 M. 173; 33 M. 362 Dist.). See also 4 O. W. N. 1035; 45 I. C. 80=34 M. L. J. 425. (Acquisition of right in water in Government channel). If the plaintiff proves 30 years' possession, the Government must prove that he had no possession within 60 years. 16 I. C. 626=12 M. L. T. 159. The words 'belongs to the Government' in S. 15 refer not to the time of the suit but to the duration of enjoyment. 41 M. 622=34 M. L. J. 395. When after 40 years' property over which the right is claimed, and it is apparent from the agreement that such right has not been granted as an easement, or, if granted as an easement, that it has been granted for a limited period, or subject to a condition on the fulfilment of which it is to cease.

Explanation II.—Nothing is an interruption within the meaning of this section unless where there is an actual cessation of the enjoyment by reason of an obstruction by the act of some person other than the claimant, and unless such obstruction is submitted to or acquiesced in for one year after the claimant has notice thereof and of the person making or authorizing the same to be made.

Explanation III.—Suspension of enjoyment in pursuance of a contract between the dominant and servient owners is not an interruption within the meaning of this section.

Explanation IV.—In the case of an easement to pollute water, the said period of twenty years begins when the pollution first prejudices perceptibly the servient heritage.

When the property over which a right is claimed under this section belongs to Government, this section shall be read as if for the words "twenty years" the words "sixty years" were substituted.

(a) A suit is brought in 1883 for obstructing a right of way. The defendant admits the obstruction, but denies the right of way. The plaintiff proves that the right was peaceably and enjoyment against the Government, the latter transfers the land to a private person, the easement in order to become absolute must be enjoyed as against the transfer for a further period of 20 years. 41 Mad. 622 = 34 M. L. J. 396. The period of 20 years must be computed from the time when the transfer was made to a private person. (Ibid)

BURDEN OF PROOF.—The onus of proving that a right of way has been peaceably and openly enjoyed by any person claiming title thereto as an easement and as of right without interruption and for 20 years, lies upon the person asserting the right. 25 I. C. 499. See also (1923) M. W. N. 454 = 18 L. W. 404 = 1923 Mad 674. The question in each case must be, what is the exact nature of the right which is shown by the evidence: to have been acquired by the party? See 1923 Mad. 674 Supra. S. 15 (1) applies both to continuous and discontinuous easements. 17 I. C. 22 = 10 A. L. J. 227. Where it is a question of acquisition of an easement by prescription, the burden lies entirely on the plaintiff to prove 20 years' enjoyment, and not mere possession for 12 years and then say the onus is shifted on to the defendant 33 I. C. 503.

DEFENCES.—When a right has begun to run under s. 15 and the servient holder sues to put an end to it, the defendant cannot plead in bar of it, Art. 32 of Lim Act 33 I. C. 90. When the defendant has a right of support from the plaintiff's wall abutting on the defendant's property, for a roof of his adjoining house, it is an encroachment of that right if the defendant raises his wall and erects upon it another that resting on the plaintiff's wall. 33 I. C. 90. The limit of a party's right of support must be determined by his actual enjoyment up to the date of the encroachment complained of by the opposite party. (Ibid.) If a man's ancient lights be interrupted, it is no answer to say that he can provide other sources of light for himself by making changes in his own tenement; nor that defendant is willing to provide fresh light for him in another way. 36 Mad 11 = 21 M. L. J. 742 = 11 I. C. 642.

Where a party causes injury to another he cannot object to appropriate relief being granted to his opponent on the ground that he would suffer serious injury by being compelled to undo the mischief. (Ibid.) There is no difference in the application of the law as regards the interference with ancient lights to buildings in cities and elsewhere. (Ibid).

NATURE OF OBSTRUCTION.—To constitute an actionable obstruction there must be substantial privation of light enough to render the occupation uncomfortable according to the ordinary notions of mankind. 9 I. C. 417 = 21 M. L. J. 313. Where the owner of building, who is in the course of acquiring a right of easement by prescription, has his house burnt down, but begins immediately to rebuild his house and place the windows exactly in the same position as the old ones, he can be regarded as enjoying the access and use of light and air continuously, and he will be entitled to protection after twenty years from the first building, 46 Bom. 448 = 24 Bom. L. R. 83 = 1922 Bom. 3. If, however, there is any delay in rebuilding, then that might be evidence of an intention not to resume the user. (Ibid), Knowledge of the fact of enjoyment on the part of servient owner is essential to the acquisition of an easement where the Court is asked to presume a grant. 54 I. C. 936 = 16 N. L. R. 76. Active obstruction on the part of such owner would negative any such presumption. (Ibid), To negative submission to an interruption the party interrupted need not have brought a suit (Ibid), The question whether there has been submission to, or acquiescence in, an obstruction, is a question of fact, the burden of negating submission being on the party alleging that he did not submit. (Ibid.) It is not enough, for supporting an action for obstruction of right that there has been a diminution of light from what it was before. 49 I. C. 458 = 18 Bur. L. T. 109. The decrease in light should constitute a nuisance and make the house uncomfortable according to the ordinary standards of humanity or unfit for business. (Ibid).

openly enjoyed by him, claiming title thereto as an easement and as of right, without interruption, from 1st January, 1862, to 1st January, 1882. The plaintiff is entitled to judgment.

(b) In a like suit the plaintiff shows that the right was peaceably and openly enjoyed by him for twenty years. The defendant proves that for a year of that time the plaintiff was entitled to possession of the servient heritage as lessee thereof and enjoyed the right as such lessee. The suit shall be dismissed, for the right of way has not been enjoyed "as an easement" for twenty years.

(c) In a like suit the plaintiff shows that the right was peaceably and openly enjoyed by him for twenty years. The defendant proves that the plaintiff on one occasion during the twenty years had admitted that the user was not of right and asked his leave to enjoy the right. The suit shall be dismissed, for the right of way has not been enjoyed "as of right" for twenty years.

of any interest for life or any term of years exceeding three years from the granting thereof, the time of the enjoyment of such easement during the continuance of such interest or term, shall be excluded in the computation of the said last mentioned period of twenty years, in case the claim is, within three years next after the determination of such interest or term, resisted by the person entitled, on such determination, to the said land.

Illustration.

A sues for a declaration that he is entitled to a right of way over B's land. A proves that he has enjoyed the right for twenty five years; but B shows that during ten of these years C had a life-interest in the land; that on C's death B became entitled to the land; and that within two years after C's death he counter-claimed A's claim to the right. The suit must be dismissed, as A, with reference to the provisions of this section, has only proved enjoyment for fifteen years.

17. Easements acquired under section 15 are said to be acquired by prescription, and are called prescriptive rights.

Rights which cannot be acquired by prescription.

None of the following rights can be so acquired :—

- (a) a right which would tend to the total destruction of the subject of the right, or the property on which, if the acquisition were made, liability would be imposed;
- (b) a right to the free passage of light or air to an open space of ground;
- (c) a right to surface-water not flowing in a stream and not permanently collected in a pool, tank or otherwise;
- (d) a right to underground water not passing in a defined channel.

18. An easement may be acquired in virtue of a local custom. Such easements are called customary easements.

Customary easements.

Sec. 17. Cl. (a).—Sec. 17 is intended to apply not to rights of irrigation in natural streams, but to rights in the nature of profits à prendre which do not include a right to water. 7 Pat. L. T. 547 = 94 I. C. 929 = A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 187. Mere possibility of destruction at some future date is not what is contemplated by Cl. (a). 23 Bom. 666. Sec. 17. Cl. (b).—Extent of right to light by prescription. See 3 B. L. R. (O. C.) 41; 14 Cal. 839.

Sec. 17. Cl. (c).—A person may acquire a right to easement of water over artificial channels or water derived from artificial tank or pools. 33 M. L. J. 674 = 44 I. C. 625. (7 M. 530, Foll.) Also in respect of tanks fed by rain water as well as surface water from neighbouring lands. (Ibid). Considering the position of the lands and the conditions of agriculture in Bombay, it must be held that where the plaintiff had been enjoying the water by means of channels through which water passed to a tank, for a certain number of years no prescriptive right was acquired to receive the water through the channels unobstructed so as to entitle the plaintiff to seek the removal of these obstructions caused by the defendants. 46 Bom. 115 = 1922 Bom. 378. The right to take water from a river running through an undefined channel over the neighbouring lands is not one coming under S. 17 (c), but is a right which, though perhaps could not be acquired by prescription as an easement, could be inferred from long user. 42 Bom. 288 = 45 I. C. 448 = 20 Bom. L. R. 398. See also 7 M. H. C. 37 (46). A presumption of lost grant can be made if the usage is long and uninterrupted if it could form the subject of grant. (Ibid.) A right to the user of water flowing in undefined channels cannot be acquired by prescription. 64 I. C. 153 = 3 Lah. L. J. 555.

Sec. 18.—A customary easement is not limited to easements of a kind which could not be recognized at all apart from official customs. 1924 All. 159. As to proof of customary rights. See

(a) By the custom of a certain village every cultivator of village-land is entitled, as such, to graze his cattle on the common pasture. A, having become the tenant of a plot of uncultivated land in the village, breaks up and cultivates that plot. He thereby acquires an easement to graze his cattle in accordance with the custom.

(b) By the custom of a certain town no owner or occupier of a house can open a new window therein so as substantially to invade his neighbour's privacy. A builds a house in the town near B's house. A thereupon acquires an easement that B shall not open new windows in his house so as to command a view of the portion of A's house which are ordinarily excluded from observation, and B acquires a like easement with respect to A's house.

a contrary intention appears, be deemed to pass the easement to the person in whose favour the transfer or devolution takes place.

90 I. C. 976. A customary right is not an easement in the legal sense of that term. Customary rights have their origin in grant or prescription but it is not necessary that in every case there should be evidence from which a lost grant may be presumed. Nor is it necessary that the custom should be traced back for the whole time necessary to make it immemorial. 36 C. L. J. 280 = 1923 Cal. 200. What may suffice to establish a customary easement may be wholly insufficient to establish an easement by prescription and vice versa. The two rights are different although the result may be the same. Consequently where a claim of easement is based on a prescriptive title it is not open to the appellate Court to treat the cases as one based on custom. 1924 Lah. 275. Nature of customary easement—See 18 Mad. 320. The distinction between a customary right and customary easement is seen in 46 Mad. 866 = 45 M. L. J. 333 = 18 L. W. 366 = 1924 Mad. 197. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Zemindars in U. P. cannot arbitrarily close a right of way used by occupancy tenants for more than 30 years, 1924 All. 159. A customary right of burial can exist, apart from provisions of this Act; hence where it is found that a certain family used a grave as a burial ground customarily it was held not an easement but a customary right in the nature of an easement, 31 I. C. 805 = 13 A. L. J. 1094. (23 B. 666; 17 A. 87, Foll.). Right to privacy is customary right. 10 All. 358; 5 B. H. C. 42; 9 B. H. C. 266; 8 B. H. C. 87; 2 Bom. L. R. 454. The purdah system is generally observed by both Hindus and Mahomedans in the United Provinces except by the lowest classes. 28 I. C. 674 = 13 A. L. J. 361. Whether the houses in question are on the same side of a street or on the opposite side, a right of privacy exists and this right needs more protection when the person who invades it, is opposite to the person whose right of privacy is invaded and there is invasion of the right of privacy if a person constructs a room in the upper storey of his house overlooking another person's house. 24 I. C. 683. In the province of Gujarat there is a customary usage which makes an invasions of the privacy as an actionable wrong. 55 I. C. 949 = 22 Bom. L. R. 226. A plff. is entitled to an injunction restraining his neighbour from opening such windows and ventilators as would infringe the plff.'s right of privacy which he is entitled to by custom. 74 P. L. A plaintiff cannot ask the defendant to close his windows on the ground of the invasion of his right of privacy when it is proved that the said windows do not look out upon the plff.'s house but upon certain plots of land acquired by him less than twenty years. 15 I. The right to cut sugarcane, to extract, boil and concentrate the juice on a piece of land in the abadi is in the nature of a customary easement and can be acquired by a tenant against the landlord. 26 I. A custom by which earth is taken from a piece of waste land to repair houses in a village after inundations is not unreasonable. A. I. R. 1924 P. 303. (b) A, as owner of a certain house, has a right of way to and from it. For the purpose of passing to and from the house the right may be used, not only by A but by the members of his family, his guests, lodgers, servants, workmen, visitors and customers; for this is a purpose connected with the enjoyment of the dominant heritage. So, if A lets the house, he may use the right of way for the purpose of collecting the rent and seeing that the house is kept in repair.

S. 22 does not deal with the question whether the servient owner, when once the right of way has been defined, can substitute a new way and reconquer must therefore be had to the common law. (Ibid.) The owner of a private right of way is entitled to enter the way at one and the same place only, and not at any other. 42 Cal. 164=20 C. L. J. 97=26 I. C. 213=18 C. W. N. 1296. SCOPE OF SECTION. -No man can impose a new or increased restriction or burden on his neighbour by his own act, and an owner of an easement cannot, by altering his dominant tenement, increase his right. 24 C. W. N. 896=58 I. C. 854=32 C. L. J. 27; 97 I. C. 169=24 A. L. J. 810.

(c) A, as the owner of a paper-mill, acquires a right to pollute a stream by pouring in the refuse-liquor produced by making in the mill paper from rags. He may pollute the stream by pouring in similar liquor produced by making in the mill paper by a new process from bamboos, provided that he does not substantially increase the amount, or injuriously change the nature, of the pollution.

PROCEDURE.—If the dominant owner exceeds the right, injunction and not damages is the proper remedy. 28 I. C. 169.

Sec. 24. (a) A has an easement to lay pipes in B's land to convey water to A's cistern. A may enter the land in order to mend the pipes, but he must restore the surface to its original state.

(b) A has an easement of a drain through B's land. The sewer with which the drain communicates is altered. A may enter upon B's land and alter the drain, to adapt it to the new sewer provided that he does not thereby impose any additional burden on B's land.

(c) A, as owner of a certain house, has a right of way over B's land. The way is out of air, or a tree is blown down and falls across it. A may enter on B's land and repair the way or remove the tree from it.

(d) A, as owner of a certain field, has a right of way over B's land. B renders the way impassable. A may deviate from the way and pass over the adjoining land of B, provided that the deviation is reasonable.

(e) A, as owner of a certain house, has a right of way over B's field. A may remove rocks to clear the way.

(f) A has an easement of support from B's wall. The wall gives way. A may enter upon B's land and repair the wall.

(g) A has an easement to have his land flooded by means of a dam in B's stream. The dam is swept away by an inundation. A may enter upon B's land and repair the dam.

liability for expenses necessary for preservation of easement.

25. The expenses incurred in constructing works, or making repairs, or doing any other act necessary for the use or preservation of an easement, must be defrayed by the dominant owner.

26. Where an easement is enjoyed by means of an artificial work, the dominant owner is liable to make compensation for any damage to the servient heritage arising from the want of repair of such work.

liability for damage from want of repair.

27. The servient owner is not bound to do anything for the benefit of the dominant heritage and he is entitled, as against the dominant owner, to use the servient heritage in any way consistent with the enjoyment of the easement; but he must not do any act tending to restrict the easement or to render its exercise less convenient.

(a) A, as owner of a house, has a right to lead water and send sewage through B's land. B is bound as servient owner to clear the watercourse or scour the sewer.

(b) A grants a right of way through his land to B as owner of a field. A may feed his cattle on the grass growing on the way, provided that B's right of way is not thereby obstructed, but he must not build a wall at the end of his land so as to prevent B from going beyond it, nor must he narrow the way so as to render the exercise of the right less easy than it was at the date of the grant.

(c) A, in respect of his house, is entitled to an easement of support from B's wall. B is not bound as servient owner to keep the wall standing and in repair. But he must not pull down or weaken the wall so as to make it incapable of rendering the necessary support.

(d) A in respect of his mill, is entitled to a watercourse through B's land. B must not drive trees so as to obstruct the watercourse.

(e) A, in respect of his house, is entitled to a certain quantity of light passing over B's land. B must not plant trees so as to obstruct the passage to A's windows of that quantity of light.

28 With respect to the extent of easements and the mode of their enjoyment, the following provisions shall have effect:—

effect:—

An easement of necessity is co-extensive with the necessity as it existed when the easement was imposed.

easement of necessity.

Sec. 24, Ill. (d).—Public rights of way are not easements but arise from a dedication to the public evidenced by a deed or implied from custom and user. There can be no right of easement in favour of an indeterminate body of persons. I. C. 368=14 N. L. R. 78. Where the owner of lands renders a way impassable, a person having a right to use the way may deviate from the way, pass over adjoining land of the owner provided the deviation is reasonable. (a) a right of way of any one kind does not include a right of way of any other kind ;

(b) the extent of a right to the passage of light or air to a certain window, door or other opening, imposed by a testamentary or non-testamentary instrument, is the quantity of light or air that entered the opening at the time the testator died or the non-testamentary instrument was made ;

(c) the extent of a prescriptive right to the passage of light or air to a certain window, door or other opening is that quantity of light or air which has been accustomed to enter that opening during the whole of the prescriptive period irrespectively of the purposes for which it has been used ;

(d) the extent of a prescriptive right to pollute air or water is the extent of the pollution at the commencement of the period of user on completion of which the right arose ; and

(e) the extent of every other prescriptive right and the mode of its enjoyment must be determined by the accustomed user of the right.

But when a particular mode of user is not heavier than the mode of user proved, the plaintiff may be allowed to use it in that particular way, e.g., the user of a way for horses may include the right to lead smaller animals as well, but not larger animals or loads, 65 I. C. 579. The user of a path for the passage of men, carts and palanquins, may also entitle the dominant owner to take cattle, processions and corpses along the path. (Ibid.)

Sec. 28 (b), (c) and (d).—As regards an easement of light, there is no rule defining the measure of the dominant owner's right or requiring an angle of 45 degrees through which the rays of the sun are to be received, 1923 All. 542. To sustain an action, there must be a substantial privation of light enough to render the occupation of the house uncomfortable according to ordinary notions, 1923 All. 542. See also 20 M. L. (a) A, the owner of a mill, has acquired a prescriptive right to divert to his mill part of the of a stream. A alters the machinery of his mill. He cannot thereby increase his right to water.

(b) A has acquired an easement to pollute a stream by carrying on a manufacture on its by which a certain quantity of foul matter is discharged into it. A extends his works and by increases the quantity discharged. He is responsible to the lower riparian owners for injury by such increase.

(c) A, as the owner of a farm, has a right to take, for the purpose of manuring his farm, which have fallen from the trees on B's land. A buys a field and unites it to his farm. A is hereby entitled to take leaves to manure this field.

30. Where a dominant heritage is divided between two or more persons, the easement becomes annexed to each of the shares, but not so as to increase substantially the burden of the servient heritage: provided that such annexation is consistent the terms of the instrument, decree or revenue-proceeding (if any) under which division was made, and, in the case of prescriptive rights, with the user during the prescriptive period.

(b) A house to which is annexed the right of drawing water from a well to the extent of fifty buckets a day is divided into two distinct heritages, one of which is granted to A, the other to B. A and B are each entitled, in respect of his heritage, to draw from the well fifty buckets a day; but amount drawn by both must not exceed fifty buckets a day.

(c) A, having in respect of his house an easement of light, divides the house into three distinct parts. Each of these continues to have the right to have its windows unobstructed.

31. In the case of excessive user of an easement the servient owner may, without prejudice to any other remedies to which he may be entitled, obstruct the user, but only on the servient heritage: provided that such user cannot be obstructed when the obstruction would interfere with the lawful enjoyment of the easement.

It is impossible to obstruct the passage of light to the new windows without also obstructing the passage of light to the ancient windows. B cannot obstruct the excessive

CHAPTER IV.

THE DISTURBANCE OF EASEMENTS.

32. The owner or occupier of the dominant heritage is entitled to enjoy the easement without disturbance by any other person.

30.—If two houses were common and a right of way belonged to the parties, the right being common, it must be presumed, in absence of any express agreement between the parties, that at partition, the passage was made for common enjoyment. 36 Bom. 379 = C. 818 = 14 Bom. L. R. 418. When a dominant heritage is divided between two or more persons the easement becomes annexed to each of the shares, provided that such annexation is consistent with the terms of the instrument under which the division was made. (1923) 17 N. 454 = 18 L. W. 404 = 1923 Mad. 674. Where the same grantor conveys in the course of one transaction portions of his property, to several grantees, each grantee is presumed in law to take his portion subject to such rights, as a right of way as are created in favour of the other grantees. 38 Mad. 141 = 19 I. C. 80 = 24 M. L. J. 552. "Appurtenances" when used in conveyance include a right of way. (Ibid.)

A, as owner of a house, has a right of way over B's land, C unlawfully enters on B's land and obstructs A in his right of way. A may sue C for compensation, not for the entry, but for the obstruction.

33. The owner of any interest in the dominant heritage, or the occupier of such heritage, may institute a suit for compensation for the disturbance of the easement or of any right accessory thereto: provided that the disturbance has actually caused substantial damage to the plaintiff.

Explanation I.—The doing of any act likely to injure the plaintiff by affecting the evidence of the easement, or by materially diminishing the value of the dominant heritage, is substantial damage within the meaning of this section and section 34.

Explanation II.—Where the easement disturbed is a right to the free passage of light passing to the openings in a house, no damage is substantial within the meaning of this section, unless it falls within the first explanation, or interferes materially with the physical comfort of the plaintiff, or prevents him from carrying on his accustomed business in the dominant heritage as beneficially as he had done previous to instituting the suit.

Explanation III.—Where the easement disturbed is a right to the free passage of air to the openings in a house, damage is substantial within the meaning of this section if it interferes materially with the physical comfort of the plaintiff, though it is not injurious to his health.

Illustrations.

(a) A places a permanent obstruction in a path over which B, as tenant of C's house has, a right of way. This is substantial damage to C, for it may affect the evidence of his reversionary right to the easement.

(b) A, as owner of a house, has a right to walk along one side of B's house. B builds a verandah overhanging the way about ten feet from the ground, and so as not to occasion any inconvenience to foot-passengers using the way. This is not substantial damage to A.

34. The removal of the means of support to which a dominant owner is entitled does not give rise to a right to recover compensation, unless and until substantial damage is actually sustained.

35. Subject to the provisions of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, sections 52 to 57 (both inclusive) an injunction may be granted to restrain the disturbance of an easement—

Sec. 33.—PRINCIPLES AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

—The law does not concern itself with a disturbance which is trivial or immaterial. Where the plaintiff comes into Court at once, when the disturbance is threatened and the defendant completes his structures pending the suit, he does so at his own peril. 28 I. C. 962 = 13 A. L. J. 385. As to what amounts to disturbance, see also 7 Bom. L. R. 825; Ibid. 73; 5 All. 369 = 3 A. W. N. 58; 8 Bom. 95; 39 Cal. 59; Bom. P. J. (1895) 272; 3 N. L. R. 114. Extent of damage depends on mode of life and place of living. 97 I. C. 500 = A. I. R. 1926 All. 764 (A. I. R. 1924 All. 392, Rel. on). The test of interference with the right to light and air is whether the obstruction amounts to a nuisance. 23 I. C. 959. See also 97 I. C. 500 = A. I. R. 1926 All. 764. There is no actionable wrong unless there is a material interference with the physical comfort of the plaintiff or other substantial damage. 33 I. C. 615 = 9 S. L. R. 101 (33 M. 327, and Coll's case (1904) A. C. 179, Foll.) If in spite of an obstruction being created by the servient owner the same quantity of light still penetrates the ancient windows of a dominant owner the latter has no remedy in equity. 33 I. C. 615 = 9 S. L. R. 101. Where the plaintiff has a right to pass his rain and sewage water across the defendant's land to the public drain, the diversion of the old route taken by the water in former days and passing it by another route does not constitute an obstruction to the exercise of plaintiff's right. 30 I. C. 508 = 13 A. L. J. 821. Grazing rights include right to have sufficient pasturage left. A. I. R. 1925 Lah. 216 = 92 I. C. 403.

PARTIES.—As a general rule, where a person claims a right of easement on a servient tenement all the owners of the servient tenement ought to be made parties, as any decree in the absence of a necessary party declaring a right of easement would be infructuous. 1924 Cal. 369. But there are cases which may well be taken as exceptions to the general rule, such as where any of the co-sharers took no part in obstructing the plaintiff's right. (Ibid.)

REMEDY.—Where an easement has been disturbed, plaintiff is entitled to an injunction rather than damages. 28 I. C. 962 = 13 A. L. J. 385. S. 33 allows compensation to be recovered provided that the disturbance has actually caused a substantial damage to the plaintiff. (Ibid.)

Sec. 31.—As to the principles on which courts will grant injunction in respect of easements, see Specific Relief Act, Ss. 52-57 and notes there-

(a) if the easement is actually disturbed,—when compensation for such disturbance might be recovered under this Chapter :

(b) if the disturbance is only threatened or intended,—when the act threatened or intended must necessarily, if performed, disturb the easement.

Abatement of obstruction of easement.

36. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 24, the dominant owner cannot himself abate a wrongful obstruction of an easement.

CHAPTER V.

THE EXTINCTION, SUSPENSION AND REVIVAL OF EASEMENT.

37. When, from a cause which preceded the imposition of an easement, the person by whom it was imposed ceases to have any right in the servient heritage, the easement is extinguished.

Exception.—Nothing in this section applies to an easement lawfully imposed by a mortgagor in accordance with section 10.

(b) A, in 1860, let Sultanpur to B for thirty years from the date of the lease. B, in 1861, imposes an easement on the land in favour of C, who enjoys the easement peaceably and openly as an easement without interruption for twenty-nine years. B's interest in Sultanpur then ends, and with it C's easement.

(c) A and B, tenants of C, have permanent transferable interests in their respective holdings. A imposes on his holding an easement to draw water from a tank for the purpose of irrigating B's

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—LIGHT AND AIR.—The decree issuing injunction about obstruction to light and air should be given in general terms. 25 Bom. L. R. 239=1923 Bom. 196. The dominant owner acquires by prescription so much light as is sufficient for the ordinary purposes of inhabitancy or business according to the ordinary notions of mankind with reference to the locality and surroundings concerned; and the amount received during the period of prescription is immaterial. 57 I. C. 706. It is only substantial privation of light enough to make the occupation of the house uncomfortable, or unfit for business according to the ordinary notions of mankind which gives rise to an actionable claim. The mere fact that light received has become less, gives no right. 57 I. C. 706; 42 Cal. 45=18 C. W. N. 933=41 I. A. 180=27 M. L. J. 117 (P. C.). See also 97 I. C. 500=A. I. R. 1926 All. 764 (As to test of nuisance, see 96 I. C. 546=9 N. L. J. 136=A. I. R. 1926 Nag. 474). In India the right to air is more important than the right to light; damages will be awarded even when the injury is not detrimental to the existence and use of the property. 57 I. C. 706; 19 I. C. 843=6 S. L. R. 255.

WINDOWS AND SHUTTERS.—The right to open and shut windows and shutters into adjoining land can be acquired as an easement. The owner of such an easement is entitled to restrain the servient owner by an injunction from interfering with his rights by erecting a wall or building close to the boundaries. 45 I. C. 435=7 L.

W. 332. The Court should issue a mandatory injunction directing defendant to lower the roof of his house so as to enable plaintiff to shut and open the window freely. Ibid.

VENTILATORS.—When by the closing of certain ventilators in a house a thorough draft for the house and effective ventilators are not allowed, the injury is so serious that the house will be substantially useless. 19 I. C. 843=6 S. L. R. 255.

COMPOUND WALL.—Where the raising of a compound wall makes the habitation of a neighbour's room uncomfortable so much of the wall as produced this effect will be removed. 57 I. C. 706. See also (1926) M. W. N. 195=51 M. L. J. 304.

RIGHT OF WAY.—It is only the inconvenience to the public that justifies restriction of right of way. 2 Lah. L. J. 499.

WATER RIGHTS.—An occupier of abutting lands cannot be restrained in his exercise of his natural rights, simply because he becomes a lessee of other lands not abutting. 24 I. C. 685=(1914) M. W. N. 481. Where the water of a stream has been used for irrigating only abutting lands, the owner of abutting lands cannot be restrained from using more than a reasonable quantity by another to whom no material diminution in supply is caused. (Ibid.). The actual and not a mere threatened use of the water flowing through a natural stream to irrigate lands other than those abutting on the stream gives a right to sue. (Ibid.).

(d) A mortgages Sultanpur to B, and lawfully imposes an easement on the land in favour of C in accordance with the provisions of section 10. The land is sold to D in satisfaction of the mortgage-debt. The easement is not thereby extinguished.

38. An easement is extinguished when the dominant owner releases it, expressly or impliedly, to the servient owner.

Extinction by release.

Such release can be made only in the circumstances and to the extent in and to which the dominant owner can alienate the dominant heritage.

An easement may be released as to part only of the servient heritage.

Explanation I.—An easement is impliedly released—

(a) where the dominant owner expressly authorises an act of a permanent nature to be done on the servient heritage, the necessary consequence of which is to prevent his future enjoyment of the easement, and such act is done in pursuance of such authority :

(b) where any permanent alteration is made in the dominant heritage of such a nature as to show that the dominant owner intended to cease to enjoy the easement in future.

Explanation II.—Mere non-user of an easement is not an implied release within the meaning of this section.

Illustrations.

(a) A, B and C are co-owners of a house to which an easement is annexed. A, without the consent of B and C, releases the easement. This release is effectual only as against A and his legal representative.

(b) A grants B an easement over A's land for the beneficial enjoyment of his house. B assigns the house to C. B then purports to release the easement. The release is ineffectual.

(c) A, having the right to discharge his eavesdroppings into B's yard, expressly authorizes B to build over this yard to a height which will interfere with the discharge. B builds accordingly. A's easement is extinguished to the extent of the interference.

(d) A, having an easement of right to a window, builds up that window with bricks and mortar so as to manifest an intention to abandon the easement permanently. The easement is impliedly released.

(e) A, having a projecting roof by means of which he enjoys an easement to discharge eavesdroppings on B's land permanently alters the roof, so as to direct the rain-water into a different channel and discharge it on C's land. The easement is impliedly released.

39. An easement is extinguished when the servient owner, in exercise of a power reserved in this behalf, revokes the easement.

Extinction by revocation.

Extinction on expiration of limited period or happening of dissolving condition.

Extinction on termination of necessity.

40. An easement is extinguished where it has been imposed for a limited period, or acquired on condition that it shall become void on the performance or non-performance of a specified act, and the period expires or the condition is fulfilled.

41. An easement of necessity is extinguished when the necessity comes to an end.

Illustration.

A grants B a field inaccessible except by passing over A's adjoining land. B afterwards purchases a part of that land over which he can pass to his field. The right of way over A's land which B had acquired is extinguished.

Sec. 38.—An agreement to build a common wall with holes indicating permission to end the rafters of the next storey which may be constructed does not imply consent to close ventilators by building such next storey. 1923 Lah. 249. Permanent alteration in the dominant heritage must be such "as to show that the dominant owner intended to cease to enjoy the easement in future, and unless such an intention is established the dominant owner cannot be disentitled to the easement on the ground of non-user. 25 I. C. 383. An agreement by one of several co-owners of a dominant tenement to effect a release of an easement is not effectual against the other co-owners. 19 I. C. 908=6 S. L. R. 265. On this section, see also 35 Cal. 889; 26 Bom. 374; 7 I. C. 813; 8 M. L. T. 292.

Extinction of useless easement.

42. An easement is extinguished when it becomes incapable of being at any time and under any circumstances beneficial to the dominant owner.

43. Where, by any permanent change in the dominant heritage, the burden on the servient heritage is materially increased and cannot be reduced by the servient owner without interfering with the lawful enjoyment of the easement, the easement is extinguished, unless—

(a) it was intended for the beneficial enjoyment of the dominant heritage, to whatever extent the easement should be used; or

(b) the injury caused to the servient owner by the change is so slight that no reasonable person would complain of it; or

(c) the easement is an easement of necessity.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to an easement entitling the dominant owner to support of the dominant heritage.

Extinction on permanent alteration of servient heritage by superior force.

44. An easement is extinguished where the servient heritage is by superior force so permanently altered that the dominant owner can no longer enjoy such easement:

Provided that, where a way of necessity is destroyed by superior force, the dominant owner has a right to another way over the servient heritage, and the provisions of section 14 apply to such way.

Illustrations.

(a) A grants to B, as the owner of a certain house, a right to fish in a river running through A's land. The river changes its course permanently and runs through C's land. B's easement is extinguished.

(b) Access to a path over which A has a right of way is permanently cut off by an earthquake. A's right is extinguished.

Extinction by destruction of either heritage.

45. An easement is extinguished when either the dominant or the servient heritage is completely destroyed.

Illustration.

A has a right of way over a road running along the foot of a sea-cliff. The road is washed away by a permanent encroachment of the sea. A's easement is extinguished.

46. An easement is extinguished when the same person becomes entitled to the absolute ownership of the whole of the dominant and servient heritages.

Extinction by unity of ownership.

Sec. 42.—See also notes under S. 13 supra.

Easement of necessity is one without which the tenement cannot be used at all and not merely one which is necessary for its more convenient enjoyment. 50 I. C. 756. An easement which ceases to be beneficial to the dominant owner might become extinguished. 50 I. C. 756 (33 All. 461, Ref.).

Sec. 43.—Whether an additional burden alleged to have been imposed on the servient tenement could be reduced without difficulty to its original limit by the construction or alteration of a structure, the easement is not extinguished. 44 A. 343 = 20 A. L. J. 202 = 1922 All. 28. An easement of light and air for windows is not extinguished on demolition of a wall which is re-built without delay. 24 Bom. L. R. 83 = 46 B. 448 = 1922 Bom. 3. The owner of an easement is precluded from increasing his right on the alteration of his dominant tenement. In a case, where by change of height, eaves discharge water with increased force, it is held that an additional burden is put upon the plaintiff's land. 32 C. L. J. 27 = 58 I. C. 854 = 24 C. W. N. 896 (Burden of proof that no additional burden is imposed lies on dominant owner). An owner of the dominant tenement had a right to drop water from his eaves at a distance of seven feet height. He increased the height three times and allowed water to drop through pipes. Held, that his easement was extinguished by the increase of burden. 58 I. C. 967. Dominant owner increasing height of water spout dropping water on servient tenement by 4 feet—Easement is not destroyed. 102 I. C. 447 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 492. On this section, see also 7 Cal. 453.

Sec. 45.—See 7 Bom. L. R. 352.

Sec. 46.—As to extinction of easements by merger, see A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 92. The unity of the dominant and servient estates in the same person extinguished the easement appurtenant to the dominant estate for no person can have an easement in land which he himself owns. But unity of title will not extinguish an easement, unless the ownership of the two estates be co-extensive, equal in validity, quality and other circumstances. If there has been unity of possession merely and not unity of seisin for estates in fee simple an estate which has been thereby suspended will revive on severance of the union, but if there has been unity of seisin for estates in fee simple and not unity of possession merely, all easements are absolutely extinguished and will

(a) A, as the owner of a house, has a right of way over B's field. A mortgages his house, and B mortgages his field to C. Then C forecloses both mortgages and becomes thereby absolute owner of both house and field. The right of way is extinguished.

(b) The dominant owner acquires only part of the servient heritage : the easement is not extinguished, except in the case illustrated in section 41.

(c) The servient owner acquires the dominant heritage in connection with a third person ; the easement is not extinguished.

(d) The separate owners of two separate dominant heritages jointly acquire the heritage which is servient to the two separate heritages : the easements are not extinguished.

(e) The joint owners of the dominant heritage jointly acquire the servient heritage : the easement is extinguished.

(f) A single right of way exists over two servient heritages for beneficial enjoyment of a single dominant heritage. The dominant owner acquires only one of the servient heritages. The easement is not extinguished.

(g) A has a right of way over B's road. B dedicates the road to the public. A's right of way is not extinguished.

47. A continuous easement is extinguished when it totally ceases to be enjoyed as such for an unbroken period of twenty years.

A discontinuous easement is extinguished when for a like period, it has not been enjoyed as such.

Such period shall be reckoned, in the case of a continuous easement, from the day on which its enjoyment was obstructed by the servient owner, or rendered impossible by the dominant owner ; and, in the case of a discontinuous easement, from the day on which it was last enjoyed by any person as dominant owner :

Provided that if, in the case of a discontinuous easement, the dominant owner, within such period, registers, under the Indian Registration Act, 1877,¹ a declaration of his intention to retain such easement, it shall not be extinguished until a period of twenty years has elapsed from the date of the registration.

Where an easement can be legally enjoyed only at a certain place, or at certain times, or between certain hours, or for a particular purpose, its enjoyment during the said period at another place, or at other times, or between other hours, or for another purpose, does not prevent its extinction under this section.

The circumstance that, during the said period, no one was in possession of the servient heritage, or that the easement could not be enjoyed, or that a right accessory thereto was enjoyed, or that the dominant owner was not aware of its existence, or that he enjoyed it in ignorance of his right to do so, does not prevent its extinction under this section.

An easement is not extinguished under this section—

(a) where the cessation is in pursuance of a contract between the dominant and servient owners ;

(b) where the dominant heritage is held in co-ownership, and one of the co-owners enjoys the easement within the said period ; or not revive, unless they are recreated on severance of the former dominant and servient estates. 50 Cal. 356 = 36 C. L. J. 161 = 1923 Cal. 8. See also A. W. N. (1887) 260. Right of ownership and easement are incompatible. A. W. N. (1883) 68.

Sec. 47. PRINCIPLE OF SECTION.—See 45 Bom. 80 = 57 I. C. 143 = 22 Bom. L. R. 415. An easement is not extinguished where its user is suspended in pursuance of a contract between the dominant and the servient owners. A person who purchases the servient tenement in an execution sale with knowledge of the easement is bound thereby. 56 P. W. R. 1918 = 45 I. C. 618 = 34 P. L. R. 1918.

WATER.—Flowing of water continuously through a rill, Cuttai and another water-course may form a natural stream in which easement rights may be acquired as against Government. 31 I. C. 82. If the Government wished to claim right to water flowing through pattah land they can do it only when classifying the bed separately as poramboke ; otherwise the ryot can retain it as his property. 31 I. C. 982. Whether a prescriptive right to light and air is lost through abandonment, depends on the intention of the parties to be gathered from the circumstances and the interval of non-user. 49 I. C. 752. It is not necessary for the building to enjoy the light, that it should be identical with that which acquired the right, either in structure or the purposes for which it is to be used. 49 I. C. 752 (30 Cal. 503 ; 3 C. W. N. 28, Ref.). On this section, see also 8 M. L. T. 292 ; 5 M. L. T. 216 ; 18 I. C. 85. An easement of light, and air for windows is not extinguished on demolition of a wall which is re-built without delay. 24 Bom. L. R. 83 = 46 B. 448 = 1922 Bom. 3.

(c) where the easement is a necessary easement.

Where several heritages are respectively subject to rights of way for the benefit of a single heritage, and the ways are continuous, such rights shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be a single easement.

Illustration.

A has, as annexed to his house, rights of way from the high road thither over the heritages X and Z and the intervening heritage Y. Before the twenty years expire A exercises his right of way over X. His rights of way over Y and Z are not extinguished.

Extinction of accessory rights. 48. When an easement is extinguished, the rights (if any) accessory thereto are also extinguished.

Illustration.

A has, an easement to draw water from B's well. As accessory thereto he has a right of way over B's land to and from the well. The easement to draw water is extinguished under section 47. The right of way is also extinguished.

49. An easement is suspended when the dominant owner becomes entitled to possession of the servient heritage for a limited interest therein, or when the servient owner becomes entitled to possession of the dominant heritage for a limited interest therein.

50. The servient owner has no right to require that an easement be continued ; and, notwithstanding the provisions of section 26, he is not entitled to compensation for damage caused to the servient heritage in consequence of the extinguishment or suspension of the easement, if the dominant owner has given to the servient owner such notice as will enable him, without unreasonable expense, to protect the servient heritage from such damage.

Compensation for damage caused by extinguishment. Where such notice has not been given, the servient owner is entitled to compensation for damage caused to the servient heritage in consequence of such extinguishment or suspension.

Illustration.

A, in exercise of an easement, diverts to his canal the water of B's stream. The diversion continued for many years, and during that time the bed of the stream partly fills up. A then abandons his easement, and restores the stream to its ancient course. B's land is consequently flooded. B sues A for compensation for the damage caused by the flooding. It is proved that A gave B a month's notice of his intention to abandon the easement, and that such notice was sufficient to enable B, without unreasonable expense, to have prevented the damage. The suit must be dismissed.

51. An easement extinguished under section 45 revives (a) when the destroyed heritage is, before twenty years have expired, restored by the deposit of alluvion ; (b) when the destroyed heritage is a servient building and before twenty years have expired such building is rebuilt

Sec. 49.—See 16 I. C. 365=(1913) M.W.N. 95.

Sec. 50.—The owner of a servient tenement over which the dominant owner had acquired a right to discharge his water, cannot insist that the water should be continued to be so discharged. 46 I. C. 24. See also 2 C. L. R. 141. An easement exists only for the benefit of the dominant tenement and a servient owner gets no right to insist on its continuance or to sue for damages on its abandonment. 17 C. W. N. 1066=20 I. C. 815=18 C. L. J. 131. As to the natural right to collect and retain surface water, or to allow it to flow on naturally to the lower lands, see 4 P. L. T. 81=2 P. 110=1922 (Pat.) 305=1923 P. 65. The owner of the servient tenement acquires no reciprocal rights as against the owner of the dominant tenement with regard to the flow of surface water, that is, water not passing through a defined channel. 4 P. L. T. 81=2 P. 110=(1922) Pat. 305=1923 P. 65. The owner of the servient tenement cannot compel the owner of the dominant tenement to continue the exercise of his right even where that right has been exercised uninterruptedly for over 20 years and even if its exercise should be beneficial to the servient tenement. (Ibid.) On this section, see also 1 Luck C. 238.

Sec. 51.—[See also notes under S. 49.] When a dominant tenement is rebuilt, the dominant owner has no right to impose a greater burden on the servient tenement than the prescriptive quantity of the right enjoyed 33 I. C. 615=9 S. L. R. 101. Blocking up an old window and building another of the same dimensions in another place is an imposition of a burden on the servient tenement which was not existing till then. (Ibid.) But the right of the dominant owner under the common law to free access of light and air through an ancient window is not lost by shifting the window backwards or forwards. (Ibid.) upon the same site; and (c) when the destroyed heritage is a dominant building and before twenty years have expired, such building is rebuilt upon the same site and in such a manner as not to impose a greater burden on the servient heritage.

An easement extinguished under section 46 revives when the grant or bequest by which unity of ownership was produced is set aside by the decree of a competent Court. A necessary easement extinguished under the same section revives when the unity of ownership ceases from any other cause.

A suspended easement revives if the cause of suspension is removed before the right is extinguished under section 47.

Illustration.

A, as the absolute owner of field Y, has a right of way thither over B's field Z. A obtains from B a lease of Z for twenty years. The easement is suspended so long as A remains lessee of Z. But when A assigns the lease to C, or surrenders it to B, the right of way revives.

a right to do, or continue to do, in or upon the immoveable property of the grantor, something which would, in the absence of such right, be unlawful, and such right does not amount to an easement or an interest in the property, the right is called a license.

SCHEDULE—ENACTMENTS REPEALED.

THE INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT, (1 OF 1872).

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate, define and amend the law of evidence ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

PART I.

RELEVANCY OF FACTS.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called THE INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT, 1872.

Extent.

It extends to the whole of British India, and applies to all judicial proceedings in or before any Court, including Courts-martial [other than Courts-martial convened under the Army Act]¹ [or the Air Force Act]² but not to affidavits presented to any Court or officer, nor to proceedings before an arbitrator and it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1872.

Commencement of Act.

Sec. 1.—¹ The words in brackets were inserted by Act XVIII of 1919.

² Inserted by Act X of 1927.

But see the Army Act. (44 & 45 Vict. C. 58), S. 127, which is as follows:—

“A Court-martial under this Act shall not, as respects the conduct of its proceedings, or the reception or rejection of evidence, or as respects any other matter or thing whatsoever, be subject to the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, or to any Act, law or ordinance of any legislature whatsoever, other than the Parliament of the United Kingdom.”

Act I of 1872 is (subject to such modifications as the Governor General in Council may direct) applicable to all proceedings before Indian Marine Courts—see Act XIV of 1887, S. 68.

Rules in this Act are rules of logic, (1914) M. W.N. 931. Act is not exhaustive. 39 C. 164 = 15 C.W.N. 1053 = 12 I.C. 273 = 12 Cr. L. J. 505 = 14 C. L. J. 375. See also 39 M. 449; 14 I. C. 721. The provisions of the Evidence Act are not exhaustive of the rules of evidence and the Courts can invoke the aid of the principles of jurisprudence of English law as supplementing and explaining the rules of evidence given in the Act. 39 Mad. 449 = 28 M. L. J. 329 = 28 I. C. 518 = 16 Cr. L. J. 294. The provisions of the Act are independent of the Rules of procedure contained in Crim. Pro. Code, and must have full scope, unless clearly repealed or altered by another statute. 7 Iah. 84 = 94 I. C. 901 = 27 Punj. L. R. 583 = A.I.R. 1926 Lah. 88. The records of the German Court authenticated in the manner prescribed by Ss. 14 and 15 of the English Extradition Act are admissible in evidence. 39 Cal. 164 = 15 C. W. N. 1753 = 12 I. C. 273. Evidence properly admitted for one purpose must be admissible for all purposes in the cause. 37 Bom. 122 = 40 I. A. 1 = 24 M. L. J. 176 = 17 C. W. N. 358. (P. C.) (O. A. from 12 Bom. L. R. 316 = 5 I. C. 457). See also 11 Bom. L. R. 926 = 4 I. C. 652. No court has a right to look at any document or any papers other than those on the record unless the Judge gives to the parties to the suit an opportunity of being heard and making their submission with regard to what is contained in documents outside the record to which the Judge desires to refer. 1923 Cal. 194. Conjecture should not be the basis of a judgment. 1924 Nag. 363. Statements which are not admissible in evidence cannot be rendered admissible by consent of parties. 1923 Lah. 630. See also 1924 P. 284; 36 I. C. 906. Omission to object to the reception of evidence does not make irrelevant evidence relevant and the objection can be taken on second appeal. 44 Bom. 192 = 55 I. C. 316 = 22 Bom. L. R. 57. See also 47 M. L. J. 640; (1924) Nag. 358; 79 I. C. 1029 = 1924 All. 918. See also 40 I. C. 553. Where a piece of evidence not proved in the proper manner has been admitted without objections the opposite party cannot challenge it at a later stage. But the principle on which unobjected evidence, is admitted, does not apply where evidence has been received without objection in direct contravention of an imperative provision of law. 35 C. L. J. 473 = 27 C. W. N. 134 = 1922 Cal. 160. An objection as to the mode of proof not taken in the courts below cannot be taken for the first time in second appeal. 64 I. C. 266 = 36 C. L. J. 186. An erroneous omission to object to evidence which is irrelevant and consequently inadmissible under any circumstances, does not make it admissible. But the Court will not entertain for the first time in appeal an objection that a document which per se is not admissible in evidence has been improperly admitted in evidence. 45 Cal. 159 = 21 C.W.N. 996. Documentary evidence relevant to the case and admitted without objection in the first Court cannot be objected to in appeal on the ground that it is not admissible for the purposes for which it has been used. 40 I.C. 553. Evidence which is relevant under any circumstances whatsoever must be distinguished from evidence which is inadmissible if certain conditions were fulfilled 9 I.C. 211 = 13 C.L.J. 18; (1 C. W. N. 830 = 19 A. 76, Ref.) In the latter case objection should be taken at the earliest possible stage before the court of first instance and if such objection is not taken the appellate court will not entertain it. 9 I. C. 211 = 13 C. L. J. 18. It is too late in appeal to object to the admissibility in evidence of a document which had been admitted without objection in the First Court. 3 L. 59 = 5 L.L.J. 558 = 1922 L. 281. When at a trial, admissibility of evidence is objected to, it is the duty of the trial judge to decide at once whether it is admissible. If he holds it inadmissible the document should not find a place on the record and assessors or jurors should be warned not to rely on it. 20 Cr. L. J. 305 = 50 I. C. 481 = 98 P. L. R. 1918. A party who did not object to the admissibility of secondary evidence of a registered will even in his appeal memo. cannot be allowed to urge it. 31 I. C. 600 = 184 P. W. R., 1915. Parties, if so minded may ordinarily agree that evidence shall be taken in a particular way. That is not a matter which can be said to affect the jurisdiction of the Court. It is merely that parties allow certain materials to be used as evidence which apart from their consent cannot be so used; 43 M. L. J. 448 = 1922 M. 394. (43 M 609; 38 M. 160 foll.). If a party to suit consents to the recitals in prior judgment being taken as proof of a will, he cannot object to their admissibility on appeal. Ibid. The omission by a party to prevent irrelevant evidence from being admitted will not in the absence of a deliberate consent to waive objections, cure the defect. (19 A. 76 foll.) 36 I.C. 906. When the lower Court has given a finding that the document is legally proved, the appellate Court should sparingly interfere with the finding when no objection was taken at the hearing. 32 I. C. 760. It does not follow that a document is invalid, merely because it may not be admissible in evidence. 1923 Nag. 109. Where a document is admitted without proof but without objection in the trial Court, no objection to its admissibility on the ground of want of formal proof can be taken in appeal. 44 I. C. 422=3 P. L. J. 306. If a document is once admitted in the lower Court without objection no party can take objection to its being referred to by the Court. 36 I. C. 96=10 S.L.R. 4. (11 B. 320 : 34 Cal. 1059 ref.) It is not safe to assume that a case must be false if some of the evidence in support of it appears to be ambiguous or is clearly untrue. There is on some occasions a tendency amongst litigants to back up a good case by false or exaggerated evidence. 24 C. W. N. 626 (P.C.). An appellate tribunal may bring their knowledge of life and business to bear even in cases where in the lower Court contemporary communications and course of business are used, and it can say that evidence given about them at the trial cannot be true. 34 I.C. 273 (P. C.). In a matter of appreciation of evidence and the credibility of witness the opinion of the trial judge should not be lightly disturbed on appeal. 39 B. 386=42 I. A. 119=19 C. W. N. 617=28 M. L. J. 593 (P. C.) (Also 43 Cal. 707=33 I. C. 583 ; 43 I. A. 73 ; 28 C. L. J. 305=48 I. C. 561 ; 39 All. 426=39 I. C. 666 ; 27 I. C. 276=20 C. L. J. 501. Discrepancies in the statements of witnesses on material points should not be lightly passed over, as the value of their testimony is seriously affected by them. 36 All. 187=26 M. L. J. 442=8 C. W. N. 649=23 I. C. 715 (P. C.). As to appreciation of evidence, see also 45 M. L. J. 438=23 C. W. N. 589=77 I. C. 141 (P. C.) Trial judge's opinion of witness when open to criticism on appeal. 76 I. C. 63=46 M. L. J. 334. Low status of witness is not sufficient to discredit him. (1924) M. W. N. 445=80 I. C. 641=1924 P. C. 106. Where the parties to a suit are at issue on a vital question, such as the genuineness of debt's signature to the document sued on, the safe principle is to consider which story fits in with the admitted circumstances and resulting probabilities. The Privy Council upheld the finding of the Chief Court as to the genuineness of the signature, in reversal of the decision of the first Court. 38 Cal. 805=15 C. W. N. 934=13 Bom. L. R. 704=21 M. L. J. 1127=11 I. C. 801=38 I. A. 155 (P. C.). In a dispute as to facts, great weight, naturally attaches to the finding of the trial judge. 15 C. W. N. 717=10 I. C. 963=10 M. L. T. 216 (P. C.). The fact that a witness makes mistakes in identification is no reason for discrediting his evidence in other matters. 45 A. 300=21 A. L. J. 143=24 Cr. L. J. 526=1923 A. 352. In India where references to time are generally mere approximations there is a large margin of honest error. 15 Bom. L. R. 297=19 I. C. 326=14 Cr. L. J. 232. A theory of improbability in order to prevail against positive evidence must be clear and cogent ; it must be such as to justify the rejection of the positive evidence as concocted and unreliable. 24 C. W. N. 860=59 I. C. 814=47 C. 1043 (39 Bom. 388 ; 22 Cal. 519 Ref.) Presumption against misconduct is among the probabilities to be taken into account in estimating the value of evidence and where the character and position of the person is above reproach this probability becomes stronger. The mere fact that this or that thing in a complete transaction is improbable does not count for much as against clear and distinct evidence or reliable witness. 39 Cal. 244=13 I. C. 577=16 C. W. N. 266. The mere fact that the promissory note is stamped with a King Edward stamp does not prove that the note was executed in 1911 and not in 1915, in the absence of any evidence that there were no King Edward stamps in existence in 1915. 1923 Lah. 601. Where a witness keeps quiet for many days after the occurrence and comes forward after the police had made a discovery he is not reliable. 5 Lah. L. J. 325=1923 Lah. 438 (2). Without deliberately intending to tell a lie human beings are prone to believe what they wish, to confound what they believe with what they heard and to ascribe to memory what is merely the result of imagination. 8 O. L. J. 433=1022 Oudh 178. The evidence of respectable persons with special means of knowledge owing to relationship to the parties of the matters they depose to, should not be viewed with suspicion especially in cases where only oral evidence will ordinarily be available. 25 I. C. 660=7 O. L. J. 383. It is a good working rule not to act upon the evidence of persons who are vitally interested in the result of the case, unless, that evidence receives corroboration from surrounding circumstances. A.I.R. 1922 P. 111. Where a party comes into a Court with a story, which cannot be believed in its essential details, it is impossible to rely on a part of the story for the purpose of convicting the accused. 19 Cr. L. J. 877=47 I. C. 73=1918 Pat 288. The maxim falsus in uno falsus in omnibus is a maxim of ancient origin which is not now implicitly followed by Courts in the appreciation of evidence. It is the duty of the Court to sift the evidence and separate the truth from the falsehood, if it can, 1 Bur. L. J. 212=1923 Rang. 30. Circumstantial evidence in order to justify a conviction must be exhaustive and must exclude the possibility of guilt of any other person or must point conclusively to the complicity of the accused. But "exhaustive" does not mean that every incident short of the criminal act must be proved by positive evidence, and the "possibility" must not be treated as signifying "physical possibility" but so high a degree of probability that a prudent man considering all the facts and realising that the life or liberty of the accused person depends upon the decision, feels that the accused committed the crime. 18 Cr. L. J. 375=38 I. C. 759=32 P. R. (Cr.) 1916. Circumstantial evidence must like any other evidence be tested and weighed and must prevail or not by its own inherent proving force. 16 M. L. T. 535=1 L. W. 1007 ; 26 I. C. 332=16 Cr. L. J. 38. To justify an inference of guilt from circumstantial evidence the inculpatory facts must be incompatible, with the innocence of the accused and must be incapable of explanation upon any reasonable hypothesis other than that of his guilt, 59 I. C. 358=22 Cr. L. J. 154=1 P. L. T. 684. See also 65 P. L. R. 1917=40 P. W. R. (Cr.) 1917=42 I. C. 129 ; 8 C. W. N. 278 ; 39 I. C. 322. Circumstantial evidence is evidence of circumstances, as opposed to what is called direct evidence. 10 I. C. 929=12 Cr. L. J. 329=

Sometimes the identification of the particular accused by witnesses to whom they are strangers is useful. 17 Cr. L. J. 156=33 I. C. 636. Sec. 2. ENGLISH LAW.—Cl. (1) Precludes the courts from following English Rules of Evidence in future. 7 I. A. 70 (P. C.)

There are however several Acts of Parliament relating to evidence that are in force in India. See Whitley Stoke's Anglo Indian Codes Vol. II pp. 822-827; Field. p. 53, (6th Ed). see also 14 C. 721.

Sec. 3.—¹*Cf.* the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908), S. 2, the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), S. 19, General Acts, Vol. I, and, for a definition of “District Judge,” the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), S. 3 (15), General Acts, Vol. IV.

² Cf. the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897) S. 3 (31), and Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898).

COURT.—The definition of “court” in this Act is framed only for purposes of this Act and should not be extended beyond its legitimate scope. 12 B. 36. “Court” includes both Judge and Jury. 4 C. 483. Registrar or Sub-Registrar, not court under Crim. Pro Code. [Cr. P. C., S. 105(2)]; so also a magistrate holding preliminary enquiry in police investigation. 11 B. 702. The term, “Matters before it” include matters which do not fall within the definition of “Evidence.” 1924 Nag. 385. “Court” includes all magistrates. 36 I. C. 171=34 P. R. (Cr.) 1916.

FACT.—Fact in issue cannot be proved by one not called as a witness. 13 I. C. 220=13 Cr. L. J. 28. Misrepresentation of fact—Fact, meaning of. 36 I. C. 850=18 Cr. L. J. 18=17 P. R. (Cr.) 1916. State of a man's mind is a fact. 29 Ch. D. 483. Possession is a fact. 25 I. C. 510.

“EVIDENCE.”—This is only a definition of the word as used in the Act. 4 C. 492.

“PROVED.”—meaning of. See 107 I. C. 564.

“NOT PROVED.”—Proof in Civil and Criminal cases.—The evidence in criminal cases must be such as to exclude any reasonable doubt of guilt ; if there be any such doubt the accused is entitled to be acquitted. 22 C. 323.

One fact is said to be relevant to another when the one is connected with the other in any of the ways referred to in the provisions of this Act relating to the relevancy of facts.

"Facts in issue." The expression "facts in issue" means and includes—any fact from which, either by itself or in connection with other facts, the existence, non-existence, nature or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceeding, necessarily follows.

Explanation.—Whenever, under the provisions of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure, any Court records an issue of fact, the fact to be asserted or denied in the answer to such issue is a fact in issue.

Illustrations.

A is accused of the murder of B.

At his trial the following facts may be in issue :—

that A caused B's death ;

that A intended to cause B's death ;

that A had received grave and sudden provocation from B ; that A, at the time of doing the act which caused B's death was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing its nature.

"Document" means any matter expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks, or by more than one of those means, intended to be used, or which may be used, for the purpose of recording that matter.

Illustrations.

A writing is a document ;

Words printed, lithographed or photographed are documents :

A map or plan is a document ;

An inscription on a metal plate or stone is a document ;

A caricature is a document.

"Evidence." "Evidence" means and includes—

(1) all statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to matters of fact under inquiry :
such statements are called oral evidence :

(2) all documents produced for the inspection of the Court ; such documents are called documentary evidence.

A fact is said to be proved when, after considering the matters before it, the Court either believes it to exist, or considers its existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it exists.

"Proved."

A fact is said to be disproved when, after considering the matters before it, the Court either believes that it does not exist, or considers its non-existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it does not exist.

"Disproved."

"Not proved."

A fact is said not to be proved when it is neither proved nor disproved.

4. Whenever it is provided by this Act that the Court may presume a fact, it may either regard such fact as proved, unless and until it is disproved, or may call for proof of it.

"May presume."

"Shall presume."

Whenever it is directed by this Act that the Court shall presume a fact, it shall regard such fact as proved, unless and until it is disproved,

When one fact is declared by this Act to be conclusive proof of another, the Court shall, on proof of the one fact, regard the other as proved, and shall not allow evidence to be given for the purpose of disproving it.

"Conclusive proof."

CHAPTER II. OF THE RELEVANCY OF FACTS.

Evidence may be given of facts in issue and relevant facts.

5. Evidence may be given in any suit or proceeding of the existence or non-existence of every fact in issue and of such other facts as are hereinafter declared to be relevant, and of no others.

Explanation.—This section shall not enable any person to give evidence of a fact which he is disentitled to prove by any provision of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure.

Illustrations.

(a) A is tried for the murder of B by beating him with a club with the intention of causing his death.

At A's trial the following facts are in issue :—

A's beating B with the club ;

A's causing B's death by such beating ;

A's intention to cause B's death.

(b) A suitor does not bring with him, and have in readiness for production at the first hearing of the case, a bond on which he relies. This section does not enable him to produce the bond or prove its contest at a subsequent stage of the proceedings, otherwise than in accordance with the conditions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.

6. Facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with a fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, are relevant whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places.

Relevancy of facts forming part of same transaction.

Illustrations.

(a) A is accused of the murder of B by beating him. Whatever was said or done by A or B or the bystanders at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact.

(b) A is accused of waging war against the Queen by taking part in an armed insurrection in which property is destroyed, troops are attacked, and gaols are broken open. The occurrence of these facts is relevant, as forming part of the general transaction, though A may not have been present at all of them.

(c) A sues B for a libel contained in a letter forming part of a correspondence. Letters between the parties relating to the subject out of which the libel arose, and forming part of the correspondence in which it is contained, are relevant facts, though they do not contain the libel itself.

(d) The question is, whether certain goods ordered from B were delivered to A. The goods were delivered to several intermediate persons successively. Each delivery is a relevant fact.

Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect of facts in issue.

7. Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect, immediate or otherwise, of relevant facts, or facts in issue, or which constitute the state of things under which they happened, or which afforded an opportunity for their occurrence or transaction, are relevant.

Illustrations.

(a) The question is, whether A robbed B.

The facts that, shortly before the robbery, B went to a fair with money in his possession, and that he showed it or mentioned the fact that he had it, to third persons, are relevant.

Sec. 5.—SCOPE OF SECTION.—Act does not lay down rules as to the weight of evidence ; it only deals with admissibility (Field, 6th Ed., 64.) In determining the relevancy or otherwise of any evidence the Court cannot consider matters beyond the purview of the Evidence Act. 24 I. C. 165=15 Cr. L. J. 429=12 A. L. J. 285. In a trial for murder the case against the accused should be determined on evidence which is relevant and admissible under the Act. 62 I. C. 545=22 Cr. L. J. 529=22 Bom. L. R. 1274.

Sec. 6.—Principles of the sections relating to relevancy of facts are mere rules of logic (1914) M. W. N. 931. Statement made to Police—Admissibility of. See 50 I. C. 487=20 Cr. L. J. 311=17 A. L. J. 760. Evidence of woman raped—Res gestae. See 4 Lah. L. J. 491, note under S. 8. In a case of rape, a statement made by the complainant immediately after the occurrence another woman is admissible, not as evidence of the truth of the charge alleged, but as corroborating the credibility of the complainant and of the evidence of the consistency of her conduct. 43 I. C. 443=19 Cr. L. J. 155 (F. B.) Hearsay evidence—Statement of by-stander admissibility—In order to make the statement of a by-stander admissible it must have been made as contemplated by S. 6 and illustration (a) to S. 6 at the time the transaction took place or so shortly before or after as to form part of the transaction. The statement would be irrelevant if made after the transaction is complete. The admissibility depends on the continuity of the transaction. 34 P. R. (Cr.) 1914=27 I. C. 664=16 Cr. L. J. 184.

(b) The question is, whether A murdered B.

Marks on the ground, produced by a struggle at or near the place where the murder was committed, are relevant facts.

(c) The question is, whether A poisoned B.

The state of B's health before the symptoms ascribed to poison, and habits of B, known to A, which afforded an opportunity for the administration of poison, are relevant facts.

Motive, preparation and previous or subsequent conduct.

8. Any fact is relevant which shows or constitutes a motive or preparation for any fact in issue or relevant fact.

The conduct of any party, or of any agent to any party, to any suit or proceeding, in reference to such suit or proceeding, or in reference to any fact in issue therein or relevant thereto, and the conduct of any person an offence against whom is the subject of any proceeding, is relevant, if such conduct influences or is influenced by any fact in issue or relevant fact, and whether it was previous or subsequent thereto.

Explanation 1.—The word "conduct" in this section does not include statements, unless those statements accompany and explain acts other than statements; but this explanation is not to affect the relevancy of statements under any other section of this Act.

Explanation 2.—When the conduct of any person is relevant, any statement made to him or in his presence and hearing, which affects such conduct, is relevant.

Illustrations.

(a) A is tried for the murder of B.

The facts that A murdered C, that B knew that A had murdered C, and that B had tried to extort money from A by threatening to make his knowledge public are relevant.

(b) A sues B upon a bond for the payment of money. B denies the making of the bond.

The fact that, at the time when the bond was alleged to be made, B required money for a particular purpose, is relevant.

(c) A is tried for the murder of B by poison.

The fact that, before the death of B, A procured poison similar to that which was administered to B, is relevant.

(d) The question is, whether a certain document is the will of A.

Sec 8.—MOTIVE.—Per Crumph, J.—A motive is that which moves a man to do a particular act. Whether the belief which produces the state of mind is true or false, the motive remains the same and the truth or falsity of the belief is not really in question. 62 I.C. 545=22 Cr. L. J. 529=22 Bom. L. R. 1274. Motive can never supply want of reliable evidence of the offence. 7 Lah. 84=27 Punj. L. R. 583=94 I. C. 901=A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 88.

EVIDENCE OF CONDUCT.—As to evidence of conduct and surrounding circumstances, see 22 C. 406; 24 W. R. 176; 7 A. 385. 25 S. L. R. 55=A. I. R. 1927 Sind 28. Res gestae—Report by woman raped—Statements to neighbours. The statements were inadmissible under S. 6 but admissible as a complaint under S. 8. 4 Lah. L. J. 491. As to statements of a raped girl, to persons immediately after occurrence see 25 Cr. L. J. 124=82 I.C. 142=1925 Nag. 74; A.I.R. 1926 Pat. 58. Statement to Police-officer and complaint in his presence admissibility. The evidence of Police-officer and the complainant as to the pointing out of the various places by the accused was a confession of his guilt made while he was in the custody of the Police-officer and inadmissible under Ss. 25 and 26. The evidence could not be treated as evidence of conduct, apart from the accompanying statements under S. 8 of the Act, 52 I. C. 601=23 Cr. L. J. 681=21 Bom. L. R. 724. Accused pointing out spot to Police officer—Conduct. If an accused accompanies a Police officer and points out the spot. Where the stolen property is concealed it amounts to conduct proof of which is admissible under S. 8. 35 I.C. 962=

17 Cr. L. J. 402.

CONDUCT OF ACCUSED.—Where the evidence against a person charged with an offence under S. 147, I. P. C., is open to doubt, his conduct, some time after the occurrence, cannot be taken to be evidence under S. 8 and cannot be used against him in the case. 54 I. C. 775=21 Cr. L. J. 167. As to evidence of conduct or character see 97 I. C. 1041=A. I. R. 1927 Sind 28. As to evidence of subsequent conduct see also 5 W. R. (Cr.) 28; 9 A. 568. Admissibility of statements accompanying acts, see 3 B. 17; 14 B. 260; 10 B. L. R. App 2; 4 Bom. L. R. 284.

Expl. (2)—An informer's statement to the police that he purchased opium from the accused is not admissible unless it was made in the presence of the accused. 12 I. C. 87=12 Cr. L. J. 479=4 Bur. L. T. 222. But the finding of marked coins on the accused and opium on the informer are circumstances from which it may be inferred that the accused sold the opium. (Ibid.) The statement made by the Police-officer to the complainant in the presence of the accused that he (the accused) was going to show the various places connected with the theft was not admissible under S. 8, Expln. 2, because such a statement could not be said to affect the conduct of the accused. 52 I. C. 601=20 Cr. L. J. 681=21 Bom. L. R. 724. Absence of entries in account book is relevant fact. See 1924 Nag. 22 (10 C. 1024 Diss.; 4 C. W. N. 207 Foll.) Agent acting nefariously, presumption from 1924 S. 105; 80 I. C. 969. First Information Report as evidence of conduct—See 54 Cal. 237=99 I. C. 227=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 17=44 C. L. J. 253.

The facts that, not long before the date of the alleged will, A made inquiry into matters to which the provisions of the alleged will relate, that he consulted vakils in reference to making the will, and that he caused drafts of other wills to be prepared, of which he did not approve, are relevant.

(e) A is accused of a crime.

The facts that, either before, or at the time of, or after the alleged crime, A provided evidence which would tend to give to the facts of the case an appearance favourable to himself, or that he destroyed or concealed evidence, or prevented the presence or procured the absence of persons who might have been witnesses, or suborned persons to give false evidence respecting it, are relevant.

(f) The question is, whether A robbed B.

The facts that after B was robbed, C said in A's presence—"the police are coming to look for the man who robbed B," and that immediately afterwards A ran away, are relevant.

(g) The question is, whether A owes B rupees 10,000.

The facts that A asked C to lend him money and that D said to C in A's presence and hearing—"I advise you not to trust A, for he owes B 10,000 rupees," and that A went away without making any answer, are relevant facts.

(h) The question is, whether A committed a crime.

The fact that A absconded after receiving a letter warning him that enquiry was being made for the criminal, and the contents of the letter, are relevant.

(i) A is accused of a crime.

The facts that, after the commission of the alleged crime, he absconded, or was in possession of property or the proceeds of property acquired by the crime, or attempted to conceal things which were or might have been used in committing it, are relevant.

(j) The question is, whether A was ravished.

The facts that, shortly after the alleged rape, she made a complaint relating to the crime, the circumstances under which and the terms in which, the complaint was made are relevant.

The fact that, without making a complaint, she said that she had been ravished is not relevant as conduct under this section, though it may be relevant—as a dying declaration, under section 32, clause (1), or as corroborative evidence under section 157.

(k) The question is, whether A was robbed.

The fact that, soon after the alleged robbery, he made complaint relating to the offence, the circumstances under which, and the terms in which, the complaint was made, are relevant.

The fact that he said he had been robbed without making any complaint, is not relevant as conduct under this section, though it may be relevant as a dying declaration under section 32, clause (1), or as corroborative evidence under section 157.

9. Facts necessary to explain or introduce a fact in issue or relevant fact, or Facts necessary to explain or introduce relevant facts.

which support or rebut an inference suggested by a fact in issue or relevant fact, or which establish the identity of any thing or person whose identity is relevant, or fix the time or place at which any fact in issue or relevant fact happened, or which show the relation of parties by whom any such fact was transacted, are relevant in so far as they are necessary for that purpose.

Illustrations.

(a) The question is, whether a given document is the will of A.

The state of A's property and of his family at the date of the alleged will may be relevant facts.

(b) A sues B for a libel imputing disgraceful conduct to A; B affirms that the matter alleged to be libellous is true.

The position and relations of the parties at the time when the libel was published may be relevant fact as introductory to the facts in issue.

The particulars of a dispute between A and B about a matter unconnected with the alleged libel are irrelevant, though the fact that there was a dispute may be relevant if it affected the relations between A and B.

Sec 9.—SCOPE OF SS. 9 AND 11.—See also notes under Ss. 14 and 15 infra. Ss. 9 and 11 read along with S. 21 of the Evidence Act amply justify a court in admitting into evidence all previous statements made by the accused which have a bearing on the question of his guilt and whether the previous statement is made to a police-officer or to an officer or to a third party is immaterial if the statement is relevant to the fact in the issue. These sections are not controlled by the Criminal Procedure Code. 73 I. C. 963 = 4 Pat. L. T. 381.

If after the commission of a crime a person whose name is mentioned as a participator in the crime abscond his conduct implies that he is concerned in the crime. Anything therefore which tends to explain his conduct and furnishes motive other than a guilty conscience is relevant under S. 9. 62 I. C. 545 = 22 Bom. L. R. 1274. Admissibility of judgment to prove identity, see 18 A. 78. As to comparison of thumb marks to prove identity, see 1 C. W. N. 33; 9 C. W. N. 530. As to recitals of boundaries in documents between strangers to suit See 45 C. L. J. 55; 8 Lah. 657 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 448. See also 30 C. W. N. 761 and notes under S. 13 infra. Evidence of identification of accused. A. I. R. 1926 Oadh 36.

(c) A is accused of a crime.

The fact that, soon after the commission of the crime, A absconded from his house, is relevant under section 8, as conduct subsequent to and affected by facts in issue.

The fact that at the time when he left home he had sudden and urgent business at the place to which he went, is relevant, as tending to explain the fact that he left home suddenly.

The details of the business on which he left are not relevant, except in so far as they are necessary to show that the business was sudden and urgent.

(d) A sues B for inducing C to break a contract of service made by him with A.C., on leaving A's service, says to A—"I am leaving you because B has made me a better offer." This statement is a relevant fact as explanatory of C's conduct, which is relevant as a fact in issue.

(e) A, accused of theft, is seen to give the stolen property to B, who is seen to give it to A's wife. B says as he delivers it—"A says you are to hide this." B's statement is relevant as explanatory of a fact which is part of the transaction.

(f) A is tried for a riot and is proved to have marched at the head of a mob. The cries of the mob are relevant as explanatory of the nature of the transaction.

10. Where there is reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons

Things said or done by conspirator in reference to common design. have conspired together to commit an offence or an actionable wrong, anything said, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention, after the time when such intention was first entertained, by any one of them, is a relevant fact as against each of the persons believed to be so conspiring, as well for the purpose of proving the existence of the conspiracy as for the purpose of showing that any such person was a party to it.

Illustration.

Reasonable ground exists for believing that A has joined in a conspiracy to wage war against the Queen.

The facts that B procured arms in Europe for the purpose of the conspiracy, C collected money in Calcutta for a like object, D persuaded persons to join the conspiracy in Bombay E published writings advocating the object in view at Agra, and F transmitted from Delhi to G at Kabul the money which C had collected at Calcutta and the contents of a letter written by H giving an account of the conspiracy, are each relevant, both to prove the existence of the conspiracy, and to prove A's complicity in it, although he may have been ignorant of all of them, and although the persons by whom they were done were strangers to him, and although they may have taken place before he joined the conspiracy or after he left it.

When facts not otherwise relevant become relevant.

11. Facts not otherwise relevant are relevant—

Sec. 10.—SCOPE OF ENGLISH AND INDIAN LAW.—S. 10 is wider than the English Law. As soon as it is shown with regard to an individual conspirator or that he was in privy with the combination and its objects and adopted the acts already performed, he as a conspirator becomes bound by the antecedent and the consequent acts of his fellow-conspirators. 17 P. R. (Cr.) 1915=16 Cr.L.J. 354=28 I. C. 738. See also 37 C. 467=14 C. W. N. 1114=7 I. C. 359. There is a considerable inconsistency between S. 10 and the illustration thereto. (Ibid.) It is not necessary to establish by direct evidence that the accused persons did enter into an agreement to commit an offence to attract the operation of S. 10 against the accused. (Ibid.)

EVIDENCE OF CONSPIRACY.—Possession of sedition literature by one member is evidence against the others for finding out the object of the association, even where such possession was obtained or such essays written before the association was formed or before other members joined the association. 46 C. 215=23 C. W. N. 193=46 I. C. 152. As to evidence of conspiracy see also 30 C. 983; 4 C. W. N. 523; 25 B. 230; 28 C. 797; 7 Beng. L. R. 63 and 9 Beng. I. R. 36 App. 2. The finding of closed covers relating to the conspiracy in possession of one of the conspirators is relevant against the other under S. 10. 17 P. R. (Cr.) 1915=28 I. C. 738.

Whenever evidence is sought to be let in under S. 10 the accused is entitled to insist on strict compliance with its provisions, namely, proof of reasonable ground for belief that the persons named have conspired together. 42 C. 957=19 C. On a charge of conspiracy particular facts are proved to show, that one or more of the accused took part in it after general evidence of the existence of conspiracy is first given. 42 Cal. 957.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—In a case of forgery, letter written by a third party to a stranger is not admissible against accused. 25 Bom. L. R. 248, See also 40 C. 783. In a charge of conspiracy evidence of gambling and cocaine cases prior to conspiracy charged are admissible in evidence. 46 C. 710=54 I. C. 53. - (1) if they are inconsistent with any fact in issue or relevant fact ;
- (2) if by themselves or in connection with other facts they make the existence or non-existence of any fact in issue or relevant fact highly probable or improbable.

Illustrations.

- (a) The question is, whether A committed a crime at Calcutta on a certain day. The fact that, on that day, A was at Lahore is relevant.
The fact that, near the time when the crime was committed, A was at a distance from the place where it was committed, which would render it highly improbable, though not impossible, that he committed it, is relevant.
- (b) The question is, whether A committed a crime.
The circumstances are such that the crime must have been committed, either by A, B, C. or D. Every fact which shows that the crime could have been committed by no one else, and that it was not committed by either B, C or D, is relevant.

In suits for damages, facts tending to enable Court to determine amount are relevant.

12. In suits in which damages are claimed, any fact which will enable the Court to determine the amount of damages which ought to be awarded, is relevant.

Facts relevant when right or custom is in question.

13. Where the question is as to the existence of any right or custom, the following facts are relevant :—

- (a) any transaction by which the right or custom in question was created, claimed, modified, recognized, asserted or denied, or which was inconsistent with its existence ;
- (b) particular instances in which the right or custom was claimed, recognized or exercised, or in which its exercise was disputed, asserted or departed from.

The question is whether A has a right to a fishery. A deed conferring the fishery on A's ancestors, a mortgage of the fishery by A's father, a subsequent grant of the fishery by A's father irreconcilable with the mortgage, particular instances in which A's father exercised the right, or in which the exercise of the right was stopped by A's neighbours, are relevant facts.

14. Facts showing the existence of any state of mind, such as intention, knowledge, good faith, negligence, rashness, ill-will or good-will towards any particular person, or showing the existence of any state of body or bodily feeling, are relevant, when the existence of any such state of mind or body or bodily feeling is in issue or relevant.

[Explanation 1.—A fact relevant as showing the existence of a relevant state of mind must show that the state of mind exists, not generally, but in reference to the particular matter in question.

[Explanation 2.—But where, upon the trial of a person accused of an offence the previous commission by the accused of an offence is relevant within the meaning of this section, the previous conviction of such person shall also be a relevant fact.]

Illustrations.

(a) A is accused of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen. It is proved that he was in possession of a particular stolen article.

The fact that, at the same time, he was in possession of many other stolen articles is relevant, as tending to show that he knew each and all of the articles of which he was in possession to be stolen.

¹[(b) A is accused of fraudulently delivering to another person a counterfeit coin which, at the time when he delivered it, he knew to be counterfeit.

The fact that, at the time of its delivery, A was possessed of a number of other pieces of counterfeit coin is relevant.

The fact that A had been previously convicted of delivering to another person as genuine a counterfeit coin knowing it to be counterfeit is relevant.]

(c) A sues B for damage done by a dog of B's, which B knew to be ferocious.

Sec. 14.—Expls. 1 and 2 were substituted by Act III of 1891, S. 1 (1). Acts of court are presumed to be regular. 96 I. C. 591 = A. I. R. 1926 All. 691.

ILLUS. (b).—See 8 B. 223; 11 B. H. C. 90; 93; 61 I. C. 647.

ILLUS. (c).—See 13 B. 532.

Secs. 14 and 15.—RELATION OF SS. 14 AND 15.—Opinions of Judges.—Evidence of the opinions of the other Judges on other documents written or attested by the accused in proceedings to which he is not a party is not admissible to prove his intention or knowledge in his trial for giving false evidence in respect of an alleged forged document. 38 I. C. 723 = 13 N. L. R. 35. S. 15 must be read subject to S. 14 so far as evidence of knowledge and intention is concerned. (Ibid.)

PREVIOUS CONVICTION—EVIDENCE OF NOT ADMISSIBLE TO SHOW STATE OF MIND. 60 I. C. 331 = 5 Pat. L. J. 706. (27 C. 139; 1 C. W. N. 146 Foll.).

EVIDENCE OF PREVIOUS CRIME—ADMISSIBILITY.—When a person is charged with an offence, evidence of his participation in an independent crime cannot be received as substantive evidence of the offence on trial but evidence may be given to prove the elements mentioned in S. 14, such as intention, etc. 22 I. C. 187 = 18 C. L. J. 578. In a prosecution under S. 209, Penal Code, evidence relating to other suits by the accused against other persons may be admissible under Ss. 14 and 15 to show the animus of the accused, and a systematic course of fraud and to rebut the plea of good faith or mistake. 46 I. C. 896 = 22 C. W. N. 494. But the evidence relating to similar suits by other persons is not admissible, unless those suit form part of the same transaction or the result of a conspiracy between them. 46 I. C. 696 = 22 C. W. N. 494. See also 6 B. H. C. 90. Series of similar acts involving forgery is evidence of intention but not forgery itself. 40 Cal. 783 = 33 I. C. 306 = 20 C. W. N. 262.

PREVIOUS DACOITIES.—In a charge of dacoity, evidence of other dacoities committed by the accused is inadmissible either under S. 14 or 15 (1912) M. W. N. 49 = 13 I. C. 781. In a case where the offence for which the accused are being tried is the particular one of belonging to a gang of dacoits, simple theft or bad livelihood, in which the order for giving security is based on evidence merely that the accused habitually commits thefts (as opposed to dacoity and possibly robbery) is not evidence indicating an intention to commit the particular crime of which the accused is charged. 45 Bom. 958 = 25 Bom. L. R. 214 = 1923 Bom. 71.

PREVIOUS CHEATING.—Where a licensed clerk was charged with cheating by collecting 2 annas more than what was due, from each licensee, evidence of action with others is not admissible under S. 14 or 15, 34 All. 93 = 12 I. C. 987 = 8 A. L. J. 1269.

COUNTERFEIT COINS AND INSTRUMENTS.—In a trial of a person for being in possession of

The facts that the dog had previously bitten X, Y and Z, and that they had made complaints to B, are relevant.

(d) The question is, whether A, the acceptor of a bill of exchange, knew that the name of the payee was fictitious.

The fact that A had accepted other bills drawn in the same manner before they could have been transmitted to him by the payee if the payee had been a real person, is relevant as showing that A knew that the payee was a fictitious person.

(e) A is accused of defaming B by publishing an imputation intended to harm the reputation of B.

The fact of previous publications by A respecting B, showing ill-will on the part of A towards B is relevant, as proving A's intention to harm B's reputation by the particular publication in question.

The facts that there was no previous quarrel between A and B, and that A repeated the matter complained of as he heard it, are relevant, as showing that A did not intend to harm the reputation of B.

(f) A is sued by B for fraudulently representing to B that C was solvent, whereby B, being induced to trust C, who was insolvent, suffered loss.

The fact that at the time when A represented C to be solvent, C was supposed to be solvent by his neighbours and by persons dealing with him, is relevant, as showing that A made the representation in good faith.

(g) A is sued by B for the price of work done by B, upon a house of which A is owner, by the order of C, a contractor.

A's defence is that B's contract was with C.

The fact that A paid C for the work in question is relevant, as proving that A did, in good faith, make over to C the management of the work in question, so that C was in a position to contract with B on C's own account, and not as agent for A.

(h) A is accused of the dishonest misappropriation of property which he had found, and the question is whether, when he appropriated it, he believed in good faith that the real owner could not be found.

The fact that public notice of the loss of the property had been given in the place where A was, is relevant, as showing that A did not in good faith believe that the real owner of the property could not be found.

The fact that A knew, or had reason to believe, that the notice was given fraudulently by C, who had heard of the loss of the property and wished to set up a false claim to it, is relevant, as showing that the fact that A knew of the notice did not disprove A's good faith.

(i) A is charged with shooting at B with intent to kill him. In order to show A's intent the fact of A's having previously shot at B may be proved.

(j) A is charged with sending threatening letters to B. Threatening letters previously sent by A to B may be proved, as showing the intention of the letters.

(k) The question is, whether A has been guilty of cruelty towards B, his wife. Expressions of their feeling towards each other shortly before or after the alleged cruelty are relevant facts.

(l) The question is, whether A's death was caused by poison.

Statements made by A during his illness as to his symptoms are relevant facts.

(m) The question is, what was the state of A's health at the time an assurance on his life was effected.

Statements made by A as to the state of his health at or near the time in question are relevant facts.

(n) A sues B for negligence in providing him with a carriage for hire not reasonably fit for use, whereby A was injured.

The fact that B's attention was drawn on other occasions to the defect of that particular carriage is relevant.

The fact that B was habitually negligent about the carriages which he let to hire is irrelevant.

(o) A is tried for the murder of B by intentionally shooting him dead.

The fact that A on other occasions shot at B is relevant as showing his intention to shoot B.

counterfeit coins and instruments and materials for counterfeiting in his house in the district where he is tried evidence of such possession in his house in another district is admissible. 61 I. C. 647 = 22 Cr. L. J. 407.

POSSESSION OF STOLEN CATTLE.—In Sind possession of stolen cattle three or four months after theft is sufficient to raise presumption of guilt under section; but the accused may set up title by lawful origin to rebut the presumption 38 I. C. 971 = 10 S. L. R. 167. The accused was charged under S. 420, I. P. C., for having borrowed money on mortgage, representing himself to be major, though he was minor, held, that the evidence of transactions which took place on the occasion of the loan was relevant to show the intention or knowledge or otherwise of the accused. L. R. 1 A. (Cr.) 103.

The fact that A was in the habit of shooting at people with intent to murder them is irrelevant.

(p) A is tried for a crime.

The fact that he said something indicating an intention to commit that particular crime is relevant.

The fact that he said something indicating a general disposition to commit crimes of that class is irrelevant.

Facts bearing on question whether act was accidental or intentional.

15. When there is a question whether an act was accidental or intentional, [or done with a particular knowledge or intention,]¹ the fact that such act formed part of a series of similar occurrences, in each of which the person doing the act was concerned, is relevant.

Illustration.

(a) A is accused of burning down his house in order to obtain money for which it is insured.

The facts that A lived in several houses successively, each of which he insured, in each of which a fire occurred, and after each of which fires A received payment from a different insurance office, are relevant, as tending to show that the fires were not accidental.

(b) A is employed to receive money from the debtors of B. It is A's duty to make entries in a book showing the amounts received by him. He makes an entry showing that on a particular occasion he received less than he really did receive.

The question is, whether this false entry was accidental or intentional.

The facts that other entries made by A in the same book are false, and that the false entry is in each case in favour of A, are relevant.

(c) A is accused of fraudulently delivering to B a counterfeit rupee.

The question is, whether the delivery of the rupee was accidental.

The facts that, soon before or soon after the delivery to B, A delivered counterfeit rupees to C, D and E are relevant, as showing that the delivery to B was not accidental.

16. When there is a question, whether a particular act was done, the existence of any course of business, according to which it naturally would have been done, is a relevant fact.

Existence of course of business when relevant.

Sec. 15.—¹ The words within brackets were inserted by Act III of 1891, S. 2.

SCOPE OF SECTION.—Per Walsh, J.—S. 15 is applicable to all cases where the question is whether an untruthful statement is "accidental or intentional or made with particular knowledge or intention." 39 I. C. 673=39 All. 273=15 A. L. J. 241. There is a presumption of user as of right from open user for a long time. 95 I. C. 269=A. I. R. 1926 Lah. 522.

SUBSEQUENT OCCURRENCES.—S. 15 covers both previous and subsequent similar occurrences 46 I. C. 696=22 C. W. N. 494.

INCIDENTS IN A SERIES OF SIMILAR TRANSACTIONS.—Where the accused administered Dhatara poison to A and B, both of whom died from the effects thereof, and on the following day administered the same poison to D, who also died, the acts against A and B, are relevant to a case of murder of D, as forming incidents in a series of similar transactions occurring about the same time and tending to show system and intention. 9 I. C. 931=32 P. L. R. 1911. See also 6 N. L. J. 144=73 I. C. 262=1923 Nag. 248. Evidence of similar acts may be received to prove a party's knowledge of the nature of the main fact or transaction of his intent with respect thereto. 19 C. W. N. 676=45 Cal. 957=29 I. C. 513. To admit evidence under this head the other acts must be of the same specific kind as the one in question and not of a different character. (Ibid.) The acts tendered must also have been proximate in point of time to that in question. (Ibid.).

EVIDENCE OF ASSOCIATION AND JOINT ACTION.—S. 15, is not applicable where there was no question of the act being accidental or intentional or forming part of a series of similar transactions. 47 C. 671=24 C. W. N. 501=58 I. C. 929 (F. B.) S. 14 would not also apply where the defence was a complete denial and no question of the character contemplated in S. 14 did or could possibly arise. (Ibid.) Where the accused who were charged with dacoity pleaded that their presence in company and armed, at a spot was accidental and innocent, it is open to the prosecution to rebut this theory, and to produce evidence that in the same locality raids have taken place in which one of the gang had been concerned. 71 I. C. 360=24 Cr. L. J. 136 (Pesh.) In the case of actual dacoity the prosecution is bound to prove the accused's commission of all the acts which constitute the offence. (Ibid.) S. 15 admits the production of any evidence which would determine the construction to be placed upon acts which in themselves might or might not be the preparation for decoity and evidence that one or more members of the gang had been concerned in previous and similar offences committed at the same place is admissible in evidence for this purpose. (Ibid.).

Sec. 16—Refusal of a registered letter sent by post precludes the person refusing from pleading ignorance of its contents, 16 W. R. 223; See also 15 C. 681; 9 A. 366. But there must be evidence of posting and of proper address, See S. 114 illus. (f.).

Illustrations.

(a) The question is whether a particular letter was despatched.

The facts that it was the ordinary course of business for all letters put in a certain place to be carried to the post, and that particular letter was put in that place, are relevant.

(b) The question is, whether a particular letter reached A. The facts that it was posted in due course, and was not returned through the dead Letter Office, are relevant.

ADMISSIONS.

17. An admission is a statement, oral or documentary, which suggests any inference as to any fact in issue or relevant fact, and which is made by any of the persons, and under the circumstances, hereinafter mentioned.

Admission defined.

18. Statements made by a party to the proceeding, or by an agent to any such party, whom the Court regards, under the circumstances of the case, as expressly or impliedly authorized by him to make them, are admissions.

Admission by party to proceeding or his agent :

by suitor in representative character ;

Statements made by parties to suits suing or sued in a representative character, are not admissions, unless they were made while the party making them held that character.

Sec. 17.—Admission may be verbal or contained in documents (as) maps, bills, receipts, pleadings, letters, books, and other entries or even horoscopes. See Field, 6th Ed. p. 83; Amir Ali 3rd Ed. 201, 23 W. R. 325; 11 C. L. J. 22; 5 C. 864; 22 W. R. 220; 7 W. R. 249; 9 W. R. 162; 23 W. R. 27; (1924) Oudh 19; 28 M. L. J. 266; 28 M. L. J. 92=26 I. C. 899. The entire statement must be taken together, particular passages cannot be selected to the exclusion of the rest. Admission operates merely to shift the onus and raise only a rebuttable presumption. 1924 Nag. 387. Admission must be deemed to be exhaustive. It must be read as it stands and it is not permissible to take one part of an admission and reject another part. 49 A. 707=25 A. L. J. 572=100 I. C. 1037=A. I. R. 1927 All. 385. Admissions are of no evidential value once they are proved untrue. 49 A. 707=25 A. L. J. 572=100 I. C. 1037=A. I. R. 1927 All. 385. As to who can make binding admissions see 26 C. W. N. 273=15 L. W. 404=A. I. R. 1922 P. C. 102. As to admissions gathered from entries in account books see 23 L. W. 272=96 I. C. 429=A. I. R. 1926 Mad 955. As to admissibility of statement of accused to police as admission. 44 C. L. J. 253=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 17. As to effect of erroneous admission, see 77 I. C. 875.

VAGUE ADMISSION IS NO ADMISSION.—21 A. L. J. 869=1924 All. 193.

ADMISSION IN FIRST INFORMATION REPORT is valuable corroborative evidence, it can not support a conviction, when the maker of the report himself is an accused person and cannot therefore be examined as a witness. 63 I. C. 822=22 Cr. L. J. 694 (Lah.). But where such a report contains an admission not amounting to a confession, the admission is admissible in evidence against the accused. (Ibid).

Sec. 18.—For an admission to be relevant, it should be shown that the person who made it had an interest at the time of making it within S. 18. 21 I. C. 714=19 C. L. J. 1. Admission not to be used against a co-defendant unless it is made in his character of a person jointly interested with the co-defendant. 30 C. W. N. 254=A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 705.

ADMISSION BY PARTIES TO SUIT.—Such admissions are generally contained in pleadings, written statements or depositions. See 7 W. R.

249; 9 W. R. 162; 5 B. L. R. 529; 14 W. R. (P. C.) 28; 13 M. I. A. 438; 15 W. R. 437; 17 W. R. 372; 22 W. R. 303; 23 W. R. 27. Such writings (to become admissible) must conform to legal requirements. 24 W. R. 114; 6 C. 762=8 C. L. R. 292. See also 21 W. R. 34; (Ibid) 414.

ADMISSION BY AGENT, BINDING ON PRINCIPAL.—See 2 Bom. L. R. 651. The fact of agency must be proved. 3 B. L. R. 273; 46 I. C. 709=19 Cr. L. J. 789.

ADMISSION BY COUNSEL ATTORNEYS AND PLEADERS.—As to circumstances when they are binding on the client and when not. see 18 M. 73. Admission by pleader in Lower Court cannot be set aside by engaging another pleader in appeal. See 102 I. C. 283 following 9 W. R. 465; 11 M. I. A. 253; 6 C. W. N. 52; 21 Mad. 279; 22 Mad. 538. (Adverse opinion expressed by vakil in argument not binding on client; 9 W. R. 375; 9 W. R. 485; 2 M. J. A. 253 (Bona fide admission of fact by a vakil is binding on client). But see also 17 W. R. (Cr.) 49, where the court held that such admissions are not binding in criminal cases; (See also 27 C. 428); nor when they relate to matters of law. See 18 W. R. 367; 16 W. R. 246.

ADMISSION BY PARTNERS.—See 11 C. 588. Admissions by one of several co-defendants. Such admission can only bind the persons making it. 22 W. R. 519; 6 A. 395; 7 A. 353; 22 I. A. 113; 22 W. R. 214; 9 C. L. R. 359; 2 C. W. N. 166; 11 C. 588; W. R. (F. B. Rul.) 23. Admissions by guardians do not generally bind the wards. See 10 C. L. R. 377; 20 W. R. 223. (Signature of guardian when not binding on minor, 13 C. 292). So also are admissions by guardian ad litem or next friend. (Tay, Evi. 8th Ed. S. 742. Field, 6th Ed., p. 89.) As to Admissions by Court of Wards, see 24 I. A. 107. Statements made by suitor in representative capacity are binding. See 1 W. R. 339 (executor); see also 8 W. R. 63; 14 W. R. 162. As to statements by interested persons when binding. see 5 W. R. 268; 10 W. R. 89; 14 W. R. 484; 18 W. R. 105; 22 I. C. 714=19 C. L. J. 1. Evidence as to admissions and promises made by alleged thieves before a Punchayat is admissible without proof of the actual words used. 13 P. R. 1914 (Cr.)=26 I. C. 625.

Statements made by—

(1) persons who have any proprietary or pecuniary interest in the subject-matter of the proceeding, and who make the statement in their character of persons so interested; or

(2) persons from whom the parties to the suit have derived their interest in the subject-matter of the suit, are admissions, if they are made during the continuance of the interest of the persons making the statements.

19. Statements made by persons whose position or liability it is necessary to prove as against any party to the suit, are admissions, if such statements would be relevant as against such persons in relation to such position or liability in a suit brought by or against them, and if they are made whilst the person making them occupies such position or is subject to such liability.

20. Statements made by persons to whom a party to the suit has expressly referred for information in reference to a matter in dispute are admissions.

A says to B—"Go and ask C; C knows all about it." C's statement is an admission.

21. Admissions are relevant and may be proved as against the person who makes them, or his representative in interest; but they cannot be proved by or on behalf of the person who makes them or by his representative in interest, except in the following cases:—

Proof of admissions against persons making them, and by or on their behalf.

ADMISSION BY WITNESS. - Where in cross-examination a witness admits that a statement previously made by him is false he ought to be asked in re-examination why he made a statement which was false. The mere fact that the witness acknowledges the previous statement to be false is no justification for rejecting such previous statement, if on other grounds the Court is able to reach the conclusion that the statement is in substance true. 51 I. C. 449=20 Cr. I. J. 465 See also 13 C. W. N. 409=1 I. C. 320; 8 P. W. R. 1910=7 I. C. 505; 20 W. R. 69; 2 A. L. J. 21. (1) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, when it is of such nature that, if the person making it were dead, it would be relevant as between third persons under section 32.

(2) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, when it consists of a statement of the existence of any state of mind or body, relevant or in issue, made at or about the time when such state of mind or body existed, and is accompanied by conduct rendering its falsehood improbable.

(3) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, if it is relevant otherwise than an admission.

Illustrations.

(a) The question between A and B is, whether a certain deed is or is not forged. A affirms that it is genuine, B that it is forged.

A may prove a statement by B that the deed is genuine, and B may prove a statement by A that the deed is forged; but A cannot prove a statement by himself that the deed is genuine, nor can B prove a statement by himself that the deed is forged.

(b) A, the captain of a ship, is tried for casting her away.

Evidence is given to show that the ship was taken out of her proper course.

A produces a book kept in the ordinary course of his business showing observations alleged to have been taken by him from day to day and indicating that the ship was not taken out of her proper course. A may prove these statements, because they would be admissible between third parties, if he were dead, under section 32, clause (2).

(c) A is accused of a crime committed by him at Calcutta.

He produces a letter written by himself and dated at Lahore on that day, and bearing the Lahore post-mark of that day.

The statement in the date of the letter is admissible, because, if A were dead, it would be admissible under section 32, clause (2).

(d) A is accused of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen.

He offers to prove that he refused to sell them below their value.

A may prove these statements, though they are admissions, because they are explanatory of conduct influenced by facts in issue.

(e) A is accused of fraudulently having in his possession counterfeit coin which he knew to be counterfeit.

He offers to prove that he asked a skilful person to examine the coin as he doubted whether it was counterfeit or not, and that that person did examine it and told him it was genuine.

A may prove these facts for the reasons stated in the last preceding illustration.

- 22. Oral admissions as to the contents of a document or not relevant, unless and until the party proposing to prove them shows that he is entitled to give secondary evidence of the contents of such document under the rules hereinafter contained, or unless the genuineness of a document produced is in question.

When oral admissions as to contents of documents are relevant.

- 23. In civil cases no admission is relevant, if it is made either upon an express condition that evidence of it is not to be given, or under circumstances from which the Court can infer that the parties agreed together that evidence of it should not be given.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section shall be taken to exempt any barrister, pleader, attorney or vakil from giving evidence of any matter of which he may be compelled to give evidence under section 126.

24. A confession made by an accused person is irrelevant in a criminal proceeding, if the making of the confession appears to the Court to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise¹ having reference to the charge against the accused person, proceeding from a person in authority and sufficient, in the opinion of the Court,

Sec. 24.—¹ For prohibition of such inducements, etc., see the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), S. 343.

CONFESSION, WHAT IS—Any statement by a person which would suggest an inference as to his guilt may be a confession. 22 Cr. L. J. 68 = 59 I. C. 324 = 22 Bom. L. R. 1247. [As to 'confession to panchayatdars, see 25 Cr. L. J. 260 = 76 I. C. 829 = 1924 Mad. 230]. S. 24 will apply even if the person confessing was not accused person at the time of confession. A statement falling within S. 339 (2) of the Code excludes the operation of S. 24. 22 Cr. L. J. 68 = 59 I. C. 324 = 22 Bom. L. R. 1247. To constitute a 'confession' under the Evidence Act, it is not necessary that the person confessing should make a full and explicit admission of his guilt so clean as to leave no other hypothesis tenable. It is enough if they lead to an inference of guilt. 43 I. C. 605; 19 Cr. L. J. 189 (Mad.). The words "accused person" in Ss. 24 to 26 include any person who subsequently becomes accused, provided that at the time of making the statement criminal proceedings were in prospect, (Ibid.).

INADMISSIBLE CONFESSION.—Inadmissible confession would be inadmissible wholly 38 I. C. 767 = 18 Cr. L. J. 383 (Bur.).

ACCEPTANCE OR REJECTION OF CONFESSION.—The Court is at liberty to disregard any statement in the confession which it disbelieves. 46 I. C. 705 = 19 Cr. L. J. 785 (Nag.).

CONFESSION—EVIDENTIARY VALUE.—All parts of a confession are not entitled to equal weight. Some may be believed while others rejected. 3 O. W. N. 800 = 98 I. C. 178 = A. I. R. 1926 Oudh 618. The rule which excludes evidence of statements made by a prisoner, when they are induced by hope held out or fear inspired by a person in authority is a rule of policy. 18 C. W. N. 705 = 23 I. C. 678 = 1 L. W. 989 (P. C.). A confession to be admissible must be voluntary and made without any pressure. 3 All. 260 = 19 I. C. 307; 52 I. C. 881 (1) = 20 Cr. L. J. 721. Where the Magistrate in whose presence a confession was made is called as a witness and swears that the statement was made before him freely and willingly and not in the presence of a policeman, the confession is voluntary and can be acted upon. 2 Lah. L. J. 953.

CONFESSION IN POLICE CUSTODY, INADMISSIBILITY OF.—When a confession was made after police custody for several days and protracted consultation between the accused and the investigating officers and was subsequently retracted, the confession is inadmissible. 20 Cr. L. J. 833 = 53 I. C. 929 = 23 C. W. N. 886. See also 5 Lah. L. J. 128; 21 Cr. L. J. 177 = 54 I. C. 881 (P); 18 Cr. L. J. 106 = 37 I. C. 314 = 10 Bur. L.

The mere fact of the accused being in Police custody is no basis to presume that his confession was induced by threat or promise. 3 O. W. N. 813 = 98 I. C. 250 = A. I. R. 1926 Oudh 622. Where the threats made do not influence the accused's confession it is admissible. 5 W. R. 175. A self exculpatory statement by an accessory after the fact is inadmissible in evidence. 21 Cr. L. J. 266 = 55 I. C. 282 = 30 C. L. J. 503. S. 24 does not admit as legal evidence an incriminating statement to headman at the latter's suggestion to speak the truth, lest witnesses for the other side may let it out when called. 18 Cr. L. J. 106 = 37 I. C. 314.

CONFESSION UNDER INDUCEMENT, THREAT, ETC.—WHAT CONSTITUTES INDUCEMENT.—

Where accused is told by a person in authority that if he makes a voluntary confession which is considered to be full and true, his prayer for being made an approver will receive due consideration, the confession made under such circumstances is inadmissible. 45 All. 633 = 21 A. L. J. 585 = 74 I. C. 529. S. 24 makes a confession inadmissible, if it appears to have been caused by any inducement or promise. 45 All. 300 = 73 I. C. 62 = 21 A. L. J. 143; 1923 All. 352. Where the accused whose confession is being recorded in forms the magistrate that he is making the confession under inducement, the confession is not admissible and cannot be allowed to go to the jury. Whether there was inducement or not is immaterial. 45 Bom. 1086 = 60 I. C. 1006. The statements made by the accused in the trial of the Police-officer concerned in the investigation of the case could be admitted in evidence against him on his own trial for murder. 59 I. C. 324 = 22 Bom. L. R. 1247. A confession made by an accused person under fear, encouraged by a police officer in a subtle way in the hours that elapsed before the accused reached the Magistrate is inadmissible in evidence. 60 I. C. 417 = 32 C. L. J. 204. A confession made by an accused person on an inducement by a Police officer that he would be offered a pardon is inadmissible in evidence. (Ibid.). The evidence of an accomplice, if suspicious, requires corroboration. (Ibid.). 9 P. R. 1911 (Cr.) = 10 I. C. 340 = 12 Cr. L. J. 267. The fact that a Police-officer got by means of threat an information from a prisoner as to a circumstance incriminating the latter does not render that information inadmissible in evidence. 17 Cr. L. J. 33 = 32 I. C. 321. It is not possible for a Court to say that the making of the confession "appears" to it to have been caused by any inducement, threat, or promise, except upon evidence which is before the Court. 4 Pat. L. T. 186 = 24 Cr. L. J. 497 = 72 I. C. 961.

WHO ARE PERSONS IN AUTHORITY FROM WHOM THREAT OR INDUCEMENT PROCEEDS.—S. 24 refers only to a person in actual authority, the test being the possession of some power or control over the accused with reference to his case. 37 I. C. 42=18 Cr. L. J. 58. The expression "person in authority" has a wider meaning than the actual prosecutor and the test is, has the person any authority to interfere in the matter and any concern or interest in it, sufficient to give him authority. 43 I. C. 605=19 Cr. L. J. 189 (Mad.) see also 40 B. 220=17 Bom. L. R. 1059 (8 B. H. C. R. 358; 8 Bom. L. R. 507; 26 I. C. 161 Ref.) Police Patel in a village is such a person. 40 Bom. 220=17 Cr. L. J. 113=33 I. C. 309=17 Bom. L. R. 1059. (9 B. H. C. 358 at p. 369 Foll.) So also a Mukhia of a village 97 I. C. 44=A. I. R. 1926 All. 737. A collecting panchayat and an assistant panchayat are both "persons in authority" within the meaning of the section. 50 Cal. 127=74 I. C. 264; 1923 Cal. 458. See also 76 I. C. 829=1924 M. 230. Panchayatdars are not persons in authority within the meaning of S. 24. Considering the nature of the functions of panchayatdars they are practically private detectives helping the police in finding out the criminals. They cannot be treated as men having any authority over the accused. 45 M. L. J. 845=76 I. C. 829=1924 Mad. 230. The president of a panchayat which was to consider a case is a person in authority within S. 24, and confession made to him is not therefore admissible in law. 20 C. W. N. 512=33 I. C. 828. The words "person in authority" in S. 24 include the prosecutor. 68 I. C. 413=26 C. W. N. 54. A confession made by an accused to the Superintendent of Excise in a trial for illicit possession of opium is admissible, provided no inducement, threat or promise was held out to the accused for making the confession. 22 C. W. N. 451=45 I. C. 284. A Lambardar being a person in authority, a confession induced by him by the use of threats is inadmissible. 4 Lah. L. J. 235=1922 Lah. 263; 26 P. R. 1916 (Cr.)=34 I. C. 642. A Zaidar or Lambardar is an officer who is to help the police in their investigation. 14 P. R. 1911 (Cr.)=12 I. C. 973. See also 221 P. L. R. 1911=12 I. C. 973. A confession made to a Thugyi by an accused who had been sent for by the former after being told that he would not be punished if he was not a party to the offence is irrelevant and inadmissible in evidence as the Thugyi is a person in authority within the meaning of S. 24. 15 Cr. L. J. 681=8 Bur. L. T. 39=26 I. C. 129. Other answers and questions based on the inadmissible statement are also inadmissible. (Ibid.) Neither a co-villager, nor a zamindar is a person in authority unless the zamindar is directed by the police to investigate. 37 I. C. 42=18 Cr. L. J. 58; 9 I. C. 718=12 Cr. L. RETRACTED CONFESSION, EVIDENTIARY VALUE OF.—A retracted confession uncorroborated in material points by other reliable evidence, is of no value. Conviction on it would be bad. 1 Pat. L. T. 241=58 I. C. 49=5 Pat. L. J. 430. See also 30 I. C. 436; 16 Cr. L. J. 612; 75 I. C. 152=

24 Cr. L. J. 304. A convicted prisoner undergoing a term of imprisonment made a statement before a Magistrate implicating the petitioner in the offence for which he had been convicted. But when he was examined as a witness he denied the implication of the petitioner. Held, the statement was not admissible in evidence. 54 I. C. 893=21 Cr. L. J. 189=18 A. L. J. 87. See also 22 Cr. L. J. 529=62 I. C. 545=22 Bom. L. R. 1274. It is unsafe for a Court to rely and act on a confession which has been retracted unless, after a consideration of the whole of the evidence in the case, the court is in a position to come to the unhesitating conclusion that the confession is true. 26 C. W. N. 1010=71 I. C. 497=1923 C. 217. A retracted confession should carry practically no weight as against a person other than its maker, (Ibid.) It is very unsafe to convict an accused person upon a retracted confession unless the confession is confirmed by other evidence. 36 I. C. 133=17 Cr. L. J. 453. The corroboration ought to be of the kind that not only confirms the general story of the crime, but also unmistakably connects the co-accused with the crime. 19 Cr. L. J. 275=44 I. C. 179. When a retracted confession is the sole evidence against an accused, it can be of but little value especially remembering the competition for pardon which sometimes occurs where a number of persons are suspected of an offence and some have already confessed or are believed to have confessed. 17 Cr. L. J. 226=34 I. C. 642=26 P. R. 1916 (Cr.). A Court should not convict a person upon a statement made by him but subsequently retracted owing to a promise of pardon, in the absence of corroboration in material particulars unless the peculiar circumstances of making the confession or the reasons of retraction show the genuineness of the confession in spite of its revocation. 31 I. C. 831=16 Cr. L. J. 815. It is, however, not safe in general to convict on an uncorroborated confession from the point of view of common experience and prudence, and when it is a question of a confession against a co-accused, the corroboration must not only confirm the general story of the crime but must clearly connect the co-accused with it. 264 P. L. R. 1914=30 P. R. 1914 (Cr.)=15 Cr. L. J. 626=25 I. C. 634. See also 30 I. C. 436=16 Cr. L. J. 612. There is no rule of law requiring a retracted confession to be supported by corroborative evidence in material particulars. The use to be made of such a confession is more a matter of prudence than of law. 46 I. C. 1005=19 Cr. L. J. 861 (Nag.). See also 26 C. W. N. 1010, (13 C. P. L. R. 107 Foll.) The fact that the confession was retracted before the committing Magistrate would not deprive it of its voluntary character 52 I. C. 50; see also 60 I. C. 789; 25 I. C. 634.

RETRACTED CONFESSION—PROOF OF.—Where a confession is retracted both before the committing magistrate and the Sessions trial, it cannot be used unless the Court is otherwise satisfied of its truth and voluntary character. 45 M. L. J. 613=18 L. W. 606=76 I. C. 642=25 Cr. L. J. 210=1924 Mad. 391. See also 93 I. C. 978=A. I. R. 1925 Lah. 605. Where an accused when retracting a confession alleged ill-treatment and inducement by the police to extract the confesfor supposing that by making it he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him.

25. No confession made to a police-officer¹ shall be proved as against a person accused of an offence.

26. No confession made by any person whilst he is in the custody of a police-officer, unless it be made in the immediate presence of a Magistrate, shall be proved as against such person.

²*Explanation.*—In this section “Magistrate” does not include the head of a village discharging magisterial functions in the Presidency of Fort St. George or in Burma or elsewhere, unless such head-man is a Magistrate exercising the powers of a Magistrate under the Code of Criminal Procedure 1882.³

sion, the onus is on him to prove such ill-treatment and inducement. 19 Cr. L. J. 959 = 47 I. C. 811 = 22 C. W. N. 809. A first information report is not admissible in evidence at all, if in substance it is a confession to the police. 24 Cr. L. J. 570 = 73 I. C. 266 = 1923 Nag. 251. See also 63 I. C. 822 (Lah.).

Sec. 25—¹In Upper Burma after the expression “Police officer” the words “who is not a Magistrate” shall be inserted; vide S. 4 (3) (c) of the Burma Laws Act (XIII of 1898).

STATEMENT NOT AMOUNTING TO CONFESSION—A statement made by an accused to a police-officer if it does not amount to a confession may nevertheless be used against him and more particularly if the statement made turns out to be false in the light of the other evidence in the case. 23 Cr. L. J. 193 = 65 I. C. 849 = 2 A. L. J. 178. The word “confession” in S. 25 is not restricted to actual admission of guilt but includes inculpatory statement from which inferences of guilt can reasonably be drawn or which suggest the guilt of the person making the statement. 42 I. C. 1002 = 19 Cr. L. J. 42 (L. B.) Where the circumstances of the case compel a tribunal to act only upon a confession, and to reject all other evidence, the confession must be used Literatim et Verbatim and due effect must be given to every statement in it whether in favour of the accused or against him. 38 I. C. 740 = 18 Cr. L. J. 356 = 15 A. L. J. 15; 14 Cr. L. J. 252 = 19 I. C. 508. Confession made to police-officer is admissible to prove the ownership of property regarding which he is charged. 56 I. C. 62 = 21 Cr. L. J. 414 (Nag.). Section applies to every police-officer and is not restricted to Regular Police Force. 26 C. 569. An admission made by the accused to the police is inadmissible against him under S. 25 17 Cr. L. J. 512 = 36 I. C. 480. As to distinction between admission and confession before Police, see 10 B. L. R. App. 2; 6 C. 530 = 7 C. L. R. 541; 10 C. 1022. The test, which has to be applied in deciding whether S. 25 applies, is the position of the person at the time when it is proposed to prove the admission not his position at the time when he is alleged to have made it. 13 Cr. L. J. 465 = 15 I. C. 305 = 5 Bur. L. T. 392. A confession therefore made to a police officer by a person when he is not accused of any offence is inadmissible in evidence against him when he is accused of an offence. A confession made by an accused to a police officer might be admissible in favour of a co-accused but not against him. (Ibid.) The expression “police-officer” in S. 25 is used in its usual and more comprehensive meaning, and includes Police-officers of the Native States as those of British India. 19 Cr. L. J. 79 = 43 I. C. 111 = 14 N. L. R. 192. The term “Police officer” in this respect must be construed not in any strict technical sense but according to its most comprehensive and popular meaning. 71 I. C. 360 = 24 Cr. L. J. 136 (Pesh.) The statements of approver to a Police Inspector being really confessions, are inadmissible. 35 Mad. 247 = 13 Cr. L. J. 305 = 22 M. L. J. 490 (S. B.) See also 15 Cr. L. J. 474 = 24 Ind. Confession before Administrator in Portuguese territory not admissible. See 26 Bom. L. R. 706 = (1924) Bom. 480. A statement by an accused arrested on a charge of unlawful possession of opium to Excise-Officers, the police servants remaining in room in another part of the house, is still a statement made while in police custody and therefore inadmissible. 18 Cr. SCOPE OF SECTION—See 45 C. 557=22 C. W. N. 213=44 I. C. 321. S. 27 qualifies not only Ss. 25 and 26 but also S. 24 all three of which lay down general rules excluding confessions and the same broad grounds underlies all the three (Ibid.) See also 6 A. 509; 11 B. APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—Sec. 27 is a proviso to Ss. 24, 25 and 26. If the recoveries were made in consequence of the information, supplied by the accused, the statements made by them are admissible. 1923 Lah. 434. A statement is admissible in evidence under S. 27, then as a consequence of it, there is a discovery incriminating the person making the statement. 72 P. L. R. 1916=17 Cr. L. J. 183=33 I. C. 823. See also 16 Cr. L. J. 545=29 I. C. 517=11 P. R. 1915 (Cr.).

INFORMATION NOT LEADING TO DISCOVERY.—Statements leading immediately to the discovery of property are properly admissible. Other statements connected with the one thus made and immediately, but not necessarily or directly connected with the fact discovered are not admissible. 17 Cr. L. J. 8=32 I. C. 136=13 A. L. J. 1077. (11 B. H. C. 242 Rel. on). The language of the section and its place in the Act make it clear that discovery therein referred to is discovery to or by police-officers. 49 Cal. 167=25 C. W. N. 788.

INFORMATION FROM TWO PERSONS—ONLY THAT LEADING TO DISCOVERY IS ADMISSIBLE.—Once property has been discovered in consequence of information received from a suspected person, it cannot be re-discovered in consequence of information received from another suspected person. 23 Cr. L. J. 22=9 P. L. R. 1922=64 I.

whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved.

Confession made after removal of impression caused by inducement, threat or promise, relevant.

28. If such a confession as is referred to in section 24 is made after the impression caused by any such inducement, threat or promise has, in the opinion of the Court been fully removed, it is relevant.

C. 502 = 1922 Lah. 315. It is only the information that was given by the first person and which led to the actual discovery which may be proved under the terms of S. 27 (Ibid.). Where two or more persons are alleged to have given certain information to the police which led to the arrest of the accused, it is only the information given first which is admissible under Ss. 27 and 29. 17 Cr. L. J. 273 = 34 I. C. 993 = 52 P. L. R. 1916 (6 A. 509 Foll.) Information by two persons which leads to the discovery of a fact is relevant and so much of the statement of each which relates to the fact discovered is admissible against both, statements of co-accused after the discovery are irrelevant. 17 Cr. L. J. 506 = 36 I. C. 474 (24 W. R. (Cr.) 36 Ref.) After one accused has made a discovery the other should not be asked to do the same. Ibid. (2 Bom. L. R. 1059 Ref.).

JOINT DISCOVERY—TRACK EVIDENCE.—Track evidence is of no value if the comparison is made 8 or 9 days after the affairs. 63 P. L. R. 1914 = 15 Cr. L. J. 499 = 24 I. C. 587. Where more than one accused person in custody of the police point out this or produce that jointly, such an evidence of joint discovery is not sufficient for a conviction. Ibid. (3 I. C. 622 Foll.).

STATEMENT AFTER DISCOVERY—POINTING OUT PROPERTY—VALUE OF.—A statement by accused not leading to discovery of property but made after discovery and production of the property is irrelevant. The production or the pointing out may indicate that the accused was in possession or that he had innocent knowledge that the articles had been left there by someone else. 13 Cr. L. J. 529 = 15 I. C. 801. When a material fact has already been discovered, the accused's statement while in police custody relating thereto is not admissible under S. 27. 12 Cr. L. J. 35 = 9 I. C. 232.

INFORMATION LEADING TO DISCOVERY.—Though a person points out a place not his own where stolen property is concealed, the Court should not conclude that the person had received or retained it. 39 I. C. 330 = 18 Cr. L. J. 490 = 1 P. R. 1917 (Cr.) (17 A. 576; 20 P. R. 1905 Cr. Ref.) Accused's knowledge of place of concealment does not prove that he concealed it. 1923 Lah. 238 (2). The mere knowledge of the place of concealment does not show that the person having such knowledge actually received the stolen articles or participated in the act of concealment (Ibid.).

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—(a) EVIDENCE HELD ADMISSIBLE.—The discovery of ornaments at his house by accused is clearly a fact discovered. 45 All 300; 21 A. L. J. 143 = 24 Cr. L. J. 526 = 73 I. C. 62 = 1923 All. 352. The statement of the accused that he could point out a spot and that bloodstains would be found there is admissible but not that it was at that spot that he committed the crime. 14 Cr. L. J. 190 = 19 I. C. 190 = 171 P. L. R. 1914. If the accused produced the article himself, the fact that he produced it at a particular place may be proved, but the accompanying statement that he buried it there is inadmissible. (Ibid.)

(b) EVIDENCE HELD NOT ADMISSIBLE.—A person accused under S. 328, 1 P. C., pointed out during the police investigation a Dhatura tree and said that he had taken the fruit of it. The statement was inadmissible. 17 Cr. L. J. 8 = 32 I. C. 136 = 13 A. L. J. 1077. On a trial for murder a witness stated that the accused offered to point out the place where the dead body was and on being questioned as to who had buried the body he said that he (accused) had done so. Held, that the accused's statement that he buried the body was not admissible in evidence. 55 I. C. 685 = 21 Cr. L. J. 349 (1 Ah.) (14 B. 260; 24 P. W. R. 1916; 50 P. W. R. 1915 (Cr.) Dist.) The discovery of a person who is afterwards proved to be a dacoit is not the discovery of a fact with in S. 27. 19 Cr. L. J. 79 = 43 I. C. 111 = 14 N. L. R. 192.

MISCELLANEOUS.—A confession caused by some inducement from some person in authority is inadmissible in evidence. 14 Cr. L. J. 417 = 20 I. C. 401 = 6 Bur. L. T. 109.

STATEMENT OF ACCUSED WHILE IN CUSTODY OF POLICE.—It is legitimate to record evidence that an accused person said, "I will point out certain property," if such statements lead to a discovery; but it is not legitimate to record as an evidence that an accused said "I will point out certain property which I obtained as my share of the booty in the dacoity." 52 P. L. R. 1918 = 44 I. C. 967 = 19 Cr. L. J. 439. Where there is practically no evidence at all against an accused except an incriminating statement under S. 27, the latter should be viewed with great caution and suspicion. 14 Cr. L. J. 190 = 19 I. C. 190 = 171 P. L. R. 1913. The statement of an accused that he buried the weapon in a certain place is relevant but not the part of the statement that it was the weapon with which he had committed the crime. (Ibid.) A statement made by an accused may be proved under S. 27 so far as it relates to any material facts discovered in consequence, even though the police were present when the statement was made. 69 I. C. 377 = 23 Cr. L. J. 697 = 14 L. W. 418. To bring any information by accused under S. 27 the information must have had the direct effect of leading to the discovery of the stolen property. Unless a confession is corroborated in material particulars and by independent testimony it should not be the basis of a conviction. 21 Cr. L. J. 79 = 54 I. C. 479 = 11 L. W. 8. (See also notes under S. 30 infra.)

Sec. 28.—Confessions to the Magistrate made soon after inducements held out by certain Zamindars sent by the Police are inadmissible. 12 Cr. L. J. 110 = 9 I. C. 718. A confession by an accused in police detention as a suspect made in the immediate vicinity of the police to a Zaildar could not be proved unless made to a Magis-

CONFESSION—ADMISSIBILITY AGAINST CO-ACCUSED.—A statement of an accused must amount to a confession before it can be considered against his co-accused under S. 30. 35 Mad. 247=13 Cr. L. J. 305=22 M. L. J. 490=14 I. C. 849=11 M. L. T. 1 Supp. (S. B.); 40 C. L. J. 551. See also 9 P. R. 1911 (Cr.)=10 I. C. 340=12 Cr. L. J. 267; 1925 Sindh 116; 1924 Bom. 445=26 Bom. L. R. 614=25 Cr. L. J. 13=75 I. C. 701; 1924 Nag. 27; 1924 All. 511; 1924 Mad. 805; 1925 Cal. 406. The confession made by a person can be taken into consideration as against persons who are being tried along with him; such a statement however is always regarded as tainted and cannot be used to corroborate the testimony of the accomplice witnesses. 3 Lah. 144=23 Cr. L. J. 513=68 I. C. 113=1922 Lah. 1. See also 13 A. L. J. 337=28 I. C. 663=37 All. 247. Where an accused person after he is arrested makes a confession implicating the other accused and the confession is sought to be used against them, it is incumbent on the prosecution to disclose the name of the officer who made the arrest and produce him or any other person who could speak to the circumstances under which the confession was made so as to enable the defence to ascertain by cross-examination what inducements were offered to the accused to make it and what generally were the circumstances that attended the confession. 36 M. 501=17 C. W. N. 1110=25 M. L. J. 518=21 I. C. 369=40 I. A. 193 (P. C.). The confession of an accused in a dacoity case is not admissible in evidence against a co-accused in that case in a proceeding under S. 110 of the Cr. P. Code. 33 C. L. J. 70=61 I. C. 793=25 C. W. N. 239. The statement of an accused made after arrest and not amounting to a confession is not admissible in evidence against a co-accused either under S. 10 or S. 33 but only against himself. 46 Cal. 710=54 I. C. 53=30 C. L. J. 255.

TEST OF ADMISSIBILITY.—Whether the confession of an accused can be used against his co-accused should be determined on seeing whether the accused can be convicted on that confession of the crime with which he and the co-accused were charged. 60 I. C. 660=22 Cr. L. J. 260 (Lah.). See also 15 C. W. N. 592=12 Cr. L. J. 286=38 Cal. 559; 50 Bom. 683; 9 N. I. J. 80= A. I. R. 1926 Nag. 229.

WEIGHT OF CONFESSION AGAINST CO-ACCUSED.—The confession of an accused should not carry the same weight as the evidence of the same person if he were examined as a witness. 21 I. C. 166=14 Cr. L. J. 566. The Court must, after the most careful consideration, decide whether the degree of proof prescribed by S. 3 has been reached or not. (Ibid.) A confession made by a co-accused must be regarded with suspicion. 23 Cr. L. J. 129=65 I. C. 561=1922 Nag. 146. See also 72 I. C. 497=24 Cr. L. J. 385. It is not the law that unless a confessing prisoner implicates himself as fully as his co-accused the statement will not be admissible, the principle being there is no guarantee that the maker of the confession is speaking the truth. All that is required is that the confession shall substantially implicate its maker in regard to the crime with which he and his co-accused are charged. 4 Pat. L. T. 505; 75 I. C. 705; 24 Cr. L. J. 17; 2 Pat. L. T. 125. A conviction founded solely on the confessions of co-accused cannot be sustained. S. 114 of the Evidence Act applies to the testimony of an accomplice on oath but not to a confession and a judge sitting with assessors ought never to convict solely on confession but where sitting with jury he could either ask the accused to withdraw the confession or direct them to acquit unless corroborated in material particulars by independent evidence. 21 I. C. 673=38 Bom. 156.

CONFESSION—NECESSITY FOR CORROBORATION.—Where however there is, apart from the confessions, a body of evidence and circumstances enough to support a conviction, if the evidence is accepted as free from untruth or exaggeration or serious mistake or distortion, the Court can take the confessions into consideration and consider together the evidence, the circumstances and the confessions. 43 B. 739=51 I. C. 657. See also 4 R. 45=95 I. C. 71=A. I. R. 1926 Rang. 127. Where the corroboration consisted of statements of witnesses which though giving rise Extra-judicial confession by boys cajoled or frightened but retracted before the committing magistrate does not prove a case against persons jointly accused with the boys. 14 P. R. (Cr.) 1911 = 12 Cr. L. J. 597 = 12 I. C. 973. A retracted confession requires strong corroboration in all material particulars. 72 I. C. 497 = 24 Cr. L. J. 385 = 14 L. W. 474. The weight to be given to a retracted confession depends upon the circumstances under which it is made and on the intrinsic value of the confession. 18 Cr. L. J. 774 = 41 I. C. 150 ; 19 I. C. 179 = 14 Cr. L. J. 179.

PLEA OF GUILTY.—The plea of guilty of one co-accused who is removed from the dock while the other alone is tried cannot be taken into consideration against that other. 38 Cal. 446 = 16 C. W. It is for the prosecution to establish their case ; because an accused loses his head or gets frightened and does not tell the truth, he cannot on that account be convicted. 20 A. L. J. 178 = 23 Cr. SELF-EXCULPATORY STATEMENTS.—Self-exculpatory statement of the wife to the effect that the white substance was administered on the assurance by her paramour that it would bring about good-feeling did not amount to a confession and could not be used against the paramour as criminal conspiracy was not proved. 14 Cr. L. J. 586 = 21 I. C. 378 = 18 C. L. J. 590 ; 9 N. L. J. 80 = A. I. R. 1926 Nag. 229. A confession by each of co-accused implicating self and co-accused as regards robbery but throwing entire burden for murder on the other is admissible as regards former but inadmissible as regards the latter. 1923 Lah. 293 ; 12 Cr. L. J. 562 = 12 I. C. 650 = (1911) 2 M. W. N. 375. A statement by an accused person which suggests an inference of guilt may amount to a confession though the person making the statement may directly repudiate his participation in the crime. Such a statement may be taken into consideration against the person making the statement, but it may be unsafe to use it against a co-accused. 53 I. C. 691 = 20 Cr. L. J. 787. STATEMENTS BY PERSONS WHO CANNOT BE CALLED AS WITNESSES.

- 32. Statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, or who has become incapable of giving evidence, or whose attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay or expense which under the circumstances of the case appears to the Court unreasonable, are themselves relevant facts in the Cases in which statement of relevant fact by person who is dead or cannot be found, etc., is relevant.

following cases :—

DATE OF BIRTH—CERTIFICATE OF GUARDIANSHIP IS NOT ADMISSIBLE.—A certificate of guardianship is neither a book nor a register nor a record kept by an officer in accordance with any law but is a certificate as it professes to be, of which there is only one record and which is not a public record or register of any kind but is a document issued to a particular person giving to that particular person and only to him a kind of particular authority. On these grounds the certificate could not be regarded as evidence of minority. 71 I.C. 336 = 38 C. L. J. 186. Orders for the appointment and discharge of a guardian could not be received in evidence to prove the date of the birth of the defendant from the recitals contained therein. (Ibid). As to relevancy of entries in purohit's books to prove date of death, see 26 Bom. L.R. 563 = 46 M.L.J. 541 (P.C.)

CL. (1)—DYING DECLARATION WHEN ADMISSIBLE.—The dying declaration being the most important piece of evidence must be as exact and full as possible. 15 I.C. 308 = 13 Cr. L. J. 468 = 22 M.L.J. 453. See also 1924 Lah. 12 = 5 Lah. 305 = 1924 Lah. 581. As to mode of proving dying declaration, see 6 Lah. L.J. 115 = 1924 Lah. 12. Statement must relate to the injuries by which death was caused. Sub cl. (1) applies to the class of statements made by a dying person as to the injuries which have brought him or her to that condition, or the circumstances under which those injuries came to be inflicted. 4 L. 481 = 1924 Lah. 253. Evidence Act makes dying declarations relevant facts as written statements of deceased or written records of verbal statements which a deceased makes and which becomes substantive evidence of the cause of deceased's death 31 I. C. 359 = 16 Cr. L. J. 759 (Mad.). An oral statement of the deceased about the cause of his death may be proved by any one who heard it as well as by the person who recorded it. Under S 321, Criminal Procedure Code, it is not necessary that the magistrate recording the confession should be called and be asked to refresh his memory by referring to statements of witnesses under S. 159, Evidence Act, 31 I.C. 359;

16 Cr. L. J. 759 (Mad.). 8 C. 211; 6 C.W.N. 72 Diss. The rule as to the admissibility of evidence under S. 32 (1) has worked ill in India. 4 L. 481 = 1924 Lah. 253. On a trial for forgery one of the accused who had made a statement before the enquiring Magistrate died before the commencement of the trial. The statement was admitted by the Sessions Judge under S. 32, cl. 3. Held, that the statement was inadmissible since its maker had already rendered himself liable to criminal prosecution at the time it was made. 25 Bom.L.R. 248. Affidavit of a person who died subsequently and was not subjected to cross-examinations is not admissible. See 38 M.L.T. (H.C.) 275 = 102 I.C. 243 = A.I.R. 1927 Mad. 507 = 52 M.L.J. 477.

DYING DECLARATION—WHEN NOT ADMISSIBLE.—A statement by a dying person not about the circumstances of his death, but about a dacoity that was taking place at the time of his death is not admissible under S. 32 (1) in a trial for the dacoity. Nor can those statements be admissible under section 32 (3) unless they would have exposed him to criminal prosecution. 6 Bur. L.T. 183 = 20 I.C. 990 = 14 Cr.L.J. 510.

DYING DECLARATION, PROOF OF.—A statement of a deceased person recorded in the absence of the accused is not admissible under S. 33. Nor is it admissible under S. 32 (1) unless it is proved by the Magistrate who recorded it or by some one who heard it made. 20 I.C. 220 = 14 Cr. L. J. 396 = 6 Bur. L. T. 68. A dying declaration recorded by a Magistrate is not evidence unless proved by the statement of the Magistrate though he is himself the committing Magistrate in the case. A Court cannot go beyond the rule that every statement placed on the record must be properly proved. Dying declarations are not covered by the provisions of Chap. XLI of the Cr. P. Code. 18 I. C. 883 = 14 Cr. L. J. 131. A dying declaration reduced to writing but not signed by the deponent is not admissible in evidence, but must be proved by the oral testimony of the person who heard it. 23 I. C. 195 = 15 Cr. L. J. 243 = 10 N. L. R. 19. Notes of Police officer relating to a dying declaration are not admissible in evidence, unless signed by the deponent, but in testifying to it, he can refer to them to refresh his memory. (Ibid). Witnesses should not be allowed to prove a dying declaration as if it is a substantial piece of evidence in the case. The relevant fact to be proved is the statement made and that statement is not the document made by the Magistrate. 23 Cr. L. J. 417=67 I. C. 577=6 L. L. J. 115=1924 Lah. 12. The only way of proving a dying declaration is by the evidence of some witness who heard it made, the witness being at liberty to refresh his memory by referring to the note made by him and read over by him at or about the time the statement is made. (Ibid.) See also 49 Cal. 358=71 I. C. 685=24 Cr. L. J. 221=1922 Cal. 382 (2). A dying declaration recorded by a Magistrate should be proved before it can be accepted as evidence and the fact that the Magistrate was the Committing Magistrate makes no difference. 17 P.R. 1911 (Cr.)=13 Cr. L. J. 225=14 I. C. 417. Dying declarations are not covered by Ch. XLI of the Criminal Procedure Code to enable them to be admitted without proof. (Ibid.) A dying declaration made after receiving extreme unction should generally be believed to be true and acted upon. 12 I. C. 206=12 Cr. L. J. 528. The questions and the signs made in reply by a person unable to speak taken together might properly be regarded as a "verbal statement" made by a person as to the cause of the death within the meaning of S. 32 and are therefore admissible in evidence. 49 Cal. 600=26 C.W.N. 414=1922 Cal. 409. Gestures made before death by the person murdered are admissible in evidence, but the opinion of the witnesses as to the meaning of such gestures is not evidence, the interpretation of the gestures being for the Court alone. 1 Pat. 401=3 Pat. SUICIDE.—The accused were charged under S. 330, Indian Penal Code, with having, for the purpose of extorting a confession, caused hurt to one R, who committed suicide owing to the ill-treatment. Held, that ill-treatment was the cause though not the direct cause of the suicide and although the accused were not legally responsible for the suicide, the whole affair, ill-treatment, and subsequent suicide, being one transaction, the statement of the deceased was admissible under S. 32 (1). 20 P. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES—Statements made in subsequent judicial proceedings are not admissible in proceedings instituted previously. 3 U. P. L. R. (B. R.) 74. As the person against whom proceedings have been instituted under S. 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code has no right to cross-examine witnesses during that enquiry, the evidence of witness in that enquiry, who is not forthcoming at the trial started on the result of such inquiry, is not admissible under S. 33. 34 I. C. 969 = 17 Cr. L. J. 249 = 18 Bom. L. R. 284 ; also evidence given in proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C. by one defendant for another. 30 C. W. N. 254 = 93 I. C. 115 = A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 705 The deposition of a material witness which was relied upon by the judge in his summing up to the jury, who resided within the jurisdiction and could be procured without unreasonable expense and delay is not to be admitted under S. 33 as justice requires that such a witness should be examined in the presence of the accused. 31 I. C. 354 = 17 Bom. L. R. 590. A mere statement of a police-officer that a witness is a man of another district and cannot be found is not a sufficient ground for the reception of evidence under S. 33. 41 C. 601 = 26 I. C. 161. At a Sessions enquiry an approver was examined in chief but the accused were not asked then and there to cross-examine him and did not in fact dare to cross-examine and he died before trial in the Court of Sessions. Held, that it was doubtful whether his evidence was admissible under S. 33 and that in any case its value was small. 18 I. In the absence of proof of the circumstances mentioned in the section the importing in bulk in a civil suit of deposition of witnesses recorded in a criminal trial is a serious irregularity. 39 Bom. 441 = 29 M. L. J. 34 = 19 C. W. N. 729 = 29 I. C. 639 = 42 I. A. 135 (P. C.). See also 106 P. R. 1915. Where the interests are identical and when the object of litigation is to advance a common claim, evidence given in former judicial proceedings can be received in evidence under this section in a subsequent proceeding even against persons not parties to the previous litigation. 28 M. L. J. 669 = 24 I. C. 519. (23 W. R. 42 ; 15 B. L. R. 1, Foll.). Suit to enforce registration of will—Judgment based on evidence adduced before the registering officer and treated as evidence in the suit by the consent of parties—Judgment unsustainable. 41 M. 731 = 34 M. Sec. 33 Proviso.—The words "representative in interest" mean that the parties in the second proceeding in which evidence is tendered must be the representative in interest of the parties in the first proceeding, or in other words should be persons who derive their title through or claim under them or, shortly, are their privies. S. 33 cannot be applied without any reference to the subject-matter of the two suits. The interests involved in each case must be the same or similar. English and Indian case law referred to. 102 I. C. 713 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 733. The term "Representative in interest" includes "privies in estate" (as) partners and joint contractors. 5 P. 777.

Such statements are relevant whether the person who made them was or was not, at the time when they were made, under expectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the proceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question.

(2) When the statement was made by such person in the ordinary course of business, and in particular when it consists of any entry or memorandum made by him in books kept in the ordinary course of business, or in the discharge of professional duty; or of an acknowledgment written or signed by him of the receipt of money, goods, securities or property of any kind; or of a document used in commerce written or signed by him; or of the date of a letter or other document usually dated, written or signed by him.

(3) When the statement is against the pecuniary or proprietary interest of the person making it, or when, if true, it would expose him or would have exposed him to a criminal prosecution or to a suit for damages.

PROCEDURE.—It cannot be accepted as a proposition of law that it is absolutely necessary to examine a qualified medical practitioner before evidence can be accepted under S. 33. Difference between English and Indian conditions regarding facilities for obtaining qualified doctors pointed out. 31 C. W. N. 908 = 103 I. C. 846 = 28 Cr. L. J. 766 = A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 679.

There must be proof, not only of the books, but as each entry and item of account. 23 I. W. 272 = 96 I. C. 429 = A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 955. Absence of entry in account book is no evidence. See 19 C. W. "Books" mean sheets of paper permanently bound. Unbound sheets are not books of account. 7 L.B.R. 84 = 15 Cr. L. J. 241 = 23 I. C. 193.

They would be good corroborative evidence. 23 W. R. (P.C.) 27. Such entries must be corroborated by other evidence in order to find a liability upon. 22 W. R. 549; 23 W. R. (Cr.) 27. Such entries need not be made by or at the dictation of a person who had a personal knowledge of the truth of the fact stated. 1 B. 610. The noting of the items in an account book kept regularly by a munim in whose presence the money was not paid is no evidence. 1923 Lah 431 (1). As to what constitutes being kept in the regular course of business, see 4 B. 576. Although the actual entries in books of account are relevant, the book itself is not relevant to disprove an alleged transaction by the absence of any entry concerning it. 10 C. 1024; 30 C. 24. OBJECTION TO ADMISSIBILITY.—Where entries in certain books of account are proved to be in the hand-writing of a person since deceased, any objection to their admissibility on the ground that they were not proved to have been kept in the regular course of business ought to be taken at the time of trial. 32 I. probate, matrimonial admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction, which confers upon or takes away from any person any legal character, or which declares any person to be entitled to any such character, or to be entitled to any specific thing, not as against any specified person but absolutely, is relevant when the existence of any such legal character, or the title of any such person to any such thing, is relevant.

Such judgment, order or decree is conclusive proof—that any legal character which it confers accrued at the time when such judgment, order or decree came into operation ; that any legal character, to which declares any such person to be entitled, accrued to that person at the time when such judgment, [order or decree]¹ declares it to have accrued to that person ; that any legal character which it takes away from any such person ceased at the time from which such judgment, [order or decree]¹ declared that it had ceased or should cease ; and that anything to which it declares any person to be so entitled was the property of that person at the time from which such judgment, [order or decree]¹ declares that it had been or should be his property.

(b) A prosecutes B for adultery with C, A's wife.

B denies that C is A's wife, but the Court convicts B of adultery.

Afterwards, C is prosecuted for bigamy in marrying B during A's lifetime. C says that she never was A's wife.

The judgment against B is irrelevant as against C.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—COMPARISON OF HAND-WRITING.—To make the evidence of a hand-writing expert admissible it is not necessary that the hand-writing should be actually compared in Court. It is enough if the documents admittedly in the accused's hand-writing, are shown to him in open Court and he expresses his opinions thereon. 16 Cr. L. J. 703 = 30 I. C. 751 (Mad.); 16 C. W. N. 812 = 39 C. 606. See also 2 A. L. J. 444; 39 C. 245; 2 Weir 759. (Sub-Registrar not expert, 2 Weir 760). A comparison of hand-writing is to be used with great care and caution and especially in a criminal case when a large quantity of apparently different hand-writing is under comparison, 39 Cal. 606 = 16 C. W. N. 812. A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 575 (thumb-impression) 29 O. C. 1 = A. I. R. 1925 Oudh 413. See also 45 Cal. 60 = 21 C. W. N. 1076 = 42 I. C. 484 = 26 C. L. J. 187. A comparison of hand-writing is at all times, as a mode of proof, hazardous and inconclusive and especially when it is made by one not conversant with the subject and without such guidance as might be derived from the arguments of counsel and the evidence of experts. A comparison of writings has consequently been deemed a mode of ascertaining the truth which ought to be used with very great caution. 49 Cal. 235 = 26 C. W. N. 113 = 66 I. C. 774. (a) The question is, whether the death of A was caused by poison.

The opinions of experts as to the symptoms produced by the poison by which A is supposed to have died, are relevant.

(b) The question is whether A, at the time of doing a certain act, was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing the nature of the act, or that he was doing what was either wrong or contrary to law.

The opinions of experts upon the question whether the symptoms exhibited by A commonly show unsoundness of mind, and whether such unsoundness of mind usually renders persons incapable of knowing the nature of the acts which they do, or of knowing that what they do is either wrong or contrary to law, are relevant.

(c) The question is, whether a certain document was written by A. Another document is produced which is proved or admitted to have been written by A.

The opinions of experts on the question whether the two documents were written by the same person or by different persons, are relevant.

46. Facts, not otherwise relevant, or relevant if they support or are inconsistent with the opinions of experts, when such opinions are relevant.

Illustrations.

(a) The question is, whether A was poisoned by a certain poison.

The fact that other persons, who were poisoned by that poison, exhibited certain symptoms which experts affirm or deny to be the symptoms of that poison, is relevant.

(b) The question is, whether an obstruction to a harbour is caused by a certain sea-wall.

The fact that other harbours similarly situated in other respects, but where there were no such sea-walls, began to be obstructed at about the same time, is relevant.

not written or signed by that person, is a relevant fact.

A. I. R. 1925 Pat. 787. In a case of forgery the only chief evidence being an expert's examination of the forged document as compared with the other documents alleged to be in the hand-writing of the accused, the other documents must be strictly proved to be in his hand-writing. 36 M. 159 = 22 M. L. J. 270. A mere statement therefore by a witness that it is the hand-writing of the accused is no evidence if he is not able to say how long ago they were written. (Ibid.) In arriving at a conclusion of the authorship of the forged document, the expert should show marked peculiarities in the hand-writing of the accused which are re-produced in the forged document and when the writing has no such peculiarities, the comparison is of no consequence and cannot be relied on. Also the fact that the disputed samples are put separately from the standard ones for the examination lessens its usefulness. (Ibid.) A conviction cannot be based on an expert's comparison, if it is not supported by corroborative evidence. (Ibid.)

FINGER PRINT.—If a finger-print expert has not been cross-examined as to the grounds of his opinion and as to the test to which he had put a particular finger-print, the weight to be attached to such witness's evidence cannot be diminished by applying to it considerations to which the witness's attention was never directed. 21 Cr. L. J. 257 = 55 I. C. 273 (Pat.). See also 97 I. C. 335 = A. I. R. 1926 Pat. 575. 43 C. L. J. 70 = 30 C. W. N. 373 = 93 I. C. 73 = A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 531.

THUMB IMPRESSION.—If the finger prints are clear enough to sustain an argument, there is no reason why an argument by way of deduction should not be as sure a foundation for a conclusion and it may be a better one than any based on direct evidence. There is nothing in the so called science of finger print or the qualifications of an expert in it which need deter a Court from applying its own eyes and its own mind to the evidence and verifying the results submitted to it by the witness. 46 Mad. 715 = 69 I. C. 374 = 1923 Mad. 178; 9 P.R. (Cr.) 1914 = 27 I. C. 203. Taking thumb impression of accused in court for purpose of comparison is legal. 50 Mad. 462 = 98 I. C. 99 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 696 = 53 M. L. PHOTOGRAPHS.—Where the question of legitimacy arises photographs of the putative father and son to prove resemblance are admissible. 13 I. C. 678 = 15 C. L. J. 621. (On appeal 47 I. C. 513 = 45 Cal. 878.)

TECHNICAL WORKS.—Technical works cannot be used to refute an expert witness's opinion unless the passages to be used are put in cross-examination to the witness for him to explain them if he can. 22 C. W. N. 745 = 46 I. C. 593 = 28 C. L. J. 32 (23 C. 1 (P. C.) Ref.).

OPINION ON MEDICAL MATTERS.—Expert medical opinion of a Surgeon who conducted post mortem examination is relevant. 12 I. C. 93 = 12 Cr. L. J. 485.

TRADE MARK.—Similarity of trade mark is a matter for the court. 49 All. 92 = 99 I. C. 353 = A. I. R. 1927 All. 81 = 24 A. L. J. 975.

FOREIGN LAW.—Expert opinion on matters of foreign law. See 92 I. C. 112 = A. I. R. 1926 Mad 218.

Sec. 47.—See also Notes under Ss. 45 and 46.

Explanation.—A person is said to be acquainted with the hand-writing of another person when he has seen that person write, or when he has received documents purporting to be written by that person in answer to documents written by himself or under his authority and addressed to that person, or when, in the ordinary course of business, documents purporting to be written by that person have been habitually submitted to him.

Illustration.

The question is, whether a given letter is in the hand-writing of A, a merchant in London.

B is a merchant in Calcutta, who has written letters addressed to A and received letters purporting to be written by him. C is B's clerk, whose duty it was to examine and file B's correspondence. D is B's broker, to whom B habitually submitted the letters purporting to be written by A for the purpose of advising with him thereon.

The opinions of B, C, and D on the question whether the letter is in the hand-writing of A are relevant, though neither B, C nor D ever saw A write.

48. When the Court has to form an opinion as to the existence of any general custom or right, the opinions, as to the existence of such custom or right, of persons who would be likely to know of its existence if it existed, are relevant.

Explanation.—The expression “general custom or right” includes customs or rights common to any considerable class of persons.

Opinion as to usages, tenets, c., when relevant.

the usages and tenets of any body of men or family, the constitution and government of any religious or charitable foundation, or the meaning of words or terms used in particular districts or by particular classes of people, the opinions of persons having special means of knowledge thereon, are relevant facts.

50. When the Court has to form an opinion as to the relationship of one person to another, the opinion, expressed by conduct, as to the existence of such relationship of any person who, as a member of the family or otherwise, has special means of knowledge on the subject, is a relevant fact:

Opinion on relationship when relevant.

Although it is true that under the Evidence Act comparison of hand-writing is legitimate enough and the view of persons competent to express opinions may be in many cases of considerable value the opinions of those who have not carefully studied the art of caligraphy is not as a rule of very great utility. Indeed so uncertain and inexact is the science of the study of caligraphy that it has been for some years past the tendency to regard evidence even of experts as of somewhat inconclusive character. The mere fact that there is a resemblance between the signature alleged to be false and a signature admitted to be genuine does not carry great weight. If a signature is denied the onus of proving it is on the party relying on its genuineness. 64 I. C. 234 (P.). CHARACTER WHEN RELEVANT.

52. In civil cases the fact that the character of any person concerned is such as to render probable or improbable any conduct imputed to him is irrelevant, except in so far as such character appears from facts otherwise relevant.

In civil cases character to prove conduct imputed, irrelevant.

53. In criminal proceedings the fact that the person accused is of a good character is relevant.

In criminal cases, previous good character relevant.

[54.] In criminal proceedings the fact that the accused person has a bad character is irrelevant, unless evidence has been given that he has a good character, in which case it becomes relevant.

Previous bad character not relevant, except in reply.

Explanation (1).—This section does not apply to cases in which the bad character of any person is itself a fact in issue.

Explanation (2)—A previous conviction is relevant as evidence of bad character.¹

Secs. 52-54.—ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE.—General evidence of bad character cannot in the first instance be given against accused. 7 W. R. 7 (Cr.); 6 W. R. 62 (Cr.); 59 I. C. 560=2 Lah. L. J. 658. Such evidence not generally admissible to prove commission of offence. 1 C. W. N. 146. But see also 27 C. 139. Proper object of proof of previous conviction is to determine amount of punishment if the accused be found guilty of offence charged. 11 B. H. C. 90. See also 32 M. 326.

USE OF PREVIOUS CONVICTION.—Where a previous conviction is relevant with reference to the question of the applicability of S. 562 and also on the question of punishment, it may be taken into consideration in giving punishment after the accused is found guilty. 39 Bom. 326 = 26 I. C. 995=16 Bom. L. R. 934. On this point, see also 5 C. 768=6 C. L. R. 219; U. B. R. (1908) 2nd Qr. Evidence 1=8 Cr. L. J. 411; U. B. R. (1892—1896), Vol. I, 82; 26 P. W. R. 1910; 14 Bom. L. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—The fact that an accused is of bad character or is reputed to be a thief or a habitual thief is no evidence against him for a charge under S. 401, I. P. C. 13 P. R. 1914 (Cr.)=26 I. C. 625. See also 60 I. C. 331=5 Pat. L. J. 706. In a proceeding under S. 110, Cr. P. The past history of a gang of dacoits would be significant only if an offence under S. 400, Penal Code, has been made out. 13 I. C. 279=16 C. W. N. 69. Statement by a prosecution witness in a prosecution for riot that he had brought a case under S. 107, Cr. P. C. against some of the accused who had been bound down, is admissible not for proving the bad character of the accused but as part of the re gestae, the events which had transpired before and which led up to the riot with which the accused were charged. 17 I. Character as affecting damages.

55. In civil cases the fact that the character of any person is such as to affect the amount of damages which he ought to receive, is relevant.

Explanation.—In Ss. 52, 53, 54 and 55, the word "character" includes both reputation and disposition; but, [except as provided in S. 54] evidence may be given only of general reputation and general disposition, and not of particular acts by which reputation or disposition were shown.

ON PROOF.

CHAPTER III.

FACTS WHICH NEED NOT BE PROVED.

Fact judicially noticeable need not be proved.

56. No fact of which the Court will take judicial notice need be proved.

Facts of which Court must take judicial notice.

57. The Court shall take judicial notice of the following facts :—

(1) all laws or rules having the force of law now or heretofore in force, or hereafter to be in force, in any part of British India :

(2) all public Acts passed or hereafter to be passed by Parliament, and all local and personal Acts directed by Parliament to be judicially notice :

(3) Articles of war for Her Majesty's Army or Navy :

(4) the course of proceeding of Parliament and of the Councils for the purposes of making Laws and Regulations established under the Indian Councils Act or any other law for the time being relating thereto.

Explanation.—The word "Parliament" in clauses (2) and (4) includes—

(1) the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland ;

(2) the Parliament of Great Britain ;

(3) the Parliament of England ;

Sec. 55.—¹ Section 55 was inserted by Act III of 1891, S. 7. See 10 C. W. N. 522 = 3 C. L. J. 349 ; 2 C. P. L. R. 198 ; 41 I. C. 696.

Sec. 57. SECTION NOT EXHAUSTIVE.—The list given in this section of the facts of which the Court shall take judicial notice of is far from complete ; and Anglo-Indian Courts take judicial notice of the ordinary course of nature, the meaning of English words, and all other matters which they are directed by any other Act to notice, such as in Bengal, lists of landholders who have not made road cess returns (Beng. Act IX of 1880, S. 19) ; in Madras, by-laws framed by the Commissioners of Police (Mad. Act III of 1866, S. 4) ; in Bombay, notifications in the Gazette (Bom. Act X of 1866, S. 4) ; in Oudh, the list of talukdars and grantees published by the Chief Commissioner (Act I of 1868, S. 16)" (Whitley Stokes, Vol. II, p. 837.) In 10 C. L. R. 469 the Court refused to take judicial notice of the seal of a Kazi or Sudr. Amin whose appointment, said to have been made about 1820 was not proved. Though Courts take judicial notice of judgments, it does not follow that all statements of facts contained in judgments must be taken judicial notice of. 19 S. L. R. 376 = A. I. R. 1926 Sind 161.

SIGNATURE OF A GAZETTED OFFICER.—The Court can take judicial notice of the signature of gazetted officer of the British Government and therefore the genuineness of his signature is not a matter which, unless the Court deems it necessary, need be proved. The applicability of the subsection is not contingent on the exhibition of a copy of the Fort St. George Gazette containing a notification of his appointment as such officer. 44 M. L. Oral evidence must be 60. Oral evidence must, in all cases whatever, be direct; that is to say—if it refers to a fact which could be seen, it must be the evidence of a witness who says he saw it;

if it refers to a fact which could be heard, it must be the evidence of a witness who says he heard it;

if it refers to a fact which could be perceived by any other sense or in any other manner, it must be the evidence of a witness who says he perceived it by that sense or in that manner;

if it refers to an opinion or to the grounds on which that opinion is held, it must be the evidence of the person who holds that opinion on those grounds:

Provided that the opinions of experts expressed in any treatise commonly offered for sale, and the grounds on which such opinions are held, may be proved by the production of such treatises if the author is dead or cannot be found, or has become incapable of giving evidence, or cannot be called as a witness without an amount of delay or expense which the Court regards as unreasonable:

Provided also that, if oral evidence refers to the existence or condition of any material thing other than a document, the Court may, if it thinks fit, require the production of such material thing for its inspection.

CHAPTER V.

OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

Proof of contents of document.

61. The contents of documents may be proved either by primary or by secondary evidence.

Primary evidence.

62. Primary evidence means the document itself produced for the inspection of the Court.

Explanation (1).—Where a document is executed in several parts, each part is primary evidence of the document.

Where a document is executed in counterpart, each counterpart being executed by one or some of the parties only, each counterpart is primary evidence as against the parties executing it.

Explanation (2).—Where a number of documents are all made by one uniform process, as in the case of printing, lithography, or photography, each is primary evidence of the contents of the rest; but, where they are all copies of a common original, they are not primary evidence of the contents of the original.

Illustration.

A person is shown to have been in possession of a number of placards, all printed at one time from one original. Any one of placards is primary evidence of the contents of any other, but no one of them is primary evidence of the contents of the original.

Secondary evidence

63. Secondary evidence means and includes—

- (1) certified copies given under the provisions hereinafter contained;
- (2) copies made from the original by mechanical processes which in themselves insure the accuracy of the copy, and copies compared with such copies;

Sec. 60. SCOPE OF SECTION.—See 12 Beng. L. R. (App.) 18; 1924 Rang. 363. As to persons, who can give opinion evidence, see 25 M. 209; 23 A. 37. As to evidence of admission, see 5 M. 239; 4 L. Sec. 68. COPY OF A COPY is not evidence, 7 A. 738. Proof of copy being correct copy is no proof of the original (i.e.) of its execution, genuineness, etc., 22 W. R. 208.

Newspaper copy of a letter not proved to have been written by the accused is not evidence. 8 A. L. J. 302; 10 I. C. 852. Secondary evidence of a document which has not been proved to have been written by accused or even existed, cannot be admitted. A copy of a newspaper publishing a defamatory letter cannot be used as secondary evidence to prove a letter which has not been found or even proved to have existed. Ibid.

- (3) copies made from or compared with the original ;
- (4) counterparts of document as against the parties who did not execute them;
- (5) oral accounts of the contents of a document given by some person who has himself seen it.

Illustrations.

(a) A Photograph of an original is secondary evidence of its contents, though the two have not been compared, if it is proved that the thing photographed was the original.

(b) A copy compared with a copy of a letter made by a copying machine is secondary evidence of the contents of the letter if it is shown that the copy made by the copying machine was made from the original.

(c) A copy transcribed from a copy, but afterwards compared with the original, is secondary evidence; but the copy not so compared is not secondary evidence of the original, although the copy from which it was transcribed was compared with the original.

(d) Neither an oral account of a copy compared with the original, nor an oral account of a photograph or machine copy of the original, is secondary evidence of the original.

Proof of documents by primary evidence.

64. Documents must be proved by primary evidence except in the cases hereinafter mentioned.

Cases in which secondary evidence relating to documents may be given.

65. Secondary evidence may be given of the existence, condition or contents of a document in the following cases :—

- (a) when the original is shown or appears to be in the possession or power—

In cases (a), (c) and (d), any secondary evidence of the contents of the document is admissible.

In case (b), the written admission is admissible.

In case (e), or (f), a certified copy of the document, but no other kind of secondary evidence, is admissible.

In case (g), evidence may be given as to the general result of the documents by any person who has examined them, and who is skilled in the examination of such documents.

Provided that such notice shall not be required in order to render secondary evidence admissible in any of the following cases, or in any other case in which the Court thinks fit to dispense with it :—

(1) when the document to be proved is itself a notice ;

Presumption of genuineness includes presumption of executants authority. 97 I. C. 292 = 24 A. L. J. 920 (A. I. R. 1925 All. 1, fol.) Presumption of genuineness only dispenses with proof, but the question of evidence is not affected thereby. 95 I. C. 261 = A. I. R. 1926 All. 537.

Explanation.—Documents are said to be in proper custody if they are in the place in which, and under the care of the person with whom, they would naturally be; but no custody is improper if it is proved to have had a legitimate origin, or if the circumstances of the particular case are such as to render such an origin probable.

This explanation applies also to S. 81.

Such confession can be proved at the time of the prosecution. 36 All. 222 = 25 I. C. 321. The confession of an accused made to magistrate holding an enquiry is a matter which must be reduced to the form of a document within the meaning of S. 91. 35 All. 260 = 19 I. C. 307 = 11 A. L. The only way of proving a dying declaration is by the evidence of some witness who heard it made, the witness being at liberty to refresh his memory by referring to the note made by him or read over to him at or about the time the statement is made (Ibid.). The record by Court of a deposition is the only evidence admissible of the statements alleged to have been made by the witness and if it is not shown to have been read out to the witness he can't be convicted of perjury, 42 Mad. 561 = 36 M. L. J. 206 = 50 I. C. 987. (3) The existence of any separate oral agreement, constituting a condition precedent to the attaching of any obligation under any such contract, grant or disposition of property, may be proved.

(4) This existence of any distinct subsequent oral, agreement to rescind or modify any such contract, grant or disposition of property may be proved, except in cases in which such contract, grant or disposition of property is by law required to be in writing, or has been registered according to the law in force for the time being as to the registration of documents.

(d) A enters into a written contract with B to work certain mines, the property of B, upon certain terms. A was induced to do so by a misrepresentation of B's as to their value. This fact may be proved.

(e) A institutes a suit against B for the specific performance of a contract, and also prays that the contract may be reformed as to one of its provisions, as that provision was inserted in it by mistake. A may prove that such a mistake was made as would by law entitle him to have the contract reformed.

(f) A orders goods of B by a letter in which nothing is said as to the time of payment, and accepts the goods on delivery. B sues A for the price. A may show that the goods were supplied on credit for a term still unexpired.

A hires lodgings of B for a year, and a regularly stamped agreement, drawn up by an attorney is made between them. It is silent on the subject of board. A may not prove that board was included in the term verbally.

(i) A applies to B for a debt due to A by sending a receipt for the money. B keeps the receipt and does not send the money. In a suit for the amount A may prove this.

(j) A and B make a contract in writing to take effect upon the happening of a certain contingency. The writing is left with B, who sues A upon it. A may show the circumstances under which it was delivered.

Illustration.

A sells to B, by deed, "my estate at Rampur containing 100 bighas." A has an estate at Rampur containing 100 bighas. Evidence may not be given of the fact that the estate meant to be sold was one situated at a different place and of a different size.

PART III.
PRODUCTION AND EFFECT OF EVIDENCE.
CHAPTER VII.

OF THE BURDEN OF PROOF.

101. Whoever desires any Court to give judgment as to any legal right or liability dependent on the existence of facts which he asserts must prove that those facts exist.

Burden of proof.

When a person is bound to prove the existence of any fact, it is said that the burden of proof lies on that person.

Illustrations.

(a) A desires a Court to give judgment that B shall be punished for a crime which A says B has committed.

A must prove that B has committed the crime.

(b) A desires a Court to give judgment that he is entitled to certain land in the possession of B, by reason of facts which he asserts, and which B denies, to be true.

A must prove the existence of those facts.

102. The burden of proof in a suit or proceeding lies on that person who would fail if no evidence at all were given on either side.

Illustrations.

(a) A sues B for land of which B is in possession, and which, as A asserts, was left to A by the will of C, B's father.

If no evidence were given on either side, B would be entitled to retain his possession. Therefore the burden of proof is on A.

(b) A sues B for money due on a bond.

The execution of the bond is admitted, but B says that it was obtained by fraud which A denies.

If no evidence were given on either side, A would succeed as the bond is disputed and the fraud is not proved.

Therefore the burden of proof is on B.

103. The burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the Court to believe in its existence, unless it is provided by any law that the proof of that fact shall lie on any particular person.

Burden of proof as to particular fact.

Sec. 101.—When all evidence is in the question of burden of proof has little or no importance in appeal. 103 I. C. 166. The burden of establishing a case is rests on the party who asserts the affirmative. 35 C. 1051; 9 W. R. 192; Applies to probate cases, 39 C. 245. Party alleging that a contract is conditional must prove the condition. When a tenant of lands in India in a suit by his landlord to eject him from them, sets up a defence that he has right of permanent tenancy in the lands, the onus of proving that he has such a right is upon the tenant, and proof of long occupation at a fixed rent does not satisfy that onus. 46 M. B wishes the Court to believe that, at the time in question, he was elsewhere. He must prove it.

Burden of proving fact to be proved to make evidence admissible.

104. The burden of proving any fact is necessary to be proved in order to enable any person to give evidence of any other fact is on the person who wishes to give such evidence.

When a person is accused of any offence, the burden of proving the existence of circumstances bringing the case within any of the General Exceptions in the Indian Penal Code, or within any special exception or proviso contained in any other part of the same Code, or in any law defining the offence, is upon him, and the Court shall presume the absence of such circumstances.

Burden of proving that case of accused comes within exceptions.

When a person has not been heard of for 7 years, there is a presumption that he is dead. There is no further presumption authorized by the Evidence Act. L. R. 3 A. 393 (Rev.).

Sec. 108 is a proviso to S. 107. The rule in S. 108 supersedes the rules in Hindu and Mahomedan law. 43 M. L. J. 725; 2 Beng. L. R. 134. There can be a presumption and inference of death irrespective of S. 108. 103 I. C. 329 = A. I. R. 1927 All. 687.

The rules as to presumption of death contained in this section would govern the case of a Mahomedan who was missing for more than seven years. 7 A. 297, foll. This section raises a presumption of death at the end of a continuous absence of seven years and not at the time when the question is raised or the suit is instituted. S. 59 has no application to a case in which one of two joint licensors transfers his interest in the property with respect to which the license has been granted in favour of his co-licensor. The transferee contemplated by the section must be a person who was not the licensor himself. 98 I. C. 814 = A. I. R. 1927 All. 197. ESTOPPEL.

115. When one person has, by his declaration, act or omission, intentionally caused or permitted another person to believe a thing to be true and to act upon such belief, neither he nor his representative shall be allowed, in any suit or proceeding between himself and such person or his representative, to deny the truth of that thing.

Sec. 115 is not exhaustive of the doctrine of estoppel by representation. 33 Cal. 915. See also 20 C. W. N. 1335; 23 M. L. J. 335. But see 35 Cal. 924=12 C. W. N. 721 (P. C.). There are three kinds of estoppel:—(1) by record, see Evidence Act, Ss. 40 (44). 39 C. L. J. 40; 48 I. A. 49. (2) Estoppel by deed. (3) Estoppel in pais or by conduct which is dealt with in Ss. 115-117. To bring a case within the section there must be (1) a representation which amounts to an intentional causing or permitting belief in another, (2) a belief on the part of the other in its truth, (3) the declaration must have caused the other to act on the faith of it and alter his position. See 22 C. W. N. 891 (P. C.); 57 I. C. 263. No fraudulent intention is necessary. 20 Cal. 296 (P. C.). But see 4 O. W. N. 1019. A statement to found an estoppel should be clear and unambiguous. Illustration.

A intentionally and falsely leads B to believe that certain land belongs to A, and thereby induces B to buy and pay for it.

The land afterwards becomes the property of A, and A seeks to set aside the sale on the ground that, at the time of the sale, he had no title. He must not be allowed to prove his want of title.

116. No tenant of immoveable property, or person claiming through such tenant shall, during the continuance of the tenancy, be permitted to deny that the landlord of such tenant had, at the beginning of the tenancy, a title to such immoveable property; and no person who came upon any immoveable property by the licence of the person in possession thereof shall be permitted to deny that such person had a title to such possession at the time when such licence was given.

117. No acceptor of a bill of exchange shall be permitted to deny that the drawer had authority to draw such bill or to endorse it; nor shall any bailee or licensee be permitted to deny that his bailor or licensor had, at the time when the bailment or licence commenced, authority to make such bailment or grant such licence.

Explanation (1).—The acceptor of a bill of exchange may deny that the bill was really drawn by the person by whom it purports to have been drawn.

Explanation (2).—If a bailee delivers the goods bailed to a person other than the bailor, he may prove that such person had a right to them as against the bailor.

CHAPTER IX.

OF WITNESSES.

118. All persons shall be competent to testify unless the Court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them, or from giving rational answers to those questions,

M. 270; 25 C. W. N. 29 (F. B.); 48 A. 353. As to part performance, see 39 M. 509 (P. C.); 42 C. 801; 40 M. 1134.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Where in rent receipts given by the agent of the Zemindar, the tenants are described as occupancy tenants, in the absence of evidence to show that the agent had power to confer occupancy rights, the Zemindar is not estopped from asserting that the tenants had no occupancy rights. L. R. 3 A. 517 (Rev.). The granting of receipts in the ordinary course of business by a landlord to his tenant is not an admission of such a formal and deliberate character as to prevent the former from denying the relationship of tenancy. L. R. 4 A. 174 (Rev.). Where a Zemindar took nazrana and admitted the tenant into land pending the execution of a lease deed he is estopped from denying that he had admitted the tenant into the land with the intention of giving a lease. L. R. 3 A. 543 (Rev.). The fact that a registered lease was not given does not affect the question. L. R. 3 A. 543 (Rev.).

Sec. 117.—See 36 Bom. 455 = 12 I. C. 257 (estoppel between banker and customer).

Sec. 118. SCOPE OF SECTION.—S. 118 suggests that in India the rule generally is in favour of the admission of all the evidence of doubtful character though the weight to be attached will be a matter for the Court's discretion. 34 I. C. 976 = 17 Cr. L. J. 356 = 18 Bom. L. R. 266. Witness may be competent without being compellable. See Field, p. 402 (6th ed.). Test of competency is that witness should be able to understand questions put to him. 102 I. C. 349 = 8 Pat. L. T. 594 = 28 C. L. J. 541.

Evidence of child or minor of tender years though taken without solemn affirmation, is admissible in evidence, though such evidence must be received with due care and caution. But the Court must be satisfied before receiving the testimony, if the witness is capable of understanding the nature and obligation of an oath. 45 I. C. 497 = 20 Bom. L. R. 365. The absence of such examination does not invalidate by tender years, extreme old age, disease, whether of body or mind, or any other cause of the same kind.

Explanation.—A lunatic is not incompetent to testify, unless he is prevented by his lunacy from understanding the questions put to him and giving rational answers to them.

119. A witness who is unable to speak may give his evidence in any other manner in which he can make it intelligible, as by writing or by signs ; but such writing must be written and the signs made in open Court. Evidence so given shall be deemed to be oral evidence.

Parties to civil suit, and their wives or husbands. Husband or wife of person under criminal trial.

120. In all civil proceedings the parties to the suit, and the husband or wife of any party to the suit, shall be competent witnesses. In criminal proceedings against any person, the husband or wife of such person respective shall be a competent witness.

121. No Judge or Magistrate shall, except upon the special order of some Court to which he is subordinate, be compelled to answer any questions as to his own conduct in Court as such Judge or Magistrate, or has to anything which came to his knowledge in Court as such Judge or Magistrate ; but he may be examined as to other matters which occurred in his presence whilst he was so acting.

(b) A is accused before the Court of Session of having given false evidence before B, a Magistrate. B cannot be asked what A said, except upon the special order of the superior Court.

SCOPE OF SECTIONS.—Questions mentioned in Ss. 121, 124 and 125 are not barred. The witness has simply a privilege of refusing to answer them and a Magistrate may warn the witness of his privilege. But he cannot disallow such questions. 10 I. C. 917 = 12 Cr. L. J. 277. As to whether a judge can be a witness in a case tried by himself, see 4 B. L. R. (Cr.) 15; 20 W. R. 122. No person who is or has been married shall be compelled to disclose any communication made to him during marriage by any person to whom he is or has been married; nor shall he be permitted to disclose any such communication, unless the person who made it, or his representative in interest, consents, except in suits between married persons, or proceedings in which one married person is prosecuted for any crime committed against the other.

123. No one shall be permitted to give any evidence derived from unpublished official records relating to any affairs of State, except with the permission of the officer at the head of the department concerned, who shall give or withhold such permission as he thinks fit.

124. No public officer shall be compelled to disclose communications made to him in official confidence, when he considers that the public interests would suffer by the disclosure.

[125. No Magistrate or police-officer¹ shall be compelled to say whence he got any information as to the commission of any offence, and no revenue-officer shall be compelled to say whence he got any information as to the commission of any offence against the public revenue.

Sec. 122. SCOPE OF SECTION.—See 22 M. 1 at p. 3.

APPLICATION OF SECTION.—Before admitting evidence under S. 122 the Court should ask the party against whom the evidence is to be given whether he or she would consent to the evidence being given. The consent must be express. 14 Cr. L. J. 316 = 27 P. R. (Cr.) 1913 = 19 I. C. 1004. The restriction in S. 122 is not one that can be waived or that a Court can relax, so that disclosure by a widow of certain communications made to her by her husband immediately before his death cannot only be not compelled but should not be permitted at all. 23 I. C. 511 = 40 Cal. 891. No statement of an incriminating nature made by the appellant as to her guilt under S. 302 to her husband could be received in evidence. 1923 Lah. 40 (10 P. R. 1914 foll.) An offence against a person in the section does not include an offence against a son though it may cause grief to the father. 10 P. R. (Cr.) 1914 = 25 I. C. 525. On a trial for breach of trust by a public servant a letter of the accused to his wife found by the Police was held admissible against him in evidence 22 M. 1.

SECS. 123-126. SCOPE OF SECTIONS.—Questions referred to in Ss. 123 and 126 should be disallowed by the Magistrate. 10 I. C. 917 = 12 Cr. L. J. 277. Non-production of a complaint when demanded merely for ascertaining the informer's name is not improper but privileged under S. 125, the disclosure of the informer's name being contrary to S. 123. 37 I. Sec. 125.—This section was substituted by Act III of 1887, S. 1.

¹ All the privileges which a police-officer has under S. 125 of this Act have been conferred on a Commandant or Second-in-Command of military police in Burma, see the Burma Military Police Act (XV of 1887), S. 13, Bur. Code. See also the revised edition of the Act as modified up to 1st May, 1899, printed by the Government of Burma.

SCOPE AND OBJECT OF THE SECTION.—S. 125 rests upon policy and it protects the name of a spy or informant, not the nature of the information and it has no application to an informant who lays a sworn information and thereby initiates criminal proceedings. This rule is clearly applicable to gambling cases. 29 I. C.

Explanation.—"Revenue-officer" in this section means any officer employed in or about the business of any branch of the public revenue.]

126. No barrister, attorney, pleader or vakil shall at any time be permitted, unless with his client's express consent, to disclose any communication made to him in the course and for the purpose of his employment as such barrister, pleader, attorney or vakil, by or on behalf of his client, or to state the contents or condition of any document with which he has become acquainted in the course and for the purpose of his professional employment, or to disclose any advice given by him to his client in the course and for the purpose of such employment :

Provided that nothing in this section shall protect from disclosure—

- (1) any such communication made in furtherance of any [illegal]¹ purpose ;
- (2) any fact observed by any barrister, pleader, attorney or vakil, in the course of his employment as such, showing that any crime or fraud has been committed since the commencement of his employment.

It is immaterial whether the attention of such barrister, [pleader]² attorney or vakil was or was not directed to such fact by or on behalf of his client.

Explanation.—The obligation stated in this section continues after the employment has ceased.

Illustrations.

(a) A, a client, says to B, an attorney—"I have committed forgery and I wish you to defend me."

As the defence of a man known to be guilty is not a criminal purpose, this communication is protected from disclosure.

(b) A, a client, says to B, an attorney—"I wish to obtain possession of property by the use of a forged deed on which I request you to sue."

The communication, being made in furtherance of a criminal purpose, is not protected from disclosure.

(c) A, being charged with embezzlement, retains B, an attorney, to defend him. In the course of the proceedings, B observes that an entry has been made in A's account book, charging A with the sum said to have been embezzled, which entry was not in the book at the commencement of his employment.

This being a fact observed by B in the course of his employment, showing that a fraud has been committed since the commencement of the proceedings, it is not protected from disclosure.

127. The provisions of section 126 shall apply to interpreters, and the clerks or servants of barristers, pleaders, attorneys and vakils.

128. If any party to a suit gives evidence therein at his own instance or otherwise he shall not be deemed to have consented thereby to such disclosure as is mentioned in section 123; and, if any party to a suit or proceeding calls any such barrister, [pleader]² attorney or vakil as a witness, he shall be deemed to have consented to such disclosure only if he questions such barrister, attorney or vakil on matters which, but for such question, he would not be at liberty to disclose.

129. No one shall be compelled to disclose to the Court any confidential communication which has taken place between him and his legal professional adviser, unless he offers himself as a witness, in which case he may be compelled to disclose

The taking of a thumb impression is not equivalent to asking a question and receiving an answer and may be proved against the person in any criminal proceeding and the proviso to S. 132 does not apply where no objection is taken to the thumb impression being taken. 39 Cal. 348 = 13 I. C. 925 = 16 C. W. N. 503. (3 M. 271 ; 21 C. 392 foll.) Where a charge for perjury is based on two contradictory statements every possible presumption in favour of their reconciliation should be made. 15 Cr. L. J. 379 = 23 I. C. 747. A sanction to prosecute for perjury should not be given on the basis of two contradictory statements where two statements are reconcilable and every possible presumption must be in favour of such reconciliation. 24 I. C. 576 = 15 Cr. L. J. 488. (7 A. 44 foll.) A person who is tried for an offence under S. 3 of the Gambling Act has every right to cite as his witness another person who is a co-accused with him for an offence under S. 4 in a separate trial. The co-accused's position is sufficiently protected by S. 132. 73 I. C. 521 = 1924 Lah. 247. As to privilege of statement made before the coroner, see 50 B. 56.

persons merely present are not accomplices. 20 Cr. L. J. 238=50 I.C. 18. Person having knowledge of commission of offence and keeping quiet for some days is no better than accomplice. 30 C. W. N. 816. Accomplice and detective—Distinction. The detectives and accomplices are distinguished clearly when a conspiracy contains persons of both the characters. The former enter with a design of detecting or betraying it, while the latter do concur fully with other accomplices till they are alarmed or they turn upon their associates and expose them. In the case of those corroboration equal to that of other is necessary. 15 C.L.J. 517=16 I.C. 257=16 C.W.N. 1105.

WHO IS NOT AN APPROVER.—Where a person was not granted a formal pardon but was examined under S. 10, Gambling Act, he is not an approver and therefore his evidence can be accepted without corroboration. L. R. 1 A. (Cr.) 101. One who is already convicted of a different offence could not be considered as an accomplice as he has nothing to gain or lose by the evidence he gives in Court. 14 I.C. 607 (2)=15 C.L.J. 962.

VALUE OF ACCOMPLICE'S OR APPROVER'S EVIDENCE.—The evidence of an approver, if believed, is sufficient foundation whereon to repose a conviction but in practice the Court ex maiori cautela insists upon corroboration of the approver's statements in material particulars. 69 I.C. 452=23 Cr. L. J. 754=1925 Lah. 153. The confession of an accomplice should be subjected to the most anxious scrutiny in so far as it incriminates others, and received with caution as it is not sifted by cross-examination. 14 Cr. L. J. 179=19 I.C. 179; 16 Cr. L. J. 233; 27 I.C. 905=8 S. I. R. 203=103 I.C. 49=28 Cr. L. J. 625=A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 581; 24 A. I. J. 1050; 1 Luck. C. 339; 8 Lah. L. J. 610. The evidence of an approver should not be believed without material corroboration and in order to see whether there is such corroboration the Court should scrutinise and marshal out very carefully the facts. 9 I. C. 232=12 Cr. L. J. 35. The statement of an approver, veracious though it may appear to be, and though the truth of a large part of it be established, beyond all doubt, nevertheless requires corroboration. 34 I. C. 993=17 Cr. L. J. 273. Evidence of approver may, in exceptional cases and for reasons stated be admitted though uncorroborated. 17 Cr. L. J. 220=34 I. C. 332. There should be direct and material corroboration of the statement of an approver who is of very bad character. 32 I. C. 843=17 Cr. L. J. 107. Where the complicity of a person is due solely to coercion and his evidence cannot be ascribed to any desire to escape legal consequences, the discredit attaching to his evidence is practically negligible. 19 I. C. 207=14 Cr. L. J. 207=(1912) M. W. N. 1108. As to necessity for corroboration of accomplice evidence, see also 73 I. C. 808=24 Cr. L. J. 696=1924 Lah. 235; 19 A. L. J. 725=22 Cr. L. J. 663=63 I. C. 455; 17 Cr. L. J. 256=34 I. C. 976=18 Bom. L. R. 266.

NECESSITY FOR CORROBORATION.—An approver's evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars by other independent evidence. 11 P. L. R. 1912=13 I.C. 998=13 Cr. L. J. 182. A conviction based on the evidence of an accomplice is not bad but in established practice it is necessary that such evidence should be corroborated by some untainted evidence in material particulars. 24 I. C. 174=15 Cr. L. J. 438=18 C. W. N. 550; 73 I. C. 963=24 Cr. L. J. 723=4 Pat. L. T. 381; 2 Pat. L. T. 773=22 Cr. L. J. 200=60 I. C. 56. Conviction on uncorroborated evidence, when approver is a scoundrel, is not warranted. 1 R. 603=77 I.C. 429=1924 Rang. 173. The probative value of the evidence of an accomplice is practically the same as the confession of a co accused. 24 I. C. 153 (38 B. 156 foll.). A conviction based on the evidence of an accomplice or the confession of a co accused is not illegal though it is not safe to act on such testimony unless corroborated in material particulars. 24 I. C. 153=15 Cr. L. J. 417.

WHAT IS GOOD CORROBORATION AND WHAT IS NOT.—In all cases depending upon informer's evidence the degree of support required for the evidence depends in each case upon the individual's credit. 15 I. C. 987=16 C. W. N. 669. An approver's evidence supported by their retracted confession of a co accused behind the back of the accused is not sufficient to convict the accused. Such a retracted confession is not a corroboration of a high value. 18 I. C. 672=11 A. L. J. 73. It is unsafe to rely upon the uncorroborated testimony of the approver; the corroboration must be of the statement connecting the accused with the offence. 12 I. C. 513=12 Cr. L. J. 537 (All). There is nothing in S. 133 to suggest that the statement of one approver cannot be regarded as corroborating that made by another approver. No doubt if it could be shown that the approvers had ample opportunity of consultation, this corroborative value would be greatly diminished. 1923 Lah. 666; see also 76 I. C. 698=1923 Lah. 335; 1923 Lah. 152; 96 I. C. 127=A. I. R. 1926 All. 705. Confession of one accused cannot be said to be corroborated by the confession of another as against a third accused who has not confessed at all. But between the first two the confession of one may be said to be corroborated by the confession of the second and vice versa. 60 I. C. 786=22 Cr. L. J. 290 (Lah) (38 Bom. 156 dist.). The rule that testimony of an approver must be corroborated not only as to the crime but also as to the identity of each accused person and that the corroboration must proceed from an untainted source is not a technical rule but is founded on long judicial experiment. 38 Cal. 559=10 I. C. 582=15 C. W. N. 593. The fabrication of a false defence cannot be regarded as sufficient to corroborate an approver. The evidence of one approver cannot be said to corroborate another except where both have, at the earliest opportunity and before there has been any chance of consultation, deposed to the same acts as having been committed by particular accused person. 3 Lah. 144=8 I. C. 113=1922 Lah. 1. An accused should not be convicted on the statement of an approver unless such testimony is strongly corroborated and the corroboration distinctly implicates the accused with crime committed. 40 I. C. 696=9 P. W. R. (Cr.) 1917; 39 I. C. 680=9 P. R. (Cr.) 1917. The evidence of one accomplice is not sufficient corroboration of the evidence of other accomplices nor are previous statements made by the same person sufficient. 21 M. L. J. 283=9 I. C.

Number of witnesses.

134. No particular number of witness shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact.

CHAPTER X.

OF THE EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

135. The order in which witnesses are produced and examined shall be regulated by the law and practice for the time being relating to civil and criminal procedure respectively, and, in the absence of any such law, by the discretion of the Court.

136. When either party proposes to give evidence of any fact, the Judge may ask the party proposing to give the evidence in what manner the alleged fact, if proved, would be relevant; and the Judge shall admit the evidence if he thinks that the fact, if proved, would be relevant and not otherwise.

If the fact proposed to be proved is one of which evidence is admissible only upon proof of some other fact; such last-mentioned fact must be proved before evidence is given of the fact first mentioned, unless the party undertakes to give proof of such fact, and the Court is satisfied with such undertaking.

If the relevancy of one alleged fact depends upon another alleged fact being first proved, the Judge may, in his discretion, either permit evidence of the first fact to be given before the second fact is proved, or require evidence to be given of the second fact before evidence is given of the first fact.

Illustrations.

(a) It is proposed to prove a statement about a relevant fact by a personal alleged to be dead, which statement is relevant under section 32.

The fact that the person is dead must be proved by the person proposing to prove the statement, before evidence is given of the statement.

(b) It is proposed to prove, by a copy, the contents of a document said to be lost.

The fact that the original is lost must be proved by the person proposing to produce the copy, before the copy is produced.

(c) A is accused of receiving stolen property knowing it to have been stolen

It is proposed to prove that he denied the possession of the property.

The relevancy of the denial depends on the identity of the property. The Court may, in its discretion, either require the property to be identified before the denial of the possession is proved, or permit the denial of the possession to be proved before the property is identified.

(d) It is proposed to prove a fact (A) which is said to have been the cause or effect of a fact in issue. There are several intermediate facts (B, C and D) which must be shown to exist before the fact (A) can be regarded as the cause or effect of the fact in issue. The Court may either permit A to be proved before B, C and D is proved, or may require proof of B, C and D before permitting proof of A.

Examination-in-chief.

137. The examination of a witness by the party who calls him shall be called his examination-in-chief.

Cross-examination.

The examination of a witness by the adverse party shall be called his cross-examination.

Re-examination.

The examination of a witness, subsequent to the cross-examination by the party who called him, shall be called his re-examination.

138. Witnesses shall be first examined-in-chief, then (if the adverse party so desires) cross-examined, then (if the party calling him so desires) re-examined.

Order of examinations.

The examination and cross-examination must relate to relevant facts but the cross-examination need not be confined to the facts to which the witness testified on his examination-in-chief.

The re-examination shall be directed to the explanation of matters referred to in cross-examination; and, if new matter is, by permission of the Court, introduced in re-examination, the adverse party may further cross-examine upon that matter.

The Court shall permit leading questions as to matters which are introductory or undisputed, or which have, in its opinion, been already sufficiently proved.

SECS. 137-138. APPLICATION OF S. 138.—It is certainly implied by S. 138 that the party should have an opportunity to cross-examine and does not mean that merely a right to cross-examine a witness without an opportunity being offered for cross examination is sufficient compliance with the requirements of the law. 73 I. C. 339 = 24 Cr. L. J. 595.

SCOPE OF CROSS-EXAMINATION.—The right of cross-examination given by S. 138 is not fettered by the fact that there are police papers which are not referred to by the Prosecution; and the cross-examination can be made on all matters allowed by the Evidence Act. The cross-examination is not limited to matters raised in evidence elsewhere. 10 I. C. 917 = 4 Bur. L. T. 113. Court should generally leave cross-examination to the parties. See 11 O. L. SCOPE OF RE-EXAMINATION.—After the cross-examination of the witness on behalf of the accused the re-examination would ordinarily be directed to the explanation of the matter referred to in the cross-examination. 3 Pat. L. T. 32. See also 44 I. C. 343.

When they may be asked.

143. Leading questions may be asked in cross-examination.

144. Any witness may be asked, whilst under examination, whether any contract, grant or other disposition of property, as to which he is giving evidence, was not contained in a document, and if he says that it was, or if he is about to make any statement as to the contents of any document, which, in the opinion of the Court, ought to be produced, the adverse party may object to such evidence being given until such document is produced, or until facts have been proved which entitle the party who called the witness to give secondary evidence of it.

Explanation.—A witness may give oral evidence of statements made by other persons about the contents of documents if such statements are in themselves relevant facts.

Illustration.

The question is, whether A assaulted B.

C deposes that he heard A say to D—“B wrote a letter accusing me of theft, and I will be revenged on him.” This statement is relevant, as showing A's motive for the assault, and evidence may be given of it, though no other evidence is given about the letter.

in question, without such writing being shown to him, or being proved; but, if it is intended to contradict him by the writing, his attention must, before the writing can be proved, be called to those parts of it which are to be used for the purpose of contradicting him.

146. When a witness is cross-examined, he may, in addition to the questions hereinbefore referred to, be asked any questions which tend—

Questions lawful in cross-examination.

(1) to test his veracity,

(2) to discover who he is and what is his position in life, or

(3) to shake his credit, by injuring his character, although the answer to such questions might tend directly or indirectly to criminate him or might expose or tend directly or indirectly to expose him to a penalty or forfeiture.

Sec. 143.—In the course of cross examination by the defence for eliciting facts in their favour from the prosecution witnesses, the defence are entitled under S. 143, to ask leading questions. 21 C. L. J. 331=19 C. W. N. 676=42 Cal 957. The Court may, in its discretion under S. 143, permit the prosecution to cross examine a witness even though he had been originally called by them with regard to the matters elicited by the defence. (Ibid.) Leading questions such as can properly be put in cross examination of a hostile witness cannot be put by the Public Prosecutor in examination in-chief. 2 Pat. L. T. 757. If a Judge disallows a question, the pleader should have the question, and order disallowing it recorded if such a refusal is illegal. 36 I. C. 468=9 Bur. L. T. 133. On this sec. see 37 C. 467.

But they can be used for the purpose of contradicting the statements subsequently made in Court by the persons making the former statements. 27 I. C. 196=17 O. C. 363. Advocates and Pleaders may examine witnesses in their chambers or elsewhere before such witnesses appear in Court if they think fit. 14 I. C. 763=5 Bur. L. T. 38. Secs. 146—152. RELEVANCY OF QUESTIONS.—A question put to a female witness whether she was made pregnant by one X, in a case relating to title to property would be relevant if the point was whether by reason of unchastity she could not inherit her husband's property. But if the object was to impeach her credit, Ss. 146 and 148 to 152 must be considered. 45 I. C. 692. On sec. 146, see 3 M. 271; 9 Cr. L. J. 370; 18 C. W. N. 185. Putting scandalous questions in cross-examination. 2 Weir 819.

When witness to be compelled to answer.

147. If any such question relates to a matter relevant to the suit or proceeding, the provisions of section 132 shall apply thereto.

148. If any such question relates to a matter not relevant to the suit or proceeding, except in so far as it affects the credit of the witness by injuring his character, the Court shall decide whether or not the witness shall be compelled to answer it, and may, if it thinks fit, warn the witness that he is not obliged to answer it. In exercising its discretion, the Court shall have regard to the following considerations :—

(1) such questions are proper if they are of such a nature that the truth of the imputation conveyed by them would seriously affect the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies ;

(2) such questions are improper if the imputation which they convey relates to matters so remote in time, or of such a character, that the truth of the imputation would not affect, or would affect in a slight degree, the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies ;

(3) such questions are improper if there is a great disproportion between the importance of the imputation made against the witness's character and the importance of his evidence ;

(4) the Court may, if it sees fit, draw, from the witness's refusal to answer, the inference that the answer if given would be unfavourable.

Question not to be asked without reasonable grounds.

149. No such questions as is referred to in section 148 ought to be asked, unless the person asking it has reasonable grounds for thinking that the imputation which it conveys is well-founded.

Illustrations.

(a) A barrister is instructed by an attorney or vakil that an important witness is a dakait. This is a reasonable ground for asking the witness whether he is a dakait.

(b) A pleader is informed by a person in Court that an important witness is a dakait ; the informant, on being questioned by the pleader, gives satisfactory reasons for his statement. This is a reasonable ground for asking the witness whether he is a dakait.

(c) A witness, of whom nothing whatever is known, is asked at random whether he is a dakait. There are here no reasonable grounds for the question.

(d) A witness, of whom nothing whatever is known, being questioned as to his mode of life and means of living, gives unsatisfactory answers. This may be a reasonable ground for asking him if he is a dakait.

150. If the Court is of opinion that any such question was asked without reasonable grounds, it may, if it was asked by any barrister, pleader, vakil or attorney, report the circumstances of the case to the High Court or other authority to which such barrister, pleader, vakil or attorney is subject in the exercise of his profession.

Procedure of Court in case of question being asked without reasonable grounds.

151. The Court may forbid any questions or inquiries which it regards as indecent or scandalous, although such questions or inquiries may have some bearing on the questions before the Court, unless they relate to facts in issue, or to matters necessary to be known in order to determine whether or not the facts in issue existed.

153. When a witness has been asked and has answered any question which is relevant to the inquiry only in so far as it tends to shake his credit by injuring his character, no evidence shall be given to contradict him; but, if he answers falsely, he may afterwards be charged with giving false evidence.

Exception.—(1) If a witness is asked whether he has been previously convicted of any crime and denies it, evidence may be given of his previous conviction.

(2) If a witness is asked any question tending to impeach his impartiality and answers it by denying the facts suggested, he may be contradicted.

Illustrations.

(a) A claim against an underwriter is resisted on the ground of fraud. The claimant is asked whether, in a former transaction, he had not made a fraudulent claim. He denies it.

Evidence is offered to show that he did make such a claim.

The evidence is inadmissible.

(b) A witness is asked whether he was not dismissed from a situation for dishonesty. He denies it.

Evidence is offered to show that he was dismissed for dishonesty.

The evidence is not admissible.

(c) A affirms that on a certain day he saw B at Lahore.

A is asked whether he himself was not on that day at Calcutta. He denies it.

Evidence is offered to show that A was on that day at Calcutta.

The evidence is admissible, not as contradicting A on a fact which affects his credit, but as contradicting the alleged fact that B was seen on the day in question in Lahore.

In each of these cases the witness might, if his denial was false, be charged with giving false evidence.

(d) A is asked whether his family has not had a bloodfeud with the family of B against whom he gives evidence.

He denies it. He may be contradicted on the ground that the question tends to impeach his impartiality.

154. The Court may, in its discretion, permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party.

Impeaching credit of witness.

C. 33 = 3 Pat. L. J. 419 = (1918) Pat. 254. IDENTIFICATION IN JAIL—VALUE OF, AS EVIDENCE.—Evidence of identification in the jail cannot be treated as substantive evidence in the trial as it is not on oath, and is made in extra-judicial proceedings. 19 A. When a person, who makes such an identification, states in Court that he can identify no one, the evidence of identification is not admissible. Ibid. Where in the Sessions Court witnesses retracted the statements made before the committing magistrate, Held, under S. 155, the statements made to the police and to the committing magistrate are relevant to contradict their evidence before the Sessions Court given in place of their retracted statements. 46 Bom. 97 = 23 Bom. L. R. 820 = 1922 Bom. 108. Statements of witnesses made to the Police should be used to corroborate them except in very special circumstances. The evidence of a witness hostile to the Crown may be impeached by reference to the

(1) by the evidence of persons who testify that they, from their knowledge of the witness, believe him to be unworthy of credit ;

(2) by proof that the witness has been bribed, or has [accepted]¹ the offer of a bribe, or has received any other corrupt inducement to give his evidence ;

(3) by proof of former statements inconsistent with any part of his evidence which is liable to be contradicted ;

(4) when a man is prosecuted for rape or an attempt to ravish, it may be shown that the prosecutrix was of generally immoral character.

Explanation.—A witness declaring another witness to be unworthy of credit may not, upon his examination-in-chief, give reasons for his belief, but he may be asked his reasons in cross-examination, and the answers which he gives cannot be contradicted, though, if they are false, he may afterwards be charged with giving false evidence.

(a) A sues B for the price of goods sold and delivered to B.

The evidence is admissible.

(b) A is indicted for the murder of B.

C says that B, when dying, declared that A had given B the wound of which he died.

Evidence is offered to show that, on a previous occasion, C said that the wound was not given by A or in his presence.

The evidence is admissible.

156. When a witness whom it is intended to corroborate gives evidence of any relevant fact, he may be questioned as to any other circumstances which he observed at or near to the time or place at which such relevant fact occurred, if the Court is of opinion that such circumstances, if proved, would corroborate the testimony of the witness as to the relevant fact which he testifies.

Former statements of witness may be proved to corroborate later testimony as to same fact.

REFRESHING MEMORY.—A witness can be compelled to refresh his memory by reference to any memorandum or other writing prepared by the witness, if there is a lapse of memory on a point asked of the witness. Right of adverse party as to writing used to refresh memory.

161. Any writing referred to under the provisions of the two last preceding sections must be produced and shown to the adverse party if he requires it : such party may, if he pleases, cross-examine the witness thereupon.

162. A witness summoned to produce a document shall, if it is in his possession or power, bring it to Court, notwithstanding any objection which there may be to its production or to its admissibility. The validity of any such objection shall be decided on by the Court.

The Court, if it sees fit, may inspect the document, unless it refers to matters of State, or take other evidence to enable it to determine on its admissibility.

If for such a purpose it is necessary to cause any document to be translated, the Court may, if it thinks fit, direct the translator to keep the contents secret, unless the document is to be given in evidence ; and, if the interpreter disobeys such direction, he shall be held to have committed an offence under section 166 of the Indian Penal Code.

163. When a party calls for a document which he has given the other party notice to produce, and such document is produced and inspected by the party calling for its production, he is bound to give it as evidence if the party producing it requires him to do so.

Giving, as evidence, of document called for and produced on notice.

Using, as evidence, of document production of which was refused on notice.

165. The Judge may, in order to discover or to obtain proper proof of relevant facts, ask any question he pleases, in any form, at any time of any witness, or of the parties about any fact relevant or irrelevant ; and may order the production of any docu-

Judge's power to put question or order production.

An Act to provide compensation to families for loss occasioned by the death of a person caused by actionable wrong.

WHEREAS no action or suit is now maintainable in any Court against a person who, by his wrongful act, neglect or default, may have caused the death of another person, and it is often-times right and expedient that the wrong-doer in such case should be answerable in damages for the injury so caused by him; It is enacted as follows:—

1. Whenever the death of a person shall be caused by wrongful act, neglected or default, and the act, neglect or default is such as would (if death had not ensued) have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages in respect thereof, the party who would have been liable if death had not ensued shall be liable to an action or suit

Suit for compensation to the family of a person for loss occasioned to it by his death by actionable wrong.

Based on the Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 (9 & 10 Vict., c. 93).

This Act has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except as regards the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (15 of 1874), S. 3.

Sec. 1.—To establish civil liability under the Act against any person, it must be proved either that he actually committed the wrongful act himself, or at the least, that he actively aided or abetted its commission and so took part directly in causing it. 16 I. C. 491=117 P. R. 1912. It is not enough that he knew that the Act was likely to be committed or that it was committed in the prosecution of a common object. (Ibid.) Where a death is caused by wrongful act, the right of heirs of deceased to sue for damages is governed by the principle of the Act even where the Act is not in force. 64 I. C. 311. If a person who has obtained a decree under the Fatal Accidents Act dies after the decree, his legal representatives are entitled to the benefit of the decree. 103 I. C. 297.

BASIS OF COMPENSATION.—"No very definite rule has been laid down as to how many years' income should be allowed as compensation to the heirs of the deceased in a suit under the Act. Everything is to be taken into account, possibility of the earner's death, his age and earning capacity for calculating the amount of damages. 101 I. C. 642=A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 417. Reasonable sum and not actual loss is to be awarded. Length of life and value to the plaintiffs determine the amount of compensation. 9 N. L. J. 76=96 I. C.

403=A. I. R. Nag. 271. Value of life depends on the earning capacity of the deceased. 96 I. C. 681=A. I. R. 1926 All. 703; (A. I. R. 1922 Cal. 317, Fol.) The principle on which compensation under the Act will be awarded is the same as that under which it would be awarded under Lord Campbell's Act in England. It is compensation for the loss of the actual pecuniary benefit which the beneficiaries might reasonably have expected to enjoy, had the man not been killed. (38 T. L. R. 899 and (1922) 1 K. B. 329, relied on.) 29 Bom. L. R. 402=102 I. C. 400=A. I. R. 1927 Bom. 357. Where the sole source of income of the deceased was cultivation by personal labour, the probable duration of the capacity of the deceased to supply labour for cultivation must be taken into consideration while assessing damages for his death. A. I. R. 1927 All. 684 following 42 L. J. Ex. 153. In a suit for damages, any fine realised from the defendant and paid to the plaintiff in the criminal case against the defendant should be taken into consideration. A. I. R. 1927 All. 684. In a suit for damages under the Act no sentimental considerations are relevant. The plaintiff cannot get higher damages because the deceased was brutally murdered by the defendant than if the death had been due merely to an error of judgment. A. I. R. 1927 All. 684. Appellate Court should not set aside award of lower Court unless it is capricious or unreasonable. See 96 I. C. 278=A. I. R. 1926 All. 702. High Court would not interfere if the amount awarded is sufficient protection or reasonable compensation. 96 I. C. 681=A. I. R. 1926 All. 703.

WHO CAN INSTITUTE SUIT—SCALE OF COMPENSATION.—"Representative" meaning of.

for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount in law to felony or other crime.

[* * * *] 1 every such action or suit shall be for the benefit of the wife, husband, parent and child, if any, of the person whose death shall have been so caused, and shall be brought by and in the name of the executor, administrator or representative of the person deceased ; and in every such action the Court may give such damages as it may think proportioned to the loss resulting from such death to the parties respectively, for whom and for whose benefit such action shall be brought ; and the amount so recovered, after deducting all costs and expenses, including the costs not recovered from the defendant, shall be divided amongst the beforementioned parties, or any of them, in such shares as the Court by its judgment or decree shall direct.

2. Provided always that not more than one action or suit shall be brought for, and in respect of the same subject-matter of complaint
Not more than one suit to be brought. [* * * *] 2 : Provided that, in any such action or suit, the executor, administrator or representative of the deceased may insert a claim for and recover any pecuniary loss to the estate of the deceased occasioned by such wrongful act, neglect or default, which sum, when recovered, shall be deemed part of the assets of the estate of the deceased.

3. The plaintiff in any such action or suit shall give a full particular of the person or persons for whom, or on whose behalf, such action or suit shall be brought, and of the nature of the claim in respect of which damages shall be sought to be recovered.
Plaintiff shall deliver particulars, etc.

4. The following words and expressions are intended to have the meaning hereby assigned to them respectively, so far as such meanings are not excluded by the context or by the Interpretation clause.

See 28 Mad. 479=15 M. L. J. 363. Court has powers to divide damages claimed and award between some only of the parties for whose benefit the claim is made. 1922 Cal. 317. Compensation for death caused by railway accident—Discretionary with Court in apportioning among relatives—Circumstances to be taken into consideration—Child—Meaning. 22 I. C. 846=52 P. R. 1914. For purposes of awarding compensation under this section a son adopted after the death of the deceased is not a 'Child' within the meaning of the section (Ibid.) A co-parcener of the deceased man is not entitled to compensation under the Act. Compensation should be awarded looking to the members of the family of the deceased. 105 P. R. 1915=32 I. C. 18. In a claim for damages under the Act the reasonable expectation of pecuniary advantage by the relatives remaining alive may be taken into account by a jury and damages assessed as the probable pecuniary loss thereby occasioned. 69 I. C. 854. Landlord and tenant—Dwelling-house in a bad state of repair—License to use privies—Privy portion collapsing—Tenant killed—Right of heirs to sue for damages. 29 Bom. L. R. 78. The fact that the deceased in some way provoked the quarrel as a result of which he died, is immaterial so far as regards the claim for damages under the Act (Ibid.). The test of injury under this section is not the legal liability alone, but the reasonable expectation of pecuniary advantage by the deceased's remaining alive. 112 P. R. 1913=20 I. C. 425. The reasonableness of the expectation is largely founded upon a record of pecuniary benefit received in the past and there must be something more than a mere speculation in the future (Ibid.). (16 B. 254, Expl.) See also 1 All. 60. Nothing can be allowed to the survivors as compensation for mental suffering. See 4 M. L. T. 238 and cases referred to therein. Effect of contributory negligence, see 85 P. R. 1894. In estimating the amount of damages to be awarded in an action under the Act, the Court must take into account all the circumstances which are material for considering the pecuniary loss sustained. The Court must view the matter broadly. 52 Cal. 602=89 I. C. 679=1925 Cal. 893. THE FOREIGN MARRIAGE ACT (XIV OF 1903).

PREFATORY NOTE :—This Act is intended to give effect to Foreign Marriages Order in Council (See Statement of Objects and Reasons).

The following are the remarks of the Hon'ble Mr. Arundale in moving for leave to introduce the Bill :—“ On several occasions difficulties have arisen in connection with the intended marriage of British subjects under the provisions of the Foreign Marriage Act and Foreign Marriages Order in Council, 1892, in cases where one of the parties has been resident in India.

“ The Foreign Marriages Order in Council requires that in cases where one of the parties has not been resident within the district of the Marriage Officer, who is to celebrate the marriage, that party shall produce a certificate from the Marriage Officer of the place in which he or she has been resident, that proper notice has been given of the marriage ; but these requirements of the Order in Council relate only to foreign countries and to the United Kingdom, while no instructions are given concerning notice of marriage by persons resident in India.

After some correspondence between the Secretary of State and the Government of India, an Order in Council was issued on the 12th March, 1903, to the following effect :—

1. The following further modifications of the requirements of the Foreign Marriage Act, 1892, as to residence and notice which appear to His Majesty to be consistent with the observance of due precautions against the solemnization of clandestine marriages, shall have effect in cases where one only of the parties has dwelt within the district of the Marriage Officer and the other of such parties has dwelt in a Colony or in India that is to say :

(i) If the Marriage Officer is satisfied that such notice has been given by the party dwelling in such Colony or in India as may be provided by any law in that Colony or of the Governor-General of India in Council (as the case may be), giving effect to this order ;

(ii) In any such case the oath, affirmation or declaration required by section 7 of the Foreign Marriage Act shall be made subject to the modifications thereof to which effect is given by article 6 of the Foreign Marriages Order in Council, 1892.

2. A law enacted by the Legislature of a Colony or by the Governor-General of India in Council shall be deemed to give effect to this Order if it makes provision (in whatever terms expressed) as follows :

(i) That a notice of a marriage intended to be solemnized under the Foreign Marriage Act may be given by one of the parties intending such marriage who has had his or her usual place of abode for three consecutive weeks immediately proceeding in some place in that Colony or in India (as the case may be) to such Marriage Registrar or other officer as may be designated by the law in this behalf.

(ii) that such notice shall be published either by proclamation of bans or in such other manner as the law may provide ; and

(iii) that such Marriage Registrar or other officer, unless he is aware of any impediment or objection which should obstruct the solemnization of the marriage, shall, on payment of such fee, if any, as the law may provide, give a certificate that the said notice has been so given and published as aforesaid.

“ This Bill which I beg for leave to introduce is intended to give effect to this Order in Council. It extends to the whole of British India, and applies to all British subjects and to all servants of the King, whether British subjects or not, in the territories of any Native Prince or State in India. “ The Bill is a purely permissive and nothing in it affects a valid marriage solemnized outside its provisions.”

THE FOREIGN MARRIAGE ACT (XIV OF 1903).³

[23rd October, 1903.

An Act to give effect to the Foreign Marriages Order in Council, 1903.

WHEREAS it is expedient to give effect to the Foreign Marriages Order in Council, 1903 ; it is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and application. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN FOREIGN MARRIAGE ACT, 1903.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan, the Santhal Parganas, the Shan States and the Pargana of Spiti ; and

(3) It applies also to all British subjects and to all servants of the King, whether British subjects or not, in the territories of any Native Prince or State in India.

2. (1) Notice in writing of a marriage which it is intended to solemnize under the Foreign Marriage Act, 1892, may be given by one of the parties intending such marriage, to—

(a) a Marriage Registrar appointed under the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, where either of such parties is a person professing the Christian religion ;

(b) a District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Political Agent where neither of such parties is a person professing the Christian religion :

Provided that the party giving such notice as aforesaid shall have had his usual place of abode for not less than three consecutive weeks immediately preceding the giving of notice within the local limits of the area for which the Marriage Registrar, Magistrate or Political Agent to whom the notice is given, is appointed.

(2) Every notice given under this section shall state—

(4) On the expiration of four clear days after such notice as aforesaid has been published in the manner prescribed by sub-section (3), the officer to whom the notice is given, unless he is aware of any impediment of kindred or affinity or other lawful hindrance to the solemnization of the said intended marriage shall, on payment of such fee (if any) as the Governor-General in Council may fix in this behalf, furnish the party by whom the notice was given, with a certificate, under his hand and seal, to the effect that the notice has been so given and published.

THE INDIAN FOREST ACT (XVI OF 1927).

PREFATORY NOTE :—The general law relating to forests in British India was contained in the Indian Forest Act, 1878, and its amending Acts. The present Act brings the law together within the scope of one enactment. The Act is a straightforward consolidating Bill, but the original Act having been passed before the General Clauses Act of 1897 (X of 1897), it had been found possible to shorten the language of the Act by taking advantage of that Act. The ambiguous language of the second paragraph of section 42 of Act VII of 1878 had been altered in Sec. 43 (2) so as to bring it into conformity with what appeared to have been the original intention of the law. The only other point which may call for further notice is the extent clause. The original Act extended to the Province of Assam, but by Regulation VII of 1891 the Indian Forest Act, 1878, was repealed as far as it related to Assam. This Act accordingly omits Assam from the extent clause. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons).

15. (1) After making such record the Forest Settlement-officer shall, to the best of his ability, and having due regard to the maintenance of the reserved forest in respect of which the claim is made, pass such orders as will ensure the continued exercise of the rights so admitted.

Exercise of rights admitted.
(Old Act, §. 14.)

(2) For this purpose the Forest Settlement-officer may—

16. In case the Forest Settlement-officer finds it impossible, having due regard to the maintenance of the reserved forest, to make such settlement under section 15 as shall ensure the continued exercise of the said rights to the extent so admitted, he shall, subject to such rules as the Local Government may make in this behalf, commute such rights, by the payment to such persons of a sum of money in lieu thereof, or by the grant of land, or in such other manner as he thinks fit.

Commutation of rights. (Old Act, §. 15.)

17. Any person who has made a claim under this Act, or any Forest-Officer or other person generally or specially empowered by the Local Government in this behalf, may, within three months from the date of the order passed on such claim by the Forest Settlement-officer under section 11, section 12, section 15 or section 16, present an appeal from such order to such officer of the Revenue Department, of rank not lower than that of a Collector, as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint to hear appeals from such orders.

Appeal from order passed under section 11, section 12, section 15 or section 16. (Old Act, §. 16.)

Provided that the Local Government may establish a Court (hereinafter called the Forest Court) composed of three persons to be appointed by the Local Government, and, when the Forest Court has been so established, all such appeals shall be presented to it.

18. (1) Every appeal under section 17 shall be made by petition in writing, and may be delivered to the Forest Settlement-officer, who shall forward it without delay to the authority competent to hear the same.

Appeal under section 17.
(Old Act, §. 17.)

(2) If the appeal be to an officer appointed under section 17, it shall be heard in the manner prescribed for the time being for the hearing of appeals in matters relating to land-revenue.

(3) If the appeal be to the Forest Court, the Court shall fix a day and a convenient place in the neighbourhood of the proposed forest for hearing the appeal, and shall give notice thereof to the parties, and shall hear such appeal accordingly.

(4) The order passed on the appeal by such officer or Court, or by the majority of the members of such Court, as the case may be, shall, subject only to revision by the Local Government, be final.

19. The Local Government, or any person who has made a claim under this Act, may appoint any person to appear, plead and act on its or his behalf before the Forest Settlement-officer, or the appellate officer or Court, in the course of any inquiry or appeal under this Act.

20. (1) When the following events have occurred, namely:—

(a) the period fixed under section 6 for preferring claims has elapsed, and all claims, if any, made under that section or section 9 have been disposed of by the Forest Settlement-officer;

(b) If any such claims have been made, the period limited by section 17 for appealing from the orders passed on such claims has elapsed, and all appeals (if any) presented within such period have been disposed of by the appellate officer or Court; and

(c) all lands (if any) to be included in the proposed forest, which the Forest Settlement-officer has, under section 11, elected to acquire under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, have become vested in the Government under section 16 of that Act, the Local Government shall publish a notification in the local official Gazette, specifying definitely, according to boundary marks erected or otherwise, the limits of the forest which is to be reserved, and declaring the same to be reserved from a date fixed by the notification.

(2) From the date so fixed such forest shall be deemed to be a reserved forest.

Publication of translation of such notification in neighbourhood of forest. (Old Act, S. 20.)

21. The Forest-officer shall, before the date fixed by such notification, cause a translation thereof into the local vernacular to be published in every town and village in the neighbourhood of the forest.

22. The local Government may, within five years from the publication of any notification under section 20, revise any arrangement made under section 15 or section 18, and may for this purpose rescind or modify any order made under section 15 or section 18, and direct that any one of the proceedings specified in section 15 be taken in lieu of any other of such proceedings, or that the rights admitted under section 12 be commuted under section 16.

Power to revise arrangement made under section 15 or section 18. (Old Act, S. 21.)

23. No right of any description shall be acquired in or over a reserved forest except by succession or under a grant or contract in writing made by or on behalf of the Government or some person in whom such right was vested when the notification under section 20 was issued.

24. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 23, no right continued

under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 15 shall be alienated by way of grant, sale, lease, mortgage or otherwise, without the sanction of the Local Government.

Provided that when any such right is appendant to any land or house, it may be sold or otherwise alienated with, such land or house.

(2) No timber or other forest-produce obtained in exercise of any such right shall be sold or bartered except to such extent as may have been admitted in the order recorded under section 14.

25. The Forest-officer may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government

Power to stop ways and water-courses in reserved forests. (Old Act, S. 24.)

or of any officer duly authorised by it in this behalf, stop any public or private way or water-course in a reserved forest, provided that a substitute for the way or water-course so stopped, which the Local Government deems to be reasonably convenient, already exists, or has been provided or constructed by the Forest-officer in lieu thereof.

Acts prohibited in such forests. (Old Act, S. 25, Act V of 1890, S. 7.)

26. (1) Any person who—

Sec. 26.—For rules made under this clause for—

(1) Bombay, see Bom. R. and O;

(2) Central Provinces, see C. P. R. and O.; and

- (a) makes any fresh clearing prohibited by section 5, or
 (b) sets fire to a reserved forest or, in contravention of any rules made by the Local Government in this behalf, kindles any fire, or leaves any fire burning, in such manner as to endanger such a forest; or who, in a reserved forest—
 (c) kindles, keeps or carries any fire except at such seasons as the Forest-officer may notify in this behalf;
 (d) trespasses or pastures cattle, or permits cattle to trespass;
 (e) causes any damage by negligence in felling any tree or cutting or dragging any timber;
 (f) fells, girdles, lops, taps or burns any tree or strips off the bark or leaves from, or otherwise damages, the same;
 (g) quarries stone, burns lime or charcoal, or collects, subjects to any manufacturing process, or removes, any forest-produce;
 (h) clears or breaks up any land for cultivation or any other purpose;
 (i) in contravention of any rules made in this behalf by the Local Government hunts, shoots, fishes, poisons water or sets traps or snares; or
 (j) in any area in which the Elephants' Preservation Act, 1879, is not in force, kills or catches elephants in contravention of any rules so made;

Sec. 26, Cl. (b).—Punjab Government Notifications—"Sets fire to" meaning of—A person sets fire to a thing if he puts a match to it or sets it on fire directly, and not if it catches fire as an indirect consequence of his act. The accused kindled a fire in his master's garden which spread to an unclassified forest, and then to a reserved forest. The accused should not be said to have set fire to either of the forests within the meaning of S. 25 (b), 30 P. R. (Cr.) 1916 = 17 Cr. L. J. 458 = 36 I. C. 138.

Cl. (c).—Possession of flint or steel.—The mere possession of a flint or steel within forest limits does not constitute an offence under s. 25 (c); 4 Bom. L. R. 935.

Cl. (d).—Applicability—Liability of licensee for agent's acts—A licensee under this Act would be liable criminally for every act of his agent done in carrying on the business delegated to him if there is a breach of the condition of the license or any rule thereunder. If the owner of some cattle entrusts them to a grazier who takes them into a forest reserved to afford them better pasturage, the owner is not criminally liable but is only civilly liable. The words of section 25 (d) clearly apply only to the person who does any of the acts mentioned therein. 16 Cr. L. J. 485 = 29 I. C. 325 = 11 N. L. R. 76. Trespass in reserved forest—The trespass of a human being in a reserved forest is punishable under s. 25 (d). Rat. 602 = Cr. Rg. 21 of 1892. See also 87 I. C. 918 = 26 Cr. L. J. 1030. Permitting cattle to trespass.—The question whether the owner of cattle, whose animals trespass in a reserved forest, is criminally liable for committing an offence under s. 25, depends upon the whole circumstances of each particular case. 16 P. R. 1909 (Cr.). The levy of pound fines under Act 1 of 1871, S. 12, in respect of an offence of allowing cattle to trespass in a reserved forest is not a punishment, and does not, therefore, bar a prosecution, under S. 25 of the Forest Act. 19 P. R. 1885 (Cr.) In a great many cases the question will resolve itself into, 'did he or did he not take proper precautions to prevent such trespass,' and it does not depend upon the presence of the owner at the moment. 16 P. R. 1909 (Cr.).

Barar grazing Rules do not enforce a liability on a master for the acts of his servants. 87 I. C. 918 = 26 Cr. L. J. 1030. See also A. I. R. 1926 Nag. 73.

Cl. (f).—Cutting trees—Felling of each tree—Distinct offence.—A person felling a number of trees in a forest is guilty of as many offences under S. 25 (f) as the number of the trees felled by him. 19 Cr. L. J. 161 = 43 I. C. 577 (All.) There is no provision, either in the Act or the rules framed thereunder, to award compensation for damages in respect of the protected forest. 8 Bom. L. R. 987 = 5 Cr. L. J. 9. Theft of wood from Government forest to which Forest Act does not apply.—In the absence of anything in a Special Act (like the Forest Act) to exclude the operation of the general criminal law, an intention on the part of the legislature to exclude it should not be inferred. Further S. 66 negatives any such intention. Theft of wood from a Government forest to which the Forest Act had not been applied, is punishable under the Penal Code. 10 P. R. 1885 Cr. (22 P. R. 1876 Cr. Disapproved).

Cl. (i).—Hunting and shooting without a permit in a reserved forest is punishable under S. 25, 40 All. 38 = 15 A. L. J. 824 = 42 I. C. 922 = 19 Cr. L. J. 10. Hunting and killing a tiger in a reserved forest even though it be for killing the tiger which killed the cattle of the accused, amounts to hunting. 42 Bom. 406 = 19 Cr. L. J. 610 = 45 I. C. 514 = 20 Bom. L. R. 384. A conviction recorded under S. 25 (i), for shooting in a reserved forest in contravention of any rules which the Local Government from time to time prescribes, is illegal where no such rules have been passed shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both, in addition to such compensation for damage done to the forest as the convicting Court may direct to be paid.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit—

(a) any act done by permission in writing of the Forest-officer, or under any rule made by the Local Government; or

(b) the exercise of any right continued under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 15, or created by grant or contract in writing made by or on behalf of Government under section 23.

(3) Whenever fire is caused wilfully or by gross negligence in a reserved forest, the Local Government may (notwithstanding that any penalty has been inflicted under this section) direct that in such forest or any portion thereof the exercise of all rights of pasture or to forest-produce shall be suspended for such period as it thinks fit.

27. (1) The Local Government may, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, by notification in the Local Official Gazette, direct that, from a date fixed by such notification, any forest or any portion thereof reserved under this Act shall cease to be a reserved forest.

(2) From the date so fixed, such forest or portion shall cease to be reversed; but the rights (if any) which have been extinguished therein shall not revive in consequence of such cessation.

CHAPTER III.

OF VILLAGE-FORESTS.

28. (1) The Local Government may assign to any village-community the rights of Government to or over any land which has been constituted a reserved forest, and may cancel such assignment. All forests so assigned shall be called village forests.

(2) The Local Government may make rules for regulating the management of village forests, prescribing the conditions under which the community to which any such assignment is made may be provided with timber or other forest-produce or pasture, and their duties for the protection and improvement of such forest.

by the Government. Rat. 684=Cr. Rg. 50 of 1893.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Conviction under the Act—Order for confiscation.—An order for confiscation cannot be regarded as an order incidental to a conviction under the Act. The confiscation is by the terms of S. 54 declared to be a punishment, for it is in addition to any other punishment prescribed for the offence, the order for confiscation should be passed simultaneously with the punishment for the offence. 24 C. 450. (4 A. 417 R.). It is illegal to impose a fine where the Forest Act provides the penalty of confiscation. Col. Dig. Cr. 69 of 1877. Payment of rewards out of fines and confiscations is not a part of the sentence, but is a matter for the Executive Government to deal with, in the exercise of the power vested in then by the rules framed under the Act. Rat. 950=Cr. Rg. 13 of 1898. These rules give the Government the power to pay one half of the proceeds of fines and confiscations by way of reward without any order of the convicting Court, but more than one half cannot, however, be paid unless the Magistrate so directs. Rat. 950=Cr. Rg. 13 of 1898. Forest offence—Court-fees—Court Fees Act, S. 31.—Where persons convicted of an offence under the Forest Act, where each is sentenced to pay a fine of thirteen annas, or in default to suffer one day's simple imprisonment, and all of them were ordered to pay annas five as compensation for the loss of Forest fuel or wood and Rs. 1-4 as Court-fee expenses under S. 31 of the Court Fees Act, held that the order as to payment of Court-fees was not a valid order. 10 P. R. 1885 (Cr.).

SUMMONS CASE—ACQUITTAL—FURTHER ENQUIRY—REVISION.—In this case the accused was tried and acquitted by a Tahsildar of the offence under s. 25. The District Magistrate disagreeing with the decision of the Tahsildar sent the case for further enquiry to the Assistant Commissioner, Attack, who convicted the accused. The Sessions Judge declined to submit the case to the Chief Court for revision holding that the accused was tried in a summons case, and could only be discharged, but could not be acquitted, and that the order directing further enquiry was not illegal. Held, that the order of the District Magistrate was illegal and that the view of the law taken by the Sessions Judge was erroneous. P. L. R. 1900 Cr. p. 50=19 P. R. 1900 Cr. A case under S. 25 is a "Summons case" and the Tahsildar if he did not find the accused guilty, was bound to acquit him, and no order under S. 437, Crim. Pro. Code, directing further enquiry, could be passed. The order of the District Magistrate and conviction and sentence were set aside. Ibid.

(3) All the provisions of this Act relating to reserved forests shall (so far as they are not inconsistent with the rules so made) apply to village-forests.

CHAPTER IV.

OF PROTECTED FORESTS.

29. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare the provisions of this Chapter applicable to any forest-land or waste-land which is not included in a reserved forest, but which is the property of Government, or over which the Government has proprietary rights or to the whole or any part of the forest-produce of which the Government is entitled.

(2) The forest-land and waste-lands comprised in any such notification shall be called a "protected forest".

(3) No such notification shall be made unless the nature and extent of the rights of Government and of private persons in or over the forest-land or waste-land comprised therein have been inquired into and recorded at a survey or settlement, or in such other manner as the Local Government thinks sufficient. Every such record shall be presumed to be correct until the contrary is proved :

Provided that, if, in the case of any forest-land or waste-land, the Local Government thinks that such inquiry and record are necessary, but that they will occupy such length of time as in the meantime to endanger the rights of Government, the Local Government may, pending such inquiry and record, declare such land to be a protected forest, but so as not to abridge or affect any existing rights of individuals or communities.

Power to issue notification reserving trees, etc. (Old Act, §. 29.)

30. The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette,—

(a) declare any trees or class of trees in a protected forest to be reserved from a date fixed by the notification ;

(b) declare that any portion of such forest specified in the notification shall be closed for such term, not exceeding thirty years, as the Local Government thinks fit, and that the rights of private persons, if any, over such portion shall be suspended during such term, provided that the remainder of such forest be sufficient, and in a locality reasonably convenient, for the due exercise of the rights suspended in the portion so closed ; or

(c) prohibit, from a date fixed as aforesaid, the quarrying of stone, or the burning of lime or charcoal, or the collection or subjection to any manufacturing process, or removal of, any forest-produce in any such forest, and the breaking up or clearing for cultivation, for building, for herding cattle or for any other purpose, of any land in any such forest.

31. The Collector shall cause a translation into the local vernacular of every notification issued under S. 30 to be affixed in a conspicuous place in every town and village in the neighbourhood of the forest comprised in the notification.

Publication of translation of such notification in neighbourhood. (Old Act, §. 30.)

Power to make rules for protected forests. (Old Act, §. 31.)

32. The Local Government may make rules to regulate the following matters, namely :—

(a) The cutting, sawing, conversion and removal of trees and timber, and the collection, manufacture and removal of forest-produce, from protected forests ;

Secs. 29, 30 and 32.—See Bom L.R. 462; 46 All. 128 = A. I. R. 1924 All. 539. Where a notification regarding a reserved forest did not state the date from which it shall come into force, held, that the notification was invalid, and that consequently there was nothing on which to base an offence under S. 33 of the Forest Act. Held also, that a Forest-officer is not entitled to arrest a person for the breach of S. 30 (a) and that his custody cannot be said to be lawful. 54 C. 296 = 102 I.C. 498 = 28 Cr.L.J. 562 = A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 516.

(b) the granting of licences to the inhabitants of towns and villages in the vicinity of protected forests to take trees, timber or other forest-produce for their own use, and the production and return of such licences by such persons ;

(c) the granting of licences to persons felling or removing trees or timber or other forest-produce from such forests for the purposes of trade, and the production and return of such licences by such persons ;

(d) the payments, if any, to be made by the persons mentioned in clauses (b) and (c) for permission to cut such trees, or to collect and remove such timber or other forest-produce ;

(e) the other payments, if any, to be made by them in respect of such trees, timber and produce, and the places where such payment shall be made ;

(f) the examination of forest-produce passing out of such forests ;

(g) the clearing and breaking up of land for cultivation or other purposes in such forests ;

(h) the protection from fire of timber lying in such forests and of trees reserved under S. 30 ;

(i) the cutting of grass and pasturing of cattle in such forests ;

(j) hunting, shooting, fishing, poisoning water and setting traps or snares in such forests, and the killing or catching of elephants in such forests in areas in which the Elephants' Preservation Act, 1879, is not in force ;

(k) the protection and management of any portion of a forest closed under S. 30 ; and

(l) the exercise of rights referred to in S. 29.

Penalties for acts in contravention of notification under S. 30 of rules under S. 32. (Old Act, s. 32.)

33. (1) Any person who commits any of the following offences, namely :—

(a) fells, girdles, lops, taps or burns any tree reserved under S. 30, or strips off the bark or leaves from, or otherwise damages, any such tree ;

(b) contrary to any prohibition under S. 30, quarries any stone, or burns any lime or charcoal, or collects, subjects to any manufacturing process, or removes any forest-produce ;

(c) contrary to any prohibition under S. 30, breaks up or clears for cultivation or any other purpose any land in any protected forest ;

(d) sets fire to such forest, or kindles a fire without taking all reasonable precautions to prevent its spreading to any tree reserved under S. 30, whether standing, fallen or felled, or to any closed portion of such forest ;

(e) leaves burning any fire kindled by him in the vicinity of any such tree or closed portion ;

(f) fells any tree or drags any timber so as to damage any tree reserved as aforesaid ;

(g) permits cattle to damage any such tree ;

(h) infringes any rule made under S. 32 ;

Sec. 32, Cl. (g)—Mere 'clearing' does not amount to 'breaking' of ground where the notification issued under the Forest Act prohibited 'breaking' of ground in a protected forest and the evidence only showed that the accused had cleared the ground. Held, that no offence was committed. 49 A. 291 = 25 A. Sec. 33 (c).—Where breaking of ground only is forbidden by notification under the Forest Act, no offence is committed when there has been only 'cleaning'. 8 L. R. 112 (Cr.) = 102 I. C. 559 = 28 Cr. L. J. 591 = 8 A. I. C. R. 111.

shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

(2) Whenever fire is caused wilfully or by gross negligence in a protected forest, the Local Government may, notwithstanding that any penalty has been inflicted under this section, direct that in such forest or any portion thereof the exercise of any right of pasture or to forest-produce shall be suspended for such period as it thinks fit. (Cf. Act V of 1901, S. 2.)

34. Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to prohibit any act done with the permission in writing of the Forest-officer, or in accordance with rules made under S. 32, or, except as regards any portion of a forest closed under S. 30, or as regards any rights the exercise of which has been suspended under S. 33, in the exercise of any right recorded under S. 29.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE CONTROL OVER FORESTS AND LANDS NOT BEING THE PROPERTY OF GOVERNMENT.

Protection of forests for special purposes. (Old Act, S. 35.)

35. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, regulate or prohibit in any forest or waste-land—

- (a) the breaking up or clearing of land for cultivation ;
- (b) the pasturing of cattle ; or
- (c) the firing or clearing of the vegetation ;

when such regulation or prohibition appears necessary for any of the following purposes :—

- (i) for protection against storms, winds, rolling stones, floods and avalanches ;
- (ii) for the preservation of the soil on the ridges and slopes and in the valleys of hilly tracts, the prevention of land-slips or of the formation of ravines and torrents, or the protection of land against erosion, or the deposit thereon of sand, stones or gravel ;
- (iii) for the maintenance of a water-supply in springs, rivers and tanks ;
- (iv) for the protection of roads, bridges, railways and other lines of communication ;
- (v) for the preservation of the public health.

(2) The Local Government may, for any such purpose, construct at its own expense, in or upon any forest or waste-land, such work as it thinks fit.

(3) No notification shall be made under sub-section (1) nor shall any work be begun under sub-section (2), until after the issue of a notice to the owner of such forest or land calling on him to show cause, within a reasonable period to be specified in such notice, why such notification should not be made or work constructed, as the case may be, and until his objections, if any, and any evidence he may produce in support of the same, have been heard by an officer duly appointed in that behalf and have been considered by the Local Government.

36. (1) In case of neglect of, or wilful disobedience to, any regulation or prohibition under section 35, or if the purposes of any work to be constructed under that section so require, the Local Government may, after notice in writing to the owner of such forest or land and after considering his objections, if any, place the same under the control of a Forest-officer, and may declare that all or any of the provisions of this Act relating to reserved forests shall apply to such forest or land.

(2) The net profits, if any, arising from the management of such forest or land shall be paid to the said owner.

37. (1) In any case under this Chapter in which the Local Government considers that, in lieu of placing the forest or land under the control of a Forest-officer, the same should be acquired for public purposes, the Local Government may proceed to acquire it in the manner provided by the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

Expropriation of forests in certain cases. (Old Act, S. 37.)

(2) The owner of any forest or land comprised in any notification under section 35 may, at any time not less than three or more than twelve years from the date thereof, require that such forest or land shall be acquired for public purposes, and the Local Government shall acquire such forest or land accordingly.

38. (1) The owner of any land or, if there be more than one owner thereof, the owners of shares therein amounting in the aggregate to at least two-thirds thereof may, with a view to the formation or conservation of forests thereon, represent in writing to the Collector their desire—

Protection of forests at request of owners. (Old Act, S. 38.)

(a) that such land be managed on their behalf by the Forest-officer as a reserved or a protected forest on such terms as may be mutually agreed upon ; or

(b) that all or any of the provisions of this Act be applied to such land.

(2) In either case, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, apply to such land such provisions of this Act as it thinks suitable to the circumstances thereof and as may be desired by the applicants.

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE DUTY ON TIMBER AND OTHER FOREST-PRODUCE.

Power to impose duty on timber and other forest produce. (Old Act, S. 39; cf. Act V of 1890, S. 8 (2).)

39. (1) The Local Government may levy a duty in such manner, at such places and at such rates as it may declare by notification in the local official Gazette on all timber or other forest-produce—

(a) which is produced in British India, and in respect of which the Government has any right ;

(b) which is brought from any place outside British India :

Provided that a notification directing the levy of a duty, in the case of a timber and other forest-produce brought from any place outside British India which is not under the control of the Local Government, shall not be issued without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

(2) In every case in which such duty is directed to be levied ad valorem, the Local Government may fix by like notification the value on which such duty shall be assessed.

(3) All duties on timber or other forest-produce which, at the time when this Act comes into force in any territory, are levied therein under the authority of the Local Government, shall be deemed to be and to have been duly levied under the provisions of this Act.

40. Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to limit the amount, if any, chargeable as purchase-money or royalty on any timber or other forest-produce, although the same is levied on such timber or produce while in transit, in the same manner as duty is levied.

Limit not to apply to purchase-money or royalty. (Old Act, S. 40.)

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE CONTROL OF TIMBER AND OTHER FOREST-PRODUCE IN TRANSIT.

Power to make rules to regulate transit of forest-produce. (Old Act, S. 41; see also Act V of 1890, S. 8 Cls. 3 & 4.)

41. (1) The control of all rivers and their banks as regards the floating of timber, as well as the control of all timber and other forest produce in transit by land or water, is vested in the Local Government, and it may make rules to regulate the transit of all timber and other forest produce.

Secs. 39-41.—See 76 I. C. 104 = A. I. R. 1925 Lah. 225.

Sec. 41. See 21 Cr. L. J. 659 = 57 I. C. 819 (Cal.) The words "Timber" and "Forest-produce" in this Section are used in their widest sense. See 106 I. C. 790 = A. I. R. 1928 Lah. 80.

RULE FRAMED BY GOVERNMENT OF BOMBAY UNDER S. 41 (b).—Ultra vires. R. 4 of the rules for Sind framed by the Government of Bombay under S. 41 (b) of the Act, prohibiting the moving of timber from private land without a certificate from the holder or manager of such land is ultra vires: consequently a conviction for a breach of that rule under S. 42 of the Act cannot stand. 17 Cr. L. J. 364 = 35 I. C. 668 = 10 S. L. R. 9.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may—

(a) prescribe the routes by which alone timber or other forest-produce may be imported, exported or moved into, from or within British India ;

(b) prohibit the import or export or moving of such timber or other produce without a pass from an officer duly authorised to issue the same, or otherwise than in accordance with the conditions of such pass ;

(c) provide for the issue, production and return of such passes and for the payment of fees therefor ;

(d) provide for the stoppage, reporting, examination and marking of timber or other forest-produce in transit, in respect of which there is reason to believe that any money is payable to Government on account of the price thereof, or on account of any duty, fee, royalty or charge due thereon, or, to which it is desirable for the purposes of this Act to affix a mark ;

(e) provide for the establishment and regulation of depots to which such timber or other produce shall be taken by those in charge of it for examination, or for the payment of such money, or in order that such marks may be affixed to it ; and the conditions under which such timber or other produce shall be brought to, stored at and removed from such depots ;

(f) prohibit the closing up or obstructing of the channel or banks of any river used for the transit of timber or other forest-produce, and the throwing of grass, brushwood, branches or leaves into any such river or any act which may cause such river to be closed or obstructed ;

Police-officer.

(2) Every officer seizing any property under this section shall place on such property a mark indicating that the same has been so seized, and shall, as soon as may be, make a report of such seizure to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence on account of which the seizure has been made :

Provided that, when the forest-produce with respect to which such offence is believed to have been committed is the property of Government, and the offender is unknown, it shall be sufficient if the officer makes, as soon as may be, a report of the circumstances to his official superior.

53. Any Forest-officer of a rank not inferior to that of a Ranger who, or whose

Sec. 51.—A warrant drawn up in the name of a Forester can be validly endorsed by him to a Forest Watcher. Per curiam. In order to justify the action of a Police or Forest Officer in arresting without warrant a person suspected of a forest offence he must either have refused to give his name or must have given a false name and residence or there must have been reason to believe that he would abscond. In the absence of any of these conditions, no Police Officer or Forest Officer could lawfully arrest a person without a warrant. (1928) M. W. N. 310.

Sec. 52. SUB-ASSISTANT CONSERVATOR OF

FORESTS—SEIZURE AND DETENTION OF TIMBER—WANT OF A VALID PASS.—Where a Sub-Assistant Conservator of Forests seized timber under the suspicion that it was property stolen from the Government forests, held, that he could justify the seizure on the ground of the commission of a forest offence arising from the want of a valid pass, 15 B. 229. According to S. 52, a Forest-officer cannot justify the detention of goods on the ground of an offence against the forest laws, where he had not taken the course which that section prescribes of taking the matter before a Magistrate. 15 B. 229.

Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence on account of which the seizure has been made.

54. Upon the receipt of any such report, the Magistrate shall, with all convenient despatch, take such measures as may be necessary for the arrest and trial of the offender and the disposal of the property according to law.

Procedure thereupon. (Old Act, s. 53.)

55. (1) All timber or forest-produce which is not the property of Government and in respect of which a forest-offence has been committed, and all tools, boats, carts and cattle used in committing any forest-offence, shall be liable to confiscation.

Forest produce, tools, etc., when liable to confiscation.

(2) Such confiscation may be in addition to any other punishment prescribed for such offence.

56. When the trial of any forest-offence is concluded, any forest-produce in respect of which such offence has been committed shall, if it is the property of Government or has been confiscated, be taken charge of by a Forest-officer, and, in any other case, may be disposed of in such manner as the Court may direct.

Disposal, on conclusion of trial for forest-offence, of produce in respect of which it was committed. (Old Act, s. 55.)

57. When the offender is not known or cannot be found, the Magistrate may, if he finds that an offence has been committed, order the property in respect of which the offence has been committed to be confiscated and taken charge of by the Forest-officer, or to be made over to the person whom the Magistrate deems to be entitled to the same :

Provided that no such order shall be made until the expiration of one month from the date of seizing such property, or without hearing the person, if any, claiming any right thereto, and the evidence, if any, which he may produce in support of his claim.

58. The Magistrate may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, direct the sale of any property seized under section 52 and subject to speedy and natural decay, and may deal with the proceeds as he would have dealt with such property if it had not been sold.

Procedure as to perishable property seized under section 52. (Old Act, s. 57.)

Sec. 55. N. B.—See also notes under S. 26 and S. 33.

CONFISCATION OF FOREST-PRODUCE—THE PROPERTY OF GOVERNMENT.—No confiscation order is necessary, or can be made, in respect of forest produce, which is the property of Government, and regarding which a forest offence has been committed. All that need be done is, to direct that it should be taken by some Forest-officer. 4 A. 417.

POWER TO CONFISCATE.—It is only in respect of forest-produce with regard to which an offence has been committed, that power to direct confiscation is given by law. Such an order, regarding forest-produce not belonging to Government, can only be made at the time when the offender is convicted. 4 A. 417, [F. 27 C. 450.]

REWARD—FOREST PRODUCE.—Since there can be no legal confiscation of Government property, a reward cannot be paid out of such property. Rat. 620 = Cr. Kg. 44 of 1892.

DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY.—Under S. 55, the property, regarding which an offence is committed, should be awarded to Government. 5 Bom. L. R. 124.

GOVERNMENT FOREST-PRODUCE, OFFENCE RELATING TO—PROPER ORDER.—When the

forest-produce, in respect of which an offence is committed, is found to be the property of Government the only order which the Magistrate can legally make regarding it, under S. 56 is that it should be taken charge of by a Forest officer. An order for its sale and the payment of a reward to the informer from its proceeds is therefore illegal. Rat. 361 = Cr. Kg. 3 of 1888.

Sec. 57.—(1) Sub-s. by Act V of 1890, s. 11.

FORFEITURE FOR FOREST OFFENCE WHEN A GOOD TITLE HAS VESTED IN A THIRD PERSON.

—Under the orders issued by the Collector of Kandesh, certain Bhils entered the forest, brought from it teak logs under the customary passes, and sold them in open market to applicants who purchased in good faith. The Government sought to forfeit them on the ground that a forest-offence had been committed in respect of them, inasmuch as the permission under which the Bhils acted, only allowed them to cut deadwood and the logs did not fall under the description. Held, ordering the logs to be restored to the custody of purchasers, that it was clear from the terms of S. 57 that a forfeiture was not a consequence of a forest-offence, under the conditions stated in that section, where a good title has vested in a third person. 2 Bom. L. R. 675.

59. The officer who made the seizure under section 52, or any of his official superiors, or any person claiming to be interested in the property so seized, may, within one month from the date of any order passed under section 55, section 56 or section 57, appeal therefrom to the Court to which orders made by such Magistrate are ordinarily appealable, and the order passed on such appeal shall be final.

60. When an order for the confiscation of any property has been passed under section 55 or section 57, as the case may be, and the period limited by section 59 for an appeal from such order has elapsed, and no such appeal has been preferred, or when, on such an appeal being preferred, the Appellate Court confirms such order in respect of the whole or a portion of such property, such property or such portion thereof, as the case may be, shall vest in the Government free from all incumbrances.

61. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall be deemed to prevent any officer empowered in this behalf by the Local Government from directing at any time the immediate release of any property seized under section 52.

62. Any Forest-officer or Police-officer who vexatiously and unnecessarily seizes any property on pretence of seizing property liable to confiscation under this Act shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

63. Whoever, with intent to cause damage or injury to the public or to any person, or to cause wrongful gain as defined in the Indian Penal Code—

64. (1) Any Forest-officer or Police-officer, may, without orders from a Magistrate and without a warrant, arrest any person against whom a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been concerned in any forest-offence punishable with imprisonment for one month or upwards.

(2) Every officer making an arrest under this section shall, without unnecessary delay and subject to the provisions of this Act as to release on bond, take or send the person arrested before the Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case, or to the officer in charge of the nearest police station.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise such arrest for any act which is an offence under Chapter IV unless such act has been prohibited under clause (c) of section 30.

Sec. 59. REVISION BY HIGH COURT OF AN ORDER OF A SUBORDINATE TRIBUNAL.—The terms of s. 59 do not exclude the ordinary revisional powers of the High Court over a subordinate tribunal in the exercise of its criminal jurisdiction, where there had been judicial proceeding. 4 A. 417.

65. Any Forest-officer of a rank not inferior to that of a Ranger, who, or whose

(b) when any property has been seized as liable to confiscation, to release the same on payment of the value thereof as estimated by such officer.

(2) On the payment of such sum of money, or such value, or both, as the case may be, to such officer, the suspected person, if in custody, shall be discharged, the property, if any, seized shall be released, and no further proceedings shall be taken against such person or property.

(3) A Forest-officer shall not be empowered under this section unless he is a Forest-officer of a rank not inferior to that of a Ranger and is in receipt of a monthly salary amounting to at least one hundred rupees, and the sum of money accepted as compensation under clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall in no case exceed the sum of fifty rupees.

The Court, before convicting, is bound to satisfy itself of Government proprietary rights in the usual modes and by means of the usual materials recognised in Courts. THE GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897).

PREFATORY NOTE: SCOPE AND NATURE OF THE ENACTMENT.—The first Act of the kind that was passed in England was an Act called Lord Brougham's Act, passed in 1851. That Act contained definitions of certain words which were continually used and defined in Acts of Parliament, and further contained one or two convenient rules of construction.

Lord Brougham's Act was adopted and somewhat extended by the Indian Act of 1868. The Acts in both countries were found to be convenient and work well, and in 1887, the second Indian General Clauses Act was passed, further extending the same principle. The Act was drafted by Sir Courteney Ilbert, afterwards Parliamentary Counsel. When he went home, he carried the principle rather further, and he drafted the English Interpretation Act, 1889, which carried on the same principle. In this General Clauses Act, the Government proposed, 1st to consolidate the previous two Indian Acts on the subject and 2ndly to adopt some of the provisions of the English Interpretation Act, 1889, as were applicable to Indian Legislation and other circumstances. Mr. Chalmers on whom devolved the drafting of the Indian Bill consulted Sir Courteney Ilbert about it, and improved it in the light of his criticisms and advice on the provisions of the bill. The English Act was very carefully considered by a strong committee of the lawyers of the House of Lords, and its provisions were very carefully sifted by the committee. As to the general policy of the Act, it is always convenient to have one prima facie meaning for every term which is in constant use; and in all Acts, wherever possible, the same words should have the same meaning. But, of course, the definitions are only prima facie definitions. The Act provides that in future Acts, these particular terms defined in this Act will have the meaning given to them, unless a special Act otherwise provides in any particular Act. It is always open to give a special definition to any word or phrase, if it is required for the purposes of that Act. Certain general principle of construction have also been adopted from the English Interpretation Act. The Act is not one for creating new legislation, but may be described as one intended to prevent accidental slips in drafting future bills or as Mr. Chalmers put in when introducing the bill "a Drafting Accidents Prevention Bill."

"The following extracts from the Statement of Objects and Reasons may also be noted:—

This Bill does not propose to effect any change in the Law. Its object like that of the Acts it consolidates is to shorten the language of statutory enactments and to provide for uniformity of expression in cases where there is identity of subject-matter.

The first enactment of the kind was Lord Brougham's Act (13 and 14 Viet., c. 21). The provisions of that statute were adopted to India and somewhat amplified by the General Clauses Act (I of 1868) and the General Clauses Act (I of 1887) was a further extension of the same principle. It is obviously expedient that the Legislative dictionary, as it may be called, should be contained in a single enactment and that the two Acts above referred to should be consolidated, and it seems desirable to take the opportunity of making any additions that later experience may have suggested and in particular to incorporate such provisions of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 and 53 Viet., c. 64) as are applicable to India. That statute like the Indian Act of 1887 was drafted by Sir C. Ilbert and is in effect a careful revision and extension of the later. For example the definition of British India in the English Act of 1889 is merely an expansion of the definition given by the Indian Act of 1868. Its legal effect is the same, but it is more intelligible and it avoids a reference to another statute. The proposed measure will have this further advantage that it will secure uniformity of language and construction in Indian and in English legislation, in so far as both have to deal with the same subject-matter."

PREFATORY NOTE:—The provisions of the various Acts in force regarding the regulation of buildings in municipalities rest in the main on the necessity for controlling buildings and the maintenance of buildings with due regard to enquiring, and salutary exigencies; and the powers conferred upon Municipal Committees with the object in the several Municipal Acts are wide, and more or less absolute. It has been on several occasions represented to the Government of India that in the case of Government buildings the necessity does not exist, as the requirements in question are secured by departmental regulations and the advice of the experts who are employed by the State for the proper execution and supervision of public works. Moreover, as regards works relating to imperial defence, it is evident that, if direct control is to be effectively exercised by Municipal Committees, the power of inspection must extend to the examination, on demand, of plans and records, which may be of a strictly confidential character, and this examination is inconsistent with the secrecy which, for obvious reasons, is essential in these matters. It will be generally admitted that the Government cannot permit its designs for the improvement of its coast batteries, magazines, or arsenals to become practically public property, merely because such designs have to be carried out within a municipal area in which the local law requires their submission to the municipal authorities and admits of extraneous and it may be, arbitrary interference with them.

The object of this Bill is therefore to exempt from such regulations all buildings which are situate within municipalities or which are to be erected upon land which is the property or in the occupation of the Government. The Government of India have, however, no desire to ignore the international arrangements and general administration of municipalities. On the contrary they consider it incumbent on the administration to frame its projects with full consideration for the general plans of any municipal body concerned: and they consider it reasonable and right that municipal bodies should have opportunities of criticising such projects but the final judgment on objects and suggestions must rest with the Local Government which has undertaken them, and not under a Municipal Board, which is itself under the control of the Local Government. It is proposed in the Bill, therefore, to provide that reasonable notice of any work, which if it is intended by the Government to undertake shall be given to the municipality concerned that the Municipal Committee shall be permitted, subject to suitable safeguards, to inspect the land and the plans; that any representation such municipal committee may think fit to make with reference thereto shall be received and considered by the Local Government; that the work shall be executed in strict accordance with the orders passed by the Local Government on such a representation, and that every order so passed shall be liable, in the last resort, to revision, by the Governor-General in Council. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons).

THE GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS ACT (IV OF 1899).

(2) Any contract so made may be expressed to be made by the Secretary of State in Council.

Sec. 29 (5).—When a statute lays down certain mandatory provisions in regard to the framing of Contracts to be binding upon the Secretary of State must be made in strict conformity with the provisions laid down on the statute. If they are not so made, they are not valid as against him. 54 C. 969 (1021 & 1022). A commandeering order is one which no one but Government can make and, being an act of the Sovereign Power, the Secretary of State evidently cannot be sued in respect of it. 54 C. 969 (1020).

30. (1) The Governor-General in Council and any local Government may, on behalf and in the name of the Secretary of State in Council, and subject to such provisions or restrictions as the Secretary of State in Council, with the concurrence of a majority of votes at a meeting of the Council of India, prescribes, sell and dispose of any real or personal estate whatsoever in British India, within the limits of their respective governments, for the time being vested in His Majesty for the purposes of the Government of India, or raise money on any such real ²[or personal] estate by way of mortgage, ²[or otherwise,] and make proper assurances for any of those purposes, and purchase or acquire any property in British India within the said respective limits, and make any contract for the purposes of this Act.

³[(1-a) A local government may on behalf and in the name of the Secretary of State in Council raise money on the security of revenues allocated to it under this Act, and make proper assurances for that purpose, and rules made under this Act may provide for the conditions under which this power shall be exercisable.]

(2) Every assurance and contract made for the purposes of ⁴ [sub-section 1 of this section] shall be executed by such person and in such manner as the Governor-General in Council by resolution directs or authorizes, and if so executed may be enforced by or against the Secretary of State in Council for the time being.

(3) All property acquired in pursuance of this section shall vest in His Majesty for the purposes of the Government of India.

Sec 41 (b) of Act IV of 1898 (Burma) which enacts that no Civil Court is to have jurisdiction to determine a claim to any right over land against the Government, is ultra vires of the Indian Legislature. (Ibid.) An action for damages for trespass on land would have lain against the East India Co. and consequently would also lie against the Secretary of State. (Ibid.) (5 B. H. C. R. Ap. preserve the substantial right of the subject to sue the Government in the Civil Courts like any other defendant and do not violate the fundamental principle that the Secretary of State even as representing the Crown is not to be in a position different from that of the East India Co. PREFATORY NOTE.—"Savings Banks are institutions for the purpose of receiving small deposits of money and investing them for the benefit of the depositors at compound interest. They are generally managed by benevolent persons, who seek no remuneration for their services. In India these banks are managed by the State. They originated in the latter part of the 18th century—a period marked by a great advance in the organization of provident habits in general. Such banks are now almost universally established throughout the civilized world.

5. Such payment shall be a full discharge from all further liability in respect of the money so paid :

THE GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890).¹

[21st March, 1890.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Guardian and Ward.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to guardian and ward ; it is hereby enacted as follows :—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT, 1890.

¹ For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1886, Pt V, p. 77 ; for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid., 1890, Pt. V, p. 77 and for Debates in Council, see ibid., 1886, Supplement, pp. 419 and 666 and ibid., 1890, Pt. VI, pp. 33 and 45.

For Civil Rules of Practice made by the High Court, Madras, under the Code of Civil Procedure and certain other Acts, for observance by the subordinate Civil Courts of the Presidency except the Madras Small Cause Courts, see Fort St. George Gazette, 1905, Supplement, p. 1.

Sec. 1. GENERAL.—Difference between the old Act (Act XL of 1858) and the present Act. 19 Cal. 301. Act is exhaustive. 30 Mad. 807 = 24 I. C. 290 (P. C.). The provisions of the Code will apply to proceedings under this Act unless the contrary is expressly declared therein 7 P. R. 1898. Nature of proceedings under the Act. See 137 I. C. 606. Proceedings under the Act cannot be attacked for lack of formality and precision of procedure which the C.P. Code exacts from a Court in India in suit properly so called. 44 A. 587 = 20 A. L. J. 468 = 1922 All. 338. The exercise of parental jurisdiction in guardianship matters by a District Judge cannot be guided by hard and fast rules, and if the order passed is on the whole a reasonable one, it will not be interfered with on appeal. (Ibid.) A guardian cannot be appointed to the property of the minor member of an undivided Hindu family possessed of no separate property. A guardian of the person of such a minor may be appointed. 19 B. 309 (F. B.). See also 43 P. R. 1909 = 1 I. C. 745 ; 25 All. 407, 30 Bom. 152.

POWERS OF HIGH COURT.—The High Court has the power to appoint a guardian for an infant or his estate, irrespective of the Act. 16 B. 634 (R., 19 B. 96, 10 P. R. 1904) See also (1913) M. W. N. 906 - 21 I. C. 545. The powers and the jurisdiction of the Court, vested in it cannot be ousted by any agreement of the parties. 4 Bom. L. R. 963. Jurisdiction of District Court in regard to minors is confined only to the powers expressly conferred on it by the Guardians and Wards Act. 40 Bom. 600 = 18 Bom. L. R. 582. The powers conferred upon the District Court are totally dissimilar to its powers as a Court of Ordinary Civil Jurisdiction and so an order purporting to be made under the Act which is not warranted by its provisions cannot be considered as a decree in a suit. 36 Mad. 39 = 13 I. C. 251 = 22 M. L. J. 193 (36 Cal. 193 ; 24 W. R. 193 ; 9 All. 191, Dist.). There is nothing in the Act to prevent the Court from making a declaration that a person appointed by will is the guardian of a minor. 3 M. L. J. 182.

NATURE OF JURISDICTION.—In dealing with the custody of illegitimate children, the Courts in England are governed by equitable rules and exercise equitable jurisdiction. One of these rules is that the desire of the mother of an illegitimate child as to its custody is primarily to be considered. 5 Bur. L. T. 164 = 17 Ind. Cas. 926. This equitable rule should be adopted in the case of parties in this country, neither the father nor the mother has any absolute right to the custody of their illegitimate child. (Ibid.) The District Court should not assume direct responsibility under the Act for the marriage of minors for whom a personal guardian has been appointed. 98 P. R. 1914 = 27 Ind. Cas. 381 (22 B. 509, F.) There is no provision in the Act authorizing the court to compel a person in possession of a minor's property to hand it over to the person appointed guardian. 13 Ind. Cas. 386. The scheme of the Act is to entrust the District Court, with the duty of looking after the welfare of the minor's person and property and for this purpose, gives it power to appoint a guardian. The guardian is really the hand of the District Court and is to act under its advice (control and constant supervision). The enforcement of rights or claims of the ward or against the ward is left to be regulated by ordinary proceedings by suits and the Act does not provide any machinery for decisions upon or enforcing any such claims though so far as the guardian is concerned, the District Court is vested with very wide disciplinary powers over him in order that it may enforce the orders passed against him under the Act. 36 M. 39 = 22 M. L. J. 193 = 13 Ind. Cas. 251. Agency tract—Ex parte order of agent appointing guardian of infant—Appeal lies to High Court. 18 M. 227. A mandatory order directing the defendant to take possession of the persons of infants and bring them back to India, should not be made, as, if the minor resisted the defendant, it would expose him to a proceeding under a writ of habeas corpus. 38 Mad. 807 = 41 I. 4. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) " minor " means a person who, under the provisions of the Indian Majority Act, 1875, is to be deemed not to have attained his majority :

(2) " guardian " means a person having the care of the person of a minor or of his property, or of both his person and property :

(3) " ward " means a minor for whose person or property, or both, there is a guardian :

(4) " District Court " has the meaning assigned to that expression in the Code of Civil Procedure, and includes, a High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction :

² [(5) " the Court " means—

(a) the District Court having jurisdiction to entertain an application under this Act for an order appointing or declaring a person to be a guardian : or

(b) where a guardian has been appointed or declared in pursuance of any such application—dominant consideration in making the order—

WHO CAN APPLY, AND FOR WHAT PURPOSE.
—Any friend of the minor can invoke the protection of the court in case of a minor being ill-treated, but a stranger must satisfy the Court that welfare of the minor would be better secured by removing the father from the lawful custody. 64 I.C. 576 = 23 Bom. L.R. 1225. Thus in castes not permitting widow-remarriage where infant girls are married, a stranger cannot successfully deprive the father of the custody of the infant daughter who is about to be given in marriage. (Ibid.) There is no machinery under the Act to work out the right of the mother, under Muhammadan Law, to visit her child in the custody of the father as guardian. 59 I.C. 562 = 13 Bur. L.T. 86. The provisions of the Act should not be put in force in order to enable a husband to get possession of the person of his wife. 67 I.C. 882 = 3 P.L.J. 293.

A minor cannot sue through a next friend for possession of the property from the defendant, which the latter claims to hold as de jure guardian. Sec. 4 (2).—A de facto guardian is a guardian within S. 4 (2) and is removed from guardianship under S. 7 (2) by the Court's order appointing guardian. 51 I.C. 235 = 36 M.L.J. 19.

Sec. 4 (5).—Minors who had left before the institution of the suit for England and were living there, were not "ordinarily resident" in the district and hence were beyond the jurisdiction of the District Court. 38 Mad. 807 = 41 I.A. 314 = 27 M.L.J. 30 = 24 I.C. 290 (P.C.). APPOINTMENT AND DECLARATION OF GUARDIANS.

Power of parents to appoint in case of European British subjects.

5. (1) Where a minor is an European British subject, a guardian or guardians of his person or property, or both, may be appointed by will or other instrument to take effect on the death of the person appointing,—

(a) by the father of the minor, or

(b) if the father is dead or incapable of acting, by the mother.

(2) Where guardians have been appointed under sub-section (1) by both parents, they shall act jointly.

6. In the case of a minor who is not a European British subject, nothing in this Act shall be construed to take away or derogate from any power to appoint a guardian of his person or property, or both, which is valid by the law to which the minor is subject.

Saving of power to appoint in other cases.

Sec. 4-A.—² Inserted by Act IV of 1926, S. 3.

Power of the Court to make order as to guardianship.

7. (1) Where the Court is satisfied that it is for the welfare of a minor that an order should be made—

Sec. 7. APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN.—Under the Act, it is open to a Court to appoint a guardian of the properties of a minor even though the minor is not entitled to present possession of these properties. 70 I. C. 360=14 L. W. 706. Such appointment will not interfere, with the right of the persons to possession of the properties as executor or trustee or otherwise. (Ibid.) Where owing to disputes between rival claimants there is likelihood of the property being lost, a guardian should immediately be appointed. 96 I. C. 283. Appointment of person who has not applied as guardian not proper. 107 I. C. 397. An order appointing a husband as guardian of his minor wife cannot be passed in disregard of the Civil Court's decree that he cannot have the custody of her person until she attained majority. 2 Lah. L. J. 509. The provisions of the Act should not be enforced to enable a husband to get possession of his wife which he has failed to do by execution of the decree obtained by him for restitution of conjugal rights. 57 I. C. 382 (2)=3 L. L. J. 293. Once the power of the Court is invoked it is its duty as soon as any dispute about the guardianship of the minor's property or any allegation of detriment to the minor's interests resulting from such dispute is properly brought to its notice to set right the matters in the interests of the minor and appoint a proper person as his guardian. 64 I. C. 433.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE COURT IN APPOINTING GUARDIANS.—The law does not make it incumbent upon the Court to grant every application for guardianship. The welfare of the minor is the sole criterion in deciding whether a guardian should be appointed or not. 42 I. C. 191=95 P. L. R. 1917; 60 P. W. R. 1913=19 I. C. 783=118 P. L. R. 1913; 101 P. L. R. 1915=28 I. C. 507=36 P. W. R. 1915. See also 33 I. C. 77=19 M. L. T. 294 (Personal law of the minor should also be considered). A person can apply for the appointment of another guardian under S. 7, though an order of removal under S. 39 is not obtained. 104 I. C. 562=A. I. R. 1927 Oudh. 516. Where the dispute is as to the validity of the marriage of the minor and the matter is not free from difficulty, the court should refer them to a regular suit. (Ibid.) An order of appointment of a guardian to a minor can only be made on the sole ground of welfare of the minor; the court cannot go against the will of the minor especially when he is old enough to form an intelligent opinion. 11 I. C. 478=196 P. W. R. 1911. A Court should not entertain an application for a guardian to be appointed for a minor where the previous arrangements are quite satisfactory. 101 I. C. 259. Where there is nothing established against a father except that he and his wife are on bad terms and living apart, he is entitled to the custody of his child. 18 L. W. 173=(1923) M. W. N. 668=1924 Mad. 45. As to the nature of the father's right, see also 6 L. J. 597=83 I. C. 308=26 Punj L. R. 12=1925 Lah. 250. The fact that he at one time agreed to allow the child to remain with the mother is immaterial as it is a revocable agreement. (Ibid.) So also leaving child even with a mere friend. 96 I. C. 617=A. I. R. 1926 All. 687. A mother should be left undisturbed as regards the guardianship of her minor girl, where there is no property to be administered by the court and a statutory guardian is unnecessary. 84 P. R. 1915=31 I. C. 237=176 P. W. R. 1915. The re-marriage of a mother is not a sufficient reason to deprive her of the custody of her children. 28 I. C. 507=36 P. W. R. 1915. The question in cases of guardianship always is, whether it is for the welfare of the minor to appoint a guardian. (Ibid.) When the mother of a minor is managing the affairs of her son properly, no guardian need be appointed. 60 P. W. R. 1913=19 I. C. 783. A mother is the proper guardian for the person and property of a minor, until the contrary is proved. 19 I. C. 428=12 P. W. R. 1913. Where no charge of waste or mismanagement had been proved, the mere desire of the relatives of the minor is not a sufficient reason for depriving the widowed mother of her recognized claim to be the guardian of her minor child's property. 68 I. C. 474. The appointment of the minor's paternal aunt as guardian is proper when it is proved that the mother is living in open adultery and has borne children of such connection. 30 P. W. R. 1914=23 I. C. 938. An uncle should not be preferred specially when he is separate and was not on good terms with the minor's father during his lifetime. 62 P. L. R. 1913=19 I. C. 428=12 P. W. R. 1913. The fact that one seeks the assistance of her relatives in the management of the property is not objectionable. (Ibid.)

INTERFERENCE WITH LEGAL RIGHTS OF GUARDIANSHIP.—A Court can both in equity and under the Act interfere with the legal rights of guardianship of the parents. 41 I. C. 571=11 S. L. R. 17. The welfare of the children should primarily be considered. The court should ascertain what would be for the welfare of the minors, whether any of them was sufficiently advanced to make an intelligent preference, what means were at the disposal of such parents to provide for them in future, and whether the father would under altered circumstances be able to provide a fit home for his children. (Ibid.) If the father is not able to provide a fit home he should be held to be not fit to be the guardian. The provisions of the Act are in no way limited by the English practice. English decisions cannot be considered to have any authority in India when dealing with a conflict between Hinduism and Islam. Change of religion by itself does not necessarily render a father unfit to be the guardian of his minor children. (Ibid.) Whether the general rule that a child should follow the religion of the father could apply without qualification to a case where the religion has been newly adopted by the father and is not that in which the child was born or reared (Ibid.)

EFFECT OF ORDER.—An order appointing a guardian is final (subject to any other order passed in appeal) even if it was made under a misapprehension of the case. 52 I. C. 831=73 P. R. 1919. Appointment of guardian of person and property of a minor under the Act means removal of natural guardian. 50 I. C. 580; 42 I. C. 505=6 L. W. 760. When a guardian is appointed by Court for minor's property no other person not even the de facto guardian can legally

(a) appointing a guardian of his person or property, or both, or
 (b) declaring a person to be such a guardian, the Court may make an order accordingly.

(2) An order under this section shall imply the removal of any guardian who has not been appointed by will or other instrument or appointed or declared by the Court.

(3) Where a guardian has been appointed by will or other instrument or appointed or declared by the Court, an order under this section appointing or declaring another person to be guardian in his stead shall not be made until the powers of the guardian appointed or declared as aforesaid have ceased under the provisions of this Act.

Persons entitled to apply for order.

8. An order shall not be made under the last foregoing section except on the application of—bind the minor's estate. 37 Mad. 38=21 M. L. J. 1077=12 I. C. 568.

ANCESTRAL PROPERTY.—No guardian can be appointed in respect of a Hindu minor's undivided ancestral property. 46 I. C. 815 [25 All. 407 (P. C.) Foll.].

TRUST PROPERTY.—No guardian in respect of trust properties can be appointed under S. 7; nor can sanction be granted under S. 29 to sell the properties. Such a sale is invalid. 23 M. L. J. 267=42 I. C. 273. A right to a portion of the income of the trust properties does not vest the properties in the beneficiary so as to attract the provisions of Ss. 7 and 29 of the Act (Ibid.)

SECURITY.—A conditional order "that upon petitioner furnishing security he is appointed guardian of minor's property" is ultra vires and had ab initio. 49 M. 809=24 L. W. 707=A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 36=51 M. L. J. 726 (F. B.). (30 M. L. J. 508, Foll.; 40 Mad. 775=37 I. C. 892, Overruled). The practice of issuing suspensory orders of guardianship deprecated. (Ibid.) The Act does not require two orders, viz., interim order of approval and a "final order" of appointment of the guardian of property nor does it postpone the appointment till security is furnished. 30 M. L. J. 508=34 I. C. 432. In case of a conditional order of appointment of a guardian the minor's natural guardian's act done in good faith prior to the furnishing of security by the guardian appointed are valid. 40 Mad. 775=37 I. C. 892. An order of appointment of a guardian of property of an infant on condition that he furnishes security is an order under S. 7 (1) and not under S. 34 and is appealable under S. 47 (4). 24 I. C. 202. See also 49 Mad. 809.

PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.—The proceedings under S. 7 are summary. 65 I. C. 888=15 S. L. R. 175. Section contemplates only a summary inquiry followed by an order for the welfare of the minor. 40 Bom. 513=35 I. C. 16. When a minor is to attain majority shortly, the Courts cannot prolong the age of minority by appointing a guardian under S. 7. 38 Mad. 807=27 M. L. J. 30=18 C. W. N. 1089=24 I. C. 290=41 I. A. 314 (P. C.). Ss. 7 and 8 do not necessarily require that when proceedings have been instituted on a proper application, application should be taken from the person whom the Court appoints, though certainly in practice it is more usual to take one. 73 I. C. 256. A Court dealing with an application under the Act should not dispose of the matter in the absence of the applicant by making an order in favour of his opponent as though the absent person were a defaulter in a civil suit. 19 A. L. J. 489=63 I. C. 567. In determining whether a person is a minor the Court should take an independent view of its own and not adopt a finding in some civil suit that that person is a minor. (Ibid.) When an application is made on the footing and with the claim that the minor is entitled to separate property, the court should appoint a proper person as guardian of his property leaving it to the guardian to institute suits for the recovery of the property claimed. 40 Bom. 513=35 I. C. 16=18 Bom. L. R. 343.

MALA FIDE APPLICATION.—Where no guardian for the person or property of a minor was necessary, and a master instigated his servant who was the grandfather of the minor to make an application for appointing himself as the guardian so that the minor may be married to his son, it was held that it was not a bona fide judicial proceeding and orders made thereon were wholly without jurisdiction. 15 C. L. J. 142=16 C. W. N. 444.

TESTAMENTARY GUARDIANS, CL. (3).—Under Hindu Law, a man cannot appoint a testamentary guardian for his minor nephew. 12 I. C. 452=220 P. W. R. 1911. It is only where there is a written will appointing a guardian that a testamentary guardian stands in the way of the appointment of a statutory guardian by the Court. 16 L. W. 415=(1922) M. W. N. 167=1922 M. 70 (1); see also 40 Mad. 672=34 I. C. 766=30 M. L. J. 504. In an application for the appointment of a guardian of a minor, the Court has jurisdiction and is bound to consider the fact, that there is a will although no probate had been granted in respect of the same. 42 Cal. 953=28 I. C. 972=19 C. W. N. 513. Where there is a testamentary guardian for a minor an order appointing another person to be his guardian shall not be made unless the court has ordered under S. 39 or S. 41, the removal of the testamentary guardian. 29 Bom. L. R. 1577. See also 100 I. C. 738=28 Punj. L. R. 127. If the validity of the will is in question, it is discretionary with the court to defer decision of the question of guardianship until the question of probate has been determined. (Ibid.) (17 Pom. 560; 16 Mad. 780; 20 Bom. 832, Ref.) European British subject.—Whether mother can be preferred to testamentary guardian. 31 C. W. N. 394=101 I. C. 609=A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 389.

Sec. 8.—A court has no power to make an order appointing a guardian of minors except on a substantial application. 38 Cal. 226=15 C. W. N. 676=10 I. C. 334. The mere fact that the the minor ordinarily resides.

(2) If the application is with respect to the guardianship of the property of the minor, it may be made either to the District Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor ordinarily resides or to a District Court having jurisdiction in a place where he has property.

(3) If an application with respect to the guardianship of the property of a minor is made to a District Court other than that having jurisdiction in the place where the minor ordinarily resides, the Court may return the application if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by any other District Court having jurisdiction.

10. (1) If the application is not made by the Collector, it shall be by petition signed and verified in manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for the signing and verification of a complaint, and stating, so far as can be ascertained,—

- (b) where the minor is a female, whether she is married, and, if so, the name and age of her husband ;

- (d) the name and residence of the person having the custody or possession of the person or property of the minor ;
- (e) what near relations the minor has, and where they reside ;

A Mufassal Court other than the District Court has no jurisdiction to entertain proceedings by a father for the custody of his minor child. Sec. 15.—A Hindu mother who remarries loses her natural right to be a preferential guardian of the person of her minor children. She can however be appointed guardian by the Court. 48 Ind. Cas. 75. There is nothing in the Hindu Law which prevents the Court from appointing more persons than one as guardian of the person of a minor (Ibid.).

(2) On the death of a father, being an European British subject, who has, by will or other instrument to take effect on his death, appointed a guardian of his minor child, the Court may appoint the mother to be guardian of the child jointly with the guardian appointed by the father.

(3) On the death of a mother, being an European British subject, who during the incapacity of the father of her minor child has, by will or other instrument to take effect on her death, appointed a guardian of the child, the Court may, if the father becomes capable of acting, appoint him to be sole guardian of the child or guardian of the child jointly with the guardian appointed by the mother, as it thinks fit.

(4) Separate guardians may be appointed or declared of the person and of the property of a minor.

(5) If a minor has several properties, the Court may, if it thinks fit, appoint or declare a separate guardian for any one or more of the properties.

(1905) 122=2 A. L. J. 460. The section is directory and does not in any way affect or prejudice the status of a certificated guardian when appointed generally over the property of a minor Ibid. Under S. 3 a minor of whose person or property a guardian has been appointed by any court of justice, shall be deemed to have attained his majority when he has completed his age of 21 years and not before. CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE COURT—PERSONS ENTITLED TO BE GUARDIANS.—The welfare of the minor is the paramount consideration in an application for the appointment of a guardian for the person of a minor through the rights of guardianship under law must also be considered but the qualification or otherwise of the proposed guardian is only secondary to that of the minor's welfare. 22 M. L. J. 68=13 I. C. 10=10 M. L. T. 477. [32 Bom. 50, 20 All. 210; 33 All. 222; 10 I. C. 283; 21 M. L. J. 195; 16 M. L. J. 357 foll.]. See also 11 M. L. T. 53=13 I. C. 453=22 M. L. J. 247, 4 Pat. 109=1925 Pat. 444. See also 13 C. L. J. 735. Matters to be considered by the Court in appointing a guardian under this section viz., the legal right to be appointed a guardian the preference of the minors and the existing previous relationship are very minor considerations as compared with the main question, what order would be for the welfare of the minor. 9 Bom. L. R. 923=32 Bom. 50. The interest, well-being and happiness of the minor ought to be the main and paramount consideration for the court in selecting the guardian of the person of a minor. 9 Bom. L. R. 923=32 B. 50; see also 13 O. C. 140=6 Ind. Cas. 1001; 192 P. L. R. 1913=19 I. C. 609; 33 A. 222=7 A. L. J. 1149=8 Ind. Cas. 785; 26 I. C. 300. Consistently with the welfare of the minor the Court should also have regard to the wishes of the deceased parents of the minor and also to the minor's wishes when he is of years of discretion. 25 I. C. 112=18 C. W. N. 1198; (32 Bom. 50; 29 All. 210 foll.). Personal law of the minor can be disregarded if the minor's welfare leaves no alternative. 28 O. C. 172=85 I. C. 624=1925 Oudh 623. A boy aged 14 years and a girl aged 16 years, are old enough to form an intelligent preference; such preference is strongly entitled to consideration under S. 17 (3). 12 N. L. R. 35=32 I. C. 977 [9 M. 391, diss.; 16 Bom. 307; 12 All. 213; 25 Cal. 881; 23 Cal. 290; 22 M. L. J. 247, foll.]. Being litigious is in itself no disqualification for guardianship. 12 O. L. J. 281=2 O. W. N. 246=87 I. C. 902=1925 Oudh

(2) In considering what will be for the welfare of the minor, the Court shall have regard to the age, sex and religion of the minor, the character and capacity of the proposed guardian and his nearness of kin to the minor, the wishes, if any, of a deceased parent, and any existing or previous relations of the proposed guardian with the minor or his property.

(3) If the minor is old enough to form an intelligent preference, the Court may consider that preference.

(4) As between parents who are European British subjects adversely claiming the guardianship of the person, neither parent is entitled to it as of right, but, other things being equal, if the minor is a male of tender years or a female, the minor should be given to the mother, and if the minor is a male of an age to require education and preparation for labour and business, then to the father.

(5) The Court shall not appoint or declare any person to be a guardian against his will.

DUTIES, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF GUARDIANS.

General.

20. (1) A guardian stands in a fiduciary relation to his ward, and, save as provided by the will or other instrument, if any, by which he was appointed, or by this Act, he must not make any profit out of his office.

Fiduciary relation of guardian to ward.

(2) The fiduciary relation of a guardian to his ward extends to and affects purchases by the guardian of the property of the ward, and by the ward of the property of the guardian, immediately or soon after the ward has ceased to be a minor, and generally all transactions between them while the influence of the guardian still lasts or is recent.

21. A minor is incompetent to act as guardian of any minor except his own wife or child or, where he is the managing member of an undivided Hindu family, the wife or child of another minor member of that family.

Capacity of minors to act as guardians.

22. (1) A guardian appointed or declared by the Court shall be entitled to such allowance, if any, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties.

Remuneration of guardian.

(2) When an officer of the Government, as such officer, is so appointed or declared to be guardian, such fees shall be paid to the Government out of the property of ward as the Local Government, by general¹ or special order, directs.

Sec. 19. [See also notes under S. 17 supra] S. 19 recognizes the natural right of the father and is controlled by S. 17 according to which the paramount consideration is the welfare of the minor. 47 I. C. 817 = 12 S. L. R. 14. But see 23 L. W. 213 = A. I. R. 1925 Mad. 1085, which lays down that the prohibition contained in this section applies also to a husband or father. A Collector appointed or declared by the Court to be guardian of the person or property, or both, of a minor shall, in all matters connected with the guardianship of his ward, be subject to the control of the Local Government or of such authority as that Government, by notification in the official Gazette, appoints in this behalf.

Guardian of the Person.

24. A guardian of the person of a ward is charged with the custody of the ward and must look to his support, health and education, and such other matters as the law to which the ward is subject requires.

Sec. 24. RELIGION.—The father of an infant is prima facie entitled to say in what religion his child should be brought up. 22 M. L. J. 247 = 25 C. 881. But where the court thinks, it would be injurious to the child's interest it will interfere. 22 M. L. J. 247. Where the parents are not of the same religion, the mother after the death of the father should bring up the child in his father's religion. (Ibid.) The Court may restrain a marriage if it is unsuitable even though the guardian has given his consent. 10 I. C. 136. See also 98 P. R. 1914 = 27 I. C. 381. A ward of court cannot marry without the consent of the court. 42 C. 351. See also 32 Bom. 52; 57 I. C. 651; 39 M. 473. On this section, see also 3 C. W. N. 37; 36 Mad. 39 = 13 I. C. 251 = 22 M. L. Sec. 23 (2).—² See now Act V of 1898.

Matters to be considered in passing order under the section. See 107 I. C. 759. The father has a right to custody of a minor child. 47 A. 706; 18 L. W. 173 = 1924 Mad. 45. But see (as to conflict of rulings) 1925 Oudh 282; 1925 Oudh 257; 6 L. L. J. 597 = 83 I. C. 308 = 1925 Lah.

About mother's right to custody see 56 I. C. 242 = 24 C. W. N. 711; 31 C. L. J. 365 = 57 I. C. 13. But where she by her conduct precludes herself from demanding the custody, see 1 M. L. T. 347; 23 C. 290. Where immoral conduct is proved against her she is not entitled to. 14 M. L. A. 309. A court is not justified in refusing relief to the guardian under S. 25 of the Act on the ground that the guardian is too weak to keep the minor. A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 266. It is the duty of the Court to protect the weak against the high handed acts of the strong and this duty had to be performed with greater vigilance when the aggrieved party is a duly constituted guardian appointed by the Court itself and the victims are minors under its charge. 100 I. C. 807 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 266. In order to take action under S. 25, it is immaterial whether the minor left the guardian's custody of his own accord or was forcibly removed by the respondent. 100 I. C. 807 = A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 266. Father leading an immoral life—Children living with maternal uncle—Power delegated by the father whether can be revoked. 103 I. C. 361 = A. I. RIGHT OF SUIT.—A guardian appointed under the Act is only entitled to apply under the Act for the custody of the minor and cannot bring a separate suit. 39 M. 608 = 33 M. L. J. 21; 42 M. 647 (F. B.); 38 M. 807 (P. C.).

37. Nothing in either of the two last foregoing sections shall be construed to deprive a ward or his representative of any remedy against his guardian, or the representative of the guardian, which, not being expressly provided in either of those sections, any other beneficiary or his representative would have against his trustee or the representative of the trustee.

HINDU DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACT (XV OF 1916).

PREFATORY NOTE.—Statement of Objects and Reasons.—The object of the present Bill is to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to dispose of property by transfer inter vivos and by will for the benefit of unborn persons within certain limits. According to the Hindu Law as now administered in British India, a gift in favour of a person not in existence at the date of the gift is void; and so also a bequest in favour of a person not in existence at the time of the testator's death. The same is the rule of Mahomedan Law, except that, under the provisions of the Mussalmans Wakf Validating Act, 1913, it is competent to a Mahomedan to settle property for the benefit of unborn persons even in perpetuity, provided the ultimate disposition is for the benefit of charity.

2. Every lawyer familiar with the Indian Courts must have come across a large number of settlements and wills made by Hindus and Mahomedans for the benefit of their children and grand-children. The paramount object of the settlor in all these cases has been to provide not only for his children and grandchildren then in existence, but also for those to be born hereafter. Instead, however, of giving effect to the settlor's intention, the law as now administered completely defeats it. Even where a donor has only one child in existence at the date of the gift, and the gift is made in express terms for the benefit of all his children including those to be born hereafter, the law excludes from the benefit of all gift all children born subsequently to the date of the gift, to the entire subversion of the donor's intention. Similarly, the intention of testators to benefit by their wills their children and grandchildren not in existence at the death of the testators is also defeated. It is to remedy these evils, and to give effect to the settlor's or testator's intention, that the present Bill is proposed. The sole object of the Bill is to enable the Court to carry out the settlor's or testator's intention, which, under the present state of the law, they are precluded from doing. At the same time, it is recognised that this can only be done within the limits allowed by the rule against perpetuity, and these limits are prescribed in clauses 4 and 5. The effect of the Bill, if passed into law, will be to enable Hindus and Mahomedans to make dispositions of their property to the same extent, and subject to the same limitations as other communities in British India.

Notes on Clauses.—Clause (4).—This clause is a reproduction of section 100 of Act I of 1865, and section 13 of Act IV of 1882.

Clause (5).—This clause is a reproduction of section 101 of Act X of 1865, and section 14 of Act IV of 1882. It refers to the rule against perpetuity.

Clause (6).—The effect of this clause is to supersede the decision in L. R. 11 I.A. 64, and other cases following it.

Clause (7).—This clause is a reproduction of section 103 of Act X of 1865, and section 15 of Act IV of 1882. It is also in conformity with the rule of construction laid down by the Privy Council in the Tagore Case.

Clause (8).—The enactments referred to in this clause are the Hindu Wills Act, 1870, the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and the Indian Trusts Act, 1882.

Select Committee's Report:—The following report of the Select Committee on the Bill to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to make disposition of property by transfer inter vivos or by will for the benefit of unborn persons was presented to the Indian Legislative Council on the 19th September, 1916 :—

1. We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to enable Hindus and Mussalmans to make dispositions of property by transfer inter vivos or by will for the benefit of unborn persons was referred, have considered the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as recast by us annexed thereto.

2. In obedience to the instructions contained in the order of reference, we have so amended the Bill as to confine its operation to Hindus, save that, in the exercise of the discretion vested in us, we have inserted an enabling clause permitting the Governor-General Council to extend its provisions to the Khoja community in the whole or any part of India where he is satisfied that the community in question desires the extension. Having regard to the existence of the Hindu Transfers and Bequest Act, 1914 (Madras Act 1 of 14), we have limited the extent clause of the Bill so as to exclude the Province of Madras from its operation, but we have inserted a power allowing the Governor-General in Council to extend the Act to that province should this course at any time be considered necessary and desirable.

3. The most important clause in the Bill was clause (3) and this clause, now clause (4), we have re-cast so as to provide that no disposition of property by a Hindu, whether by transfer inter vivos or by will, shall be invalid by reason only that any person for whose benefit it may have been made was not in existence at the date of such disposition. We consider that the clause as drawn in this form avoids many of the difficulties which would arise if we had retained the positive form in which it appeared in the Bill as referred to us.

4. Clauses (4) and (5) of the Bill, as referred to us, endeavour to combine the provisions of the relevant sections of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. The language of the two Acts differs in slight respects, and we think it in every way desirable not to attempt to combine their provisions in a composite clause, and we have preferred in section 3 of the Bill, as revised by us, to incorporate the provisions of the Acts in question by reference. We are well aware that referential legislation of this kind is open to objection, but, in the circumstances, we feel that the practical advantages of reference to a well-known Code, and the incorporation of all the decisions under these provisions outweigh any such objection. In this connection, we have thought well to include the provisions of section 20 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, as the wording of the Transfer of Property Act, differing in that respect from the Indian Succession Act, does not without this section, make it clear that the property is vested.

5. The only other change of substance is the omission of clause (6) of the Bill as referred to us. A perusal of the opinions recorded on the Bill leads us to the conclusion that there is no clear manifestation of opinion in favour of the retention of the English rule laid down by the clause in question, and we think, in the absence of any consensus of opinion in favour of the rule, that the clause should be omitted. The remaining alterations are mere alterations of form consequent upon the manner in which the Bill has been recast.

THE HINDU DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACT (XV OF 1916).

[28th September, 1916.]

Act to remove certain existing disabilities in respect of the power of disposition of property by Hindus for the benefit of persons not in existence at the date of such disposition.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove certain existing disabilities in respect of the power of disposition of property by Hindus for the benefit of persons not in existence at the date of such disposition ; it is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE HINDU DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY ACT, 1916.

(2) It extends, in the first instance, to the whole of British India, except the Province of Madras : Provided that the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, extend this Act to the Province of Madras.

2. Subject to the limitations and provisions specified in this Act, no disposition of property by a Hindu, whether by transfer inter vivos or by will, shall be invalid by reason only that any person for whose benefit it may have been made was not in existence at the date of such disposition.

Dispositions for the benefit of persons not in existence. 3. The limitations and provisions referred to in section 2 shall be the following, namely:—

(a) in respect of dispositions by transfer inter vivos, those contained in sections 13, 14 and 20 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and

(b) in respect of dispositions by will, those contained in sections 100 and 101 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865.

4. Where a disposition of property fails by reason of any of the limitations referred to in section 3, any disposition intended to take effect after or upon failure of such prior disposition also fails.

5. Where the Governor-General in Council is of opinion that the Khoja community in British India or any part thereof desire that the provisions of this Act should be extended to such community, he may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the provisions of this Act, with the substitution of the word "Khojas" or "Khoja," as the case may be, for the word "Hindus" or "Hindu" wherever those words occur, shall apply to that community in such area as may be specified in the notification, and this Act shall thereupon have effect accordingly.

THE HINDU WIDOWS' RE-MARRIAGE ACT (XV OF 1856).

Short title given, Act XIV of 1897.

Declared in force—

Throughout British India, except as regards the Scheduled districts, Act XV of 1874,

S. 3 ;

In the Sonthal Parganas, Reg. III of 1872, S. 3, as amended by Reg. III of 1899, S. 3 ;

In the Angul District, Reg. III of 1913, S. 3.

PREFATORY NOTE :—“ Our Legislature has on principle been slow to interfere with the marriage laws of India; and in the legalizing of widow marriage, its interference was not gratuitous, but was sought by the Hindus themselves. Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar pointed out in his celebrated tract, that the re-marriage of widows was not unauthorised by the sastras; and his opinion was accepted by a considerable body of his educated countrymen; and it was to meet their wishes that the Legislature felt induced to pass Act XV of 1856. This we learn from the preamble to this Act.” (See Gooroodas Banerjee's Marriage, and Stridhana, Tagore Law lectures for 1878, 2nd Ed., 1896, p. 256.)

The following remarks on the provisions of the Act by Justice Gooroodas Banerjee may well be noted.

The Act does not give any rules for determining the eligibility of parties for marriage. It is clearly its intention that this matter should be governed by the ordinary rules of Hindu Law. But these rules are not sufficient to meet every point which might arise in connection with the re-marriage of widows. Thus, one of these rules of selection requires that the parties to marriage should be of different gotras; but what is to be regarded as the gotra of a widow—the gotra of her father, in which she was born or that of her deceased husband, to which she has been transferred by marriage? Vidyasagara maintains that her father's gotra is to be deemed the gotra of a widow for the purposes of her re-marriage, and, considering that her father or some other paternal relation is still her guardian in marriage, I think that view is in accordance with the intention of the Act. Again, the ordinary rules about prohibited degrees do not prohibit the marriage of a man with the mother of his wife, however repugnant to our feelings it may be. No express rule for the prohibition of such marriage is, however, necessary in the Hindu Law, as it prohibits widow marriage altogether. But now that widow marriage has been legalised, the want of such prohibition may be deemed a defect in the law in theory, though, in practice, the universal feeling of repugnance to such improper unions would be sufficient to supply the place of prohibitory rules.” (Ibid., pp. 259—263.)

It is the general rule of the Hindu Law, as stated by the Privy Council in Moniram Kolita v. Keri Kolitani, 5 C. 776 (788) “ that an estate once vested by succession or inheritance is not divested by any act or incapacity which, before succession, would have formed a ground for exclusion from inheritance,” and it was held not to have been established that the estate of a widow formed an exception to the rule. But it is equally clear that there were grounds, which, under the Hindu Law, caused a forfeiture of a vested estate. Change of religion did so before Act XXI of 1850 and the Regulations that preceded it. Degradation from caste had the same effect as was pointed out by the Privy Council in the case above referred to at page 792. It is an important question whether a second marriage is a circumstance, like those just mentioned, which determines a widow's estate.

We cannot expect to find express texts on this point in the usual authorities on Hindu Law, because second marriage was a thing they did not contemplate; we cannot expect more than an indication of the view they took of the nature of a widow's estate.

The view is clearly expressed in the text of Vrihaspathi which Jimutavahana makes the basis of his reasoning on this subject of a widow's estate (Dayabhaga XI, 1) “ of him whose wife is not deceased half the body survives. How then should another take his property while half his person is alive?” This is difficult to reconcile with a right in a widow who ceases to be the wife or half of the body of her late husband, and becomes the wife and half of the body of another man, to keep the estate of her late husband. The view that on principle a second marriage determines a widow's estate is strengthened by the fact that where second marriages were sanctioned by custom, the further rule seems almost always to have followed, that such re-marriage entailed a forfeiture of the first husband's estate. (See the cases cited in Mayne's Hindu Law, section 512, and in West and Buhler, Bk. I., ch. 2, S. 72-a, 3rd ed., p. 429); and again the adoption of the rule of forfeiture on second marriage in the Hindu Widow's Re-marriage Act (XV of 1856) seems to be an indication that the Legislature considered that rule to be in accordance with the principles of Hindu Law. If, therefore, we had to decide this point upon the principles of Hindu Law, and without reference to express legislative enactments, we should be disposed to hold that the widows' estate was determined by her marrying a second time and we do not think this would be in any way inconsistent with what was held in Moniram Kolita v. Keri Kolitani,

5 C. 766, namely, that a widow's estate is not forfeited by unchastity during widowhood; for there seems to be a very broad distinction between misconduct on the part of a widow, as a widow, and her ceasing to be a widow." 19 C. 289 (292)—(Per Wilson, J.)

with certain exceptions are held to be, by reason of their having been once married, incapable of contracting a second valid marriage, and the offspring of such widows by any second marriage are held to be illegitimate and incapable of inheriting property ; and

Whereas many Hindus believe that this imputed legal incapacity, although it is in accordance with established custom, is not in accordance with a true interpretation of the precepts of their religion, and desire that the civil law administered by the Courts of Justice shall no longer prevent those Hindu who may be so minded from adopting a different custom, in accordance with the dictates of their own conscience ; and

Whereas it is just to relieve all such Hindus from this legal incapacity of which they complain, and the removal of all legal obstacles to the marriage of Hindu widows will tend to the promotion of good morals and to the public welfare ; It is enacted as follows :—

1. No marriage contracted between Hindus shall be invalid, and the issue of no such marriage shall be illegitimate, by reason of the woman having been previously married or betrothed to another person who was dead at the time of such marriage, any custom and any interpretation of Hindu law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 1. SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF ACT.—Act is not retrospective in its operation. 28 Bom. L. R. 431 = 94 I. C. 704 = A.I.R. 1926 Bom. 381. All cases of re-marriage of Hindu widows are governed by Act (XV of 1856). Custom can only take effect within the four walls of that Act, 12 I. C. 623 = 247 P. W. R. 1911. But see also 65 I. C. 117 = 24 I. C. 297. The Act applies to all Hindu widows irrespective of caste regulations concerning re-marriage. 17 I. C. 133 = 8 N. L. R. 128.

Neither the conversion of a widow into Mahomedanism nor her marriage with a Mahomedan husband after conversion could divest her of her interest in her deceased Hindu husband's estate.

35 All. 466 = 20 I. C. 335 = 11 A. L. J. 678.

CUSTOM.—Act does not apply where by custom a widow is permitted to re-marry and does not forfeit the property inherited by her from her former husband. 65 I. C. 117 = 24 O. C. 297. See also 19 Cal. 289 ; 11 All. 330 ; 11 Bom. 119 ; 31 All. 101 ; 15 C. W.N. 579 ; 32 All. 489 ; 11 A. L. J. 693 ; 12 I. C. 623 ; 9 P.L.R. 1912. Act does not override the customs prevailing in Punjab as regards non forfeiture of widow's rights over her deceased husband's property by virtue of S.7 of Act IV of 1872. (Punjab Laws Act 1924) S. 17.

OBJECT OF THE ACT.—It is not the object of the Act to deprive a Hindu widow upon her re-marriage of any right or interest which she had at the time of her re-marriage. 1 Pat. L. R. 390 = 4 P. L. T. 650.

2. All rights and interests which any widow may have in her deceased husband's property by way of maintenance, or by inheritance to her husband or to his lineal successors, or by virtue of any will or testamentary disposition conferring upon her, without express permission to re-marry, only a limited interest in such property, with no power of alienating the same, shall upon her re-marriage cease and determine as if she had then died; and the next heirs of her deceased husband, or other persons entitled to the property on her death, shall thereupon succeed to the same.

3. On the re-marriage of a Hindu widow, if neither the widow nor any other

RIGHT OF INHERITANCE.—When after the re-marriage of a widow her son dies and the question is of her right of succeeding to him, the Act must be held not to affect her rights. 1 P. L. T. 650=1924 Pat. 233. A Hindu widow can inherit from her son by a former marriage, though she had re-married at the date of her son's death. 26 C. W. N. 925=1922 Cal. 140. (11 W. R. 82 Rel. 29 Bom. 91 ref.) A re-married Hindu widow succeeds to the property of her son by her first husband, whether or not the Act applies. 79 I.C. 1048=39 C. L. J. 88. (11 W. R. 82 foll.)

Sec. 2.—S. 2 applies not only to widows who could not re-marry before the passing of the Act, but also to those who were not so precluded from re-marrying either by law or custom. In either case, the widow forfeits the estate inherited by her from her former husband. 50 Cal. 727=27 C. W. N. 669=1924 Cal. 98. A Hindu widow of the Jat community, among whom the custom of re-marriage has existed even before 1856, does not forfeit her right in her husband's estate on her re-marriage by virtue of S. 2 of the Act. 49 A. 203=100 I. C. 734=25 A. I. J. 151=A. I. R. 1927 A 523. A Hindu widow's right to retain property inherited from her husband ceases on her re-marriage, and the reversioners have a right to immediate possession of the properties on her re-marriage. 15 I. C. 6=12 M. L. T. 158=(1 Mad. 226; 22 Cal. 589; 22 Bom. 321; 24 Bom. 89 foll.; 31 All. 161; 1 I. C. 761; 32 All. 489, not foll.) 29 I. C. 612=11 N. L. R. 86. Apart from the Act, under the Hindu law a widow's right to succession is based on the ground that she is half of the body of her deceased husband and that she is capable of conferring spiritual benefits on him. When she re-marries she ceases to be half of the body of her late husband or to be able to confer spiritual benefits on him and she becomes the wife and half of the body of her new husband. 3 P. L. T. 551. (11 A. 330; 31 A. 161; 32 A. 489, diss. 1 M. 226; 41 M. 1078; 21 C. W. N. 906; 22 C. 589; 14 C. W. N. 346; 8 C. L. J. 542, rel.) An outcaste Hindu widow does not cease to be a Hindu and if she re-marries the provisions of the Act would apply. An alienation by her of her first husband's property after her re-marriage would be invalid. 54 I. C. 820. A Hindu widow loses all rights in the property of her first husband even if she is converted and married to a person of another religion. 41 Mad. 1078=35 M. L. J. 317=48 I. C. 50 (F. B.) (Overruling 44 I. C. 299). 7 I. W. 411=(1918) M. W. N. 274 is not now good law. See also 35 All. 466=20 I. C. 335=11 A. L. J. 678. Even a Hindu widow who becomes a Mahomedan and re-marries loses her right to her husband's property. 3 P. L. T. 551. Where a Hindu woman becomes a widow and afterwards embraces Mahammadanism and marries a Mahomedan, and where afterwards, her Hindu sister devises property to her by will, the right of the devisee to the property is not affected. Similarly, when the devisee dies leaving a sister who has also embraced Islam after her widowhood and married a Mahomedan the latter sister can succeed to her property. 21 I. W. 415=(1925) M. W. N. 285=87 I. C. 621=A. I. R. 1025 Mad. 861. Gift by father-in-law to widowed daughter-in-law—Re-marriage—Effect on gift. (1924) M. W. N. 456=1924 Mad. 600=47 M. L. J. 1. This Act applies even to widows among whom there is a caste custom permitting re-marriage. This Act operates as a forfeiture not only of property inherited from her former husband but of all existing rights at the time of re-marriage. 31 I. C. 290=11 N. L. R. 116. But see contra 61 I. C. 303=24 O. C. 11; 32 I. C. 338; 40 I. C. 783=21 C. W. N. 900. She will also forfeit her right to maintenance out of the deceased husband's property. 40 I. C. 783=21 C. W. N. 906. Act merely enables widows of those castes to re-marry, who by their custom are prevented from doing so and declares the consequences entailed thereon; it does not alter any customs relating to re-marriage or its legal incidents. 61 I. C. 303=24 O. C. 11. S. 2 of the Act does not apply to a case where a Hindu widow re-marries according to a custom and such custom allows her to retain the property inherited from her first husband. (Ibid.)

Sec. 3.—There is nothing in the provisions of the Act that renders obligatory for the court to remove a re-married widow from the guardianship of her minor sons. 38 Cal. 862=15 C. W. N. 579. See also 32 P. W. R. 1913; 4 All. 195 (as to meaning of "children"); 24 Bom. 89. A widow does not cease to be a testamentary guardian of a minor son by re-marriage. 47 P. L. R. 1913=18 I. C. 133. ciled at the time of his death for the appointment of some proper person to be guardian of the said children, and thereupon it shall be lawful for the said Court, if it shall think fit, to appoint such guardian, who when appointed shall be entitled to have the care and custody of the said children, or of any of them during their minority, in the place of their mother; and in making such appointment the Court shall be guided, so far as may be by the laws and rules in force touching the guardianship of children who have neither father nor mother:

Provided that, when the said children have not property of their own sufficient for their support and proper education whilst minors, no such appointment shall be made otherwise than with the consent of the mother unless the proposed guardian shall have given security for the support and proper education of the children whilst minors.

Nothing in this Act to render any childless widow capable of inheriting.

before the passing of this Act, she would have been incapable of inheriting the same by reason of her being a childless widow.

5. Except as in the three preceding sections is provided, a widow shall not, by reason of her re-marriage forfeit any property or any right to which she would otherwise be entitled; and every widow who has re-married shall have the same rights of inheritance as she would have had, had such marriage been her first marriage.

Saving of rights of widow marrying, except as provided in sections 2 and 4.

6. Whatever words spoken, ceremonies performed or engagements made on the marriage of a Hindu female who has not been previously married, are sufficient to constitute a valid marriage, shall have the same effect if spoken, performed or made on the marriage of a Hindu widow; and no marriage shall be declared invalid on the ground that such words, ceremonies or engagements are inapplicable to the case of a widow.

Ceremonies constituting valid marriage to have same effect on widow's marriage.

7. If the widow re-marrying is a minor whose marriage has not been consummated, she shall not re-marry without the consent of her father, or if she has no father, of her paternal grandfather, or if she has no such grandfather, of her mother, or, failing all these, of her elder brother, or failing also brothers, of her next male relative.

Consent to re-marriage of minor widow.

Punishment for abetting marriage made contrary to this section.

All persons knowingly abetting a marriage made contrary to the provisions of this section shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding one year or to fine or to both.

And all marriages made contrary to the provisions of this section may be declared void by a Court of law: Provided, that in any question regarding the validity of a marriage made contrary to the provisions of this section, such consent as is aforesaid shall be presumed until the contrary is proved, and that no such marriage shall be declared void after it has been consummated.

Effect of such marriage. Proviso.

Consent to re-marriage of major widow.

In the case of a widow who is of full age, or whose marriage has been consummated, her own consent shall be sufficient consent to constitute her re-marriage lawful and valid.

Sec. 5. [See also notes under Ss. 1, 2 and 3 supra.] The object of the Act is to remove all legal obstacles to Hindu widow re-marriages. S. 5 was never intended to lay down any proposition regarding the inheritance by a Hindu widow. 45 Bom. 1247 = 63 I. C. 947. A re-married Hindu widow is not entitled to inherit as a gotraja sapinda to the relations of her first husband. (Ibid.)

Sec. 7.—The marriage of a minor widow is not valid unless consented to by the persons enumerated in S. 7. But if the first marriage has been consummated, the consent of the minor widow herself is enough. 9 P. L. R. 1912 = 12 I. C. 623. See also 8 All. 143.

THE ILLUSORY APPOINTMENTS AND INFANTS' PROPERTY ACT (XXIV OF 1841).¹

Short title given, Act XIV of 1897 ;

Rep. in pt., Act XXVII of 1866 ; Act VIII of 1868 ; Act XVI of 1874 ; Act XII of 1897.

PREFATORY NOTE.—ENGLISH LAW AS TO ILLUSORY APPOINTMENTS.—The first statutory alteration of the law relating to illusory appointments was made in 1830 by the Act 11 Geo. IV and 1 Will. IV, c. 43. It is entitled “an Act to amend the law relating to illusory appointments.” It enacted that no appointment which from and after the passing of the Act should be made in exercise of a power should be impeached in equity or at law as illusory by reason of giving only an unsubstantial or nominal share to any object of the power. It provided, however, that nothing in the Act should prejudice or affect any provisions in any deed, will, or other instrument creating the power which declared the amount of the share from which no object of the power should be excluded; nor, on the other hand, should anything in the Act contained be deemed to give any other validity, force, or effect to any appointment than such appointment would have had if a substantial share of the property affected by the power had been thereby appointed to, or left unappointed to devolve upon any object of the power. The enactments are retrospective and apply to powers in esse at the time of, but executed after, the passing of the Act (Reid v. Reid, 1858, 25 Beav. 469; 53 E. R. 716).

According to the old law, where a power of appointment was given to A to appoint among a class in such shares as A should direct, the presumed intention of the donor of the power was to give an actual and substantial share to each of the objects of the power. A the appointer, could not in exercising the power, exclude any one of the class this would be an exclusive appointment and bad (see Buller v. Plummer, 1870 L. R. 6 Ch. 160.) The whole theory is tersely stated by Jessel M. R., in his Judgment in Gainsford v. Dunn, 1874, L. R. 17 Eq. 405. Speaking of this interpretation of the intention, he says : “That was not according to the literal wording of the power, but it made sense of it; because if the appointment of a farthing would do, then on the principle of de minimis non curat lex it would make every non-exclusive power an exclusive power. However, that doctrine was found inconvenient....” The inconvenience arose from the obvious reason that it was impossible to determine without litigation what precise amount was or was not a substantial sum in accordance with the presumed intention of the donor of the power. The Act therefore put the question aside by making any share, though purely nominal, sufficient to make the exercise of the power non-exclusive. The process of reasoning that inspired this statutory change seems to have been that the practical exclusion of an object could not, like the total exclusion, owe its origin to an oversight or omission on the part of the appointer, and therefore it was not a proper case for any interference by a Court of equity. “One would have imagined,” says Jessel, M. R. in the case quoted, “that the reasonable mode of altering the law would have been to make every power of appointment exclusive, unless the author of the settlement had pointed out the minimum share which every object was to get,” instead of allowing an appointment to be impeached because the appointer omitted to appoint the necessary farthing. In the same year, 1874, the Statute 37 and 38 Vict. c. 37, rectified the anomaly by enacting that no appointment which, from and after the passing of the Act, shall be made in exercise of a power of appointment, shall be invalid at law or equity on the ground that any object of such power has been altogether excluded, but every such appointment shall be valid and effectual, notwithstanding that any one or more of the objects shall not thereby, or in default of appointment take a share or shares of the property subject to the power. But the provisions of the Act are not to prejudice or affect any declaration in a deed, will or other instrument fixing the amount or the share or shares from which no object of the power shall be excluded, or some one or more object or object of it shall not be excluded. See Title “Powers” and “Illusory Appointments” in Ency. of the Laws of England, 2nd Ed., Vol. VII, pp. 24-25.

PREAMBLE.—WHEREAS, by deeds, wills, and other instruments, powers are frequently given to appoint real and personal property amongst several objects, in such manner that none of the objects can be excluded by the donee of the power from a share of such property; and whereas appointments in exercise of such powers whereby an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share of the property affected thereby is appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any one or more of the objects thereof are invalid in equity, although the like appointments are good and binding at law: And whereas considerable inconvenience hath arisen from the rule of equity relative to such appointments, and it is expedient that such appointments should be as valid in equity as at law; Be it therefore enacted, etc.

ILLUSORY APPOINTMENTS SHALL BE VALID IN EQUITY AS WELL AS AT LAW.—That no appointment which from and after the passing of this Act shall be made in exercise of any power or authority to appoint any property, real or personal, amongst several objects, shall be invalid or impeached in equity, on the ground that an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share only shall be thereby appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any one or more of the objects of such power; but that every such appointment shall be valid and effectual in equity as well as at law, notwithstanding that any one or more of the objects shall not thereunder, or in default of such appointment, take more than an unsubstantial, illusory, or nominal share of the property subjected to such power.

2. NOT TO AFFECT ANY DEED WHICH DECLARES THE AMOUNT OF THE SHARE; NOR TO GIVE ANY OTHER FORCE TO ANY APPOINTMENT THAN THE SAME WOULD HAVE HAD.—Provided always, and be it further enacted that nothing in this Act contained shall prejudice or affect any provision in any deed, will, or other instrument creating any such power as aforesaid which shall declare the amount of the share or shares from which no object of the power shall be excluded.

3. Provided also, and be it further enacted, and declared, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed, deemed or taken, at law or in equity, to give any other validity, force, or effect to any appointment, than such appointment would have had if a substantial share of the property affected by the power had been thereby appointed to or left unappointed to devolve upon any object of such power.

THE IMMIGRATION INTO INDIA ACT (III OF 1924).

The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the Bill:—

"The Imperial Conference have decided in favour of reciprocity of treatment of British subjects resident in various parts of His Majesty's dominions. The present Bill is intended to give effect to that decision. The Union Government of South Africa have recently assented to all the ordinances imposing galling restrictions on Indians, and they have promised legislation next year with a view to segregate them. In the circumstances it is necessary, that the Indian Legislature should arm the Government of India with the power to enforce the principle of reciprocity. THE IMPERIAL BANK OF INDIA ACT (XLVII OF 1920).

S. 13-A inserted by Act XVII of 1924.

PREFATORY NOTE :—The following are extracts from the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

“ For constituting and regulating the Government Banks, i.e., those banks which had dealings with the Government of the country, Statutory aid had been invoked as is instanced by Statute 47 George III, Sec. 2, Chap. 68 in the days of the East India Company.

Prior to 1862, Acts VI of 1839, III of 1840, IX of 1843, XXI of 1854, and Act XXVII of 1855—Acts of the Governor-General as well as of the Governors-in-Council of Madras and Bombay—constituted and regulated the Banks of Bengal, the Bank of Bombay and the Bank of Madras. In the eight years up to 1870, the Governor-General-in-Council passed 5 Acts to the same end. The Governor of Bombay in Council passed 3 Acts in the same period, and to the Governor of Fort St. George in Council, Acts VI of 1866 and I of 1871 owe their promulgation. The Presidency Banks Act, 1876, consolidated the scattered legislation amplifying and modernising it in accordance with the company law then prevailing. The Act was amended by Acts V of 1879, XX of 1899, I of 1907 and by Act VIII of 1916.

To foster and promote the growth of improved banking facilities in the country, and to render the money resources of India more accessible to the trade and industry, the fusion of the above named Presidency Banks into a single strong unified Bank in close relation with Government had long been considered necessary by the thoughtful public and the Government. After mature deliberation, Act XLVII of 1920, was passed creating a great national institution—The Imperial Bank of India—having ample resources for the assistance of trade, constituting itself an example of sound banking to other banks, an institution which will assist not only the State, but the public, and all sections of the public. The proposal, the terms of the consolidation and the advantages to accrue were approved by the share-holders and proprietors of the 3 Presidency Banks, by the Government of India and by the Secretary of State.

The Act came into effect on the 27th January 1921 ‘the day appointed’ (vide) Sec. 1, cl. (2) by the Governor-General in Council and the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Bombay and the Bank of Madras as constituted by Act XI of 1876, stood dissolved on that date.

The Act provides for a large initial increase of the capital of the Bank when compared with the total capital of the 3 defunct banks. The Bank is empowered to transact the same class of business with considerable extensions to the same, but it is restricted in its activities in London. It is not permitted to do exchange business but can only keep accounts and deposits for its Indian customers. The Bank can enter into an agreement with the Secretary of State in Council but the instructions of the Governor-General in Council (vide S. 10) are to be carried out in matters vitally affecting his financial policy. In addition to the branches at present existing 63 in number, one hundred branches are to be opened before the 26th January, 1926.

The General control of the Bank vests in a Central Board constituted by the Board of Governors. This Board includes, besides the chief officials of the Bank, the Controller of Currency who represents Government interests on the Board, and Non-official Governors—not to exceed 4 in number,—nominated by the Governor-General in Council. And the object of this provision is to give representation to the general tax-payer in view of the use of the Government balances which the Bank will obtain on the conclusion of the above-mentioned agreement with the Secretary of State in Council.

The provisions regulating this statutory corporation have been recast and revised in the light of the further development of company law."

THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT (XI OF 1922).

Am. Act XV of 1923 ; XXXVII of 1923 ; IV of 1924 ; VII of 1924 ; XI of 1924 ; V of 1925 ; XVI of 1925 ; XXIV of 1926.

[5th March, 1922.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Income-tax and Super-tax.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to income-tax and super-tax ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN INCOME-TAX ACT, 1922.

Sec. 1. SCOPE OF THE ACT.—(Per Mukherjee.) 40 C. L. J. 110=52 Cal. 1=28 C. W. N. 1074=1925 Cal. 34 ; (22 C. 788 ; 23 C. 563, Ref.) See also 18 S. L. R. 48=1925 Sind 130.

CONSTRUCTION.—On points specially dealt with in the Act it should be interpreted without reference to previous state of law. 28 C. W. N. 1074=40 C. L. J. 110=83 I.C. 273=52 Cal. 1=1925 Cal. 34. Construction most beneficial to the subject should be adopted. 48 C. 161 ; 43 A. 133. Income-tax Manual is only a document for the guidance of officials. See 49 Mad. 22=91 I. C. 940=A. I. R. 1926 Mad. 287=50 M. L. J. 63.

INTERPRETATION.—Where a statute has been punctuated, the punctuation marks must be taken as part of the Statute. 46 M. L. J. 42=1924 Mad. 455=79 I. C. 608. English decisions are not decisions of "foreign courts" and the decisions of English Courts on the English Income tax Act are the best guides to the interpretation of the Indian Act. 44 M. 718=41 M. L. J. 177. But see 52 Cal. 1=40 C. L. J. 110=28 C. W. N. 1074.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas, and applies also, within the dominions of Princes and Chiefs in India in alliance with His Majesty, to British subjects in those dominions who are in the service of the Government of India or of a local authority established in the exercise of the powers of the Governor-General in Council in that behalf, and to all other servants of His Majesty in those dominions.

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1922.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "agricultural income" means—

(a) any rent or revenue derived from land which is used for agricultural purposes and is either assessed to land-revenue in British India or subject to a local rate assessed and collected by officers of Government as such;

(b) any income derived from such land by—

(i) agriculture, or

(ii) the performance by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of any process ordinarily employed by cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind to render the produce raised or received by him fit to be taken to market, or

(iii) the sale by a cultivator or receiver of rent-in-kind of the produce raised or received by him, in respect of which no process has been performed other than a process of the nature described in sub-clause (ii) :

OPERATION & COMMENCEMENT.—Where the proceedings, such as issue of notice, etc., were taken under the Income-tax Act of 1918 the subsequent coming into force of the Act of 1922 does not make the latter applicable. 80 I.C. 362.

ENGLISH AND INDIAN LAW.—An assessment is valid in law when the source of income is non-existent in the year of assessment but had been in existence in the previous year. Per Rankin, C. J.—The general scheme of the Income-tax Law in England is that tax is payable in respect of a source of income existing in the year of assessment though the amount is often measured by the results of previous years. But under the Indian Income-tax Act the income of the previous year is not merely the standard by which the next year's income is to be computed but is itself the subject-matter of the tax. 54 Cal. 630 = 31 C.W. N. 557 = 103 I. C. 609 = A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 553.

See 2, cl (1). AGRICULTURAL INCOME.—Forest income is "agricultural income". 45 M. 518 = 15 L. W. 496 = 1922 Mad. 325. Income derived from pasturage is agricultural income. But income derived from fisheries and from stagaljat (i.e.) land used for storing timber, is not "agricultural income" or "income derived from land used for agricultural purposes" and are therefore not exempt from tax as such. 2 Rang. 211 = 82 I. C. 605 = 1924 R. 337. See also 84 I. C. 31 = 1924 Cal. 668; Avoiding Income-tax by means not forbidden by law is not unlawful. 26 A. L. J. 280 = A. I. R. 1928 All. 81 (F.B.) though it may be an offence by false return or concealment to evade payment of income-tax (Ibid.). Second Income-tax cannot be imposed without sanction of Governor-General. 106 I. C. 882 = A. I. R. 1928 Lah. 53. Income derived from toddy extracted from cocoanut trees situated on lands assessed to Government revenue is agricultural income when it is received by the actual cultivator, whether owner or lessee of the land on which the trees grow. 50 Mad. 923. If the income is obtained by a person who has not produced the trees from which the toddy is tapped, or has not done any agricultural operation whereby those trees have been raised, it is not agricultural income. 50 Mad. 923 = 26 L. W. 578 = (1927) M. W. N. 843 = 105 I. C. 489 = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 1038 = 53 M. L. J. 666 (F.B.). The words "Agricultural purposes" in S. 2 (1) of the Indian Income Tax Act cannot be held to cover the process of flooding the land occupied by letting in the sea water and then extracting the sodium chloride from it by eliminating the other chemical constituents. Consequently a licensee of salt factory is liable to pay income-tax on the profits he makes by the manufacture of salt. 50 Mad. 204 = 26 L. W. 239 = 30 M. L. T. 204 = 104 I. C. 703 = (1927) M. W. N. 804 (2) = A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 848 = 53 M. L. J. 377 (F.B.). Fees received from land used for storing purchases of crops do not come within the definition of 'agricultural income' and cannot therefore be exempted from assessment. 31 C. W. N. 1047 = A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 793; nor does nazar paid by tenants to zamindar (Ibid.). As to income from quarries see 25 A. L. J. 816 = 103 I. C. 477 = A. I. R. 1927 All. 703. Income derived by letting out land for purposes of stocking timber is not agricultural income. 86 I. C. 1028 = 1928 Lah. 488. "Selami" or premium when paid for recognition of a transfer of a holding from one tenant to another is not agricultural income. 25 C. W. N. 80 = 61 I. C. 112 = 32 C. L. J. 433. Nazarana paid to zamindar for petitions dealing with succession, settlement and portion do not come under "agricultural income". 31 C. W. N. 1047 = A. I. R. 1927 Cal. 793; 53 Cal. 74 = A. I. R. 1925 Cal. 929. Mutation fees paid by transferee of occupancy holding and the landlord's fees paid under S. 12 Ben. Ten. Act are agricultural income exempt from income tax. See 7 Pat. 550 = 9 Pat. L. T. 439 = A. I. R. 1928 Pat. 468. Profits derived from the sale of sugar manufactured from

(c) any income derived from any building owned and occupied by the receiver of the rent or revenue of any such land, or occupied by the cultivator, or the receiver of rent-in-kind, of any land with respect to which, or the produce of which, any operation mentioned in sub-clauses (ii) and (iii) of clause (b) is carried on;

Provided that the building is on or in the immediate vicinity of the land, and is a building which the receiver of the rent or revenue or the cultivator or the receiver of the rent-in-kind by reason of his connection with the land, requires as a dwelling-house, or as a storehouse, or other out-building;

(2) Any person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" shall, at the time of payment, deduct income-tax on the amount payable at the rate applicable to the estimated income of the assessee under this head :

Provided that such person may, at the time of making any deduction, increase or reduce the amount to be deducted under this sub-section for the purpose of adjusting any excess or deficiency arising out of any previous deduction or failure to deduct.

[2-A. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, for the purpose of making the deduction under sub-section (2), there shall be included in the amount payable any income chargeable under the head "salaries" which is payable to the assessee out of India by or on behalf of Government, and the value in rupees of such income shall be calculated at the prescribed rate of exchange.]¹

(3) The person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "Interest on securities" shall, at the time of payment, deduct income-tax on the amount of the interest payable at the maximum rate.

Provided that, if such person or such owner obtains, in accordance with the provisions of this Act, a refund of any portion of the tax so deducted, no credit shall be given for the amount of such refund.

Sec. 18 (2 A).—Inserted by Act XVI of 1925, S. 2.

(6) All sums deducted in accordance with the provisions of the section shall be paid within the prescribed time by the person making the deduction to the credit of the Government of India, or as [the Central Board of Revenue]¹ directs.

(7) If any such person does not deduct and pay the tax as required by this section, he shall, without prejudice to any other consequences which he may incur, be deemed to be personally in default in respect of the tax.

(8) The power to levy by deduction under this section shall be without prejudice to any other mode of recovery.

(9) Every person deducting income-tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3) shall, at the time of payment of interest, furnish to the person to whom the interest is paid a certificate to the effect that income-tax has been deducted, and specifying the amount so deducted, the rate at which the tax has been deducted, and such other particulars as may be prescribed.

19. In the case of income chargeable under any other heads than those mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 18, and in any case where income-tax has not been deducted in accordance with the provisions of that section, the tax shall be payable by the assessee direct.

[19-A. Provided that the Income-tax Officer may, in his discretion, extend the date for the delivery of the return in the case of any company or class of companies.

(2) In the case of any person other than a company whose total income is, in the Income-tax Officer's opinion, of such an amount as to render such person liable to income-tax, the Income-tax Officer shall serve a notice upon him requiring him to furnish, within such period, not being less than thirty days as may be specified in the notice, a return in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner setting forth (along with such other particulars as may be provided for in the notice) his total income during the previous year.

23. (1) If the Income-tax Officer is satisfied that a return made under section 22 is correct and complete, he shall assess the total income of the assessee, and shall determine the sum payable by him on the basis of such return.

Assessment.

Sec. 22. Cl. (4) is very wide and gives the Income tax Officer very wide powers. 101 I. C. 321 = A.I.R. 1927 Lah. 5. There is no provision in the Act by which Income-tax Officer can enforce production of account books if assessee firm declines to comply with the notice. 7 Lah. 104 = 27 Punj. L. R. 298 = A.I.R. 1926 Lah. 326. Accounts or documents can be called for by the Income-tax Officer under S. 22 (4) after issue of notice and before the filing of the return. After the filing of the return Ss. 23 (2), 23 (3) and 37 give ample powers to the Income-tax Officer to call for whatever documents he requires. The failure to comply with any of the notices under these sections does not authorise the Income-tax Officer to make a summary assessment to the best of his judgment under Cl. (4) of S. 23. 8 P. L. SERVICE OF NOTICE—Notice may be served under Sec. 23 (2) on any member of the firm as provided for in Sec. 63 (2) of the Act. It is not necessary that notice should be served only on the member of the firm who made the return. 48 Mad 602 = 49 M. L. J. 124 (See also notes under S. 63 infra.) The word "person" clearly includes a firm as provided by the General Clauses Act, 1897; and when the return is made on behalf of the firm by a partner, it is the firm that is the person who makes the return and any proper service on the firm as authorised by Sec. 63 (2) will be a proper service. (Ibid.)

Sec. 23, Cl. (4)—Assessee attending Income-tax Office with his evidence in obedience to notice issued under Sec. 23 (2)—Income-tax Officer's not accepting the evidence as conclusive does not bring that case under sub-section 4. 6 Pat. (2) If the Income-tax Officer has reason to believe that a return made under section 22 is incorrect or incomplete he shall serve on the person who made the return a notice requiring him, on a date to be therein specified, either to attend at the Income-tax Officer's office or to produce, or to cause to be there produced, any evidence on which such person may rely in support of the return.

(3) On the day specified in the notice issued under sub-section (2), or as soon afterwards as may be, the Income-tax Officer, after hearing such evidence as such person may produce and such other evidence as the Income-tax Officer may require, on specified points, shall, by an order in writing, assess the total income of the assessee, and determine the sum payable by him on the basis of such assessment.

(4) If the principal officer of any company or any other person fails to make a return under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 22, as the case may be, or fails to comply with all the terms of a notice issued under sub-section (4) of the same section or, having made a return, fails to comply with all the terms of a notice issued under sub-section (2) of this section, the Income-tax Officer shall make the assessment to the best of his judgment.

24. (1) Where any assessee sustains a loss of profits or gains in any year under

(2) Where the assessee is a registered firm, and the loss sustained cannot wholly be set off under sub-section (1), any member of such firm shall be entitled to have set off against any income, profits or gains of the year in which the loss was sustained in respect of which the tax is payable by him such amount of the loss not already set off as is proportionate to his share in the firm.

25. (1) Where any business, profession or vocation [on which income-tax was

(2) Any person discontinuing any such business, profession or vocation shall give to the Income-tax Officer notice of such discontinuance within fifteen days thereof, and, where any person fails to give the notice required by this sub-section, the Income-tax Officer may direct that a sum shall be recovered from him by way of penalty not exceeding the amount of tax subsequently assessed on him in respect of any income, profits or gains of the business, profession or vocation up to the date of its discontinuance.

(3) Where any business, profession or vocation [* * * *]² on which tax was at any time charged under the provisions of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1918, is discontinued, no tax shall be payable in respect of the income, profits and gains of the period between the end of the previous year and the date of such discontinuance, and the assessee may further claim that the income, profits and gains of the previous year shall be deemed to have been the income, profits and gains of the said period. 34. If for any reason income, profits or gains chargeable to Income-tax has escaped assessment in any year or has been assessed at too low a rate, the Income-tax Officer may, at any time within one year of the end of that year, serve on the person liable to pay tax on such income, profits or gains, or, in the case of a company, on the principal officer thereof, a notice containing all or any of the requirements which may be included in a notice under sub-section (2) of section 22, and may proceed to assess or re-assess such income, profits or gains, and the provisions of this Act shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly as if the notice were a notice issued under that sub-section :

SUPER-TAX.

55. In addition to the income-tax charged for any year, there shall be charged, levied and paid for that year in respect of the total income of the previous year of any [individual, Hindu undivided family, company, unregistered firm or other association of individuals, not being a registered firm]¹ an additional duty of income-tax (in this Act referred to as super-tax) at the rate or rates laid down for that year by Act of the Indian Legislature :

Provided that, where the profits and gains of an unregistered firm have been assessed to super-tax, super-tax shall not be payable by an individual having a share in the firm in respect of the amount of such profits and gains which is proportionate to his share.

56. Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the total income of any [individual, Hindu undivided family, company, unregistered firm or other association of individuals]¹ shall, for the purposes of super-tax, be the total income as assessed for the purposes of income-tax, and where an assessment of total income has become final and conclusive for the purposes of income-tax for any year, the assessment shall also be final and conclusive for the purposes of super-tax for the same year : [Proviso—omitted]²

57. (1) In the case of any [person]³ residing out of British India who is a member of a registered firm, and whose share of the profits from such firm is liable to super-tax, the remaining members of such firm who are resident in British India shall be jointly and severally liable to pay the super-tax due from the non-resident member in respect of such share.

MISCELLANEOUS.

(1) [The Central Board of Revenue]³ may, subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act and for the ascertainment and determination of any class of income. Such rules may be made for the whole of British India or for such part thereof as may be specified.

The fact that the goods are manufactured in one place does not make that place necessarily the principal place of business. Where business is carried on in many places or at different branches, it may be said that the business is carried on in each of those places, though neither of them may be the principal place of business. 49 All. 616. The Act does not say who shall set the Commissioner in motion but the reasonable inference to be drawn from the language used is that it is the duty of the Income tax officer. (Ibid.) What is quite clear is that the Income-tax Officer cannot himself decide the question or act as though it had been determined in accordance with the section and that if he proceeds to pre-judge the issue he is committing an illegality." 49 A. 616 = 25 A. THE SCHEDULE.

THE INDEMNITY ACT (XXVII OF 1919).

PREFATORY NOTE :—The following is the statement of objects and reasons. The object of this Bill is to indemnify officers of Government and other persons for acts done bona fide in the course of martial law during the recent disorders, and to provide for the continuance of the sentences passed by courts established under martial law.

Such legislation is inevitable after a period of martial law, which is in its nature an extra legal proceeding. If officers are called on to discharge onerous and difficult duties in a time of emergency, they are to receive reasonable protection. The Bill goes no further than is necessary to effect this purpose. It gives protection only to acts done in good faith and in a reasonable belief that they were necessary for the purpose of restoring or maintaining order. It thus leaves open the question of fact in any given case to be considered by the intended Committee of inquiry, and does nothing to prejudice the committee's findings or the action which Government may take upon its report. Again while continuing the operation of sentences framed by summary courts established under martial law, the Bill does not affect appeals to the Privy Council from such sentences, nor does it relate at all to sentences passed or punishments inflicted by Commissions appointed under the Martial Law Ordinance, 1919. The Bill moreover provides for the payment of compensation in respect of property taken or used during martial law—(See Fort. St. G. Gov. Gaz. Part III, 7th Oct. 1919, pp. 153-154.

The Income tax Act creates a special jurisdiction and provides a special remedy against order of assessment. Where the Collector professes to tax income only and has not levied an assessment on any of the classes of income excepted under the Act, he exercises only a jurisdiction under the Act and a suit will not lie in a Civil Court challenging his order, even if there are errors in calculation. 78 I. Ss. 2, 3 rep., Act 3 of 1909.

PREFATORY NOTE.—The Hon'ble Mr. Chalmers in moving for leave to introduce a Bill to make provision for certain matters connected with Insolvency said :—

“ The Bill is very simple one and consists of two clauses. Its object is to remove some doubts which have arisen as to the extent of the powers of the High Courts to frame rules under section 76 of the Indian Insolvency Act of 1848 and at the same time to confirm certain rules which were made by the Bombay High Court in 1878 under those powers and which have been acted upon ever since, but with respect to the validity of which doubts have arisen from time to time ”. (Fort St. George Gazette. 3 May, 1898, p. 12.)

Statement of Objects and Reasons to Indian Insolvency Rules Act, 1898.

This Bill is intended to remove some doubts which have from time to time arisen as to the extent of the Powers of a High Court to frame rules under sections 15 and 76 of the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Viet., C. 21) and at the same time to validate and confirm certain rules which were made by the Bombay High Court in 1878 in pursuance of the said provisions.

THE INTEREST ACT (XXXII OF 1839).¹

The Interest Act (XXXII of 1839).

Short title given, Act 14 of 1897.

Declared in force —

Throughout British India except as regards the Scheduled Districts, Act 15 of 1874, S. 3.

[30th December, 1839.]

An Act concerning the allowance of Interest in certain cases.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend to the territories under the Government of the East India Company, as well within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts as elsewhere, the provisions of ² the Statute 3rd and 4th William IV, Chapter 42, Section 28, concerning the allowance of interest in certain cases.

Preamble.

¹ Short title, "The Interest Act, 1839." See 1833." See the Short Titles Act, 1896 (58 & 60 Vict., c. 14).

² SHORT TITLE—"The Civil Procedure Act,

1. It is, therefore, hereby enacted that, upon all debts or sums certain payable at a certain time or otherwise, the Court before which such debts or sums may be recovered may, if it shall think fit, allow interest to the creditor at a rate not exceeding the current rate of interest from the time when

Power of Court to allow interest.

Sec. 1—CASE LAW—ALLOWANCE OF INTEREST IN CERTAIN CASES.—The Act is only an enabling Act by which the Court is vested with a discretion to grant interest in certain cases, but does not create a right to interest in favour of creditors, which, of itself, could be made the subject matter of a suit. 1 C.W.N. 219. But see also 4 Bom. L. R. 205. (1920) M.W.N. 717=40 M.L.J. 18=12 L. W. 562; 75 I.C. 64; 21 N.L.R. 16=1925 Nag. 451; 31 Bom. 354. Interest before suit cannot be decreed if the case is not covered either by the Interest Act or by S. 73 of the Contract Act. 4 C.W.N. 818=27 C. 814. See also D.C.R., Part II, 7; 19 P. L. Act is not exhaustive of all claims as to interest and it is open to the courts in India to award interest in cases not coming within the purview of the Act, on principles of equity. Act does not apply to an unascertained sum such as the profits of a trade. 42 M. 661=25 M.L.T. 242=36 M.L.J. 456=(1919) M.W.N. 484=52 I.C. 505; 24 L.W. 657=51 M.L.J. 633; A. I. R. 1927 Mad. 59. If there is no agreement between the parties to pay interest, interest may be allowed by way of damages though not authorised by the Interests Act and where the practice of the Court is not to allow more than 6 per cent. interest by way of damages the principle should be adhered to. (42 M. 661, 31 B. 354 and 22 C.W.N. 488, relied on; 20 M. 481, dist.) 105 I. C. 836=4 O. W. N. 1061. It has however, been held in a recent case by the Bombay High Court, that interest cannot be awarded by way of damages apart from the special provisions of the Interest Act. 25 Bom L. R. 817. In the absence of an agreement or usage giving a right to interest and of a written demand giving notice that interest would be claimed a creditor will not be entitled to interest 19 P. L. W. 490. Per curiam—"It is clear that neither under the common law nor, under the Indian Contract Act can interest be claimed upon a debt unless there has been either an express promise to pay interest or such promise is to be implied from the usage of trade or other circumstances." 8 Lah 524=9 Lah. goods sold—No written instrument or demand in writing—Whether interest prior to suit recoverable 6 W. R. 288. See also 83 I. C. 268=1925 Nag. 204 (No interest recoverable). Act does not apply where there is an agreement between the parties regulating the amount of interest. 4 W.R. 1 (P. C.)=10 M.I.A. 229. Act does not apply to a contract to pay interest, implied from the dealings of the parties. 36 P. R. 1894. The language of the Act does not show that a contingency in the liability, not affecting the amount of debt or the time of payment, can in any way prevent the operation of the provisions of the first part of S. 1 26 C. 955. See also (1910) M. W. N. 731=8 M. L. T. 405=8 I. C. 348. There is no general rule to the effect that payment and acceptance of a debt post diem precludes recovery of interest for the delay in payment. 4 Bom. L. R. 205. The Act has not the effect of restraining the power of the Court to allow interest in cases other than those mentioned in it. Marsh 239=1 Hay. 500. See also 31 Bom. 354. This Act extends the provisions of the Statute 3 and 4 Wm. IV. c. 42, S. 28 to India. 6 M. I. A. 32. See 21 I.C. 116 (P.C.) The Act is retrospective in its operation, and authorizes the allowance of interest, although it was not provided for by the bond executed prior to the passing of the Act. 6 M.I.A. 12. English decisions may be referred to as guide in construing the Act. 31 I.A. 116 (P.C.)=26 A. 229=8 C.W. N. 521=14 M.L.J. 190=6 Bom. L. R. 505. Interest is given under this Act by way of damages, on the ground that the debtor has wrongfully refused to pay the debt. 10 C.L.R. 561=7 C. 594. There can be no wrongful refusal, where there is no hand to receive payment and give a complete discharge. Thus where an Insurance Company refused payment to the executors of the assignee of an insurance policy, on the ground that they were ignorant as to the terms of the assignment, and as to whether any consideration passed or not, and that the executors should obtain the authority or concurrence of the representatives of the deceased (who was the person assured) it was held, the company were not liable to pay interest. (Ibid). There is nothing to prevent a party from waiving or agreeing to waive the benefit or advantage of an Act or rule made solely for the benefit or protection of the individual in his private capacity, and which may be dispensed with without infringing on any public right or public policy 5 I. C. 285. A debt payable in kind is a debt under the Act and interest is allowable on it under the Act. 38 M. 464=31 I. C. 432. (12 Bom. L. R. 831. Diss.) It was however laid down in a Bombay case that payment in kind is not such a debt as is contemplated by the Interest Act. 34 B. 506=12 Bom. L. R. 831=8 I. C. 411. Act does not apply to a debt due on a foreign judgment. When a judgment given in England is silent as to interest the plaintiff cannot make the defendant liable for interest as the English such debts or sums certain were payable, if such debts or sums be payable by virtue statutes as to judgments carrying interest do not apply to India. 5 C. W. N. 741=28 C. 641; see also 75 P. R. 1909=99 P. L. R. 1909=92 P. W. R. 1909=3 I. C. 522. A wager contract before the passing of Act XXI of 1848 is not within the scope of this Act; as the Act does not affect debts contingent in amount and time of becoming due. 4 W. R. 8 (P. C.)=7 M. I. A. 263. See also 26 C. 955; L. R. 3 A. 163 [1922]. The Act does not authorize the allowance of interest where the debt on which it is claimed is irrecoverable. 27 R. 330=5 Bom. L. R. 198. Interest should not be awarded on unliquidated damages. 7 B. H. C. (A. C.) 89=32 C. L. J. 239=60 I. C. 288. It is doubtful whether a Court possesses the jurisdiction under the Act to allow what in effect would be compound interest. But, even if the Court has jurisdiction, there can be no doubt that it would be exercising a sound discretion in not allowing a compound interest, except in cases where compound interest is expressly provided for by the agreement. 1 C. W. N. 210. But see also 7 C. W. N. 876. The Court has power, under this Act, to give interest post diem at a reasonable rate, if it be on money payable at a certain time and under a written instrument. 18 M. 242=4 M. L. J. 265. Where a mortgage instrument is silent as to post diem interest, although more than six years have elapsed after the due date of the bond, such interest may be recovered under this Act, and may be made a charge on the mortgaged property. 5 M. L. J. 154. But see also 35 A. 534. This joint effect of the Interest Act and S. 88 of the Transfer of Property Act is in favour of the award of interest post diem as interest, till date of payment at a reasonable rate, and as a charge upon the mortgaged property. 18 M. 248. But see 17 A. 581, contra, see also 18 M. 338 (notes); 24 C. 699=1 C. W. N. 437 (F.B.); 20 M. 371; 21 C. 274. But see also 35 A. 534=11 A.L.J. 829=21 I.C. 253. Where in a mortgage bond there was no stipulation for payment of post diem interest such interest could be given under the Act, though the claim for future interest by way of damages had become barred. 5 M. L. J. 154. Interest can be allowed under this Act as damages for the breach of contract which occurs when the debt is wrongfully detained after it has fallen due, and it can be allowed only in a suit brought within six years of such breach under Art. 116. There can be no recurring cause of action in such cases, and the starting point for limitation is the date of failure to pay the money. If, however, the interest in question is "money charged on land" the article applicable would be Art. 132 and not 116. 18 M. 331 (R.), 24 C. 699, F.B.; 12 C.P.L.R. 18; D., 22 B. 107). Effect of Contract Act, S. 73 on this Act. See 7 M.L.J. 264=24 Mad. 481. This Act provides for the award of interests on debts in certain cases, and provides that, where the conditions required by the Act are satisfied, interest will be recoverable, quite irrespective of the question whether any actual loss or damage has been caused to the creditor: but compensation under S. 73 of the Contract Act will not be recoverable by the creditor from the debtor on the ground that the payment of the money due to him has been withheld by the debtor, unless he can show that actual loss or damage has been caused to him. 26 C. 955. See also 1 S.L.R. 179; 9 Bom. L.R. 439.

DEBTS OR SUMS CERTAIN PAYABLE AT A CERTAIN TIME.—See 9 Bom. H. C. 717 B. H. C. (A. C.) 80. When, by a contract, a sum of money is payable at a time certain, and upon a sum to be ascertained on a certain date, but a dispute occurs as to the amount, which is settled by the Court, interest is payable. 32 C. L. J. 239. Interest pending suit is not claimable in a suit for unliquidated damages. See 60 I. C. 288. The mere fact that the contract does not come within the protection afforded by the Act is not a reason for holding that it is not controlled by the Act. The term 'payable at a certain time' in the Act refers to payment agreed between parties and not under a presumption of law. (1920) M. W. N. 717=40 M. L. J. 18=12 L. W. 568. See also 8 Lah. 524=A. I. R. 1927 Lah. 287.

THE COURT MAY IF IT SHALL THINK FIT.—The Act is an enabling Act which vests the Court with a discretion; it does not create a right to interest in favour of creditors, which of itself could be made the subject-matter of a suit. 1 C. W. N. 219. See also 1925 Nag. 451. As to whether the discretion vested in the Court by this Act, in allowing or refusing interest, in cases within the Act, is liable to review. see 4 W. R. 8 (P. C.)=7 M. I. A. 263.

CURRENT RATE OF INTEREST.—Where a certain sum of money is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, the Court can under the Interest Act allow interest, if it thinks fit, at a rate not exceeding the current rate, from the time when the money is payable. Where there is no security a rate of one per cent. per mensem is not unreasonable. 52 I. C. 953 (Nag.).

IF SUCH DEBTS BE PAYABLE BY VIRTUE OF SOME WRITTEN INSTRUMENT.—A certificate of the Administrator-General admitting a debt to be due is not a "written instrument" such as is contemplated by the Act, because the amount mentioned therein is not payable by virtue of the certificate, which merely purports to certify the registration of the amount of the admitted debt for the purpose of convenience in administering the estate. 25 C. 54. See also 75 I. C. 64=1923 Lah. 302. It is doubtful whether a decree or an order of a Settlement Officer under S. 40, Act XVII of 1876, is a written instrument within the meaning of the Interest Act. 1 O. C. 94. A principal is not entitled to interest on moneys received and detained by the agent on behalf of the principal in the absence of a contract to the contrary. 41 A. 254=17 A.L.J. 169=49 I. C. 696. Interest is not allowed in a suit for recovery of money for use and occupation, because such sums are not payable by an instrument in writing and at a certain time. 9 I. C. 221 (Oudh).

WHEN DEMAND OF PAYMENT SHALL HAVE BEEN MADE IN WRITING.—There must also be demand in writing. Interest prior to the institution of the suit cannot be given under this Act, unless a demand of payment has been made in writing. 7 Bom. L. R. 703; 101 I. C. 57=A. I. R. 1927 All. 444. See also 20 I. C. 299=39 P. R. 1913; 22 L. W. 490=1925 Mad. 1279. Interest up to the date of the suit of some written instrument at a certain time, or if payable otherwise, then from the time when demand of payment shall have been made in writing, so as such demand shall give notice to the debtor that interest will be claimed from the date of such demand until the term of payment : Provided that interest shall be payable in all cases in which it is now payable by law.

THE JUDICIAL OFFICERS PROTECTION ACT (XVIII OF 1850).

[4th April, 1850.]

*An Act for the protection of Judicial Officers.*¹

Preamble.

For the greater protection of Magistrates and others acting judicially ; it is enacted as follows :—

cannot be awarded on sums payable, not under a written instrument, the payment of which has been illegally delayed, unless there is a written demand of payment. 1 M. H. C. 369 (Ref. to in 20 M. 481 ; 23 M. 41 ; 31 B. 354 ; 9 Bom. L. R. 439 ; 118 P. R. 1907.) In a suit on an oral contract, where no agreement for interest or usage for payment of interest was alleged, held, that interest was not allowable. 20 M. 481 = 7 M. L. J. 263 ; see also 22 L. W. 490 = 1925 Mad 1279. A letter of the plaintiff demanding interest on an outstanding debt retrospectively, up to the date of the demand, was held to have made it sufficiently clear by implication, that it was the intention of the plaintiff to claim interest prospectively, up to the date of payment and to have complied with the requirements of the Act. 23 M. 41. See also 83 I. C. 253 = 1925 Nag. 245. Demand for retrospective interest may imply demand for prospective interest. See 181 P. L. R. 1901 and 23 M. 41. Demand for principal may imply demand for interest. 23 M. 41. Interest is not allowed upon the unpaid price of goods sold unless demand has been made for the arrears. A printed headline in the tradesman's bill that interest would be charged on all arrears after a certain period is not such a demand as is contemplated by the Interest Act. 8 P. R. 1914 = 266 P. L. R. 1913 = 20 I. C. 194 ; 47 M. L. J. (Short Notes) 41 ; 65 L. T. 453. See also A. W. N. (1887) 287. In the absence of any agreement to pay interest on a particular transaction or of any notice of the vendor's intention to claim interest if debt is not paid within a certain time, a claim for interest cannot be decreed under the Act. 54 I. C. 431 (All.). In a suit by a contractor to recover money payable for work and labour done under a building contract, which provided that all works done by the contractor should be paid for by the contractee according to the rates therein specified within a reasonable time after it had been inspected and finally approved and passed, held, that the provision was not one for the payment of a sum certain within the meaning of S. 1 and that, in the absence of provision for payment of interest in the contract or of any proof of demand, the Court had no power to allow interest under the Act from the time when the money became payable. Held also, that Court could not award interest under the proviso to S. 1 of the Act. 40 M. L. J. 18 = 12 L. W. 567 ; (1920) M.

¹ SHORT TITLE.—" The Judicial Officers Protection Act, 1850."—See the Indian Short Titles Act (XIV of 1897).

1. No Judge, Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, Collector or other person acting judicially shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court for any act done or ordered to be done by him in the discharge of his judicial duty, whether or not within the limits of his jurisdiction : Provided that he at the time, in good faith, believed himself to have jurisdiction to do or order the act complained of ; and no officer of any

Sec. 1.—As to procedure for instituting criminal prosecutions against Judges and public servants, see Act V of 1898, S. 197.

SCOPE OF THE ACT.—The term "jurisdiction" means authority or power to act in a matter, and not authority or power to do an act in a particular manner. In the matter of warrants, the protection afforded by the section is not against suit for executing lawful warrants or orders, but against suits for executing warrants or orders, not lawful, provided that such warrants or orders have been issued by a judicial officer in a matter within his jurisdiction, and not merely in a matter in which such judicial officer has authority or power to issue the particular warrant. The term "jurisdiction" should not be construed as meaning authority or power to issue the warrant in a particular matter and in the particular manner in which it is issued. 12 A. 115. Act does not apply to acts of Governor in Council. 7 M. 466. Secretary of State not liable for acts of judicial officer. 59 P. W. R. 1908. Act XVIII of 1850 not only protects a judicial officer from suits for acts done or ordered to be done by him in the discharge of judicial duties within the limits of his jurisdiction but also protects him from suits for acts done or ordered to be done in the discharge of judicial duties, without the limits of his jurisdiction, provided that he, at the time of doing the act or ordering it to be done, believed himself, in good faith, to have jurisdiction to do or order the act complained of. 9 C. W. N. 591 = 1 C. L. J. 278. The protection afforded to judicial officers rests on public policy. And though thereby a malicious Judge or Magistrate may be given a protection designed not for him, but for the public interest, it does not follow that he can exercise his malice with impunity. His conduct can be investigated elsewhere and due punishment awarded. 7 Bom. L. R. 951. See also 30 B. 241. Where the judge acting in his judicial capacity takes in good faith all the proceedings which the law permits him to take, he is protected. See 9 I. C. 535 (All.) ; 45 Bom. 1089 = 62 I. C. 93 = 23 Bom. L. R. 447. Extent of protection to judicial officers is the same as in English law. 2 M. I. A. 293. Police and Magistrate in exercise of police powers are not judicial officers. 9 C. 341 (P. C.). Municipal councillor acting as Magistrate under Beng. Act III of 1864 is judicial officer. 13 W. Plaintiffs sued a Magistrate on the allegation that the latter took him into custody and brought a false charge against him. The trial Court dismissed the suit as barred by the Judicial Officers Protection Act. Held, that the allegation in the plaint disclosed a cause of action to which the Act did not apply. The defence under the Judicial Officers Protection Act is as much a defence on the merits as any other defence such as limitation, etc., and the Judge must before dismissing the suit take such evidence in a case as is necessary to bring the case within the Act. 39 All. 516 = 39 I. C. 553 = 15 A. L. J. 541.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—Where a Magistrate acts without jurisdiction in the bona fide belief that he has jurisdiction, he is protected by Act XVIII of 1850, and no suit will lie. 10 M. L. J. 232. See also 12 A. 115. Act XVIII of 1850 does not protect a Magistrate who has not acted with due care and attention. The mere absence of mala fides is no defence. A Magistrate cannot be said to have "in good faith" believed himself to have jurisdiction to do or order the act complained of, unless he, in arriving at that belief, acted reasonably, circumspectively and carefully. 4 B. A Judge knowingly pronouncing illegal orders is responsible to the State only, and cannot be sued so long as he keeps within his jurisdiction, though he may, in certain cases and by a particular procedure, be held criminally responsible. A contrary system would produce great inconvenience by allowing "every losing party of whom there must be one in every suit, to bring an action against the Judge, and the Judge in his turn, if unsuccessful, suing the other Judge who had pronounced against him." L. B. R. (1872-1892) 83. There is no law which authorises the Police or a Magistrate in the exercise of Police duties or an officer in command of a cantonment, in consequence of a bona fide belief that a person is dangerous by reason of actual lunacy to put him into confinement, in order that he may be visited and examined by Court or other person, bound to execute the lawful warrants or orders of any such Judge, Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, Collector or other person acting judicially shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court, for the execution of any warrant or order, which he would be bound to execute, if within the jurisdiction of the person issuing the same.

THE KAZIS ACT (XII OF 1880).

PREFATORY NOTE.—The following are extracts from the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed to the Bill and Proceedings in Council in connection with the passing of the Kazis Act :—

“ Under the Muhammadan Law the Kazi was chiefly a judicial officer. His principal powers and duties are stated at some length in the Hedaya (Book XX). He was appointed by the State, and may be said to have corresponded to our Judge or Magistrate. In addition, however, to his functions under the Muhammadan Law, the Kazi in this country, before the advent of British rule, appears to have performed certain other duties, partly of a secular and partly of a religious nature. The principal duties seem to have been preparing, attesting and registering deeds of transfer of property, celebrating marriages, and performing other rites and ceremonies. It is not apparent that any of these duties were incumbent on the Kazi as such. It is probable that the customary performance of them by him arose rather from his being a public functionary, and one known by his official position to be acquainted with the law, than from his having, as Kazi, a greater claim to perform them than any one else. Such was the position of the Kazi in this country under the Muhammadan Government. On the introduction of the British rule, Judges and Magistrates took the place of Kazis, and the Kazi in his judicial capacity disappeared; but the British Government, though no longer recognizing the judicial functions of the Kazi, did not abolish the office. By certain Regulations, viz., Bengal Regulation XXXIX of 1793 for Bengal, Bihar and Orissa; Bengal Regulation XLIX of 1795 for Benares; Bengal Regulation XLVI of 1803 for the Ceded Provinces; Madras Regulation III of 1806 for Madras; Bombay Regulation XXVI of 1827 for Bombay passed from time to time, the appointment of Kazi-ul-Kuzaat and Kazis by the State was provided for, and the performance of their non-judicial duties was recognized by law. In the case of Bengal, indeed, certain additional duties were imposed on them. The duties of the Kazi under these Regulations comprised some or all of the following, viz. :—

- (1) preparing and attesting deeds of transfer and other law-papers;
- (2) celebrating marriages and presiding at divorces;
- (3) performing various rites and ceremonies;
- (4) superintending the sale of distrained property and paying charitable and other pensions and allowances.

In the course of subsequent legislation, the first and last of the above duties devolved on officers specially appointed for the purpose, and there remained nothing to be performed by the Kazi but the second and third, which were purely ceremonial. Under these circumstances it appeared no longer necessary that the Government should appoint these officers. Accordingly, in 1864, by Act XI of that year, all the regulations relating to the appointment of Kazis by Government and the duties to be discharged by them were repealed, but in order that it might be clear that no interference with the ceremonial functions of these officers was intended, a section was added to that Act as follows :—“ Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed so as to prevent a Kazi-ul-Kuzaat or other Kazi from perform-medical officers, and to keep him in confinement, until such officers can feel themselves justified in reporting whether the person is a dangerous lunatic or not; a fortiori, this cannot be done in the case of a bona fide belief of danger from impending lunacy, so that such officer would not be protected from liability in respect of such acts. 9 C. 341 = 13 C. L. R. 185 = 9 I. A. 152 (P. C.). The act of issuing a warrant for the arrest of the complainant to hear an order which directed him to pay compensation to the accused is not an act within the “jurisdiction” of the Magistrate within the meaning of that word, as used in this Act. 10 M. L. J. 232. A. Deputy Magistrate, who, without reasonable cause, delays proceeding with the trial of persons whom he keeps in jail, is liable, notwithstanding the above Act, to an action in damages if the prisoners are eventually acquitted. 11 W. R. (Cr.) 19. Local nuisance—Jurisdiction of Magistrate.—A Magistrate is not warranted in convicting and imprisoning a person for disobeying an order, the legality of which was then properly under the consideration of an appellate Court. 2 B.H.C. (Cr.) 384. Bona fide discharge of duty by Judicial Officers—Liability of Secretary of State.—A Magistrate, acting bona fide, is not liable for anything done by him in the exercise of his duty, however wrong the act may be. The Legislature, by Act XVIII of 1856, while freeing the agent, the person who actually commits the tort complained of and who would be the person primarily responsible, from all responsibility could not have intended to leave the principal liable. 9 C. W. N. 495 = 1 C. L. J. 355.

ing, when required to do so, any duties or ceremonies prescribed by the Muhammadan Law." (See section 2 of Act XI of 1864.)

Certain of his duties having thus survived the passing of Act XI of 1864, the Kazi is still a functionary of considerable importance in the Muhammadan community. What was originally in some sense an accidental adjunct of his judicial office has become his principal and only duty, and in some parts of the country at least the presence of a Kazi at certain rites and ceremonies appears now to be considered by the Muhammadans essential from their point of view.

Act XI of 1864 has, however, raised a difficulty of a sort which was not anticipated at the time it was passed. As mentioned above, the Kazi was under Muhammadan law appointed by the State and it had been held by the Courts, both of Bombay and Madras, that the appointment cannot be made except by the State. But as by Act XI of 1864, the State divested itself of the power of appointment the preamble of that Act declaring it was inexpedient that such appointment should be made by Government, it would seem that no valid nomination to the office can now be made.

The inconvenience resulting to Muhammadans from this state of things had been brought to the notice of the Government on several occasions by members of that community, and more particularly by the Muhammadans of the Madras Presidency. It was considered by the Government that the grant of the relief that was sought, viz., that Government should once more undertake the appointment of Kazi was but a reasonable concession to the wants of the Muhammadan population.

With this object the Kazi Bill had been prepared. It extends in the first instance to Madras only, where the want of duly appointed Kazis appears chiefly to have been felt but it contains a clause empowering any other Local Government to extend to the territories administered by it, should the Muhammadans in those territories hereafter request its extension. It confers no legal rights or duties on Kazis. It simply in order to satisfy the wants of the Muhammadan community provides for the appointment of Kazis whatever these may be as they now are. To prevent any possible misapprehension on this point, a saving clause has been added to the effect that nothing in the Bill confers any judicial or other powers on a Kazi, or makes his presence necessary at any marriage or other ceremony at which his presence is not now necessary. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons.)

This Act is of a permissive character and it confers no official, administrative or judicial powers upon the Kazis. (See Fort St. George Gazette, Supplement, 27th July, 1880, p. 2.)

THE KAZIS ACT (XII OF 1880).¹

S. 1 rep. in pt., Act X of 1914.

An Act for the appointment of persons to the Office of Kazi.

WHEREAS by the preamble to Act No. XI of 1864² (an Act to repeal the law relating to the offices of Hindu and Muhammadan Law Officers and to the offices of Kazi-ul-Kuzaat and of Kazi, and to abolish the former offices) it was (among other things) declared that it was inexpedient that the appointment of the Kazi-ul-Kuzaat, or of City, Town or Pargana Kazis, should be made by the Government, and by the same Act the enactments relating to the appointment by the Government of the said officers were repealed; and whereas by the usage of the Muhammadan community in some parts of British India the presence of Kazis appointed by the Government is required at the celebration of marriages and the performance of certain other rites and ceremonies, and it is therefore expedient that the Government should again be empowered to appoint persons to the office of Kazi; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. Commencement. [1. This Act may be called THE KAZIS ACT, 1880; * * * * *]³

It extends, in the first instance, only to the territories administered by the Governor of Fort Saint George in Council. But any other

2. Whenever it appears to the Local Government that any considerable number of the Muhammadans resident in any local area desire that one or more Kazis should be appointed for such local area, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, after consulting the principal Muhammadan residents of such local area, select one or more fit persons and appoint him or them to be Kazi for such local area.

If any question arises whether any person has been rightly appointed Kazi under this section, the decision thereof by the Local Government shall be conclusive.

The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, suspend or remove any Kazi appointed under this section who is guilty of any misconduct in the execution of his office, or who is for a continuous period of six months absent from the local area for which he is appointed, or leaves such local area for the purpose of residing elsewhere, or is declared an insolvent, or desires to be discharged from the office, or who refuses or becomes in the opinion of the Local Government unfit, or personally incapable, to discharge the duties of the office.

Any Kazi appointed under this Act may appoint one or more persons as his Naib Kazis, naib or naibs to act in his place in all or any of the matters appertaining to his office throughout the whole or in any portion of the local area for which he is appointed, and may suspend or remove any naib so appointed.

When any Kazi is suspended or removed under section 2, his naib or naibs (if any) shall be deemed to be suspended or removed, as the case may be.

(c) to prevent any person discharging any of the functions of a Kazi.
